WILSON TELLS WORKING MEN THAT BULL MOOSE PARTY PROPOSES TO LEGALIZE MONOPOLY IF IT WINS

Points Out Difference Between Sympathy and Promises.

Shows How Labor Is Given Privileges Instead of Rights.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Governor Woodrow Wilson today analyzed the third party platform in its relation to the laboring man. The occasion of his speech was a Labor day discussion under the auspices of the United Trades and Labor council. It was the first expression from the Democratic candidate on the merits of the Progressive platform.

The governor said that while on the one hand was to be found there "warm sympathy with practically every project of social betterment," that part was merely "a proclamation of sympathy," while the real program lay elsewhere, where the tariff and the trusts are spoken of.

The governor assailed the minimum wage idea, declaring that employers would take occasion to bring their wage scale as nearly as they could down to the level of the minimum permitted by the law.

Legalize Monopoly.

With the idea of a federal commission to regulate monopoly the governor took emphatic issue. He declared that the plan suggested not only would legalize monopoly, but give the chief employers of the country a "tremendous energy behind them."

"What the employers do will have the license of the federal government, including the right to pay wages approved by the government," said Governor Wilson.

He pointed out that it always had been the policy of "the masters of consolidated industries" to undermine organized labor in a great many ways, and that a plan of federal control as advocated by the new party "systematically subordinates working men to

RURAL CARRIERS' PAY IS RAISED

Order of Postmaster General Affects 30,000 Men.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Under authority conferred by the postoffice appropriation bill, Postmaster General Hitchcock has increased the salaries of rural letter carriers on standard routes from $1,000 to $1,100 a year, thus affecting 30,000 men, with proportionate increases to carriers on shorter routes. The order will become effective Sept. 30.

This will mean an increased disbursement of $4,000,000 a year. It is the second salary advance for rural carriers made in the last four years.

CLAPP WILL QUIZ HEARST

Loeb and Cortelyou Asked to Tell of Campaign Funds.

Archbold Is Requested to Appear for Further Questioning.

Washington, Sept. 2.—William Loeb, Jr., and George B. Cortelyou, both former private secretaries to Col. Roosevelt when he was president; William Randolph Hearst, and John D. Archbold, formally have been asked to appear before the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, when it resumes hearings late this month.

Mr. Cortelyou has once testified that when he conducted Col. Roosevelt's campaign in 1904 no contributions were received from the Standard Oil company, John D. Archbold, or anyone else acting for that corporation. The committee wishes to re-examine him in the light of Mr. Archbold's recent testimony that the Standard gave $100,000

SPECIAL ADVISER OF PRESIDENT OF CHINA

DR. GEORGE E. MORRISON.

London, Sept. 2.—Dr. George Earnest Morrison, who was recently appointed special adviser to the president of China, is in London and is protesting against the wild and irresponsible sensationalism which is being circulated in the English press regarding China. Dr. Morrison, who is a famous newspaper correspondent, says there is indisputable evidence that the two arch conspirators, Generals Chang and Feng, who were executed in Pekin, were plotting against the government. Dr. Morrison was born at Geelong, Victoria, Australia, Feb. 4, 1862. He gained a great reputation as a traveler and writer before becoming a correspondent in Pekin.

PLOT TO FOIL GRAFT PROBE

Whitman Has Evidence Enough to Indict Vice Trust Heads.

Have Raised $50,000 to Buy Affidavits to Hamper Blackmail Cases.

New York, Sept. 2.—District Attorney Whitman believes he has sufficient evidence to warrant indictments for a plot by heads of the so-called "vice trust" to discredit by false affidavits several of the prosecutor's assistants who have been investigating the graft phase of the Rosenthal case.

Word of the plot came to Mr. Whitman yesterday and it is said several conspirators already have fled the city. Having failed in this attempt, it is now said that the leaders of the underworld will confine their attention to hampering Mr. Whitman at the trial of the alleged Rosenthal murderers, and if necessary will attempt to spirit "squealers" out of the city.

Private detectives have placed before Mr. Whitman information that several leaders of the "vice trust," which runs a chain of disorderly houses here, together with a former state assemblyman and a police captain, have raised about $50,000 with which to purchase affidavits that certain county officials investigating police blackmail had been guilty of accepting money for failing purposely to obtain convictions against disorderly houses. A private detective working in with the "trust" disclosed the "conspiracy."

CANCEL 300 OF ALASKA CLAIMS

General Land Office at Juneau Decides Against Claimants.

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 2.—Three hundred of the 1,100 Alaska coal claims have been cancelled by the general land office.

In most cases the charges filed against the claim was that application for patents had not been made within the time required by law. Four claims in the Rathbone group, in the Bering river field, were cancelled because it was charged the locations were not made in good faith, but for the benefit of certain wealthy residents of Portland, Or. No reply was made to the charges.

Forty-three claims in the Watson group have been cancelled. Frank Watson, the promoter of this group, was indicted in Chicago in March, 1911, for conspiracy to defraud the United States of the use and possession of these lands which are in the Malanusha district.

Charges of fraud or failure to apply for a patent are pending against practically all of the Alaska coal claims not already cancelled. Only thirty-two claims in the Malanusha are uncancelled.

SIX KILLED IN WRECK

C. & N. W. Passenger Train Goes Into Washout North of Green Bay.

Rescuers of Score of Injured Work By Light of Lightning.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 2.—Six persons were killed, two seriously injured and twenty-one slightly injured early Sunday morning when train No. 112 on the Lake Shore division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway was derailed two miles north of Lyndhurst, Wis., as the result of a washout due to a cloudburst.

The train was running thirty miles an hour when the locomotive mail car, baggage car, smoker and a day coach left the track.

The dead:

W. S. CALKINS, passenger, Shawano, Wis.

JOHN JONES, engineer, Green Bay, Wis.

C. E. BUSHEY, conductor, Milwaukee.

GEORGE MARX, brakeman, Milwaukee.

CARROLL BENNETT, baggageman, Antigo, Wis.

STEWART D. SHELDON, express messenger, Milwaukee.

Ball Players In Wreck.

The Wausau team of the Wisconsin-Illinois Baseball league is sadly disarranged by the accident, and the game Sunday at Green Bay was played with the extra pitchers filling infield and outfield positions.

OSHKOSH STRUCK BY BAD STORM

Cornfields and Grain Stacks Are Soaked By Heavy Rain.

Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 2.—Early this morning Winnebago county was swept by one of the severest rain and electrical storms of a stormy summer, damage being confined principally to cornfields and to grain stacks, which have become so thoroughly soaked that thrashing will be delayed for days. No train wrecks are reported.

NEARLY 700 MEN IN LINE FOR PARADE

Many Take Advantage of Fine Weather to Enjoy Picnics.

P. M. Ringdal and James A. Peterson Are Speakers of Day.

Program of Sports and Lunch in Park Also on Schedule.

Even the weather gods recognize that "in union there is strength," for the sun smiled benignly today upon the laboring men who formed in line as the beginning of their universal holiday, and later picnicked at Fairmont park.

The fourth fine day out of thirty-three greeted the unions of Duluth, and so astonishing and unexpected was it that a great many of the unions did not figure on it and failed to put in an appearance in the parade, prefering an outing. But the parade this morning was big at that, close to 700 men marching to the music of three bands. Had the good weather not been such a rare treat undoubtedly two or three times that number would have been found in line.

The bad weather of yesterday, which was merely a continuation of what has been served out day after day for over a month, gave ground for the expectation that today would be stamped with a brand no better than usual. Many unions practically gave up the idea of a parade or picnic except under cover, and a good many parties of union men and their families were formed to picnic in private as a result. When to-

TWENTY DEAD AND MANY ARE MISSING IN STORM'S WAKE

FLOODS IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—Reports of serious damage from yesterday's flood throughout Northern Wisconsin, caused by a cloudburst, were received here today.

Stevens Point reports that 600 feet of track on the Soo line near Cobrath, one mile from Ladysmith, was washed out and the Velvet special running over that division was thrown off the track, but no cars were overturned and no one was injured.

The track between Medford and Chelsea is mostly under water and the southbound Ashland train over the Soo line was off the track near Chelsea and tied up a number of hours. Over three inches of rain fell at Medford.

C. M. & St. P. Trains Idle.

The Wisconsin river at Wausau is within two feet of the July flood stage, the greatest in the city's history, and no trains are running on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway north of Wausau.

The yard of one of the big lumber companies is under four feet of water and quantities of lumber and logs and other property has been swept away. A railroad bridge was dynamited last night to relieve the pressure on the cofferdam in the east channel at Wausau, and it is said a rise of five inches more will put the waterworks plant out of commission.

CHICAGO'S HOT WAVE KILLS THREE MORE.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—With three deaths from the heat and nine prostrations, Chicago's hot wave continued unabated Sunday. The maximum temperature registered was 93 deg. at 4 p. m.

It is estimated that 100,000 persons left the city for nearby resorts Saturday and Sunday in an effort to escape the heat. Lake excursion boats and railway trains leaving the city were crowded to their capacity.

Day of Extreme Heat Followed By Terrific Rainfall.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Twenty persons are known to have been drowned and many others are missing as a result of a series of storms which swept over Western Pennsylvania and the panhandle of West Virginia early today.

Through trains were marooned during the night in the flooded districts. Many manufacturing plants are under water and the property damage will be heavy. The known dead:

COOK WHITE, farmer, Burgettstown, Pa.

GEORGE GILLESPIE, Cherryvalley, Pa.

MRS. GILLESPIE, Cherryvalley, Pa.

FOUR GILLESPIE CHILDREN, Cherryvalley, Pa.

MRS. THORLEY and DAUGHTER, Colliers, W. Va.

AMELIA CROW, 12, Avella, Pa.

JOHN CROW, 13, Avella, Pa.

GRACE CROW, 4, Avella, Pa.

ELI HANCOCK, Canonsburg, Pa.

UNIDENTIFIED FOREIGNER.

TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY, unidentified.

Followed Hot Day.

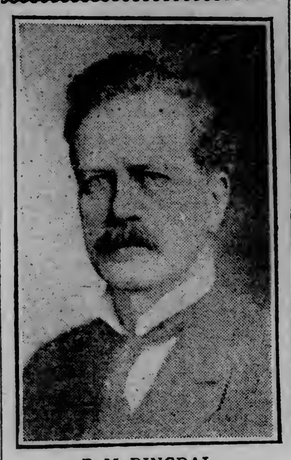

Reports from Colliers, in the panhandle of West Virginia, are that nine persons have been drowned there and many more are missing, but the exact loss of life cannot be ascertained until the searching parties along the valley of Hannon's creek have completed their work.

The storms came after a day of unusual heat, and burst with little warning. Rain fell in torrents, small streams soon became raging torrents. Houses were swept away and lives lost before the people were aware the flood was upon them.

KILLS HIMSELF AT MOTHER'S FEET

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 2.—Tired of life, George Erbst, Jr., aged 28, member of a well known family, committed suicide at his home here last night. The young man killed himself with a revolver at the family home under the eyes of his mother. After a chance remark he raised a revolver to his breast, fired one shot and fell dead at his mother's feet.

ONE OF SPEAKERS FOR LABOR

P. M. RINGDAL.

BUSY FINISH IN VERMONT

Holiday Crowds Are Addressed By Campaign Speakers.

Legislature May Have to Decide on the Governorship.

Montpelier, Vermont, Sept. 2. — The holiday in Vermont did not curtail the activity of the political campaigners. Many stump speakers visited county fairs or seized the opportunity of the holiday gatherings to add a few words in the day of closing arguments. Members of town committees were urged by the central bodies and state chairmen to use every effort to bring out the vote tomorrow.

Allen M. Fletcher, the Republican candidate for governor, said he expected to be elected by the usual party majority. Harlan B. Howe, the nominee of the Democrats, declared he was confident of cutting down the Republican margin and of throwing the election into the legislature through the failure of Mr. Fletcher to receive a majority of votes.

Rev. Frazer Metzger, leader of the Progressives, predicted the size of the party vote would surprise the country and give much encouragement to the presidential campaign for Col. Roosevelt.

Clement P. Smith of Morrisville, the Prohibition candidate, stated that reports from all sections were favorable for an increased party vote, and Frederick Suiter, Socialist candidate for governor, expected that dissatisfaction in other parties would turn many voters to his organization.

OMAHA TRAIN HITS WASHOUT

No. 10 From Minneapolis Is Wrecked and Three Lives Lost.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 2.—Train No. 10 on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway, running between Minneapolis and Chicago, is reported to have run into a washout at Little Lemonwair creek, one mile north of Hustler, Wis., at 5 o'clock this morning.

A telephone message from Hustler, which is between Camp Douglas and Elroy, says that three persons, including the engineer, are dead. Part of the train passed over the washout in safety. The washout followed one of the heaviest cloudbursts experienced in this section of Wisconsin this year.

Help has gone out from Hustler and doctors have been called for along the line, the full extent of the disaster not being yet known at the station.

PRESS JOKERS ARE IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2.—Right at the heels of the national gathering of Tombstone manufacturers, American Press Humorists from all over the United States started out bright and early today to enjoy their week of recreation in Detroit. Today's program including an automobile tour, a short visit in Canada and a dinner.

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday are looked forward to by the jokesmiths as days laden with promise. The local committee has prepared a schedule brimming over with possibilities.

If there is time and nothing else to tempt the members, they expect to hold a business session about Thursday night.

CONVICTS HOWL IN THEIR CELLS

Sensational Stories at Michigan Penitentiary Are Denied.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 2.—State prison officials were kept busy today denying sensational rumors, and it was announced there were no new developments in the prison insurrection. The convicts locked in their cells still were keeping up their racket by yelling and kicking and pounding on the cell doors, but that has been the most serious trouble today, according to Warden Simpson.

The warden denied he had flogged many of the trouble-makers, but it was admitted that several prisoners were suffering solitary confinement while others have been strapped by their wrists to cell doors. The prison was in darkness last night. The cause, as officially given out today, was an accident to the machinery in the lighting plant. Warden Simpson denied a report that convicts had tampered with the boilers as well as the machinery.

CANANEA MAY BE ATTACKED

Mexican Rebels Have Surrounded Town Containing Many Americans.

Settler at Colona Is Murdered Protecting His Two Daughters.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 2.—According to advices received here, rebels have surrounded Cananea, where many Americans are located at the copper camps, and an attack is imminent. Bridges leading to the east have been burned by the invaders.

An appeal for aid was received from Mrs. Sarah Wood, Southern Pacific agent at Santa Cruz, for herself and 16-year-old daughter. She said that rebels occupied the town. Shortly after her message was received the wires were cut.

ROOSEVELT GIVES OUT LETTER TO CLAPP DENYING TESTIMONY AS TO TRUSTS' GIFTS TO HIS CAMPAIGN

Quotes Freely From Letters and Denounces Archbold Story as Fake.

Gives Part of 18,000 Words to Discussion of Harriman Affair.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 2.—In his letter to Senator Clapp, made public here, Col. Roosevelt believes that he has a complete refutation of any testimony reflecting upon him which was given before the senate committee that investigated campaign contributions.

"I have answered every question as fully and explicitly as is possible," he said. "I think I have covered the ground. Of course, I cannot go on indefinitely explaining the things which are always being brought up. They are brought up 5,000,000 times, and after I have explained them 5,000,000 times, they are brought up again, just as though I never had explained them."

To illustrate his point, Col. Roosevelt said that his opponents were always saying that the corporations contributed to his 1904 campaign and that he had denied it, although he said, he had merely denied that money from corporations had been accepted in return for promises of favors from the government. In the Democratic text book just issued, he said it was stated that the United States Steel corporation had contributed $10,000 to his campaign.

Only Denied Knowledge.

"I never said that no such contribution was received," he said, "I have no knowledge of such a contribution, but if it was made, I suppose it was a perfectly proper one."

Col. Roosevelt returned from Vermont Sunday morning. He reached New York at 1 o'clock and came by automobile to Oyster Bay. He had not kept up with the political news during his absence, and said he had not heard until his return of what Governor Wilson had had to say about him in his speech in Pennsylvania last Thursday, when he criticized Col. Roosevelt's statement that he "favored a more even distribution of the prize money." The colonel said that he took exception to Governor Wilson's remarks, and would take up the matter in a speech shortly.

Col. Roosevelt's letter to Senator Clapp, chairman of the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, in reply to testimony of John D. Archbold and Senator Penrose regarding an alleged contribution of $100,000 by Mr. Archbold to the Republican campaign in 1904, is a document of approximately 18,000 words, covering forty-four typewritten pages. About one-third of the letter is devoted to copies of correspondence by Col. Roosevelt while president, with James S. Sherman, now vice president, Senator Bourne and others, and to the reply of President Roosevelt to the charges made by Alton B. Parker in 1904, that the Republican campaign was financed, in a large measure, by the contributions of big corporations.

Direct Charge Against Penrose.

The letter, in part, follows:

"The charge against Mr. Penrose was a direct charge. This charge was not merely that he took $25,000 from the Standard Oil company, but that at or about the time of his taking it, while a member of a committee of the senate which was formed to investigate industrial affairs in the United States, he was in constant communication with Mr. Archbold on the subject, and that he submitted to Mr. Archbold for his approval in advance a copy of the report of the commission.

"If these statements are true, of course Mr. Penrose is unfit to represent the people in the United States senate, and the testimony against him is direct. Apparently, however, the committee is investigating not this charge against Mr. Penrose, which was sustained by direct evidence, but Mr. Penrose's counter charge, which was sustained by no evidence at all, and only by the repetition of second-hand gossip.

"Unqualified Falsehood."

"As regards the statement of Mr. Penrose and Mr. Archbold that, with my consent or knowledge, Mr. Bliss asked the Standard Oil people for $100,000 or any other sum, or received such sum from them, it is an unqualified falsehood.

"If any request for funds was made from the Standard Oil company by Mr. Bliss, of any other man connected with the national committee in 1904, it was not merely done without my knowledge, but was done against my express direction and prohibition and in spite of the fact that I was assured that no such request had been made, and that no such contribution had been or would be received."

In support of this statement, Col. Roosevelt includes here his letters and telegrams to George B. Cortelyou, the Republican national chairman, of Oct. 26, 27 and 29, 1904, respectively. These letters, which were made public recently, called Mr. Cortelyou's attention to a report that Standard Oil interests had contributed $100,000 to the Roosevelt campaign, and directed that the money be returned if the report were true. The telegram was one asking if this had been done, and adding that there should be no delay in so doing.

What Cortelyou Said.

"Subsequent to this telegram Mr. Loeb, my private secretary, called Mr. Cortelyou upon the telephone," the letter continues, "and later I did so myself. He notified me first through Mr. Loeb and then directly, that no such contribution had been received or would be received. He told me he saw Mr. Bliss, showed him the letters and telegram, and that Mr. Bliss then told him that no Standard Oil money had been received, and that none would be accepted.

"Mr. Penrose was a candidate for chairman of the Republican national committee in 1904, and it was reported to me that the members of the committee wished to choose him. This I emphatically refused to allow. I knew but little of Mr. Penrose at the time, but I was not willing to have any man whom I did not personally know and in whose probity I did not have entire confidence, as head of the committee.

"Mr. Cortelyou was put on at my personal request. He ran the campaign almost without suggestions from me. I communicated with him occasionally by telephone, and generally in writing."

Several matters irrelevant to the committee's inquiry are mentioned by Col. Roosevelt as the topics of these letters.

Letter to Penrose.

He communicated also with Senator Penrose, Col. Roosevelt added. One letter from Col. Roosevelt to Senator Penrose, dated the day after the 1904 election, read:

"Upon my word, of all the phenomenal returns the Pennsylvania figures are most phenomenal. I thank you."

Col. Roosevelt continues:

"In all my communications with him before or after election, I spoke of contributions but once. This was in a letter of Oct. 25, 1904, to him, in response to a request of his that I should retain the services of one of his henchmen, named Bunn, of the Philadelphia postoffice, who had been recommended for removal by the civil service commission because of his collection of assessments from among his subordinates. My letter ended as follows:

"'I have no alternative but to order his removal. I suppose you do not like this, and I am awful sorry, but I beg for you to believe that if it were feasible for me to act in any other way, I would do so; and it is only because I have no other alternative, that I must remove Bunn.'"

Parker's Charges.

Here Col. Roosevelt replies to an allusion in the recent Washington testimony to Alton B. Parker's charges in 1904, by introducing the statement he issued on Nov. 4, 1904, in reply to that charge that big corporations had contributed liberally to the Republican campaign fund through the solicitation of Mr. Cortelyou. Also Col. Roosevelt includes the letter he wrote to James S. Sherman, now vice president, on Oct. 8, 1906, in which he reviewed at length the Roosevelt-Harriman controversy over the $260,000 contribution of the late E. H. Harriman in 1904.

This letter, which was published shortly after it was written, contained correspondence between Messrs. Roosevelt and Harriman and characterized Mr. Harriman's statement that Roosevelt requested him to raise $250,000 as "a deliberate and wilful untruth—by rights it should be characterized by an even shorter and more ugly word."

Letter to Harriman.

It also included the letter written by Col. Roosevelt—then president—to Mr. Harriman on Oct. 14, 1904, in which Col. Roosevelt said:

"Now, my dear sir, you and I are practical men," as well as several other letters bearing closely on the issue.

Col. Roosevelt's letter to Senator Clapp then continues as follows:

"This letter was written in Mr. Harriman's lifetime, and neither was contradicted then nor can be contradicted now. Mr. Loeb, my then private secretary, heard my conversation with Mr. Harriman and can testify about it. Mr. Harriman never even discussed with me giving anything to the national committee, and I never spoke to him about it, or requested a dollar of him. He asked me to intercede with Mr. Bliss [illegible] Mr. Cortelyou to get money from [illegible] and Mr. Odell in their state campaign. Mr. Loeb heard him make the request, and by my direction transmitted the request to Mr. Bliss and Mr. Cortelyou over the telephone, as I did myself later.

"In my letters to Mr. Cortelyou during the campaign the only allusion that I can find to campaign contributions is one in which I tell him that I have heard a rumor that Senator Dick of Ohio has been collecting money from office holders, and that if so, he must be warned to stop or he will get into trouble.

Never Referred to Contributions.

"I communicated with Mr. Bliss very infrequently, and never made any allusion to contributions in any letter that I wrote him or any conversation I had with him. From Mr. Bliss, as from Mr. Cortelyou, I received the explicit statement that no promise had been made, and no obligation entered into, directly or indirectly, in connection with any contribution that had been received, or would be entered into in connection with any contribution that might be received in the future.

"I have never discussed contributions with Mr. Perkins save in connection with discussing the accusations brought before your committee. I have never, directly or indirectly, asked him for a contribution, and I did not, so far as I can remember, ask any human being for a contribution, either while I was running for president, or for vice president, or during the recent primary or since the recent primary.

"Mr. Archbold has alluded to his visit made a year or so after the election to me, in company with Mr. Rogers. Mr. Rogers and Mr. Archbold made an appointment to see me through Mr. Root, who was then in my cabinet. He was not present at the interview. The subject of campaign contributions was not alluded to.

Saw Archbold and Rogers.

"Messrs. Archbold and Rogers, the former doing almost all the talking, stated that they had come down in connection with the accusations made against the Standard Oil company regarding rebates. I informed them that Mr. Garfield had informed me that he was about to report very strongly against the Standard Oil company on this matter; and I referred them to Mr. Garfield, suggesting that they see him or H. K. Smith, and go over the matter with them before coming to see me.

"Mr. Sibley, then a congressman, called upon me once or twice to speak on behalf of the Standard Oil people, and urged me that they were very good men, and that their accusers were unworthy and misguided creatures; but he did not make any specific request about that as far as I remember, nor arrange any interview for them. The only reason, as I remember anything about what he said, was because, as he had been a Populist and as I had supposed that he was anti-corporation in his feeling, I was a little surprised at his turning upon behalf of the Standard Oil.

Letters to Bourne.

"A couple of years later, when the department of justice was taking the preliminary steps for bringing suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company, Senator Jonathan Bourne on three or four occasions brought Mr. Archbold in to see me. Two letters to Senator Bourne were written by me after the first and the last of these interviews, and explain themselves."

These letters were, in part, as follows:

"Sagamore Hill, Feb. 23, 1908.—My dear senator: As to what you told me the other evening about the Standard Oil people, do remember that while any proposals they make will be considered in an entirely frank and honorable spirit, yet these proposals must be conducted on absolute observance to the law, and must be laid in detail before the attorney general and Frank B. Kellogg, before it would be possible for me to express any opinion upon them. I know you understand this, but I want you to be sure that the Standard Oil people do not misunderstand it and do not get the impression that it is my desire that negotiations shall be entered into by them with you or anyone. Sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 3, 1908.—My dear senator: In my judgment, it is not only a waste of time, but inadvisable to try to carry on the negotiations through you as intermediary. Let the Standard Oil lawyers, any or all of them, as Mr. Archbold or Mr. Rockefeller or anyone else may choose, decide as to the course they wish to follow, and then communicate direct with Mr. Kellogg, or the attorney general. Sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Defiance to Hearst.

"Mr. Hearst has published much interesting and special correspondence of the Standard Oil people, especially Mr. Archbold, with various public men.

"If Mr. Hearst or anybody else has any letter from me dealing with Standard Oil affairs, I shall be delighted to have it published; and if any one can suggest any question as to any letter I have ever written or received on the subject and will give me the approximate date, I will at once try to look it up, and if I can find it, will publish it.

"I wish to emphasize the fact that the testimony of Mr. Archbold and Mr. Penrose in this matter is an attack on Mr. Bliss, who is dead, and is also unwittingly the severest possible reflection upon themselves."

Col. Roosevelt quotes a lengthy extract from an interview with Mr. Bliss on the Harriman-Roosevelt controversy, published in the New York Herald on Dec. 24, 1911, purporting to have been given by Mr. Bliss a few months before his death. He follows this with a tribute to Mr. Bliss for his services to the party in "irksome, disagreeable and laborious tasks which bring no rewards, but which it is entirely indispensable to have done" and warmly defends his character.

STANLEY TAKES RAP AT TEDDY

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 2.—Replying to Col. Roosevelt's St. Johnbury, Vt., speech, in which the Sherman anti-trust law and the Stanley Steel investigation committee's recommendation in regard thereto were criticized, Representative A. O. Stanley, chairman of the committee, has issued a lengthy statement here declaring "the Stanley committee holds no brief for the Sherman act," and that "the chairman of the committee has repeatedly said that the Sherman law, of and by itself, is not sufficient to remedy existing evils."

"The fact that the law has not been enforced by a Republican administration is, however, no good reason for condemning it," continues the statement. "The Sherman act, fearlessly and capably enforced, is a sword; Taft has struck only with the scabbard, and Roosevelt never attacked anything in his life except with a horn and a bass drum."

"Amendments With Teeth."

"For the first time since the Sherman act was written," says Mr. Stanley, "the committee has proposed amendments with teeth in them." "Roosevelt himself," says the statement, "recently stamped with his unqualified approval the recommendations which now he attempts to discredit by bald assertion devoid of argument."

In further defense of the recommendations of the committee, the statement says:

"Many of the ablest lawyers of congress served upon the Stanley committee. With the exception of a single provision in one of the bills, the recommendations of the majority were indorsed by Republicans and Democrats alike."

In conclusion, speaking of the recommendations, Mr. Stanley says:

"And what is more, they will not be sidetracked by the machinations of George W. Perkins or silenced by the truculent and bolsterous fulminations of Theodore Roosevelt."

WILSON ATTENDS AIDE'S FUNERAL

Governor Later Leaves for Buffalo to Talk to Labor Crowd.

New York, Sept. 2.—Governor Wilson found Sunday that he is in the heavyweight class as far as avoirdupois is concerned. The correspondents accompanying him were trying the station scale at Sea Girt, N. J., while the governor waited for a train.

"Weigh yourself, governor," one of them suggested, and the Democratic candidate stepped on the scale, when to his astonishment, he found that he weighed 177 pounds. He said this was a gain of seven pounds since his nomination at Baltimore.

"I used to keep my weight at 156" he said, "and when I graduated from Princeton and for twenty years afterward, I weighed about the same. Only recently have I increased in weight."

The governor and Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by members of his staff, attended the funeral at Hoboken, N. J., of Col. Archibald Alexander, his personal aide, who died Friday of typhoid fever.

Last night the governor spent a few hours at the University club and left at 11:30 p. m. for Buffalo, to deliver two speeches, one at the Labor day celebration of the United Trades and Labor Council, and the other in the evening at a citizens' mass meeting.

DEBS SAYS SOCIALISTS WILL GET WASHINGTON.

Everett, Wash., Sept. 2. — Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president, in an address before a large audience Sunday, declared it his belief that Washington would be one of the first states in which the Socialists would get in control.

Contrasting the Socialist with other parties, he said the Republicans, the Democrats and the Progressive party are wings of the same organization, and that the Socialist party is the only one representing the wage-earners.

WOMAN WHO WAS WITH POTTER UNKNOWN.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 2.—Every effort to identify the woman who accompanied Louis Potter, the sculptor, to Seattle and who was with him when he died in an obscure hotel Thursday, has failed. The woman appears amply supplied with funds and her friends have exerted sufficient influence to protect her name. The coroner refuses to disclose her whereabouts.

Friction has developed between the prosecuting attorney's office and the coroner because the latter delayed ordering the arrest of the Chinese doctor who treated Potter. He has not been apprehended. The prosecutor also advises placing Potter's woman companion under bond, but the coroner said he had assurance she would be available if wanted as a witness.

In searching Potter's room, four letters addressed to Miss Martha Miller, Riverside, Cal., and bearing postmarks of 1903 and 1904, were found in a bureau drawer.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—The Northwestern Photographers' association elected C. H. Galbraith, Minneapolis, president; Capt. John Phillip, Stanley, Wis., vice president; P. W. Hynderman, Eden Valley, Minn., secretary, and S. E. Johnson, Minneapolis, treasurer.

A GOLD BOND CIRCULATION!

The Herald is a high-class, 2-cent newspaper with an established clientele of over 27,000 subscribers won entirely on merit. The Herald has never found it necessary to resort to the guessing scheme or premium method of artificially "boosting" circulation. If a subscriber wishes a frying pan, razor strop, mouse trap or other article usually used as a bait, The Herald will direct him (or her) to a store that sells it for less money than the premium newspaper can supply it for. The Herald gives its readers and its advertisers full value first, last and always.

HOOKER DENIES WASHINGTON TALE

Says He Has Asked No Bank to Help Bull Moose Fund.

New York, Sept. 2.—E. H. Hooker, national treasurer of the Progressive party, says that he has perhaps sent letters to a thousand bankers soliciting aid for the Progressive cause.

"But I addressed them as individuals," he explained. "In no case has a letter been sent to a corporation or to any one as representing a corporation. If the address happened to be in care of a bank, the letters may have been sent so marked; but it is ridiculous to say we have solicited contributions from any bank or corporation as such."

ZEPPELIN DIRIGIBLE MEETS WITH ACCIDENT.

Cologne, Germany, Sept. 2.—Another war dirigible came to grief here when the military Zeppelin II was hurled by a squall against a factory chimney.

The airship had just emerged from its shed with the entire soldier crew on board, when a violent gust of wind tore the tow ropes from the hands of the squad of the balloon corps who were trying to steady the balloon.

Two of the inside balloon nets were ripped to ribbons and the propellers were much damaged, and two of the crew were injured slightly.

LITTLE CHILD IS STRANGLED

Distressing Accident Causes the Death of Infant Boy.

Robert, the 9-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. King of 15 East Superior street, strangled to death Saturday afternoon in the rear of the King store at 18 Second avenue east in the hammock in which he had been placed by his mother.

The baby rolled in its sleep, overturning the hammock. As it did so it was caught about the throat by the meshes, dying within a few minutes. The child's mother left it alone for but a few minutes, returning to find it dead.

The police were summoned and hurried to the scene of the distressing accident. They called a physician and later helped the stricken mother to her home. She was hysterical with grief.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN KILLED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—A man believed to be Frank B. Warring, 35 years old, of Minneapolis, was killed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad at West Sixty-fourth street Sunday. The man was well dressed and a letter found in his pocket bore Warring's name and address.

SURVIVORS OF 198TH PENNSYLVANIA ELECT.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 2.—Daniel Z. Kline of Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected president of an association composed of survivors of the 198th Pennsylvania volunteers, which held a re-union here Saturday. The re-union was the first held since the close of the Civil war.

YOUR HAIR IS FLUFFY, BEAUTIFUL AND LUSTROUS IN A FEW MOMENTS

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

IS STRICKEN SUDDENLY

His Dream Was Organization of Symphony Orchestra for Duluth.

Death claimed Horace W. Reyner, one of Duluth's leading musicians, on Saturday night without a moment's warning. Painless and peaceful as was his passing, the resulting shock to his family and his hosts of friends was such that they can scarcely yet realize their loss.

Mr. Reyner never appeared to be in better health than on Saturday. When the end came he was at his home, 523 East Second street, and was conversing with the members of his family. Without a moment's warning he suddenly clutched at his breast and fell backward. When those around him rushed to his assistance he was dead. The autopsy held yesterday by physicians showed that one of the chambers of the heart was ruptured.

Mr. Reyner was 46 years of age and was born in Brooklyn. He leaves his wife and three daughters and his parents, who reside at Milwaukee, and who will arrive today. He was educated in England, where he gained distinction in the musical line and became a member of the Royal Organists' society of England.

In a musical way Mr. Reyner was recognized as an authority and as an artist of exceptional understanding and powers of interpretation and leadership. His particular line in music was that of choral work, in which he excelled. Such excellent organizations as the Minneapolis symphony orchestra and the St. Paul symphony orchestra have called him to their aid time and agin to lead choral productions for them, and last winter he was particularly active in behalf of the Minneapolis orchestra, also bringing it to Duluth during its tour. His reputation as a choral director and organizer was nationwide.

By his death Duluth loses not only a popular citizen, but one who has, perhaps, done more to bring the city to a stage where it is being recognized as a musical center, than any other person. Since his arrival here in 1906, he has taken a lead in the production in Duluth of music of the highest grade and the bringing to the city of the best musical organizations in the country. With painstaking care he has worked hard for the development of music here and when great organizations have appeared in Duluth the greater part of their success has been due to the untiring work of Mr. Reyner. His dream has been to develop Duluth in a musical way to the point where it would support a symphony orchestra that would rival those of the Twin Cities and be able to go to the various parts of the country and make a reputation for itself. His work toward that end was receiving great encouragement, and this was due not only to the liberality of Duluthians, who have taken up with the idea, but to the personality of the man proposing the project and who worked unceasingly for it.

Only last Friday he announced his series of important musical events for the coming season. They were four in number and the most pretentious he has attempted in Duluth. It was so each year—reaching a little ahead of the year before, thus developing the taste for good music gradually but surely. It has, because of this, become true in Duluth that when the name Reyner was attached to an event in music, that labeled it as of the first water. With Stephen H. Jones and T. W. Hugo, Mr. Reyner was sponsor for nearly every big musical attraction brought to Duluth in the last five years.

Prior to his coming to Duluth in 1906 he had wide experience as organist, choir leader, choral master and teacher, and had a reputation from coast to coast. The news of his death will be received in many cities with grief. In Duluth he first appeared as choir master of the First M. E. church, and last year resigned that position and took up similar work at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church. He was the organizer and chief spirit in the Duluth Choral society, and each year conducted the production of great oratories and other numbers of a spring festival.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

CHOIR BOYS STAY "OUT."

Chicago Church Lacks Young Voices After Twenty-Five Years.

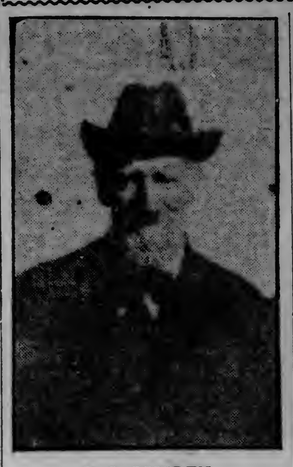

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Only fifteen of the forty-five members of the boy choir of St. Mark's Episcopal church, who went on a strike Friday, reported for duty Sunday, and as a result Rev. William White Wilson, the rector, was obliged to conduct services practically without vocal music.

There was no solo singing, and for the first time in twenty-five years the services at Chicago's oldest church were given without the accompaniment of a boy choir.

The rector appealed to the parents of the striking boys in vain to compel their attendance. The boy strikers picketed the church and used every possible effort to prevent members of the choir from entering the edifice.

The trouble rose last week when William J. Coxe, for twenty-two years musical director of the church, had a dispute with the rector over a demand for an increase in salary, and the boys decided to strike out of sympathy for their musical director.

TWO G. A. R. VETERANS ANSWER LAST CALL

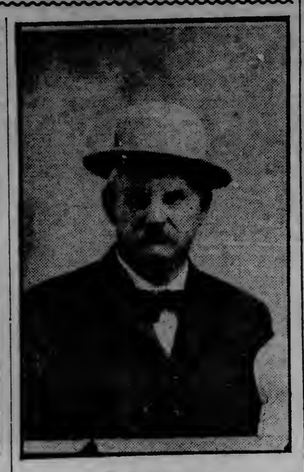

R. S. COWDEN.

Reynolds S. Cowden, a Civil war veteran who served by the side of the late President McKinley, died Saturday afternoon at his home, 605 East Third street. He was 76 years old.

He was stricken with a paralytic stroke about a week ago and was forced to take to his bed. He was unable to withstand the shock because of his advanced years.

Mr. Cowden lived in Duluth for twenty-two years and had a wide circle of friends who will mourn his death. He had many anecdotes of the war which he delighted to relate to those with whom he was intimately acquainted.

The funeral was set for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, the services to be under the direction of the G. A. R. and interment at Forest Hill cemetery. Besides his widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bennison, and one son, Frank, both of this city, and an adopted daughter, Mrs George Milroy of Virginia, Minn. He also leaves a brother, Allen, of Marquette, Mich.

E. J. HEATH.

Edward J. Heath, 72 years old, a veteran of the Civil war, died yesterday at his home, 824 Lake avenue south, of complications due to old age.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery. The services will be under the direction of Willis A. Gorman post, G. A. R., of which he was a member.

Mr. Heath served throughout the war as a member of the famous Third regiment cavalry of Michigan. After peace had been declared he re-enlisted and did police duty for a year at San Antonio, Tex. Later he went to Port Austin, where he conducted a stage line and handled a government mail route for twenty years. He served several years as the sheriff of St. Clair county and came to Duluth in 1894.

Besides his widow he is survived by four sons, three daughters, a brother and two sisters.

TRIBUTE TO GEN. BOOTH

Memorial Services for Great Leader Are Held in Duluth.

Pastors and Army Workers Unite to Honor His Memory.

A gathering that filled the First Methodist church to its capacity rendered honor to the memory of the late Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, yesterday afternoon. The services were simple but impressive. There was but one decoration for the occasion, and that was a colored print of the general, enshrouded in the Army colors.

The members of the Army corps of Duluth and Superior, together with the Swedish corps, assembled earlier in the afternoon at the local Army headquarters and marched in a body to the church.

The services were opened by Ensign Graham of the Duluth corps with a prayer. He then introduced the first speaker, Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. The principal address, however, was delivered by Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church, who gave a sketch of the life of Gen. Booth. He spoke particularly of the general's withdrawal from the Church of England and later from the Methodist church, that he might "work for Jesus in a bigger and broader field."

The congregation was also addressed by Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church; Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church; B. C. Wade, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Miss Nettie E. Trimble, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

Letters were read from Mayor McCuen and Bishop McGolrick of the Roman Catholic church, both of whom were invited to attend, and expressed their regrets that they were unable to do so.

The services were closed by Ensign Graham with a prayer.

CHICAGO'S OLDEST CAR CONDUCTOR IS BURIED.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Clad in the uniform he had worn for forty-three years, Frederick Heyden, Chicago's oldest street car conductor, was buried Sunday. Six of the company men in uniform acted as pallbearers.

Mr. Heyden entered the street car service in the days of the horse car. One of his first drivers was John M. Roach, now president of the Chicago Railways company. During the Chicago fire in 1871, he did good service for his employers in rescuing car horses and equipment by getting them out of the fire zone.

TWENTY DOLLARS FOR 25 MINUTES

Nearly a dollar a minute—that is going some even for an eminent Chicago physician.

Mr. Joseph Justice, a Chicago business man, 409 W. Randolph Street, was declared by two physicians to have Diabetes. One of the physicians was his family doctor and the other was an M. D. in the Columbus Building. To make sure he had the double analysis and to show how accurate the physicians were, both reports showed four-sixteenths of one per cent of sugar.

Justice put himself on Fulton's Diabetic Compound and cut out sugars, sweets and starches. He begun to feel better after the third week. Improvement was continuous and on the complete disappearance of the painful symptoms he went to a third physician, an eminent Chicago specialist.

The doctor's charge was $20.00 for 25 minutes, but he writes that the examination was worth ten times what he paid for it. The doctor reported him strong and healthy and his analysis disclosed no trace of either sugar or Albumen.

Mr. Justice knew that the careful test before and after made this a record case and that we would therefore be interested and he kindly gave us the above details which he will confirm at the above address.

PHILANTHROPIST VISITS DULUTH

Julius Rosenwald, Who Gave $687,000 to Charity, Here on Vacation.

Julius Rosenwald, a leading business man of Chicago, and a well known philanthropist of that city, is in Duluth today, accompanied by his wife and their two children, William and Marion. They came up on the freighter Joseph Block.

Mr. Rosenwald has for many years been a philanthropist, and on Aug. 12 in celebration of his fiftieth birthday he gave to charity, $687,000. He refuses to talk about his philanthropies, but is willing to talk about business and about Duluth. About the latter he said:

"Duluth is due to grow much more rapidly in the near future than it has in the past. The steel plant, which is being built here, is only the beginning of an era which will make Duluth a great manufacturing center. I believe that your city is just on the edge of the beginning of extensive growth. I have visited Duluth a good many times and have always had faith in the city. That faith is stronger now than ever. The growth of agricultural interests hereabouts, combined with the prospective growth of manufacturing, makes assurance doubly sure for the future of the city."

MASHERS ARE TOO NUMEROUS

Complaint is being made that mashers are altogether too common on Superior street, particularly on Saturday nights. It is asserted that they line the curbs and make themselves a general nuisance, doffing their hats and making improper remarks to woman and girls who chance to pass them. The fronts of several of the larger stores are said to be infested with them about the time they are due to close.

WEEK'S WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, Sept. 2.—Warm weather over the Middle West and in the Eastern and Southern states is predicted for the coming week by the weather bureau. Temperatures below normal are announced for the Northwestern states, the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions, and the Pacific coast states.

Showers in the northwestern states and in the northern states from Minnesota eastward, are indicated by low barometrical pressure, which will prevail Monday and Tuesday. This disturbance will probably move eastward to the Mississippi states by Wednesday and prevail in the Eastern states the latter part of the week.

There are no present indications, according to the weather bureau, of a disturbance in the West Indies.

HELD ON SUSPICION OF BEING HOUSE PROWLER.

Marion A. Scott, a negro, was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of having robbed a number of residences which have been entered in the last two weeks. Jupiter Wilson, also colored, is under arrest in Superior and is thought to be Scott's accomplice. The home of Mrs. F. O. Wright of 110 East Third street was broken into several nights ago, $7 in cash being taken. The next night the residence at 523 West First street was burglarized, a quantity of silverware being taken. The descriptions of the negroes answer those given the police by women who claim to have seen them about their premises.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Sept. 2.—Blast furnace interests last week secured additional contracts for pig iron in the various distributing districts in excess of 300,000 tons, making the total contracts for the month of August more than 1,000,000 tons. This volume of business was exceeded in some months of previous heavy buying movements when large tonnage of steel-making iron was included, but seldom if ever has the proportion of foundry grades sold been as great as in the sales put through last month. Since the first of January prices in foundry grades have advanced from $2 to $3 per ton, while steel-making metal has advanced from $1 to $2 per ton, including 25 cents to 50 cents established last month.

The heaviest buying was by manufacturers of electrical machinery and railroad equipment. The steel manufacturers of agricultural machinery and of cars were the largest buyers.

Specifications on contracts for finished steel products were heavy throughout August, permitting the mills to increase active capacity from 4 per cent to 5 per cent. The United States Steel corporation produced 1,500,000 tons of steel ingots and 1,750,000 tons of pig iron during the month. Railroads placed contracts for 465,000 tons of rails, 43,000 tons of structural material, 26,000 cars and 339 locomotives.

Engineer Blown to Pieces.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—Engineer John Brennan of Emily, Minn., was blown into bits Saturday by the explosion of a thrashing engine at Webster, N. D. George Gibbs of Webster was also badly injured and probably will die.

Premier Exhibit of Fine Cloths

THE new cloths of wool have radically broken from the familiar weaves. Threads are skillfully interwoven, giving an extremely lustrous finish to the rich dyes. The weaves are novel and very striking, lending themselves beautifully to the requirements of the 1912-13 fashions.

For tailored and demi-tailored suits, and for the new motor coats, the Donaldson wool-stuffs are the correct thing and are "protected," insuring exclusiveness for Donaldson patrons.

Woman's Realm

The speakers on woman's suffrage, who will be heard at the Woman's suffrage booth at the state fair on Wednesday, Duluth day, when the delegates from the local suffrage association will have charge, will be Dr. Mary McCoy, president of the Duluth association; Rev. George R. Gebauer, Mrs. P. L. De Voist, all of this city, and Dr. Ulrich.

Suffrage literature prepared and issued by the Duluth association will be distributed generally on that day to all guests at the fair and all during the week.

A note of interest in connection with the suffrage work is that Miss Stella B. Stearns, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Sarah Stearns, pioneer suffrage workers, will cast her first vote at Pocatello, Idaho, this fall.

Mrs. Stearns organized the first Minnesota suffrage association at Rochester, Minn., in 1867 and founded the first suffrage association in Duluth many years ago. Many members of the first club still reside in Duluth, among them Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, Mrs. D. D. Murray, Mrs. R. P. Boyington, Mrs. K. A. Ostergren and Dr. Mary McCoy, most of whom are still active in the work.

Mrs. Stearns was one of the citizens who made it possible to have a public library here in the early days, she helped organize and found the Bethel home, was the founder of the Children's Home and gave liberally of her means to help sustain that institution.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

On the Duty of Parents Making the Most of Themselves.

It is a deplorable fact that there is often too little sympathy and patience extended to the aged because of their adherence to the old customs. Too frequently the younger generation does not understand this tendency in their elders.

There is much to condemn from this side, of course, also something to be said in justice to the more progressive son and daughter, as an observer must concede.

Have you ever heard an elderly woman remark, "Oh, I am not fashionable enough for my daughter."

A feeling of contempt must arise within one for whomsoever can express anything but love and pride for the parents. The individual who can ignore those who reared him out of shame for their humbler rearing and habits of living is not entitled to much respect. Yet I have known cases where my sympathies were strongly enlisted on the side of son or daughter, where the parents leave something to be desired in their conduct.

A recent instance is fresh in my mind. A young man of my acquaintance, by virtue of his genius and fine personality, is welcomed in the best social circles. He has never been a traitor to his own people, though they have tried him sorely. On the contrary, his every thought has been for their comfort and happiness, notwithstanding his attempts to make them change a manner of living they should have been glad to abandon at the first opportunity.

The mother, dressed slovenly, sitting midst the untidiness of her home, folds her arms upon her breast and remarks lightly, but bitterly, "I don't please my son Edward. His mother isn't smart enough for his friends."

Her tone implies a righteous grievance and resentment, but it is only fair to Edward to say that he does not deserve this from his mother. While it has been a trial to have them stubbornly hold aloof from everything progressive and beautiful, he has never forced his standards upon them nor accused them of failing in duty to him.

Yet I am sure that they have failed, indifferent as they have always been to his love for the refining things of life, continuously refusing as they have to take an interest in anything above cheap novels and neighborhood gossip gathered from the vantage point of the kitchen window and shunning all society that demands anything more than a calico wrapper and a corn-cob pipe.

Possibly such cases are the exception. But certainly there is such a things as parents owing a duty to their children. Making the most of themselves as an example to their children is surely one of them.

STATE WINNER IN TIMBER SUIT

Judgment Granted By District Judge Against Lumber Concern.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state has won its suit against the Scanlon-Brooks Timber company, heard before Judge W. S. McClenahan of the district court, and a judgment of $21,000 has been awarded the state.

The suit was instituted by Former Attorney General Simpson and continued by Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith. The case of the state was handled at Brainerd by the assistant attorney general, A. L. Janes of St. Paul.

The suit was based on the additional timber which the state alleged the company had cut, and which amounted to about 3,000,000 feet, such timber being unpaid for. A portion of the evidence was secured from the Pacific coast, the state being assisted by the man who originally scaled the timber.

At the annual convention of the District Lutheran League of the Superior district in the First Swedish Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Third street, this morning, officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Rev. Theodore Ekblad, Superior; vice president, Axcel Pearson, Duluth; treasurer, E. Roberts, Two Harbors; corresponding secretary, Miss Ella Wyberg, Poplar, Wis.; secretary, Miss Lilly Johnson, Duluth. About fifty delegates were in attendance.

This afternoon the delegates held a picnic at Chester park. This evening the convention will close with a concert at the same church in which the business session was held.

The convention opened yesterday morning with services in the church. Rev. G. Oberg conducted the communion and Rev. C. G. Olson delivered the high mass sermon. There was singing by the church choir, the ladies' octet and Miss Edla Magley.

During the afternoon a general discussion was held on the following topic: "The Requisites Necessary in Order That We, as Young Christians, May Be Qualified to Fill Our Particular Calling in the Church." The meeting was led by Rev. O. H. Nelson of Superior. Following the discussion the delegates partook of luncheon, which was served in the basement of the church by the local league.

At the evening service an address was rendered by Dr. P. J. Uhler, acting president of Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter.

KEWEENAW COPPER MERGER COMPLETED

Thomas F. Cole and Others Take Over Many Mining Properties.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 2.—The big merger of Keweenaw copper properties on which Thomas F. Cole of Duluth and John D. Ryan have been working for some time has been perfected. The details have not been given out, but it is understood that Arnold, Ashbed and Meadow are three of the companies to be taken in with the Keweenow Copper company.

The company has secured approximately 6,000 acres in addition to the present territory, and will have thirteen and a half miles along the Ashbed lode. The lode will be thoroughly explored, and it is the belief of the men interested that under improved mining conditions the properties can be made to show a profit.

IRONWOOD SCHOOLS

Will Open on Tuesday for the School Year.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local schools will open tomorrow. After organizations, transfers and promotions, the schools will dismiss for the day. FORMER PROCTOR MAN IS SECRETARY

E. S. Davis Has Arrived and Taken Charge of Cloquet Y. M. C. A.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. S. Davis, the new secretary of the Cloquet Y. M. C. A., is now in charge. Mr. Davis was in charge of the Y. M. C. A. at Proctor several years ago, and is known here.

H. W. Mixsell, who has been secretary for over three years, left this morning for Minneapolis, which will be his headquarters. Mr. Maxsell is now secretary for the state executive committee of the Y. M. C. A., and his work will be in the industrial and county department. He has made many friends while in Cloquet, and the association, which was a new one when he came, has prospered under his direction.

Seventeen boys of the Y. M. C. A. who have camped for fourteen days near Saginaw on Lake Grand have returned home. In spite of considerable rain, the outing was a success.

Girls of Carlton county under 16 years of age are offered an opportunity to compete in breadmaking, the results to be exhibited at the county fair at Barnum, Sept. 25, 26 and 27.

The examinations recently given the Union Sunday school class resulted in two diplomas being awarded to members, the fortunate ones being Mrs. C. R. Smith, who received a standing of 98 3-5, and Miss Jean Wunderlich, whose standing was 99 3-5, the latter receiving also a letter of commendation from the examiner, Dr. Gerit Verkuyl of Appleton, Wis. They will be given regular teacher's diplomas. The class has been meeting every Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. since last fall, and a good interest in Sunday school work has been manifested.

A stag party was given Friday evening by the young men of the Y. M. C. A. to their friends. The program of the evening included pool, billiards, shuffleboard and handball, also a game of basket ball between the teams of the Northern and Cloquet Lumber companies, the Cloquet boys winning. The city band was on deck and refreshments were served.

GATES IS DISGUSTED

Former Duluth Woman Is Cause of Millionaire's Peeve.

The refusal of Mrs. John Cogan, formerly of Duluth, to transfer her home on Lake of The Isles Minneapolis, to John W. Gates at the price agreed upon by her husband, will probably result in Minneapolis losing the $1,000,000 Gates residence and the Gates art museum.

"Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2—Charles G. Gates left Minneapolis today a very much disappointed man. 'I am sore,' said Mr. Gates, 'and just now I shouldn't wonder if I decided to build in Seattle instead of Minneapolis.'

"Mr. Gates bought large holdings on Lake-of-the-Isles boulevard and planned to build his Minneapolis residence there. After Mr. Cogan, the seller, had learned who was the real purchaser of the tract he withdrew from the contract.

"Gates had planned to spend $1,000,000."

The dispatch errs in stating that Mr. Cogan withdrew. He had already signed the deed, but his wife refused to sign it also.

WANT TO RAISE $100,000 FOR SWEDISH FRATERNAL HOME

One hundred thousand dollars by June 1, 1913 is to be the aim of the subscription committee in behalf of the Swedish fraternity house and social center, the campaign for which started here several weeks ago.

Rev. W. E. Harmann, chairman of the committee in charge of the subscription campaign, is anxious to obtain the desired amount by the first of June and to have building operations start the latter part of next summer. He said this morning that the structure will be opened on Jan. 1, 1914 if the present plans of the committee materialize.

Vasa Order, No. 170, Swedish United Sons, is at the head of the campaign and will erect the building, plans for which have already been drawn by Bray & Nystrom, architects. A committee is assisting Rev. Harmann in obtaining subscriptions from the Swedish residents of the city. About $10,000 has been raised in the campaign up to the present time.

The building is to be used by all the Swedish societies and organizations of the city and is to be known as the Swedish social center of Duluth. A nominal fee will be charged for the use of the gymnaslum, while the reading rooms and library will always be open to the public. The various lodge rooms are to be rented out to the different Swedish societies and the large auditorium on the first floor will be used for Swedish concerts, plays and lectures.

According to the present plans the building will be constructed similar to the Duluth Y. M. C. A. building. The basement will be arranged for a gymnasium, including a pool and billiard room, bowling alley and shower baths. The first floor will include a large auditorium, offices, free reading room and a corner drug store. A third floor is also planned and will include lodge rooms, dining rooms and a large kitchen in the rear.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Patient Finds Rejuvenation In Electro Medicine—Nervous Breakdown Responsible for Trouble.

Broken down in health, completely fagged out, and nothing but a nervous wreck, Mr. Carl Engstrom of Fargo, N. D., came in search of health to Duluth. Through an infection of blood poison his nerves became sadly upset, and doctors in his home town seemed to have been at a loss, as they were unable to check the progress of his trouble. One of the doctors called it paralytis agitans, while others called it Infantile Paralysis, and while they were trying to find a name for the disease, the poor fellow's condition became worse every day.

"Doctor, can you cure my trouble?" he asked the consulting physician of the Electro Medical Doctors. "I have heard so much about you and our town is full of the talk since you cured Dr. Record. Your success in the cure of cancers has given me confidence, and I thought you could cure me. I don't care for the name of my trouble. I ask you only to help me if you can." The Doctor admitted that his case was very doubtful, but that he was sure he could help him if he could successfully get out the poison. The first three treatments were without success, but the fourth one brought relief and today Mr. Engstrom is on the road to recovery.

It seems as though all troubles are alike to these great specialists, and as if they cure them all. The stories of their wonderful cures of hopeless cases told by the happy patients themselves read like a romance. There is no question of the doctors' sincerity in their claim that all diseases can be cured by this marvelous method; and one can hardly doubt their ability to carry out their claim, after having talked with people whom they cured quickly and safely of all stomach trouble, consumption, constipation, rheumatism, neuralgia, catarrh, bronchitis, paralysis, diabetes, low vitality, nervous debility, insomnia, blood poison, female weakness and ailments, eczema, salt rheum. It matters not what the disease, nor how long standing, nor how many doctors or remedies have failed, they have repeatedly renewed the youth of old men and women, have often instilled into jaded men and women new vitality, health and strength. To weak weary women they have brought the light and happiness of health. They have cured the crippled and healed the sick.

The methods of the Electro Medical Doctors are wonderful, indeed, and the city of Duluth is proud of this great institution. They are contemplating to erect a sanitarium some time in the future in order to accommodate the many patients from out-of-town and to hasten their cure. The Electro Medical Doctors are located at No. 26 West Superior street. They welcome every sick man and woman to a free consultation; married women, however, must be accompanied by their husbands.

GARDEN INSPECTION HAS TO BE POSTPONED.

Owing to a misunderstanding the list of candidates for the prize garden contest cannot be obtained until tomorrow or Wednesday and for this reason the tour of inspection will not take place until the latter part of this week.

Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the garden committee of the West End Commercial club, stated this morning that the committee had planned to visit the various gardens this week and to announce the winners at the regular meeting of the club Friday evening. William L. Anderson, secretary of the club, was given the list of names several weeks ago and he had them locked up in his desk in the Sloan building. Last week F. H. De Vohn, Mr. Anderson's business partner, left for a short vacation at Lake Nebagamon and he took the desk keys along with him. A telegram was sent to Mr. De Vohn late Saturday evening and the keys are expected here tomorrow or Wednesday.

Dr. Oredson stated this morning that about fifty names are included in the list and that all these gardens will be inspected by the garden committee of the club. The prize money was donated by the club last spring and includes the following prizes: For the best all-around garden, $10; best strawberry garden, $5; best vegetable garden, $5; best potato patch, $5, and the best flower garden, $5. The members of the committee are Dr. Oredson, L. A. Simonson and John Wahl.

The injured:

Glenn Davey, shortstop, Wausau team, arm injured, may be amputated.

Walter Denmock, Wausau, right fielder, bruised.

William Kerwin, Wausau pitcher, skull perhaps fractured.

John Brown, Wausau, second baseman, bruised.

Frank Murphy, umpire, slightly bruised.

Frank Sakrison, Waukegan, Ill., slightly injured.

Alexander Schoelle, Milwaukee, both legs broken; badly bruised about body; may die.

Charles Post, Chicago, ribs broken, arm bruised.

H. C. Goetz, Milwaukee, left eye bruised and cut.

George Wersberg, Chicago.

W. F. Demmock, Chicago.

A. J. Druchos, Chicago.

Pinned Under Wreckage.

Alex Schoelle, the injured mail clerk, will probably die. He was pinned under debris for five hours before it possible to remove him by chopping a hole through the floor of a chair car. He might have it been possible to give him ention, but with both hips nd other injuries, it is probut he will not survive, the shock of his unattended injuries having greatly accentuated his agony.

General Manager Cantillon of the Northwestern railroad was in his private car with his family, returning from the Northern summer resort country, but his family escaped injury. He himself attended to the removal of the debris and the rescue of the injured from the wreckage. Mr. Cantillon's only personal loss was a pet dog, which was killed.

The train left Ashland, Wis., Saturday evening and was due in Chicago at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. The mail car, baggage car and smoker turned over when the train left the track. A northbound train safely passed the point where the accident occurred an hour before the derailment of No. 112.

Railroad officials report that a heavy cloudburst occurred in the vicinity of the washout a few minutes before the accident. Lyndhurst is fifty miles north of Green Bay.

Lightning the Only Light.

Dr. L. Y. French of Chicago, who was a passenger on the train, worked for several hours dressing the wounds of the injured.

"The scene immediately following the derailment of the train, made an impression on my brain that never can be effaced," said Dr. French. "I had been in Wisconsin on my vacation, as were many of the other passengers on the train. I was with my wife and child in one of the sleepers. Suddenly I was awakened by a jar, and above the roar of a storm that raged outside, I heard the grinding and crashing of timbers ahead. Then every car came to a jarring halt. I jumped out of my berth and ran forward.

"There I could see a half dozen of the cars ahead had plunged into the ditch. A wild storm was raging, one of the worst rain storms I have ever seen. It was pitch dark.

"Every second the wrecked cars ahead were lit by vivid flashes of lightning, and I could see men crawling out from the debris. Pausing to put on a few clothes, I and a few passengers got off and began to get the victims out of the wreck. One of the first we found was the engineer. He was in a terrible condition from having been scalded, and I saw at a glance that nothing could be done for him. He died within a few minutes. All this time it was raining heavily. I got sheets from one of the sleepers and tore them into strips to be used in dressing the wounds of the injured."

with the knowledge and consent of Col. Roosevelt.

Mr. Loeb was Col. Roosevelt's secretary at the time the former president wrote letters and telegrams to Mr. Cortelyou directing the return of any Standard Oil contributions.

Both men have notified the committee they are ready to appear.

Asked, Not Subpoenaed.

Neither has been subpoenaed. Similar letters have been sent to Mr. Archbold and Mr. Hearst.

Efforts are being made to locate the men who handled campaign funds during the recent presidential primaries. Some correspondence along that line is said to await the return of Senator Clapp, chairman of the committee. He is now on a campaign tour in Vermont.

Much speculation is abroad as to who will be the first witness put upon the stand when the committee convenes about Sept. 30. A report was current today that Col. Roosevelt would not appear at that time. Senator Clapp has been informed that the Progressive candidate will be touring the West then.

Inasmuch as the committee has subpoenaed no one to appear before it, but has left the date of appearance to the discretion of witnesses, it is believed by many this course will be followed in regard to Col. Roosevelt.

WILSON TALKS TO WORKINGMEN

monopolies," and "looks strangely like economic mastery over the very lives and fortunes of those who do the daily work of the nation."

What Workmen Ask.

Governor Wilson said in part:

"Intelligent workmen will ask the men now seeking their votes what they may be expected to do for them. I don't mean for them separately, but what they may be expected to do for the country, which will entitle them to the confidence of those who perform the daily labor which lies at the base of all of our life.

"Most of them answer they will turn upon the question of tariff duties, from which our policies never seem able to get away. On the other hand, they will be told that if the Democratic party goes into power they may look to see industry languish and wages go down, and employment become harder and harder to find.

"They forget that Democrats constitute something like half the nation; that Democrats are engaged in occupations of every kind, depend upon all sorts of business for their livelihood, share in every enterprise of the country. It safely may be taken for granted that Democrats are not going to destroy themselves economically.

New Party and Tariff.

"These uncomfortable predictions come both from the old line Republican and from those Republicans of the new departure, who are seeking to build up a third party of their own. From Republicans of the old line, these forecasts of disaster were to be expected. They have long been their stock in trade. There is the stimulating breath of hope in every part of the platform of the new party, except that which touches the tariff and the trusts.

"In fact, there is this very singular feature about the platform of the new party: It has two sides and two tones. It speaks warm sympathy with practically every project of social betterment to which men and women of broad sympathies are now turning with generous purpose, and on that side it is refreshing to read.

"But that is not the part of the platform that reads like a program. It is a proclamation of sympathy, rather; an indication of the direction in which the leaders of the party would fain sometime move. The program lies elsewhere, where the tariff is spoken of, and the trusts. In that portion of the document there is an air of business and a very definite indication of what is intended to be done, and by what means.

"It may be interpreted in the light of some interesting things Mr. Roosevelt has recently said.

Roosevelt and Protection.

"Mr. Roosevelt declares his devoted adherence to the principle of protection. He declares that he is not troubled by the fact that a very large amount of money is taken out of the pocket of the general taxpayer and put into the pockets of particular classes of protected manufacturers, but that his concern is that so little of the money gets into the pockets of the employes.

"I have searched his program very thoroughly for an indication of what he expects to do in order to see to it that a larger proportion of this 'prize' money gets into the pay envelope, and I have found only one suggestion.

"It is worth the while of the working men of the country to recall what the attitude toward organized labor has been of these masters of consolidated industries, whom the federal government is to take under its patronage as well as under its control. They have always been the stout opponents of organized labor, and they have tried to undermine you in a great many ways. Some of the ways they have adopted have worn the guise of philanthropy and good will, and have no doubt been used, for all I know, in perfect good faith. Some of them have set up systems of profit-sharing, of compensation for injuries, and of bonuses and even pensions, but every one of these plans has merely bound their workingmen more tightly to themselves.

Privileges, Not Rights.

"Their rights under these various arrangements are not legal rights. They are merely privileges which they enjoy so long as they remain in the employment and observe the rules of the local industries which employ them. If they refuse to be weaned away from their independence, they cannot continue to enjoy the benefits extended to them.

"When you have thought the whole thing out, therefore, you will find that the program of the new party legalizes monopolies and systematically subordinates workmen to them and to plans made by the government both with regard to employment and with regard to wages. By what means, except open revolt, could we ever break the crust of our life again and become free men, breathing an air of our own, choosing and living lives that we wrought out for ourselves?

"Perhaps this new and all-conquering combination between money and government would be benevolent to us; perhaps it would carry out the noble program of social betterment which so many credulously expect of it; but who can assure us of that? Who will give bond that it will be generous and gracious and pitiful and righteous? What man or set of men can make us secure under it by their empty promise and assurance that it will take care of us and be good?

"What we need is the regulation of competition and the prosecution of what has created monopoly. When you have regulated it, you have in effect restored it."

ISSUE CALL TO NEW PASTOR

Pilgrim Congregational Church Invites Rev. C. N. Thorpe of Chelsea.

A telegram was received at The Herald office today from Merideth, N. H., stating that a prominent pastor of that city had accepted a call to the Pilgrim Congregational church at Duluth The message seems to have been sent under some misapprehension. A committee of the Pilgrim Congregational church at Duluth has extended a call to Rev. Charles N. Thorpe of Chelsea, Mass. W. W. McMillan, secretary of the committee, said today that thus far no reply had been received from Mr. Thorpe. It is possible that the man referred to in the telegram is Mr. Thorpe.

Have A Case Sent Home

IT'S a mighty fine thing to have a case of beer in your cellar. It provides for an ever-ready beverage for meals, lunches, etc. or for mere refreshment of the most healthful kind.

is particularly well adapted for the home on account of its purity and extra healthfulness. If you could spare the time to be shown through the brewery and bottling house you would understand why it is so good. Physicians recommend it as a tonic and builder of good, rich blood. For convalescents and nursing mothers it is the ideal liquid food.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS WILL NAME ELECTION JUDGES

Owing to the rush in the office of the county auditor incidental to the holding of the primary election, the board of county commissioners will hold but a short session at the courthouse tomorrow, the occasion being the regularly called monthly meeting.

Little outside of the routine run of business is expected to be disposed of at this time. The election judges and clerks in the unorganized territory will be appointed by the board. Two judges and one clerk are to be named for fourteen unorganized precincts.

A fair-sized grist of bills will probably be allowed, and it is expected that the six liquor license applications will come up for consideration. Other matters which have been pending before the board will probably be postponed until a later meeting this month.

These are busy days at the auditor's office. A large force of clerks is busily employed in preparing the primary election ballots for the printers. Under the new law the ballot will be a much longer one, and considerable care is necessary in order to come under the provisions of the act. The work will probably take the remainder of the week. All supplies for the election will probably be ready at the auditor's office on Saturday afternoon.

REYNER FUNERAL.

Stephen, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Sophie Carnegie of Warren fainted when the machine she was driving with her sister, Nellie, did not stop as she expected, as they slowed up near a bridge in this locality to let a team pass and the motor slid into the ditch. They stopped the car before it upset and neither was hurt.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

LABOR'S HOLIDAY AND LABOR'S DUTY.

When the forces of organized labor on Labor day march along a city street, rank after rank of stalwart manhood, it is an impressive showing of the might and respectability of union labor.

Organization has accomplished much for those who have participated in it. It has brought about better working conditions and better pay, and it has not been without its influence in public affairs toward better things for all of us.

Yet it may be a question whether the very success that has come out of this collective bargaining and the power of organization, working almost entirely outside of politics and legislation, has not prevented labor as a body from becoming the influence it should be in the public affairs of the nation.

All the gain that has come from the enterprises of organized labor has been shared, more or less directly, by all. Better paid labor means greater prosperity for those who, in mercantile or professional pursuits, serve labor. Better paid labor means healthier families, and fathers and mothers better fitted to rear the citizens of the future.

But by no means all the nation's labor is enrolled in the ranks of organized labor. The common labor of the land, which includes those who work in unskilled clerical positions as well as those who dig ditches, is deprived of the benefits of organization by the very nature of its occupation.

Instincts of human brotherhood dictate to the plain citizen, whatever his rank or station and whether he be a member of organized labor or not, that he shall not let his private interests submerge his public duty—which is to see to it that so far as his influence and his vote may go, he uses every possible effort to the end that government shall serve all alike.

This is the meaning of equality. Neither men nor women are created equal so far as character is concerned, nor ability. But every citizen, high or low, man or woman, is entitled to equal treatment before the law, and a people's government has been prostituted when it favors a powerful few at the expense of the many.

In the well entrenched position it has gained by its own efforts, organized labor is splendidly equipped to fight the battle of the common good, not only in its own behalf but in behalf of the unorganized workers whose lot is now so much worse than that of the organized toilers.

It should make its fight on a simple platform of government by and for all the people. It should battle for a fair division of the fruits of the joint enterprise of labor and capital—fair not only to itself and its followers but fair to those whose position is less fortunate. It should follow no party for the party's sake, but should support such parties and such candidates as seem most likely to work out the ideal of the common good, and it should support them only so long as they prove trustworthy.

There is no body of citizens in the land better fitted by intelligence and economic position to lead this fight than that which is parading the streets of the nation's cities today.

Not Fugitives.

A VALUABLE MAN GONE.

Aside from his attractive personal qualities, his signal public service makes the sudden death of Horace W. Reyner a great loss to the community. It is as necessary that a community shall be well served with good music as it is that it shall be served with good provisions. A community without music will starve just as certainly as a community without food, though in another way.

A splendid growth in musical appreciation and in the demand for good music that has taken place in Duluth is due very largely to the good taste, the enthusiasm and the tireless energy of this valuable public servant who is gone. There are not many who could be spared so ill.

Lese Majeste.

Do they dare call it just plain "rheumatiz" when the kaiser has it?

T. R. AND CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY.

Col. Roosevelt is very insistent, judging from his platform, on the publicity of campaign contributions.

It may be merely a coincidence that every thinking citizen in the country is even more insistent on this policy.

But it was not always thus with the ex-president.

In a letter written Sept. 27, 1908, replying to Mr. Bryan, Roosevelt said that in a letter written Oct. 26, 1904,—four years before,—he had specifically approved the conditions under which the national committee was accepting contributions.

And at that time the national committee was taking money in hundreds of thousands from Archbold and Harriman, and publication of the fact was delayed until long after election—admission of it until years after.

There has been some question whether Roosevelt knew that Harriman contributed a large fund to his 1904 campaign. In this letter to Bryan Col. Roosevelt showed that he did know it, by saying that "Bryan knew that Harriman's subscription to the Roosevelt campaign in 1904 did not interfere with any action taken by him (Roosevelt)."

But this letter shows still more—a well seasoned opposition to the publicity of campaign expenditures before election, with very firm convictions on the subject.

Said the Colonel: "You have shown by this letter of yours that if Mr. Harriman's contribution to the campaign fund of 1904 had been known before the election you and your supporters would have endeavored to use the fact of its having been made in an insincere and untruthful argument to show that I could not be trusted to deal out exact justice to Mr. Harriman. No stronger argument against your proposition has yet been advanced than this that you have unconsciously advanced."

"Your proposition" was a proposition to make public before the election the source of the Republican campaign fund.

Col. Roosevelt was doubtless right when he said that if Bryan and his followers had known of the slush fund which Harriman raised in Wall Street to make Roosevelt president they would have used it as an argument against him.

It is also true that if the people had known it Bryan and his followers would have had to make little argument to shake the public confidence in Roosevelt.

Even then the people were not in favor of taking presidents financed by Wall Street and the special interests; and if it had been known before election who was financing the Roosevelt campaign, the people would have thought twice before they gave him such a tremendous majority, if they elected him at all.

Since pet trust angels have financed his 1912 campaign so liberally it is not surprising to find that Roosevelt was so complacent about corporation contributions in 1904 and 1908.

Land Of the Free.

Who says religion cuts any ice in politics in this country? Here's a Musselman nominated for governor of Michigan.

THE SECOND CHOICE.

The friends of a certain peregrinating candidate for re-election as governor of this state, it is said, are quietly urging the use of first choice votes only at the coming primary election, and advising against the use of the second choice privilege.

That's very poor advice.

Perhaps it is good advice from the viewpoint of those whose only wish is to perpetuate in office Adolph O. Eberhart and the forces that put him in public life and have kept him there; but it is mighty poor advice from the viewpoint of citizenship.

The second choice primary, while it may not yet be in ideal form, is a long step toward the ideal primary.

Under it there is vastly more certainty of producing a fair and honest expression of the public will than there is in the straight primary which lacks the second choice provision.

Each voter who attends the primaries of his party should exercise the second choice wherever there are more than two candidates for the same place.

He should vote first for the man he believes best fitted for the office he seeks.

He should give his second choice to the man he believes next best fitted.

By so doing he really casts two votes against a possible third candidate whom he does not believe to be at all fitted for the office.

Those who hope to defeat the purposes of the second choice provision are pretending that it is complicated and difficult.

There is nothing complicated or difficult about it.

Following the names of the candidates on the primary election ballot there will be two parallel columns. The first column is for first choice votes, the second is for second choice votes. All the voter has to do is to mark his crosses in these two columns according to his judgment.

It is true that in canvassing the votes the second choice provision increases the work of election officials, but that is nothing the voter needs to worry about.

The whole theory of the second choice ballot is this:

In a large field of candidates, without a second choice provision a candidate may be nominated by a small minority of the voters, and against the wishes and principles of a large majority of the party members.

With the second choice provision, the voter fixes for his first choice on the man who seems best to represent the voter's views of the issues, and his second choice goes to another candidate who in a large degree represents the same views.

If a majority of a party is progressive, for instance, the second choice provision permits that majority to select a progressive candidate. If the majority of the party is conservative, the second choice provision sees to it that that majority is represented at the election by a conservative candidate.

The plain primary permits a minority nomination. The second choice privilege, if it is used, insures a majority nomination.

Those who advise against the use of the second choice provision do so for reasons which are not in harmony with sound public policy.

Getting Sensible, Of Course.

In spite of the fact that this is an exceptionally interesting presidential campaign year, business is booming. What's the answer? Is politics losing its grip? Or are we getting sensible?

THE LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU.

The Good Government club of the University of Minnesota has begun a campaign for the establishment of a legislative reference bureau, which it hopes to have the legislature provide at its coming session.

The Good Government club is engaged in an enterprise worth while, and The Herald hopes that it will succeed.

The legislative reference bureau, which has been adopted in twenty states and has reached its highest state of efficiency in Wisconsin under Prof. Charles McCarthy, acts as a non-partisan servant of the state lawmakers in collecting and indexing information of all sorts and from all possible sources relating to the subjects of proposed legislation. It provides the lawmaker with all available information about the subject he is interested in, together with the laws passed or proposed in other states, and it helps him draw his bills.

The value of this aid to intelligent legislation is greatly out of proportion to its cost.

Minnesota should have such a bureau as soon as possible, and the Good Government club of the university should have the hearty support of everybody who is in a position to help its campaign.

David said in his haste that all men were liars, but he never thought of classifying himself as a Bull Moose.

"I don't need to keep my hat in the ring now," says Theodore. Sure not. The necessity for it disappeared about July 2.

With the colonel on one side the political fence and Nick on the other, Alice Longworth must be able to sympathize with several congressmen.

A Montana ranchman has inherited a British title. Acquaintance with popular fiction leads us to wonder whether the girl's father will consent now.

That report that Hooker went to the banks after funds for the Bull Moose campaign is absurd on the face of it. George W. Perkins is the natural emissary on missions of that kind.

THE GOVERNORSHIP

Would Be Unfortunate.

Red Wing Republican: Before the Republican primaries there are six who have filed. One of these is the present executive, Adolph O. Eberhart. The Republican considers that his renomination would be a misfortune to the party and it does not believe that he could be elected against the nominee that the Democratic primaries are liable to name. It would certainly consider that his re-election, however remote its possibility may seem, would be still more unfortunate for reasons that are obvious to every one who knows the history of his administration and the urgent needs of the state.

Good Reasons.

Mora Times: The brewery and corporate interests of this state are supporting the state machine. The state machine is supporting Eberhart and the latter dances to the music of Ed. Smith, the big political boss of the state. These are very good reasons why the honest voter should pass up Eberhart's name at the coming primaries.

Can't Run Away.

Waverly Star and Tribune: Governor Eberhart is running on his record. Probably because he cannot run away from it.

Misrepresentation Not Necessary.

Benson Monitor: Eberhart's campaign committee has issued an official campaign booklet in which the governor receives credit for practically everything done in the legislature and state offices, but nothing is said about that "little expense account" of his. His press agent says "opposition to him should be upon principle and fact, and not descend to petty misrepresentation." It is far from necessary to descend to misrepresentation in order to attack the governor's administration.

One Oversight.

Minneapolis News: Adolph's campaign book is out. It neglects to give him credit for having the Mississippi river run down hill. But that's about the only oversight.

Don't Want Eberhart.

St. Peter Herald: Certain Republican papers are saying that the state Democracy desires the nomination of Eberhart, whose chances, it must be admitted, seem better than those of his opponents. In the campaign that will precede the general election P. M. Ringdal, who is practically certain to be the Democratic nominee, could have no weaker opponent than the present incumbent. Still, there is the chance that the Republican party, with its normal majority of 75,000, would be able to elect him. Democrats who have the welfare of the state at heart do not, therefore, desire his nomination. Better a Democratic defeat than two years more of Eberhart.

Duty of Republicans.

Luverne Journal: The duty of Minnesota Republicans is clear: Beat Eberhart at the primaries. If he gets past the primaries he might get by with another election. Its a long time from Sept. 17 to Nov. 5. But its only a few days till Sept. 17. Do it now. Don't wait for the Democrats to give you a winner. Pick him yourself from among the candidates in your own party.

Claims Everything.

Thief River Falls News-Press: Our traveling governor has just issued a campaign document, in which he claims credit for everything from good crops to good government; conservation, consolidation of rural schools and free advertising of the state by himself, the state wide primary and the increase in the gross earnings tax, and in fact so great are his claims that we wonder he hasn't laid claim to a "title clear to mansions in the skies," or perhaps he has previously by his "excellent deportment," cinched the halo and other such like paraphernalia.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In regard to Postmaster General Hitchcock's statement that over $2,000,000 is lost through the mail every year by fraudulent advertisements of bogus mines, patent medicines, etc., I would say that, when the American public cannot trust the advertisements in our leading magazines and periodicals, it is high time that something is done.

The average citizen is unable to determine which ad is a fraud and which is not, by reading the ads.

No ad should be allowed to be inserted in any magazine or periodical unless the party or parties inserting the ads are reliable and trustworthy.

There are so many correspondence school courses advertised that it is almost impossible for any person to tell which schools wish to give the student an education and which ones merely wish to give him a diploma.

The ambitious young man who pays for a correspondence course with his hard earned money has a right to know.

Although fraudulent advertising cannot be totally eliminated, its practice can be greatly diminished by enacting more stringent laws regarding the insertion of advertisements in our leading magazines and periodicals. Yours truly,

CLARENCE KNUTSON.

Michigamme, Mich., Aug. 28.

WHITE SLAVERY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Through your paper I wish to rect a statement made in the News Tribune.

When asked by Mayor Konke perior why I did not report sal to the police, I stated that the was just leaving the station and there was no time to report the case. In an interview with a News Tribune reporter I said, "I do not blame Chief Troyer or his patrolmen, for I have never called upon either Chief Troyer or the policemen but what they have always been willing to give me assistance, and have done so in every case when asked."

I also stated that I had not met a more honest or conscientious man in Duluth than Chief Troyer and believe he is doing all within his power to wipe out the white slave traffic, but there is a limit to even Chief Troyer's power, for he has not the fund with which to place a man on this work which it will need if anything definite is done toward the wiping out of this traffic.

No policeman can leave his beat to follow those people out of the city to secure the evidence needed to convict, and if he did so, who would pay his expenses?

I spoke of the need of a special detective, hoping there were enough public-spirited people interested in the young girls who are daily being led into that life, from which society makes it impossible for them to return, to help make it possible to have such a detective at work.

Mayor Konkel made a statement which the Christian people of these cities should not pass over lightly. He said, while speaking of the awful conditions which existed, "That such conditions would not be changed until the hearts of men and women were changed." To my knowledge not more than three persons with the exception of the police force or officers of the city, have made any effort in the last two years to stop this traffic. A church member said, "The saving of the immoral is the policeman's duty, not that of a Christian," and so far as I have been able to observe it is being left to the police.

The hearts of people who have fallen to so low a state as that of buying and selling young girls will never be changed until stronger methods are used than are now in action.

People rage about saving the fallen girl. Why not make it impossible for her to fall? That old remark we hear so often that no girl falls unless she wishes to do so, is not true, as any person who works among the outcast girls will tell you, but rather they are victims of circumstances from which there is no return, for society will not give her another chance.

Where is there a person or home in Duluth that will welcome one of those fallen girls? Therefore Mayor McCuen must be correct when he says "the segregated district must exist while there are girls there in a dying condition and have only a few short months or years to live."

But surely there are some people in Duluth who will try to prevent other girls from being dragged into those holes of vice.

If the women of Duluth could see the heartbroken girls and see the liquor drunk and drugs used to drown the pain and heartaches they would surely do more thinking than at present.

It is true that the vilest thing on earth is an immoral woman, but those same vile persons will say they have dropped to that stage in order to drown their conscience.

And I hope there is some one who will make it possible for Chief Troyer to do what he wishes to do if it were possible. AGNES MARTIN, Travelers' Aid Deaconess, Y. W. C. A.

Duluth, Sept. 1.

Naturally.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "What happens when you put the dollar before the man?" bawled the candidate.

"The man goes after it," answered an old farmer in the crowd.

To My Neighbor

From the Craftsman.

Come into my house fearlessly, and into my garden without suspicion. Let us be content because we live near to each other. Let us think well of each other when we meet, and let us be gracious.

I have done many foolish things in my life and a few wrong things. So have you.

I was never glad of my sins. I suppose that you also have repented of yours. Therefore we must resolve not to build them into a coffin for the burial of friendliness.

Let us forget our faults when we sit down together to chat as neighbors.

For truly, if you remember my folly and my wrong doing you will expect the same of me again, and I shall be unable to yield you my best.

If I allow my thoughts to linger with your weakness, your very strength will be crippled by my presence.

Therefore, I pray you, remember not the day when I was unkind to a servitor, rude to a child, false to a friend—if there have been such days. Remember the days when I have tried to be kind, and courteous and true.

I promise that I will strive to thrust from my mind the days when you gossiped or sneered or were niggardly, if such days have been. I will call to mind sunnier days when you labored quietly, praised generously, and brought rich gifts.

Come into my house, my garden, and rest awhile. Be free to enjoy what pleases you. Meet my eyes sincerely when you shake hands with me.

For your tragedy I promise to have only sympathy, for your comedy a guileless laugh. Do you be gentle with my failings.

For are we not set close to each other that we may learn loving kindness?

Is not God Himself with us when we [illegible] the best in each other as neighbors.

Beautiful Is the Earth

Anonymous: God has made this world very fair. He fashioned it in beauty when there was no eye to behold it but his own. All along the wild forest he has carved the forms of beauty. Every cliff and stem and flower is a form of beauty. Every hill and dale and tree and landscape is a picture of beauty. Every cloud and mist-wreath and vapor-veil is a shadowy reflection of beauty. Every spring and rivulet, every river and lake and ocean is a glassy mirror of beauty. Every diamond and rock and pebbly beach is a mine of beauty. Every sea and planet and star is a blazing face of beauty. All along the aisles of earth, all over the arches of heaven, all through the expanse of the universe are scattered in rich and infinite profusion the life germs of beauty. All natural motion is beauty in action. From the mote that playes its little frolic in the sunbeam, to the world that blazes along the sapphire spans of the firmament are visible the ever-varying features of the enrapturing spirit of beauty.

The Wonder Child.

A source of endless wonderment
Is he whose years are three;
No weariness to him is sent—
Each day ends blithesomely;
We wonder that such little feet
Can tread such paths of play;
We wonder at the laughs that greet
The close of longest day.

He drags his precious plunder out
From cupboard full of toys,
And, with a gladsome, wholesome shout
He spends the day in noise;
We wonder at the scars he shows,
The scratches and the burns;
In wonder to his tattered clothes
His patient mother turns.

But most of all we wonder how
His eyes grow deeper blue,
And how his charming baby brow
Grows yet more fair and true;
We wonder how his smile wins more,
And cheeks show more of rose—
And how new freckles still swarm o'er
That tiny, sunburned nose!

—Denver Republican.

One Thing Forgotten.

Washington Star: Col. Gilford Hurry, commissary of the National Guard of New York, was condemning an officer who on an annual encampment had fussed too much over his men.

"A famous editor," he said, "watched this officer one night during the last encampment as he showed the boys how to fold their clothes, how to spread their bedding, how to wrap themselves in their blankets, how to drape their mosquito netting, etc. and finally, when the officer took leave, the editor called after him:

"'Hey, you've forgotten somethin'!'

"'What have I forgotten?'

"'You haven't heard 'em say their prayers and kissed 'em all good night.'"

Those That See Light

Henry Watterson in Louisville Courier-Journal.

I.

Now and then some worshiper of Theodore Roosevelt has his eyes opened. The most striking example of this is furnished by a certain Wallace Batchelder of Vermont, who reports himself cured by a single telegram of a case of Rooseveltitis of fourteen years' standing. He lives in Bethel, and as a Green mountain boy of Progressive ideas and a rough rider fighter of bosses he had been advocating the indorsement by the Vermont Progressives of the Democratic candidate for governor of that state. When word came to him out of Oyster Bay that the colonel wanted no candidate indorsed who would not support Roosevelt electors, he couldn't believe it, but a second message confirmed the first one. Then after reflection and prayer, he wired the Big Bull Moose as follows:

Your telegram received. I am shocked.

For more than four months I, who am a poor man with a wife and two little boys to support, have worked literally night and day, without fear, favor or hope of reward, for the Progressive cause, and have believed that you were that cause personified. I have neglected my business, earned no money and am many dollars poorer than I was that evening last March when I dined with you at Oyster Bay after being summoned there by you.

I supposed that I was fighting for the real rule of the people and against bosses and bossism. Your telegram received this morning stating that the telegram of July 20, purporting to be signed by you, is substantially authentic, makes it plain that you direct me—and men in every state—that we must not vote for any candidate for any office, no matter how honest, able, efficient or progressive he may be, unless that candidate will agree to pay for our votes by supporting Theodore Roosevelt for president of the United States again—by supporting Roosevelt electors.

I was a member of your regiment in 1898. For fourteen years I have felt more affection for you than for any other person on earth except the members of my own immediate family. It is a terrible wrench, Colonel, but I cannot fool myself, and I must be straightforward and frank with you, as you know I always have been.

With grief, the depth of which you cannot know, I have decided, after one of the hardest fights I have ever been forced to put up, that I cannot longer support you for president of the United States.

WALLACE BATCHELDER.

There is in this not merely candor but pathos. "Thou hast wounded the spirit that loved thee," in effect, says Wallace to Theodore. Here we have a sorrowful example of the crosses that sometimes come between private affection and public duty.

It was to this same Wallace Batchelder that Col. Roosevelt, being asked only ten months ago whether he would be a candidate for president in 1912, "at once replied," we are quoting Mr. Batchelder himself, "that he emphatically would not be, that he should regard it as a calamity if he were nominated, and that he expected and demanded that every friend and supporter of his would do everything in his power to prevent any movement looking towards his nomination."

II.

Quoting the foregoing letter and recalling the above circumstance, that remorseless cynic, or shall we say that adamantine historian, Edward Sanford Martin, treats with a levity ill-fitting an occasion rather lachrymose than humorous, both Mr. Batchelder and his grief, in the latest issue of Life:

"Theodore was right then, Wallace," says Mr. Martin, "and you should have held him to his word. It was a calamity for him and you when he became a candidate. Once he broke with all his past assurances and started again to get the presidency, he was like a hound on a trail, oblivious to all considerations, except to get his quarry. To our mind your progressive way in politics is better than his. When the Republican candidate doesn't stand for what you want, and a Democrat does, support the Democrat."

Then Mr. Martin drops into politics, as it were, and continues at once to forecast and to satirize. "Theodore," he continues, "is leading his followers into a bog, out of which, with pains and grief, in due time they will have to flounder. It is a pity, and the more so because he has had his hours of insight, and perfectly appreciated the messages they brought him and based sound purposes on them, but circumstances and the teasings of the uneasy and the incitements of the headstrong, joined to the wiles of the self-seekers and his own restless misconception of himself, and life and duty, wrenched him from his sound position and brought him where, as you now see, the judicious grieve at his plight, and faithful followers like you are compelled to cut him loose."

And finally, with cruel irony, Mr. Martin closes thus: "It is too bad, Wallace; too bad. We know how you feel. You had an elkon, and it's gone, and in its place you have just a busted tin soldier. After a while you may be able again to cherish these tin remnants, and derive from them some of the consolation of which the asperities of life make us so needful. Cherish them by all means, but don't let yourself be snaked back to follow them to any Waterloo."

Did Theodore mean it—does he ever mean anything three days, or three hours in succession—when he said he would not be a candidate and that whoever proposed it was "no gentleman?" Am "ex" himself he is the nominee of the "ex's." He will get every Republican who has been turned out of office, or refused an office. In spite of the newspapers that take no account of his comings and goings, and obstinately refuse to exploit him, great crowds come out to meet and greet him. So did they come out to Barnum's Woolly Horse. So did they to Jumbo. Yet Teddy will poll a fairly decent vote. If there be a popular vote of fifteen millions, all told, Taft will get, in round numbers five millions, Roosevelt two millions, and Wilson eight millions; but, of electoral votes, it is too early to predict that either Taft or Teddy will get a single vote. Monroe got all the electoral votes in 1820. Why not Wilson in 1912? Queer things happen in American politics.

The Difference.

Philadelphia Record: Money is not tainted by its source but by its destination. All money given to help Roosevelt along is clean and sweet.

Comfort for Women.

Toledo Blade: Dr. Anna Shaw declares that women will some day fill men's shoes. That will surely be an era of more comfortable feet.

The Suffrage Creed

Mary B. Hunter in New York Sun:

I believe in votes for women.

I believe there is nothing mysterious about politics.

I believe that politics today is civic housekeeping.

I believe that the old idea of politics must change.

I believe a vote is the only language which legislators heed.

I believe that a voteless woman is a speechless advocate or protestant.

I believe in government of, by and for the people, and that women are people.

I believe that it is my business to see that laws for better home making are secured and enforced.

I believe that it is my business as a woman living in this year of grace 1912 thoroughly to inform myself on such matters.

I believe that as I contribute to the general fund by paying taxes on all I eat and wear I should have some say in the spending of it.

I believe that it is not honorable for me to expect to gain my wishes through indirect influence, that is, at the expense of another person's wishes.

I believe that inasmuch as equal suffrage has proved that it has promoted the general welfare in such countries as New Zealand, Australia and six of our own states, we, the women in the remaining forty-two states, will prove ourselves equally public spirited and capable.

I believe that if there were any way of securing these things other than by voting the world would have found it out, but until it does I believe in votes for women and men.

Commission—And Salary.

Argonaut: Tommy Deegan, soldier of fortune and distinctive character, worked for the trolley company in the old days—"the good old days," he called them; but that is largely his point of view. He had worked five or six days, and he had worked hard, as conductor. He liked the work and he found it worth while. One day as he hopped off his car at the division office he saw a crowd of conductors standing around. "What's this, boys? A strike?" he asked in surprise. "Nope," was the reply; "this is pay day. Didn't you know it?" "What!" said Deagen, "do they pay you, too?"

Curves.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Less than twenty-five years ago a college professor declared that there couldn't be any such violation of the laws governing projectiles as a curved ball—a ball that curved after leaving the hand of the thrower.

It took a baseball pitcher, several witnesses and two slender stakes to make the learned man back down.

Times change.

The world moves—and in curves, too.

THE WILSON CAMPAIGN FUND

A PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN FUND FOR A PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT

SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED AT THE HERALD OFFICE, DULUTH

Write out your check to "Wilson Campaign Fund." Fill it in with any amount that will suit your financial convenience. Place it in an envelope and mail it to "Wilson Campaign Fund, Herald Office, Duluth, Minn."

The time to contribute to the Wilson campaign fund is now.

The campaign is on. The great battle for the restoration of the government to the people has begun. For the next two months there will be no letup in the political struggle.

The issues of the campaign must be kept before the people. Woodrow Wilson and his record of progressive accomplishment must be brought to the attention of many voters who are not familiar with the man and his work.

Much money will be needed for the work. The legitimate expenses of the campaign will be heavy. A great sum must be expended, though there will be no extravagance and no waste.

If you are a true Progressive, you want to see Woodrow Wilson elected president of the United States.

If you want to see Woodrow Wilson elected, you should be willing to do your part to defray the cost of the campaign.

Governor Wilson's opponents are well supplied with money. The corporate influences of the nation and the individuals who believe in the rights of a "representative part of the people" to rule over the whole people are opposed to Woodrow Wilson. They will throw the influence of their wealth into the struggle against him.

The common people must subscribe Woodrow Wilson's campaign fund. The Democratic national committee can look to no men of great wealth to assist in the financing of the campaign.

Woodrow Wilson is the people's candidate. If he is elected, he will be the people's president. He believes in the true square deal, the square deal that gives every man the same rights in the government as every other man.

The struggle is a great one. Our lines of partisanship are broken down. The Democratic party is the real party of progress, with a Progressive candidate for president. Men of all shades of former political belief can support Woodrow Wilson if they believe in the republican form of government with which the fathers of the nation started the young republic on its way.

The Democratic national committee needs the money now. Those who intend to contribute should do so without delay.

All contributions received by The Herald will be acknowledged by publication. The lists will be sent to the Democratic national committee and each contributor will receive a receipt, handsomely engraved and suitable for framing.

The Progressives of the Northwest should respond to this appeal. They should show the people of other parts of the country that they are Progressive and that they want to see Woodrow Wilson in the presidential chair.

Send contributions to "Wilson Fund, The Herald Office, Duluth, Minn."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TOCSIN WILL BE SOUNDED

Meeting of State Central Committee and Banquet at Capital City.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow evening the Democratic campaign in North Dakota will be formally placed under way at a Democratic achievement banquet to be held here with Congressman W. P. Borland of Missouri as the principal speaker of the evening, and with a long array of North Dakota Democratic talent on the program as well.

A meeting of the state committee also will be held here and the members are already beginning to arrive. Very little has been said with reference to the chairmanship position, and there is, in some quarters, the impression that no fight will be made against the present chairman, D. H. McArthur, for re-election.

Following the meeting of the state committee, definite plans will be laid for the establishment of state headquarters, and the carrying on of the work from now until the election. The

CONGRESSMAN W. P. BORLAND.

STATE INCOME TAX PRIMARY FEATURE

Wisconsin Voters Tuesday Will Select Nominees for Coming Election.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—The state income tax law is the principal factor at issue in the main contest which is to be decided by the voters of Wisconsin at the primary election tomorrow, when nominees of the various parties for state, congressional, legislative and county officers will be chosen.

Probate Judge John C. Karel and Adolph J. Schmitz of Milwaukee, who were recently selected by the Democrats in state convention to battle for the honor of heading the state ticket for that party in November, have made a state-wide campaign. Karel's canvass has consisted in a flood of oratory in opposition to the state income tax law, which went into effect this year. While opposed to the state income tax, Karel favors a federal measure.

Schmitz's campaign has been a strong defense of the income tax proposition.

Governor Francis E. McGovern is unopposed in seeking the gubernatorial nomination on the Republican ticket, as are candidatets on the Social Democratic and [illegible]n tickets.

For attorney general on the Republican ticket, Philip Lehner of Princeton and State Senator William E. Owen of Malden Rock, are contenders for the nomination, while the Democrats will choose between John F. Doherty of La Crosse and C. A. Kading, Watertown, as the nominee for the same office.

Deputy State Treasurer Henry Johnson and State Senator Henry Krumrey are striving for the nomination of state treasurer on the Republican ticket.

Congressional Nominations.

Several interesting contests are scheduled for congress on all nominations, the liveliest one centering in the Tenth district where Secretary of State James A. Frear, Speaker C. A. Ingham, Assemblyman J. C. Gilbertson and Former Assemblyman A. Twesme, as Republican candidates, State Treasurer Andrew H. Dahl, Republican, is opposing Congressman J. J. Esch for re-nomination in the Seventh district and in the Sixth district Michael K. Reilly and Samuel W. Randolph, Democrats and J. H. Davidson, and I. N. Tittemore, Republicans are the candidates.

A new situation confronts the voters in the Fourth and Fifth congressional districts, both of which take in parts of Milwaukee county. In these districts, the candidates are seeking nominations as fusionists, there being two Republicans and two Democrats in each district, but all are classified as Democrats. This plan was devised by the combination with a view to defeating the Socialist candidates in November.

In most of the other congressional districts, there is but one candidate for each party.

The method of voting for a second choice, is expected to complicate matters somewhat, and cause the returns to be reported much later than usual.

YOUNG MAN IS HELD.

Mill City Youth Is Charged With Causing Death at Stillwater.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 2.—James Carr, the Minneapolis youth who was at the wheel of a motor party when their machine struck and killed Fred Yope, an old resident, here last week, has been held to the grand jury by Judge Gillen, charged with manslaughter in the second degree. As the court was unable to pass on the question of bail and District Judge Stolberg cannot be reached, an effort will be made to secure Carr's release before a justice of the supreme court.

ROSEAU CANDIDATES.

Those Who Have Been Nominated in Northwest Angle.

Roseau, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following have filed for county offices in Roseau county: Republican party—S. G. Bertilrud, auditor; L. P. Dahlquist, treasurer; F. W. Swanson and John A. Burke, register of deeds; A. O. Hagen, clerk of court; Edward T. Olson and Thomas McKibbin, sheriff; M. J. Hegland, county attorney; J. L. Delmore, coroner; Olof Holdahl, court commissioner; H. C. Reed and E. L. Thompson, county commissioner, Fourth district.

Democrats—Martin Nelson, county commissioner, Second district. Public Ownership party—A. J. Hamilton, treasurer; Lewis A. Larson, clerk of court; Iver Torfin, register of deeds; John A. Wahlberg, sheriff; V. B. Chapling, surveyor; Jalmer Nord, county commissioner, Second district; Andrew O. Erickson, county commissioner, Fourth district.

LITTLE DAMAGE FROM MOISTURE

North Dakota Crops Not Materially Injured By Heavy Rains.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—Despite unusually heavy and extensive rains which have fallen over this section during the harvesting months, no damage has been done, according to O. D. Center, supervisor of the Grand Forks district for the North Dakota Better Farming association, who has just completed a survey of the territory under his direction, and has found the situation entirely satisfactory.

No grain sprouting in the shocks was found by Mr. Center, although he personally inspected about 200 different fields during the past week. The yield, he says, will be above the average.

In some places early sown wheat and early barley will yield lightly, the cause being hot drying winds which swept over the fields just as the grain was filling.

Flax Wilt Reported.

Flax wilt has proved one of the most injurious conditions affecting this year's crop. The extent of this seed disease has proved baffling to the farming association experts, and to the state seed commissioner's department. The nature of the wilt this year is also remarkable, as many fields which never have been subjected to the wilt in other years, are in bad shape this season; on the other hand, fields which have in past years suffered from the disease, are free now. The situation of this year has been due directly to weather conditions, which were favorable to wilt.

MAYOR MURPHY SPEAKS.

Grand Forks Executive Among Labor Day Orators.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—Grand Forks is observing Labor day in an elaborate manner, the big program being carried out under the direction of the Grand Forks Trades and Labor assembly, and the principal feature is a picnic in progress this afternoon in Riverside park. The program of speeches included addresses by Mayor M. F. Murphy, J. F. T. O'Connor and Dr. Meyer Jacobstein.

The committee in charge of the athletic sports program for this afternoon was given some trouble when the question of putting up prizes for the different events was in hand. The committee unwittingly accepted a box of non-union cigars as a prize, and it didn't take long for the cigarmakers' union to rise up and demand an explanation. The members of that committee have declared that never again will they serve in that capacity.

HITS HUMAN TARGET.

Patron of Mill City Shooting Gallery Wounds Proprietor.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—Smith Cox, proprietor of a shooting gallery on Washington avenue north, was shot in the back and seriously wounded Saturday night by Ernest Gedig of Winthrop, Minn., 27 years of age, who arrived in the city to visit the state fair.

Gedig entered the gallery and fired five shots out of a revolver at the targets and then announced that he had finished his shooting. Cox went to the targets to set up those that had been knocked down, and Gedig, not knowing that the revolver, which he still held, contained another bullet, accidentally discharged the weapon while fingering it. The bullet entered Cox's back close to the spine.

He was taken to the Swedish hospital, and Dr. John O. Taft, who attended him, pronounced his condition serious. Gedig was locked up at the central station.

CALUMET MINER KILLED.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 2.—Joseph Rader, aged 29 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rader, of Raymbaultown, met almost instant death while at work on the sixty-fourth level of the No. 6 shaft of the Hecla branch of the mine. Rader and his partner had just finished blasting four holes and went back into the drift to resume work. He was caught beneath a piece of vein rock which had evidently been loosened in the blasting. Rader's partner escaped unhurt.

John Messner, a miner employed in the Hecla branch of the Calumet & Hecla mine was blasted while at work. He suffered severe injuries about the face and head including several scalp wounds. One eye was also injured. Messner was removed to the Calumet & Hecla hospital.

"LABOR OMNIA VINCIT," WHATEVER THAT MEANS —By C. L. SHERMAN

"AVERAGE CITIZEN" SHOULD CONTROL, SAYS PETERSON

People Should Be Final Tribunal, Says Progressive Candidate.

Tells Labor Unions That Courts Have Usurped Legislative Powers.

JAMES A. PETERSON.

James A. Peterson, candidate for the Progressive nomination for United States senator, was one of the principal speakers at the Labor day picnic in Duluth today.

Mr. Peterson spoke as follows:

"The people who lived at the time of the great Civil war felt that a step forward had been taken by the American people. This is indicated clearly from a passage of the speech of the historian, Bancroft, delivered in congress at the memorial exercises to Abraham Lincoln. Because this passage is so apt and so applicable to the present day, I quote it: 'The caprice of fleeting existences bends to the immovable Omnipotence, which plants its feet in all the centuries and has neither change of purpose nor repose. Sometimes like a messenger through the thick darkness of night, it steps along mysterious ways; but when the hour strikes for a people, or for mankind to pass into a new form of being, unseen hands draw the bolts from the gates of futurity; an all-subsiding influence prepares the minds of men for the coming revolution; those who plan resistance find themselves in conflict with the will of Providence rather than with human devices; and all hearts and all understandings, most of all the opinions and influences of the unwilling, are wonderfully attracted and compelled to bear forward the change, which becomes more an obedience to the will of universal nature than submission to the arbitrament of man.'

The Final Tribunal.

"In a republic such as ours the people must always be the final arbiter of all questions involving the general good of the whole state. It is idle for any one to say that the masses of the people cannot be trusted; that they are unsafe, and that they are easily influenced and led by passion and prejudice. No man has a right to be a citizen of a republic who is not willing to cast his lot with the people as a whole, and when we say 'people' we do not mean a wealthy class or an educated class. We mean the people as they are, rich, poor, educated, intelligent, ignorant and indifferent. If there are among us people who are too ignorant to participate in our government, the blame, to a large extent, must rest upon the body politic. The composite citizen is the average citizen, and it is he who would control public affairs. The average citizen has only a patriotic interest in the government of his country. It is to his interest that the laws are just and impartially administered. It is to his interest that all are treated alike, that all have an equal opportunity. This, of course, represents the ideal citizen. The great difficulty, however, in the United States at the present time is that we have created a class of citizens who have an interest in the government that is not patriotic. By reason of our national policy for the last quarter of a century, be that policy good or bad, we have a class of citizens who have a business or financial interest in the government of the nation. This class has been produced by the authorization of private corporations to perform some of the legitimate functions of government; for instance, the private ownership of the railroads which are really public highways. We have created that class by public acts and by means of our tariff laws. Under our tariff laws the profits in our protected industries are largely dependent upon the action of government. So long as we shall have these two classes, so long will there be political strife between them, for the men who have a business or financial interest in the government will strive for control of the government so that their profits may be larger, and the patriotic class will struggle to keep their profits within reasonable bounds. The government of a republic is only safe when it reflects the sentiments and desires of the patriotic class. From the very nature of things the patriotic class is the large class. It is what may be commonly denominated the 'masses.' When a government fails to respond to the will of the majority, it is controlled by the minority—by a few; and we never can have stable business conditions, or safe relations between capital and labor so long as the government does not respond readily to the will of the majority.

Struggle in Progress.

"There is a great struggle going on in the United States at the present time between the men who have a financial interest in the government and the great mass of common, ordinary citizens. The only way to end this struggle is to make government the instrument of the masses. The reason why this struggle now exists is that government has become the instrument of the predatory class, or those who do politics for business reasons. If we study the situation closely, we will find that those branches of our government that are farthest removed from the people, are the branches that are most oppressive and that are causing irritation. The theory of representation in government was resorted to on the ground that the masses were too unwieldy to govern directly. However, where the representation has been direct, the principle of representation has worked well. It is only where representation has been far removed from the people that trouble has arisen.

Distrust of Senate.

"The United States senate as a legislative body is representative, but the representation of the people in that body is so indirect and so distant that the general public have looked upon that body with distrust and apprehension. It has been the stumbling block to reform and has been the seat of monied aristocracy and vested interest. Repeated assaults have been made within the last twenty-five years upon the indirectness of representation in the senate, until, finally, our national constitution has been amended so that the senate of the United States will be under the immediate control of the rank and file of the people.

"The department, however, in our government that has been most re-actionary and oppressive, that has been a bulwark of strength to the monied class, is the federal judiciary. It would be almost impossible for anybody to contrive a department of government farther removed from the control of the common man than is this department. The control of the federal judiciary by the common people is so indirect that their influence can scarcely be said to be felt at all. The federal courts are the courts of vested rights. They are the courts of the upper class because it is the upper class whose voice is heeded in the selection of federal judges. The laboring man may utter a protest; he may pass resolutions of condemnation, but he has no voice in the selection of the federal judge, and after he is selected, he has passed forever from the control of the masses. The federal judge is appointed for life. There is no power in the nation to limit his tenure of office unless he commits high crime or misdemeanor. He can set aside laws and the Constitution without let or hindrance. The only restraint is his oath of office when he swears he will follow the law and support the Constitution of the United States; but those who claim to follow the law take many different ways and travel many different routes.

Example of Swiss.

"The great problem of the present day is to make our government more direct and to eliminate the representative feature as far as possible. The little republic of Switzerland has worked out for us the initiative and the referendum. This puts the power of legislation directly into the hands of the common man, and there is nothing that will so elevate the ordinary citizen as to give him the right to make his own laws, not by representation or indirection, but by a direct vote. If the people are going to rule, they must learn the art of lawmaking, and the best school that has been devised is the initiative and the referendum because it compels every man to think for himself and help make the laws.

"The most unsatisfactory thing about our present government is that the voter fails to secure results. If he elects a house of representatives that is progressive, the senate is likely to be reactionary and block any reform movement. If he should be successful enough to elect both a house and senate that are progressive, the courts will stand in the way of any satisfactory reform; but with the initiative and the referendum in our state government, the citizen will get complete control, not only of lawmaking, but of the constitution, because he will become so accustomed to voting on legislative questions that the constitution will be amended by him without difficulty.

Usurped Power.

"The usurpation by courts of the power to set aside legislation of different states and of congress, is the most dangerous tendency of the present day. It is this tendency that has given rise to the demand for laws that will allow the people to recall their judges. It is plain from a reading of the minutes and debates of the constitutional convention that it was never contemplated by that body that the court should have the right to set aside legislation. President Madison says in his minutes that three times was a resolution offered to the effect that whenever congress was in doubt as to the constitutionality of a proposed law, it should be submitted to the supreme court of the United States. If that body should hold that the law would be unconstitutional, it should then take a two-thirds vote of each house before it could pass. Mr. Madison says that this resolution was voted down three times in the constitutional convention, and we know that the American people would never have adopted the constitution had they believed that the federal judiciary would assume the right to set aside legislation. The people knew that our government was largely copied from the government of England and that no judge in England had ever dared to set aside an act of parliament. The American people never believed that our federal judiciary would attempt to do something that had never been done by the English judiciary. When a federal judge has been appointed, he is responsible to nobody for his conduct or his acts. The only thing he must not do is to commit a high crime or misdemeanor. In other respects he can do as he pleases. Ours is the only country in the world, so far as I know, that has not the power to terminate the office of a federal judge, and ours the only nation in the world who tolerates a judiciary that will set aside our legislation.

"For fifty years next preceding the Civil war, the American people thrashed out the question of slavery, both in political campaigns and in the halls of congress. No public question in the United States has ever received the attention this question received. A line has been drawn from East to West, North of which should be free territory, South of which slaves could be kept.

Dred Scott Case.

"A short time before the Civil war a man down in Kentucky moved to Minnesota and took with him his slaves. He had a slave named Dred Scott. Dred Scott thought, when he was in Minnesota, he was in free territory, and ran away from his master. He was apprehended and brought back. Dred Scott then sued out a writ of habeas corpus in the federal court in order to gain his liberty. This case finally went to the United States supreme court and Chief Justice Taney held that the slaveholder from Kentucky could go to Minnesota and hold his slaves, in spite of the law that had been passed by congress. In other words, Chief Justice Taney set aside a law by congress, enacted as a compromise, after political strife for half a century. This was the first time in American history that the American people were brought face to face with the terrible veto power of the federal court. The slave power, the predecessor of 'big business,' had named the judge. The people were powerless to overcome it. For a moment the country held its breath, the blow was a staggering one. Had it been congress that had legislated against their will, they might have elected a new congress, but here was a body of men, the supreme court, that held for life. They could not remove them, and in order to maintain their rights, there was only one thing left and that was war. The Dred Scott decision was finally recalled at Appomattox courthouse. But my fellow citizens we are still paying the cost of that recall.

"Let us take the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the case of the Standard Oil company, and we will find that that court amended a statute of the United States by writing the word 'unreasonable' into the Sherman anti-trust law. This was affirmative legislation of the most vicious character. This was done after an attempt had been made by the predatory interests to have that word inserted by congress. (I refer to the bill introduced by Senator Warner.) This bill was reported on adversely by the senate judiciary committee. The president of the United States vigorously assailed it, yet, notwithstanding all the protests the court dared to write it there. There is but one way to stop the federal judiciary from assuming this power of legislation, and that is to place in congress the power to remove any federal judge by simple resolution. Supremacy in legislation is the sole function of the legislative body. England settled this question over two centuries ago. Those who have read McCauley's History of England, will remember Judge Jeffries and his bloody conduct. At that time in England the power to remove a judge was vested in the king alone. The people were powerless to rid themselves of Jeffries. An outraged people brought on a Civil war in 1688 and James II, 'Last of the Stewarts,' was driven from the English throne. Judge Jeffries was arrested, imprisoned, and subsequently met ignominious death. The English people had learned their lesson. They found that the people alone must control the judiciary. After the death of William and Mary without issue they conferred the crown upon one of the princes of the House of Hanover, but before doing this, parliament passed in 1701 what is known as the Act of Settlement. This act provided that the English people should have the power to remove their judges by simple resolution of parliament. This addition to the English Constitution was accepted by the House of Hanover, and has ever since formed one of the important provisions of that country's fundamental law. It is neither sense nor reason that the American people have a set of officials over whom they have no control, with regard to whom the common man has no influence, who has a power separate and apart from the people. The right to remove judges by simple resolution should be vested in the house of representatives. Wendell Phillips said on the occasion when the Dred Scott decision was handed down, "judges become unfit to sit upon the bench a long time before they become fit to go to the penitentiary.' Abraham Lincoln said, 'The American people are the rightful masters of courts and congresses, not to destroy the Constitution, but to drive out those who pervert the Constitution.'

Equality Under Law.

"We are living in an age when class distinction, class power and class rule must be wiped out. The individual person must be the unit of political power, and the units, so far as their political power is concerned must be equal. We hear it urged on many occasions that there should be friendly relationship existing between labor and capital. That friendly relation can never be, until each are equal under the law.

"Under the present method of appointing our federal judiciary, it must be conceded by impartial men that the laboring class has practically no influence. We can only have a perfect republic when every man is willing that each individual shall have and shall be allowed to exercise equal political power. In order to do that more fully the departments of government that are only indirectly representative, must be made more truly representative, and wherever it is possible direct action by the individual voter should be had. The great power back of our government at the present time is material wealth. We must confess that the man who owns a railroad is more potent in the affairs of state than the man who only owns his kit of tools. But if you will put the man with his kit of tools directly in connection with the government so that his vote will count, not through a representative, but by and of itself, you will have very largely removed the distinction between the so-called high and low.

"The people are for a new step. The many millions spent in public education since our fathers adopted the Constitution, the lodges, the association together of the people in labor organizations, the churches, the women's clubs, all have worked together to fit the people to rule themselves.

"The Progressive movement throughout the United States is the beginning of the leadership of the rank and file. The composite man is a conservative citizen, but he is stern and unyielding in his endeavor to protect the common good. There are 95,000,000 people in the United States. Only 15 per cent of them are rich, the 85 per cent are poor. The statesmanship of the future will be directed towards lifting up and bettering the 85 per cent. It is the struggling masses that must be put into the lime light of public attention. The man who is bulwarked behind a huge fortune must not be allowed to legislate for his class. There has been a great advancement of late in the protection of children, and those who are physically weak and defective. This is as it should be. The next great advance will be in the protection and elevation of those who have not the power back of them of accumulated wealth. The progress of the nation shall no longer be measured by the amount of money the nation has accumulated. The progress of the nation shall be measured hereafter by the amount of money that the common, ordinary citizen has been able to accumulate and fortify himself with. If this nation is to go forward, it must march in line. They must all keep step. There must be no scouts ahead, or stragglers in the rear."

SHOCK TO LADIES OF AID SOCIETY

Find "Ice Water Tank" Is Recently Emptied Whisky Barrel.

Waynesburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—An ordinary, harmless appearing barrel of water with the words "All welcome" painted on it was the magnet that drew many hundreds of the visitors at the big Waynesburg fair. The barrel of water had been placed on a stand alongside the refreshment booth of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church and filled for the tired and thirsty to drink.

After the first few passersby had stopped to quench their thirst bystanders began to notice that the drinkers seemed to linger a long while over their cup of water. Soon the thirsty ones began to grow numerous and in a few minutes the crowd around the water barrel, which had grown to a large dimension, was being augmented constantly by new arrivals.

Waynesburg being a dry town in dry Green county, the good Samaritans who placed the cold, refreshing spring water on tap did not suspect anything until one of them decided to try the water. She nearly collapsed when she tasted it.

In a trice the two women dashed, secured male attendants, and the barrel was rolled out of the crowds' reach.

"Too bad," said an old farmer, who had lingered around the barrel after the first drink he had taken, "that's the nearest to real liquor I've tasted since old Green county went dry."

One of the ladies' aid confessed later that they had borrowed the barrel, and on being told that it had been thoroughly cleansed, they had neglected to wash it out. It was later learned that the barrel had contained whisky eighteen years old and had only been emptied a few days before.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BOOSTER DAY DOUBLE BILL IS SPLIT EVEN

3,500 Fans Brave Weather for Big Sunday Bill.

Sox Lose First Game But Swamp Visitors in Second.

Duluth and Superior divided a double bill at Athletic park yesterday for the benefit of 3,500 boosters who turned out to see two of the closing games of the season. The first game was dropped to the Superior Red Legs by the locals, 3 to 2, but the Darbyites rallied around the flag in the second affair, winning 12 to 1.

There was some real baseball in the first mix but the second was a walk-away and a robbery. Take it as a whole and it can be said that it furnished a good afternoon's entertainment for the loyal fans who have shown such devotion to the sport by their faithful attendance during the season. Considering the weather the attendance was remarkable. The balloon ascension had to be postponed.

The first game was a pitcher's battle between Brackett for Duluth and Rhoades of Superior. The White Sox scored first—in the first. With two down, Bluhm and Leber each doubled, the former crossing the counting pan.

Superior tied up things in the third when Persch lifted one over the high board fence. "Bugs" De Lave, the former Eau Claire star in the days of the army, duplicated the Persch act in the seventh and brought in a run for the Tarbyites.

O'Brien's men secured a second run in the eighth. O'Brien was given free transportation with one man out. Hargrave's single sent Darby to third. Bluhm flew to left, O'Brien scoring on the play. Hargrove was forced out by Leber.

In the ninth inning, Superior took another. It was this way: De Lave singled. Dunn was retired. Black singled. Rhoades' easy grounder to Brackett was juggled and a wild throw to first gave Briggs an opportunity to get across. Persch later struck out and Black was caught at the plate.

Duluth had a chance in her turn but it fell through. After Sours had singled, Ford M. Connors lifted a fluer over second which under ordinary circumstances would have been a bona fide hit but Persch went after it and speared it with his right hand. It was a pretty catch and a pretty double to second on Sours followed it.

The Second Game.

Interest in the second game centered around Hoffman's ability to fan out Superior batsmen. Huffe was in fine form yesterday and gave the fans a good exhibition of how the great American game should be played from the pitcher's station. In the first seven frames he induced twelve men to swat the groove and retire. In the first, he fanned all three up.

Darby's Dooks hit hard, securing fifteen bingles from the delivery of Rhoades and Cummings, all of which resulted in twelve runs. Rhoades was relieved by Cummings in the second but the situation wasn't. Hoffman had the Taylor men eating out of his hand and gave them but four scattering bingles during the entire matinee.

Superior's lone count came in the second. Ford popped a high one close to the first base line, which Bluhm failed to connect with, McAuley fanned, Dunn was safe on Hoffman's fumbling of an easy grounder. De Lave singled, scoring Ford.

Duluth secured three in the first. O'Brien was out. Hargrove went to first on an error and Bluhm was started when Black fumbled. Leber doubled, scoring both. Teddy trotted across himself when Sours singled.

In the second Bennett doubled and went to third on Hoffman's sacrifice fly and scored when O'Brien grounded an easy one. At the plate Ford dropped the ball and Bennett was safe. The next two up fanned.

Sours got a home run in the third. In the fourth Bennett singled, Hoffman sacrificed the former, scoring on Darby's double. In the fifth, Leber singled and scored when Sours doubled. Five more runs were garnered in the sixth. Six hits, a base on balls, and an error was responsible.

CUBS DROP BACK IN RACE FOR LEADERSHIP.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Chicago lost another half game in the pennant race when defeated by St. Louis, 5 to 3, in the final game of the series here. New York and Chicago are now separated by a margin of five full games. Not only did the locals lose the game, but they suffered the additional loss of Jimmy Archer, the best backstop on the team. In the ninth inning Archer was sent in to bat for Reulbach. He swung so hard that he grounded to Mowrey, and before he could steady himself, turned on his knee and fell. Time was called, while several doctors were summoned from the stand. Archer was then carried across the field to the clubhouse, and it was said that his knee was badly wrenched, and he probably would be unable to play again this season. The visitors had little trouble bunching hits off Leifield and won easily. Score:

MILLERS DIVIDE DOUBLE PROGRAM WITH SAINTS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—Minneapolis and St. Paul split even in a double-header, St. Paul winning the first 3 to 2, and Minneapolis the second, 11 to 2. Rieger started the first game for St. Paul, but was put out of the game in the fourth for disputing a decision. Laroy then pitched first-class ball. The locals easily hit Karger and Gardner in the second, which was called when one-half of the seventh had been played. Scores:

EDDIE GRANEY OFFERS BIG PURSE

Would Give Wolgast $15,000 to Fight Ritchie on Thanksgiving Day.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 2.—One of the largest prize ring purses tendered a boxer since James J. Jeffries fought Jack Johnson two years ago was hung up by Eddie Graney, promoter and manager of the Tuxedo club, when he agreed to give Champion Lightweight Ad Wolgast $15,000 for his end of the prize money, win, lose or draw, to fight twenty rounds with Willie Ritchie in this city Thanksgiving day.

The proposition was made to Billy Nolan, manager of Ritchie, who expressed his willingness to take the best terms possible after Wolgast's slice had been set aside. Wolgast is in New York and it is expected he will make answer to Mr. Graney within a few days.

Ritchie's wrist is still in a plaster cast, but the doctors who are attending him, say he will be ready for the gymnasium in a little over two weeks. He will have a challenger at the ringside today at Los Angeles for the winner of the Mandol-Rivers fight.

MEXICAN BOXER IS THE FAVORITE

Odds of 10 to 6 Offered With Mandol Money Scarce.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 2.—Joe Rivers, Los Angeles lightweight champion contender, is the favorite in the betting over Joe Mandol of New Orleans in their 20-round fight at Vernon arena.

Both will weigh in close to the lightweight limit, when they enter the ring at 3 o'clock this afternoon, as each tipped the beam at 130 when they ceased training yesterday. Odds of 10 to 6 were offered on Rivers with Mandol money scarce.

Heretofore the betting had been light, ranging from even money to 10 to 8.

Training camps report both men in perfect condition.

TENNIS AT THE NORTHLAND CLUB

About twenty-five entries started in the annual tennis singles tournament at the Northland Country club this morning and the three clay courts of the club are in operation. Mack Washburn, who won the tourney last year, will not defend his title this year so the challenge round will be omitted. Good games are looked for as the best players in the city have entered, among those on the list being some of the names of those who have been starring in the summer events at the Boat club. The courts are in splendid condition. Matches are being played all day.

The challenge round in the Duluth Boat club singles is being played this afternoon, having been postponed from Saturday afternoon because of the rain.

Hogan vs. Burns.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 2.—"One Round" Hogan and "Frankie" Burns of Oakland, lightweights, have been matched to fight twenty rounds here on Sept. 9, according to an announcement by Gil Boag, Hogan's manager. Burns and Hogan have met twice. In their first fight Hogan gave Burns a nasty mauling. Six months later Burns won the decision when the fight was stopped in the eleventh.

FIGHT WAS A FIASCO

Pal Brown Easily Puts "Pal Moore of Chicago" Away.

Hibbing Fans Believe They Were Victims of a Frame-up.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—In as poorly staged a fight as has been seen on the range for some time, Pal Brown of Hibbing administered an unmerciful beating to a lightweight boxer who claimed to be Pal Moore, the well-known lightweight mixer of Chicago, Saturday night. So one-sided was the exhibition that the management claimed to doubt the identity of the supposed Pal Moore and held back his share of the proceeds. The fighter must prove that he is not a pretender to Moore's title if he secures the money. About 1,000 people attended the fight, which went only three rounds.

The first round was tame. Moore stripped to 137½ and Brown to 132. In the second frame Brown got in his good licks at the supposedly plucky little battler from Chicago. The Hibbing boy's swings went home and the show was all Brown's right from the start. Moore managed to slip in one good blow before time was called on the second. The third round was terrific and short. Moore fell a bruised and bleeding heap.

Fight fans refuse to believe that the man who took the beating from Pal Brown was Moore of Chicago, whose clever knowledge of the game has established a good record in the lightweight section. Those who saw the mill believe that the affair was a frame-up and the announcement made after the go, to the effect that the management believed it had been buncoed by a pretender, was laughed at.

The fake Moore demonstrated at times that he had some fighting qualities, but seemed to be afraid of the Hibbing bearcat from the start. It was apparent that he was trying to figure the easiest way to take his pounding.

Fans who came to see a real exhibition were disappointed.

MOTOR BOATS IN TIGHT RACE

Little Bob Given Hard Brush By the Jean Duluth.

A tigh brush between Little Bob and Jean Duluth in the moter-boat classic race, the free-for-all, was the feature of a great event over the triangular ten-mile course in the bay yesterday afternoon.

Little Bob, owned by Julius Barnes, driven by Bill Jones and skippered by Bill Neville, coming across the line first. Jean Duluth, belonging to her builders, Raymond brothers, and entered by F. H. Wade, gave the victor a hard time of it, coming in a good second.

H. S. Patterson raced d'Autremont to third place, and Gilbert Ketcham with North Butte, came in fourth. The time for the course was thirty-four minutes, the only rough spot in the course being near the coal docks. The winner gets the Kelly Hardware trophy.

GOOD BREEZE FOR SAILING RACES

It was "a wet sheet and a flowing sea, and a wind that follows fast" for the boat club races on Saturday and some good events were the result. Three boats were in Class A event, which was to be the final, but that was prevented by Zephyr and Undine tying with seven points each, in the final score, so a final race will have to be sailed. North Wind, which was an entry, struck a buoy and was disqualified, but came across the line second at that, Zephyr coming first.

In Class B, Feather, sailed by Dr. Lynam, won, never being headed from start to finish by its only opponent, Agwindie, sailed by Walker Jamar.

In the eighteen-foot division, Frolic and Thistle sailed off a tie, the former winning.

SPORTING PROGRAM FOR LABOR DAY.

DE PALMA WINS ELGIN RACES.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 2.—Ralph De Palma, driving a 200-horsepower car swept the boards in the Elgin races Saturday, taking both the 254-mile Elgin national trophy and the 305-mile free-for-all event after Erwin Bergdoll and Ralph Mulford had been relegated to the rear by hard luck. De Palma drove the last lap of his last race in six minutes, 49 seconds, the fastest lap of the day.

De Palma's time for the Elgin was 3 hours, 43 minutes, 36 seconds. His time for the 305-mile event was four hours, 15 minutes, 36 seconds. But three cars finished in the free-for-all, Bergdoll who led up to the last lap, and who lost the race by burning up a tire at the last moment, was second. Ralph Mulford's Knox "Six" was brought home third by William Chandler, Mulford's mechanician after Mulford suffered a heat stroke, and fainted at the wheel.

Mulford had finished second in the Elgin national race in which Charles Merz winner of yesterday's Illinois trophy, was third; Mortimer Roberts, fourth, and Gill Anderson, fifth.

De Palma averaged a speed of 68 miles an hour on the first race, and in the last lap of the second race, shoved this average up to 70 miles per hour.

The only serious accident occurred in the third lap of the Elgin national race, when George Clark of Dallas, Tex., drove through a bunker of baled hay and through a fence at Hornbeck's turn. Clark and his mechanician, Malone, were injured but tonight it was said that both will recover. Clark's car was completely wrecked.

Menominee Woman Hangs Self.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 2.—Mrs. John Rotcoll, aged 64, hung herself Saturday. She tied a rope around a rafter in a shed at her home, dropped a slip knot about her neck and then threw the weight of her body upon the rope. Her body was found by her daughter, Lena, aged 19. Poor health is thought to have been responsible for the act.

BIG FIGURE IN THE WORLD OF "MOVIES"

CARL LAEMMLE.

Carl Laemmle is head of the Independents, who are fighting for the dissolution of the Moving Picture trust. Seven years ago he was a clothing manager of a store in Oshkosh, Wis. Today Mr. Laemmle is the leading figure in the motion picture world. His start in this line of work was with a 10-cent moving picture theater on the West side in Chicago. Before many months he had a dozen moving picture theaters. He then increased his interest in the moving picture business by organizing a company of players, which he called the Imp company. Up to that time the foreign picture manufacturers had the field to themselves. The Imp company immediately jumped into the front. Mr. Laemmle is one of the directors in the Universal Film company, an organization having a capital stock running into the millions, and whose output exceeds 5,000,000 feet of film a year.

BUSY DAY FOR BOOSTERS

Special Train Returned Late Saturday Evening From Hibbing.

When the boosters' special pulled in at the union station late Saturday night it deposited more than 200 tired but happy boosters who had enjoyed the "time of their lives" at Hibbing.

The boosters trip to the St. Louis county fair is one which will go down in booster history as one of the most successful events ever pulled off by Zenith City business men.

After the Duluthians had marched from the train through the business portion of town to music furnished by the Third Regiment band, had eaten heartily of a good dinner prepared by the women of the Catholic church, had enjoyed looking over the vegetable and livestock exhibits at the fair and witnessed a fine racing program, they took possession of downtown street corners and contributed a couple of hours of continuous vaudeville.

The band played and the boosters sang, or attempted to sing. They danced rag-time and the latest dance stuff without the least interference from the police. Harry Earnshaw and Arthur Dunning had an English fight with words on each corner, but luckily the band moved each time before the men came to blows.

"Minnesota" was sung to death as were the other booster songs composed for the occasion.

It was a strenuous day but everybody enjoyed it. Hibbing people turned over their town for the day to the Duluthians. Duluth owned Hibbing for the day and Hibbing was glad of it—or seemed to be. They gave the visitors a royal welcome.

Boils, Rashes, Pimples, Etc.

When the blood becomes infected with any unhealthy humor the effect is shown by boils, pimples, and rashes or eruptions on the skin. Humors get into the blood usually because of an inactive condition of the eliminative members. Remove these humors and no skin trouble can exist, because its very source is then destroyed. Boils, rashes, pimples, etc. can never be cured through the application of external medicines, the most to be obtained from such measures is temporary relief. S.S.S. CURES all skin affections because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation and cleanses it of every particle of unhealthy matter. Then the blood supplies nourishment to the cuticle instead of irritating it with a fiery humor. If you have any skin trouble you could not do better than purify your blood with S. S. S. It does not "patch up;" it cures. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all write and request same.

ALL HONOR GEN. BOOTH

New York, Sept. 2.—Filled to overflowing with fervent leaders and eager followers, Memorial hall, at the national headquarters of the Salvation Army in this city, was the official center of services held Sunday at more than 900 Salvation Army posts throughout the country in memory of the late Gen William Booth. The services were also a part of similar memorials in 900 posts and outposts throughout the world, all of which being ordered at 3 o'clock constituted, if difference in time is considered, virtually a continuous 24-hour session, in which millions of followers paid tribute to the late founder of the army.

Services here were preceded by a parade of national and local officers, headed by the national staff band. Over 500 men and women were in line.

The day was not only one of memorial to the founder of the army, but of consecration to carry on his work for humanity under oath of allegiance to his succeeding son, Gen. Bramwell Booth. The congregation sang the general's favorite hymns, while tributes which the king and queen of England, President Taft, Col. Roosevelt, Joseph Choate and many other distinguished persons had paid to the general were read.

Eva Booth Absent.

In the absence of Eva Booth, commander of the American branch of the army, who had gone to her father's funeral, Col. Pearse of the national staff delivered the formal address of the day, extolling the character and achievements of Gen. Booth.

The other speaker was Dr. D. L. Ritchie, head of the theological seminary at Nottingham, Eng., Gen. Booth's birthplace. Gen. Booth's three sons were educated in this seminary, and Dr Ritchie spoke from intimate acquaintance with the family. He compared Gen. Booth to John Wesley, and said that just as Wesley was responsible for the great growth of institutional charity in his day, Gen. Booth had been humanity's leader during the last half century.

Services in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—Memorial services for the late William Booth were held last night at the Salvation Army barracks, and attended by several hundred members of the organization. The services were conducted by Staff Captain and Mrs. William Kiddle. Addresses were made by local speakers.

Tribute in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—With Col. Stephen Marshal, provincial director of the Salvation Army, as the principal speaker, memorial services in honor of the late Gen. William Booth were held in a local church Sunday, a large crowd attending. Prominent business, professional men, and ministers also paid tribute to the work of the dead army leader.

At Milwaukee Y. M. C. A.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—Service in memory of the late Gen. William Booth, head of the Salvation Army, were held in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon and night at the Y. M. C. A. hall, under the auspices of the local corps. Rev. F. Y. Simmonds, adjutant, reviewed the history of the dead leader, and Staff Captain Jacob A. Koerner spoke on "Side Lights of Gen. Booth." The Salvation Army band played and several impressive prayers were heard.

Services in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Memorial services for William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, were held here Sunday and attended by several thousand members of the organization.

The principal speakers were Former Mayor Edward F. Dunne, Medill McCormick, and Commissioner Thomas Estell.

Mr. Dunne referred to Gen. Booth's early trials as a preacher, and told how he left the ministry because of objections to his style of preaching.

Mr McCormick said:

"There is no man of our time who has done so much by his life and labors to lift the burden of the fallen as Gen. Booth."

"Greatest Optimist."

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 2.—The greatest optimist of his age, was Acting Mayor Gundlach's characterization of Gen. William Booth at the memorial services held here Sunday in the Union Methodist Episcopal church. A large, cosmopolitan congregation, including city officers, labor leaders and religious workers, gathered to pay honor to the former head of the Salvation Army.

Honored in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 2.—Men of all walks of life yesterday honored the memory of the late William Booth. Rev. William D. B. Sawyer, president of the San Francisco church federation, presided at the union church services. The roll of honorary vice presidents included state and municipal officers, the foreign consuls of the city, members of the supreme court, federal officials, officers of the army and navy, and ministers of every denomination.

Ministers Take Part.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 2.—Services in memory of Gen. William Booth of the Salvation Army, were held here Sunday by the local branch of that organization. "He was the chief exponent of practical Christianity," was said of him by one speaker. Ministers of several denominations participated in the exercises.

In Cleveland Church.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Oldstone church was filled last night for memorial services for Gen. Booth. Nearly all the denominations of the city were represented officially. The Salvation Army band rendered music. Eulogy of Gen. Booth was delivered by Col. William Evans of the Salvation Army.

Two Louisville Meetings.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 2.—A large portrait of the late Gen. William Booth stood beside a vacant chair on the platform at memorial services for the late commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army at a local theater last night. A number of ministers and citizens eulogized the late commander. The services followed a similar meeting in the afternoon.

Meeting in London.

London, Sept. 2.—At all the Salvation Army citadels impressive memorial services were held Sunday in honor of Gen. William Booth. At Congress hall, Bramwell Booth, the new head of the army, presided at the exercises, which were attended by Eva Booth, commander of the army in America, and Mrs. Booth Hellberg, chief of the army in Denmark. Gen. Booth apologized for not wearing his general's uniform, saying, "I had not the courage. I felt that I wasn't ready to put it on."

At East Bourne, where twenty-two years ago the town council was bitterly hostile to the Salvation Army and for two years disturbances occurred Sunday after Sunday as the Salvationists made efforts to establish themselves, yesterday's memorial services had the character of a civic function. The mayor in his robes of office and the members of the council attended. The town clerk made reference to the events of twenty-two years ago, but declared that all animosity had disappeared, and that the people now realized the good work being done by the army, and desired that the past be forgotten.

SAYS SENATORS WERE ELECTED BY FRAUD

WILLIAM E. GLASSCOCK, Governor of West Virginia.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 2.—William E. Glasscock of West Virginia filed a petition charging bribery and corruption in the election of Clarence W. Watson and William N. Chilton of his state. This petition, involving the seats of two Democrats was brought in in the closing hours of congress. It is charged by the Democrats that the petition was a political move designed for use in the campaign in West Virginia. Governor Glasscock is a Republican, but will support the ticket headed by Roosevelt. He has been governor since 1909.

AMELIA BINGHAM AT THE ORPHEUM

Well Known Actress Headlines an All-Star Bill.

Miss Amelia Bingham in homeopathic doses is the headline attraction of an all-star bill of vaudeville, which opened at the Orpheum theater yesterday.

To convincingly play three climaxes from as many different plays in forty minutes, before a music and dancing loving vaudeville audience, is a test from which most actresses would shrink. It would be difficult enough to step into the crucial scene of one play, without the preliminary "working up to it," but Miss Bingham goes from "A Modern Lady Godiva" to the tragedy of "La Tosca" and then skips blithely into the comedy of "Madame Sans Gene" without hardly time for applause and without even costume changing.

It was Miss Bingham's first appearance in Duluth, but she got a very hearty reception on her entrance, and her act was a genuine hit on an exceptionally strong bill. Her little company of four supporting players is chosen with excellent judgment, and the players are of a caliber rarely seen in vaudeville, where too frequently all that is considered necessary is the ability to speak the lines of a part.

It brought back the days of old-time minstrelsy to see Frank Morrell back in blackface makeup and gaudy colored clothes. That robust tenor voice that helped make a fortune for the old Primrose & West combination, seems to have lost nothing in either sweetness or power. It might be unkind to hint that Frank still has some of the jokes that helped make a fortune for Primrose & West, but nobody cares much what he does while he is resting between songs. He tells them with a fresh, engaging manner and the audience last evening laughed at all of them, and applauded the songs until they were tired.

Duluth has never seen Alice Lloyd, or Marie Dressler, or Vesta Victoria, so the impersonations of them as given by dainty little Edna Luby could not be fully appreciated perhaps, but they proved satisfactory enough in themselves without having the originals to compare them with. She had the gallery whistling the choruses last evening and a gallery will not respond to every effort to make it help entertain an audience. The singer must have a certain amount of personality to get a gallery started, and Miss Luby has that. She also has a very good voice, an attractive appearance, and a good repertoire of songs and impersonations. She could have exhausted the repertoire last evening if the stage manager had allowed it.

Billy Weston and company present one of those musical acts where musical instruments are discovered in the most unlikely places. The scene is in a lawyer's office, and the lawyer and his clients and his stenographer play selections on typewriters, filing cabinets, clocks and desks. The climax is a full pipe organ number issuing from a chest of drawers and a book shelf full of books. It is the most elaborate act of this type the Orpheum has presented, and is entertaining and interesting.

One very strenuous young person suffering from "dementia vaudevilliana" and her demure young partner with two enormous braids of hair that does not look as if it were pinned on spend about fifteen minutes in syncopation and "kidding" the orchestra. The Sunday night audience seemed to be delighted with it after they got used to it. The young women, who go under the names of Muriel and Francis, are not in the least difficult to look at.

A rapid fire and sensational aerial act by the Flying Russells opens the bill, and an equally strenuous and equally meritorious acrobatic act by the Azard Brothers closes the bill.

The pictures this week show some exciting auto races, and a baseball game between the Cubs and the Giants.

NEW BILL AT THE EMPRESS

Roland Travers, Magician, Features Vaudeville and Picture Show.

Roland Travers, magician, found much favor for his act with Empress audiences yesterday, and judging from the reception which he received he undoubtedly leads this week's bill.

Mr. Travers had a number of new tricks which he has added to his large list and his manipulations yesterday were the cause of considerable wonderment. Feats which seem impossible to the average person are performed by Mr. Travers with ease, grace and skill. And what is better still, Travers seems to get real enjoyment out of his work and doesn't care if the audience knows it or not.

The "La Favorita Duo" are singers with a pleasing repertoire of songs. The selections offered were a little out of the ordinary run of razzle-dazzle ragtime stuff and bordered on the classic. The pair are good singers—perhaps a little better than the average in their line.

Dixie De Vere is a better violinist than she is a singer, but she can do both well. Her voice shows much training and she also has the gentle art of drawing music from the resined bow and the violin. Her act met with much favor.

The pictures are excellent. The films are a show by themselves. Yesterday the "Danger Mark" was reproduced. This is an intensely dramatic offering and is a picture that will not soon be forgotten.

The comedy offering for the week is a Kalem picture, "The Beauty Parlor of Stone Gulch." Tilly Temple loses her position in the Broadway Beauty Parlor and decides to go West. Arriving at Stone Gulch, Tilly fixed up a room, distributes her cards and announces that a new establishment is open for business. A Beauty Parlor being something new to the wild and woolly West, business comes with a rush, and a bunch of shabby cowboys have the time of their lives. The ranch girls, hearing of the big hit Tilly has made, become jealous and try to run Tilly out of town. They partially succeed, but the cowboys produce Tilly to reopen her Beauty Parlor and a joke is played on the girls. How and a joke is played on the girls. How the ranch girls are cured of their jealousy is best explained by the picture. "The Convalescent" by the Lubin company is the third offering for the week, and is an interesting film.

Lyceum Attractions.

Is it possible for a musical play to be ever burdened with girls? One reviewer has complained that there are too many pretty girls in the chorus of "The Prince of Tonight," and that in consequence his attention was alienated from the theme and the principals of the attraction. Certainly Comstock and Elser always contrive to enhance their offerings with unusually attractive choruses, for they realize that beauty is only skin deep and the girls in "The Prince of Tonight," have also fulfilled their qualifications in singing and dancing. Tom Arnold heads the important cast of principals in this great musical success which will be seen this afternoon and tonight.

The book and lyrics are by Adams and Hough and the music by Joseph E. Howard, among the many song hits introduced are "Her Eyes are Blue for Yale," "You're A Dear Old World After All," "I can't Be True So Far Away," "Oh It Be Love" and "Tonight Will Never Come Again." Much praise has been accorded the scenic production which has been built with a lavish disregard of expense.

As soon as the report spread through the towns in the vicinity of Duluth that William A. Brady (Ltd.) would not present "Bought And Paid For" in any of the towns within a hundred miles of Duluth, they got busy quickly. Manager Marshall is already in receipt of more than 100 letters from out-of-town theater-goers who are anxious to witness the noted Broadhurst play during the engagement at the Lyceum theater which begins Sunday, Sept. 8 and remains throughout the week. The boys in the box office have answered telephone call after telephone call from people wanting to know when the sale of seats would begin. This fact goes to show that the theater-goers have already heard of the enormous success of this play in New York city where it has been running for more than a year at The Playhouse. The cast which comprises such stage celebrities as Diva Marolda, Josephine Drake, Gertrude Rudd, George MacQuarrie, Hobert Cavanaugh, Adrian Roseley, Arthur Wood and others have appeared in the New York performance for the past fourteen weeks. The production is elaborate and complete.

SCENE FROM "BOUGHT AND PAID FOR" AT THE LYCEUM.

MARRY IN CAGE WITH BEASTS FROM JUNGLE.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 2.—Surrounded by a wedding party which included a lioness, a leopard, a puma, a panther and a jaguar, also a trainer armed with whip and revolver, Miss Ruth Kavanaugh and George W. Loewenstein were married in a den of lions at a local amusement park. Miss Mae Clark, who missed the glory of a wedding among the beasts because she could not choose a husband among 250 men who proposed, was among the spectators. Miss Clark offered to be wed in the den provided the park proprietors furnished the man. They furnished a battalion, but Miss Clark could not trim her eligible list down to one.

EBERHART IS BEATEN

William E. Lee Predicts Defeat for the Governor.

Urges Importance of Second Choice on the Voters.

William E. Lee of Long Prairie, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is in Duluth today. He will remain in the city for three days in the interests of his candidacy. Today he is resting and meeting friends. Tomorrow and Wednesday night he will make speeches, the places to be designated later.

Mr. Lee is optimistic. He admits that no man can be an accurate judge of the chances of his own candidacy, but he is hopeful that he will be nominated.

"I consider that Governor Eberhart is beaten now," said Mr. Lee this morning. "He certainly cannot get a majority of the first choice votes cast at the primary. He will get practically no second choice votes. Any man who votes for Gordon, Young, Spooner or Lee cannot consistently vote for Eberhart as second choice. The anti-Eberhart is divided as to first choice, but it is a great force and it will accomplish the governor's defeat through the use of the second choice.

"The governor's supporters are conceding his defeat every day by the efforts they are making to befog the minds of the people on the use of the second choice. They are endeavoring to influence Progressive voters to cast their first choice ballots for their choice among the Progressive candidates, and neglect the second choice. I hope every Progressive voter will record a first and second choice. If they do, Eberhart will not be the Republican nominee.

"There are two primary objections to Eberhart. One is the gang behind him. The other is the extravagance of his administration. If Eberhart is renominated, the breweries and other interests which are exploiting the people will do it. I wish that every mother and every father in this state would read Mr. Congdon's letter, published recently. Then I would have them remember that the interest so severely arraigned is the same interest that is backing Governor Eberhart. If they would do so, I would have no fear of the result."

Mr. Lee says that he is hopeful of the result in St. Louis county, although not as hopeful as he would like to be.

"Duluth has sadly neglected its opportunity to cultivate the friendship of the rest of Northern Minnesota by joining with it in beneficial legislation," he said. "Duluth should be the Chicago of the Northwest. Anything that will benefit the remainder of Northern Minnesota will benefit Duluth. Yet Duluth has opposed projects that would benefit Northwestern Minnesota, and has joined with the Twin Cities instead of joining with its real friends.

"There is friendship for Duluth in Northern Minnesota, but trade that should come here is diverted to the Twin Cities and Chicago by unjust railroad rates. The Duluth jobbing houses and other business interests endeavored to correct the discriminations to some extent, but when the Cashman distance tariff bill was offered in the legislature in 1911, the St. Louis county delegation was found voting solidly against it.

"I am probably selfish in urging Northern Minnesota people to stand for things that will benefit Northern Minnesota. I do not believe that Duluth people should go to Traverse county or Stevens county or Blue Earth county or Ramsey county for a candidate for governor. Todd county is where I live is in Northern Minnesota. I want to see Northern Minnesota developed and I want to see the whole state governed with economy and efficiency. I believe Duluth should stand by the remainder of Northern Minnesota and support a Northern Minnesota candidate."

Cumberland Boy Electrocuted.

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 2.—Edward Corcoran, aged 14, son of James Corcoran, was electrocuted when he grasped a guy wire and in swinging it came in contact with an electric light wire, sending 2,300 volts through his body.

WORSHIPPERS OF AN IMAGE

Reactionaries Likened to Followers of Thor By Peterson.

Image Will Be Found Full of Rats and Mice.

"When St. Olaf set about the conversion of the Norwegian people, he found them at one place adoring a great image of the pagan god, Thor. When he attempted to induce them to follow him in worship of the unseen God of Christianity, they refused. He called a giant from his army, and the giant, with one blow of a club, knocked the image over, and it was full of rats and mice. The fallen image was deserted and the people were converted to Christianity.

"Who knows but that may happen in Minnesota, and the fallen reactionary image will be deserted for the living spirit of Progressive politics."

So said James A. Peterson, candidate for the United States senate, at the St. Louis this morning.

Mr. Peterson, who is opposing Senator Knute Nelson for the Republican nomination for the senate, is one of the speakers at the Labor day celebration today. Tonight he will make a political speech at Foresters' hall, and he will spend the remainder of the week on the range.

Mr. Peterson has been on the road ten weeks. Some days he has made three and four speeches. He has been in every district except the Eighth, and he is now in the Eighth to read the record on Senator Nelson and endeavor to prejudice the voters that Nelson is reactionary and should not be returned to the senate to represent a Progressive state.

"I don't care about this fight for the office," he said this morning. "I am spending time and money in this contest, and it is physically a wearing contest. I do care, however, for the triumph of Progressive principles. I have been fighting for the common people for many years, and I am fighting for the common people now. Knute Nelson's record is a record of reactionary service to the interests. His immunity bath for the packers, his record in the Ballinger case, his attitude in regard to railroad legislation stamp him as a representative of the interests and not of the common people.

"Any Republican who intends to vote for Roosevelt or for Wilson cannot consistently vote for Nelson. Nelson stands for what Taft stands for, and I do not believe a majority of the Republicans of Minnesota are for Taft and his principles. Nelson is a reactionary. He has always been a reactionary. He has nothing in common with modern Progressive principles, and a Progressive state should not be represented by him, for he cannot represent it properly.

"Long service has given Knute Nelson a halo. You will notice that the man with the halo falls hardest when he falls, and I look to see Knute Nelson fall at the coming primary."

STRAW HAT SEASON ENDS.

The straw hat season officially closed Saturday, but Duluthians will not observe the closing, for one of the few real opportunities to wear the straw lids was offered today.

The remains of Bishop Grafton will be interred in a lot at the foot of the cross on the plot belonging to the Sisters of the Holy Nativity in Rienzi cemetery.

The death mask of the dead prelate has been taken. Grant Amery of Boston, grand nephew and only living relative in this country of Bishop Grafton, will attend the funeral services.

HAILSTONES FALL AS LARGE AS HASEBALLS.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 2.—A heavy hailstorm struck the towns of Pleasant Valley and Washington in this county Saturday afternoon. Stones as large as league baseballs fell, breaking windows, killing chickens, cutting corn and buckwheat over a wide area.

RED SQUIRRELS APPROPRIATE NEST LONG OWNED BY SPARROWS

A snug, cosy little bird-house, made of birch bark, placed among the branches of a large tree at the residence of H. T. Hare in the Lakeside district some years ago by true-hearted bird-lovers, was used by sparrows, summer and winter, up to a few weeks ago, and brood after brood had been hatched out in remarkable security and comfort.

But the little colony of feathered citizens was rudely disturbed not long ago by a force of red squirrels from the neighboring woods. The four-footed invaders seemed to put the aerial possessors to rout with little difficulty, for the real owners have made no attempt to re-establish their title. The squirrels appropriated the nests, and as far as anybody knows, may have even robbed the feathered inhabitants of their eggs and young birds. At all events the conquest was complete and successful, and the usurpers have altered the interior arrangements to suit themselves. They are now searching the premises for rags or any other soft material they can find, and have been noticed attempting to pull pieces of cloth from a limb on a neighboring tree, where a swing is tied. It appears that they are preparing the house for wintry weather. They have been noticed storing it with nuts, acorns and whatever other eatables they could pick up, and this strengthens the theory that they are looking ahead to the necessities of the severest season of the year. The little intruders have been objects of much attention on the part of the people of the whole neighborhood; yet no attempt has been made to restore the house to its lawful possessors, and there seems to be a general disposition to allow the new-comers to enjoy the benefits of their ambition.

LABOR IS THEIR THEME

The Church and Working Man Theme in Many Pulpits.

Sermons in observance of Labor Sunday were delivered yesterday from many of the local pulpits. Among those who made organized labor their theme were: Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church; Dr. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist; Rev. George E. Silloway of the Grace M. E.; Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian; Rev. A. W. Ryan of the St. Paul's Episcopal; Rev. W. H. Farrell of the Asbury M. E.; Rev. J. E. Shewell of St. John's English Lutheran and Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, speaking of "The Labor Question and Its Relation to the Church," said:

Industrial Education.

"The unions should create a sentiment for a proper industrial education of children. Every laboring man should be interested in seeing that his children get a good education along proper lines.

"The one-man power in unions should be eliminated. Too much power is often given to the walking delegate. Such power should not be given to any but a committee composed of men of the highest integrity. A walking delegate is often a menace to the peace of a union. In voting on strike issues the sane judgment of the older members should be given weight. Too often the young men become hot headed and lead the union into battle which may be its undoing.

"The labor union is today perhaps half way between the church and Socialism. The church must show labor that it is its friend. The world is beginning to realize that the application of Christianity in labor is necessary."

Dr. M. S. Rice, dwelling on the relations of the church with labor, said in part:

"We feel today that our civilization is camped on the uncertain edge of a slumbering volcano, and fear at times its slumber is not very sound. It is, sirs, all because men have supposed that loving themselves was the first law of business, and that loving their neighbors was solely for missionary teas and charitable associations. I tell you, gentlemen, the absence of Christian temper has brought our trouble. We need the Christian principle in our problem now. When once we have caught at the manner in which the gospel of Christ will meet the situation, then we must move to make the fact live. I am only a simple preacher of the gospel. I believe it absolutely. I am sure that by it men will come to the one enduring basis of brotherhood which we need. The love of God with all your heart and the love of your neighbor as yourself, religion and social service. To that I put my utmost faith. I fear no problem when Christianity has its way."

Rev. George E. Silloway, speaking of the dignity and respectability of labor, said:

"There is no instance recorded from Genesis to the Revelations where God ever called an idler to his service. From Moses, who was called while tending sheep to the disciples who were called when fishing, mending nets or collecting customs, God always honored the workingman.

"The Master, Himself, was known as the 'Carpenter of Nazareth.' We hope that some time soon, some painter, conceiving Him as He might have been seen for nearly eighteen years in Nazareth, will paint us a picture of Christ, not with eyes turned heavenward nor kneeling in an agony of prayer, but in his carpenter apron beside the workbench, plying his trade, for such He was."

ON THE IRON RANGES

VILLAGE OF COOK MENACED BY FIRE

Little Fork Hotel Destroyed and Other Buildings Nearly Catch.

Cook, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village had a close call from destruction by fire early in the morning two days ago when the Hotel Little Fork and the restaurant next to it were burned to the ground.

The fire was discovered about 7 a. m. and was then pretty well under way. It is supposed to have started from a defective flue. For a time it seemed that the whole village might go since there was no effective means of fighting the fire.

Store Has Close Call.

Ben Erickson's store caught fire several times, as did also the new bank building next to it.

August Buboltz owned the hotel and restaurant buildings which were insured for small amounts. Mr. Moore, the landlord, owned the contents of the hotel, which was fully covered.

It is rumored that a substantial brick building will take the place of those burned.

MANY PUPILS ARE GOING TO SCHOOL

Virginia Enrollment With Opening Day Is Almost 3,000.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — The public schools opened this morning with an enrollment of nearly 3,000, and it is expected that the number in attendance will have reached this figure before the end of the week.

During the vacation period all school buildings of the district have been put in first-class condition—floors varnished, woodwork repainted, heating plants overhauled and improvements made that contribute to the comfort of the pupils.

Chisholm School's All Ready.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything is in readiness for the beginning of the school year Tuesday, the teachers having all arrived. A meeting of both teachers and principals was held in the high school building this morning when plans for carrying on the work were perfected.

Supt. J. P. Vaughn was induced by the board to return for another year and has been busy the past fortnight getting the matters in hand. The senior class will probably start out with the seven members who prepared for their last year when the schools closed last spring and there is a prospect of the class increasing shortly after the school opens as there are several students who have moved to Chisholm the past summer who are eligible to the senior course. Nearly 40 per cent of the teachers who left last spring have not been returned to Chisholm, many going to other points and some getting married.

ROW OVER MONKEY WRENCH

Results in Taconite Man Getting Jail Sentence.

Taconite, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A row over a monkey wrench resulted in one of the participants, Mr. Shields, getting a fine of $75 or sixty days in jail. The complaining witness Mr. Westbrook alleged Shields pulled a gun on him. Judge Hope tried the case and imposed the fine. Shields put up bond and will appeal.

Miss Margaret Byrne has recovered from an attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. Van Horn and daughters, Mamie and Violet, of Marble, spent a few days in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trombley are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter.

Miss Helen Hoehn has returned to her home in St. Paul.

Bert Rock, who spent a few weeks in town, has gone to Alberta.

Mr. La Valley of Prairie River is reported to be quite sick.

Mrs. Lizzie Green has returned to her home in Ishpeming, Mich.

TOWER BRIEFS.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A very pretty party was given Friday evening by Mrs. J. Naslund in honor of Miss Ethel Burgess and Miss Eugenia Jeffrey, both of whom leave for their school work in other cities.

The public schools will open Tuesday morning. Some minor repairs have been made to the Tower and Soudan buildings, but little to the Little Fork building.

N. J. Benson, wife and daughter, left Friday for Duluth by auto, going by way of Virginia and Hibbing.

KEEPS YOU LOOKING YOUNG

For Sale and Recommended by W. A. Abbett.

DEER RIVER PUPILS ARE SUCCESSFUL GARDENERS

DEER RIVER HIGH SCHOOL.

TWO VIEWS OF THE SCHOOL GARDEN.

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The success of introducing the study of agriculture in the schools is well illustrated here in the splendid work done by the pupils of the local high school.

Prof. D. B. Jewell, who is in charge of the agricultural high school, has had a class of forty this summer in the field work—attending to gardens which they put in themselves, raising grains and doing other classes of plant raising. The gardens are showing up splendidly, and are clean and well kept, and such that the school management has every right to be proud of them.

Among other things, the young people who are taking the agricultural work are propagating a class of clean seed oats of a variety which produces highly, and which has not long been raised in this section. The seed oats raised by the children are showing up finely, and when acclimated to this country, the farmers, to whom the oats will be given for seed, will not only have some oats which will yield a great deal better than most oats bought of the seed houses, but will have some tangible results of a highly beneficial nature to show for their tax money, aside from the practical help given to their children.

CHISHOLM BUDGET IS OVER $260,000

Range Village Plans to Spend Large Amount During Next Year.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — The village council Saturday evening passed the budget for next year, amounting to about $261,000. The water and light commission's request was for $79,820 to enlarge the pumping station and provide for a clear well and other necessary improvements that have been waiting the past two years. Two years ago the steel tank and tower had to be built as well as a settling basin, the total expense of which were around $30,000 or $40,000. This expense delayed the enlargement of the pumping station and again last year and thus the matter has been laid over. This season the village seriously considered buying the electric lighting plant and the matter is still undisposed of and will not be decided until too late for the water and light commission to get the matter under way.

The council in making up the budget allowed for an eight-hour shift for the police officers and created a fund which will, it is hoped, result in a series of parks for the village and for boulevards on streets which have to be disturbed in the future. The village engineer will as soon as possible revise the street grades and when these have been approved they will be permanently improved as fast as moderate expense will permit.

Much for Street Fund.

Fifty thousand dollars was set to the credit of the street fund and $20,000 more for the park system. The interest fund was cut down several thousand dollars. The cemetery which was a source of expense this year it is anticipated will be self-sustaining. The contingent fund, the poor fund, and tax account fund were left the same as this year. The assessor's salary was cut for next year for the reason that no real estate revision is necessary next year. The fund used for public celebrations, etc., was about the same as last year. A fund of $5,000 to provide a detention hospital and furnishings was created and is a much needed improvement. The disposal tank which was planned for this year and which money had to be used for street paving to avoid overdrawing the public convenience fund will be built next year and $25,000 was appropriated for the purpose. A meat and milk inspector was included in the health fund, the other items in that fund remaining about the same as last year.

It is planned to pave about thirteen blocks at least next year, First avenue and Second avenue from Lake street to the Missabe depot being the most important streets now unpaved. The matter of new sidewalks came in for some difference of opinion it being finally agreed that a small appropriation for the purpose would be sufficient as more cement walks will be built in the future and the expense charged to the property owners. The library fund was allowed to lapse in next year's expense as no suitable site can be obtained at reasonable figures. Several good sites have been offered but many objections have arisen in each case so that the matter seems farther off this year than last.

The local revenue for the village runs between $25,000 and $30,000, the balance or approximately $240,000 will be raised by the tax levy.

VIRGINIANS TO PLAY DULUTH BALL TEAM.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — Efforts are being made here to raise sufficient money as a guarantee for two games of baseball between the Duluth "See-Eye" champions and a picked nine of Virginia players. A petition is in circulation to raise the necessary amount. If present plans do not fall the games will be played Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 7 and 8.

Chisholm Sends Large Crowd.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest crowds that ever journeyed to Hibbing in a single day attended the fair Sunday afternoon. Livery stables and automobile garages were taxed to full capacity being unable to accommodate the throngs. Matt Borlin's horse, which was booked for a big event Sunday, lowered his record Saturday and this made him too fast for one race and his owner did not care to enter him in the next fastest race, so he was not allowed to race. The fair from a Chisholm viewpoint is a big success and the management is receiving many commendable praises with the results attained. A terrific electrical storm struck this section about 7 p. m. and forced every one to abandon their plans for the evening.

COUNTY FAIR GREAT MAGNET

Large Crowds Flock Through Gates at Hibbing on Last Day.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The St. Louis county fair held here the latter part of last week and concluding today which was marred in some ways by the bad weather and the failure of the airman to make expected flights is ending today in a regular blaze of glory. The last day promises to be a record breaker in the way of attendance as large crowds are going through the gates. The big event today is the great free-for-all race and it is expected fifteen horses will start. H. C. Beck's Shamrock, with a mark of 2:09¼, and a winner of Grand circuit money in previous years, is among the entries, and an attempt will be made to lower the present record.

Rain yesterday compelled calling off the special races but the weather today is ideal and the track is rapidly drying for this afternoon's events. The results of yesterday's races follow:

NO STATED OBSERVANCE OF DAY IN VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—While no arrangements were made in this city for a Labor day picnic, parade or public speaking under the auspices of the labor element as a whole, the day is being quite generally observed in a quiet way. The banks are closed and all of the principal busines houses have closed their doors for the day. Two Labor dances will be given this evening. A number of Virginia labor union men went to Duluth to observe the day and participate in the celebration in that city.

NETT LAKE INDIAN REPORT IS PREPARED.

Nett Lake, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert B. Reagan, superintendent and special agent of the Bois Fort Indians on the Nett Lake reservation, has taken a census and otherwise reported to the department.

There are 646 Indians on the reservation, 309 males, 337 females.

The report also shows: Births during year, 32; deaths, 16; increase of births over deaths, 16; number of families living in permanent houses, 169; number of houses with wooden floors, 28. The census gave 295 school children. Of these 42 were in the Nett Lake day school and approximately 64 in the Vermilion Lake school at Tower, Minn., and 22 were scattered among various public schools, leaving 77 not in any school, owing to the scattered condition of the band.

In the fiscal year just closed the Nett Lake agency spent approximately $21,000 including $6,220 for annuities, and appropriations now already set apart aggregate $15,601.07 (including the annuity payment). This includes appropriations covering $1,000 road work on the Pelican-Nett Lake road, $2,500 to build a day school plant, and $3,400 to erect 17 houses for the Indians at Nett Lake.

THE KAISER'S CHARACTER.

Strand: There is much that one cannot help liking in the character of Wilhelm II., and it is those who know him best who best appreciate him. Imperious and autocratic to a degree he undoubtedly is, and he has a will of iron that hates to be diverted from its purpose. He is also extremely hasty in his judgments as much as in his actions. No one is more quick to realize his failures, however, than he is himself, and he has been known after a heated outburst to go to the minister or official who provoked his wrath almost immediately afterwards and offer his apologies, and agree that a different course from what he had at first demanded would possibly be the wisest. An apt case in point is the famous telegram that his majesty sent to the late President Paul Kruger upon his defeat of the Raiders under Dr. Jameson. It is asserted by those who were about the German and British courts that the emperor was heard within a day or two, and when he had had time to consider fully the possible seriousness of the action, frequently to express regret that he had ever allowed himself to put pen to paper on the subject: and it is stated that the emperor at once wrote every fully to Queen Victoria on the matter, reiterating his regrets and explaining the circumstances that led up to the dispatch of the wire.

NEW ERA ON THE COAST

John Panton Says Seattle Is Again Showing Rapid Growth.

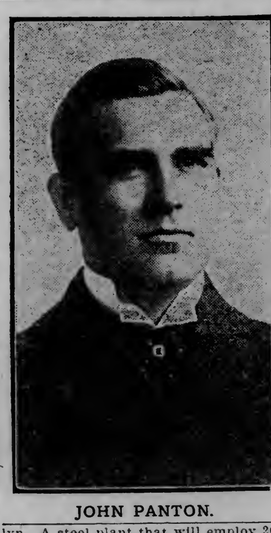

Former Duluth Merchant Says Teddy Is Strong in West.

John Panton, a resident of Duluth for twenty-five years, and well known here as a member of the department store firm of Panton & White, now engaged in the same kind of business at Seattle, Wash., was at the Spalding hotel today.

Mr. Panton is on his way home from a business trip to New York.

During part of his present visit at Duluth he has been at the farm of Dr. Magie at Pleasant Hill. He will leave on his return trip to Seattle either this evening or tomorrow morning. Mr. Panton lived in Duluth up to last December, when he went to Seattle, where he has made his residence ever since.

"Seattle has recently passed through a period of dullness," said Mr. Panton, "but it now seems to be starting on a new era of business development. A new system of railroad terminals is being established there, the exact duplicate of the Bush terminals at Brooklyn. A steel plant that will employ 200 people has just been established there. One striking improvement is the new L. C. Smith building at the Second avenue junction, forty-two stories high. I have been informed that three-fourths of the offices have been rented. Mr. Smith made a great deal of money in Seattle, and this building is built in accordance with a provision of his will. His son, who was recently at Seattle, said he would put up a duplicate of this building in that city on Third avenue. I am told that the building will be named after himself.

JOHN PANTON.

"Here at Duluth I notice that there has been a great deal of improvement in the way of building new dwellings, but somehow the business part of the city has not been progressing. I have noticed hardly any change that has taken place in the general appearance of the business district during the last six or seven years. Out in the coast cities, the real estate investors put their money largely into improvements in the business districts and less into the residence portions than they do here. To be sure they beautify the homes, but not in so expensive a way. As to the matter of politics, I cannot give you much information, but my impression is that the 'bull moose' sentiment is mighty strong out in Seattle and all through that part of the country. It looks to as if Teddy were going to make a big sweep in New York. At least that is the talk I heard there from the business men I met."

Mr. Panton is a partner in the Seattle department store of the Panton & London company.

ROOSEVELT OFF ON LONG TRIP

Will Not Return to Oyster Bay Until Middle of October.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Col. Roosevelt was up before daylight today and by 6 o'clock was off in his automobile for New York, where he was to catch an 8 o'clock train eastbound, with Hartford, Conn., as his first stop. His program called for speeches at Hartford and Springfield, although the latter stop was not originally planned.

Leaving Springfield late this afternoon, Col. Roosevelt's real journey will begin. He will turn his back on the East for a time, heading straight for St. Louis, where he will speak at the Missouri state fair.

From St. Louis he will move north to St. Paul for the Minnesota state fair and thence on a long siege up and down the Pacific coast states. His plans will bring him back to Oyster Bay about the middle of October.

SOO TRAIN DERAILED

Runs Into Washout While Going Forty Miles an Hour.

Six Coaches Leave Rails and Bump Along the Ties.

The Soo Line train from Chicago due in Duluth at 9 a. m. Sunday arrived at 4:30 in the afternoon, seven and a half hours late on account of a washout and derailment twelve miles south of Ladysmith at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

The train was speeding at forty miles an hour when a washout was encountered near Conrath station. The engine and baggage car passed over safely, but the following six coaches all left the rails and the train ran more than the length of itself before it was brought to a standstill. As it crashed and thundered over the ties the train broke into three parts. Two day coaches and two sleepers which had not left the ties were pulled back on the rails when a wrecking crew arrived from Ladysmith and the train hobbled into Duluth leaving the smoking car and a sleeper with the trucks and wheels buried deep in the earth and standing crossvise of the track. All the coaches stood upright except the smoker which had a narrow escape from plunging into a creek which had been made a torrent by a heavy storm in the nature of a cloudburst during the night.

Had the safety chain connecting it with the car ahead not broken and had the car been dragged five feet further, the car would have taken the plunge over the embankment into the river. Passengers in all the coaches were shaken up tremendously, as the cars jolted over the ties, but no one was injured. In one of the day coaches the passengers were chiefly women and they screamed when the accident occurred. Those in the sleepers only felt the bumps and by the time they got out to see what had happened the train had stopped. Fish plates were torn off and the havy rails bent up like wire. The ties were chopped up into matchwood for a long distance.

It will probably take a day or two to take away the two cars and repair the track at that point. Frederick Mackey and Walter Newcomb of Virginia were passengers on the train.

$5,000 FOR ROADS.

Liberal Appropriation for Improving Reservation Highways

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. W. Cross, agent for the Fond du Lac Indian reservation, has received word from the Indian bureau at Washington, D. C., that $5,000 has been appropriated for the repair and building of roads on the Fond du Lac reservation. Mr. Cross is much pleased. A road from Cloquet to the Indian village was begun last spring, and the part that was completed is a splendid highway, but work ceased several weeks ago, owing to the local agency running out of funds, and it was doubtful whether money would be forthcoming this fall to finish the work, but the appropriation obviates this difficulty, and Mr. Cross says that before snow flies he expects to see the road to the village completed. Part of the money will be used on the Sawyer road and also to build a new road from the Indian village to Brevator. The appropriation will mean untold gain to the farmers that are settling the reservation, and to the county at large.

PERFECT DAY GREETS LABOR UNION MEN

day broke fair and beautiful such arrangements in many cases had advanced so far that they could not be broken into; hence the lack of numbers in the line of march.

The appearance of every union which took part was the best, it is believed, that they have ever made in all of the labor parades with which Duluth has been prolific in many years. They dressed for the part, in brilliant colors and there was a snap in their march which so many parades lack.

The three divisions of the parade, under guidance of Chief Marshal S. S. McDonald and his aides, W. R. Thompson and E. Rickett, formed on West First street and intersecting avenues. The first division formed on First street, east of Third avenue. Falling in behind it came the second division, which had formed on Fourth avenue west, and then the third division, formed on Third avenue west. The unions marched east on First street to Second avenue east, then down to Superior street and east on that thoroughfare to Eighth avenue west, where cars were taken for Fairmont park, at which beauty spot the chief events of the day are taking place. Thousands of people headed toward the park, many going before the parade started in order that they might obtain choice locations for picnics, and others following the main body of the union men and their families. Hundreds of cars were pressed into service, and scores of automobiles took parties out.

At the park, addresses were made by P. M. Ringdal, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Minnesota, and James A. Peterson, candidate for the Progressive nomination for United States senator. The addresses of these were well received, even vociferously so.

This afternoon, following a noon luncheon, a program of sports is being given. A large number of events are being indulged in by numerous contestants, and handsome prizes are offered the winners.

As to the parade itself, it was headed by a platoon of twenty police in command of Lieut. Wilcox. Following that was the Third regiment band and then came automobiles, containing, in order: P. M. Ringdal, James A. Peterson, Mayor J. A. McCuen, Chief of Police Chauncey Troyer, and W. J. Dutcher, chairman of the committee on speakers; Fire Chief Randall, President Hoar of the common council, and Aldermen Mueller and Makowsky; Aldermen MacDonell, Burnett, Hicken and Gibson, and Building Inspector Keilley; Assistant City Attorney J. A. Wharton and Aldermen Phillips, Hogan, Neff, Krueger and Swanberg. Following is the arrangement of the rest of the parade:

Speech by Ringdal.

P. M. Ringdal, chairman of the state board of control and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Minnesota, gave a ringing address in which he disclssed the economic and political questions agitating the great body of the people today.

Labor he held up as a great economic force. Without labor capital would be idle, for it is through the medium of labor that capital is made productive. Conversely, labor would be powerless without the application of capital. Labor is dependent upon capital; capital is dependent upon labor, he said. Economic stability and safety can come only through harmonious relations between capital and labor. Mr. Ringdal held that capital cannot afford to oppress labor, and labor cannot afford to make unreasonable demands upon capital. The laborer is worthy of his hire. He is entitled to eight hours' work at fair pay. He is entitled to compensation for injuries sustained through the natural course of business. A fair working men's compensation law, he said, should be provided by every state, and the technical defenses that hedge around the efforts of working men to obtain damages for injuries should be wiped off the statute books.

Good Government.

Good government, Mr. Ringdal said, should be the aim of every good citizen. Good government contemplates government by the people. The initiative, the referendum, the recall and other phases of representative government are as old as representative government itself. The fathers of the republic never contemplated that any branch of the government should usurp the powers of the people, from whom the power of government springs.

Mr. Ringdal discussed the tariff, and with the tariff the trusts, which he declared to be the outgrowth of the protective tariff. Mr. Ringdal declared that no tariff law which taxes the necessities of life is fair to the workingman. The purchasing power of the dollar, and not the dollar itself, is the unit of wealth, he declared. The protective tariff, by diminishing the purchasing power of the dollar, has oppressed the wage earner by making him pay more for the necessaries of life than he would if industries that do not need protection were not protected.

Mr. Ringdal discussed the trusts at some length, dwelling on the fact that combinations through which the prices of commodities may be controlled are against all principles of republican government and should be subjected to rigidly applied government regulation.

Mr. Ringdal talked at length and hit from the shoulder. He declared that abuses should not be allowed to continue because of long continuance. No institution which heaps oppression upon people should be sacred he said. He appealed to the people to exercise good judgment and good citizenship in government; to exercise fairness to all men and all corporations, but to stand always for the right of the people to govern—which is the fundamental right of all men under the American Constitution.

vens, an American settler of Colona, Pacheco, according to an authentic report received by O. P. Brown, business agent here of the Mormon colonies in Mexico.

It was at first reported that Stevens, who was killed last week, had met death at the hands of an American, but this story was sent, it is said, to avoid trouble with the rebels who still invest the American settlements to the southeast of Juarez.

Two rebels visited the Stevens home with apparent intentions on the two young women of the household. Stevens met the intruders with a shotgun and escorted them to the limits of his property, an orchard. According to the story told by his daughters, one of the Mexicans drew a sword bayonet from his belt and thrust it into the American's body. Stevens fired and fell dead over the body of the man whom he had killed. The other rebel fled.

Details of the case have been investigated by Junius Romney, president of the colonies. It is said to be the fifth murder of American settlers by rebels in the district and Romney has urged that no families return to the colonies until quiet is restored. It is declared that the federal soldiers strung out between Juarez and Chihuahua have not left the railway and that the American colonies are absolutely unprotected.

PASTOR IS SUFFRAGIST

Advocates Votes for Women in Sunday Evening Sermon.

Advocating the ballot for women and championing the cause of the fair sex, Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, preached last evening on "Ballots for Women." Rev. Mr. Farrell urged the granting of the franchise to women for the purpose of reforming the nation and generally housecleaning all the present conditions. In part he said:

"The right of women to the ballot, like every other reform, has had to face prejudice. In spite of prejudice the cause has made progress by leaps and bounds through the past few years.

"Some oppose because they say politics are too dirty for women to indulge in. Others oppose because they are sure that some women, like some men, will neglect household cares and business for what profit there may be in politics.

"It is evident that we are greatly in need of something that will uplift the moral tone in political life. I am sure that great man that he was, astute as a politician and looked up to as a paragon of wisdom, John P. Ingalls was mistaken when he said, "The purification of politics is an irrelevant dream." Such indeed may have been a truth in his day. It may be impossible to purify a thing without the proper means. I believe that by giving the ballot to women we will find the means we have sought. We may not reach perfection in a day. Such is not our hope here more than it has been in other fields. Wherever women have largely influenced the policy of schools and politics, it has been for their betterment. One of the chief reasons for the high moral tone in the public schools is that women have so largely dominated there as teachers. The same thing is true of every other institution where women have so largely influenced the policy.

"To give women the ballot and allow them to take their rightful place, as partners in fact, in our political affairs, can but bring good to all concerned.

"Fancy a man keeping house all alone. He may keep house after a fashion. The house will look better, however, and be as it should if he gets the partner intended for him. I believe that in this matter of housekeeping in the nation, we will do better if women have a larger part in its government."

BOWLING ON THE GREEN IS NEW SPORT IN DULUTH

The curlers of Duluth have at last been provided with a sport that will "keep their hands in" for the great ice game of winter. That is the time-honored game of "howling on the green."

D. B. Macdonald and Norman Macdonald have arranged greens at their homes on East Third street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues and there each evening and on idling afternoons will be found a crowd of curlers and others sending the bowls along and waxing enthusiastic over the good sport offered. Many are taking part and great interest is being shown. It is believed that not only will it prove, hereafter, a leading summer sport in Duluth, but that it will develop many recruits for the curling ranks for the winter game.

Messers. Macdonald obtained a set of bowls from Canada a short time ago and set about to lay out a green. The latter is not yet in perfect shape, but is being arranged better right along and it is likely that next summer will see several greens in operation, for the sport is one that appeals to a great many people, especially to business men who desire open air exercise that will be muscle building at the same time as it is diverting.

HEAVY TRAVEL TO THE FAIR

Extra Coaches Are Added to the Twin City Trains.

Estimated That 2,000 Duluthians Are Already in Twin Cities.

Duluth railroad men estimate that there are today 2,000 Duluthians at the Minnesota state fair.

Travel to St. Paul and Minneapolis is the heaviest in years. The Saturday night trains were crowded, and at the last minute several coaches had to be added to the late trains. The afternoon trains carried large crowds, as did the Sunday day and night trains. Today a great many have planned to go.

Monday is generally the heavy day at the fair in point of the number of Duluthians present, but Duluth day is expected to draw the big crowd this year. Railroad men estimate that during the week of the fair some 4,000 Zenith City people will be in the Twin Cities at one time or another.

The fair itself is said to be bigger than ever this year. Railroad men state that they have been surprised at the great number that is going to the fair this year from points all over the county.

Many have come through Duluth from the range, and on the lines from Duluth to the Twin Cities each station is sending a large number.

LABOR DAY COSTS MONEY

Work of all kinds is at a standstill in the local harbor today.

The boats here are lying idle at the docks and those that came in are finding their unloading places and if they are filled are going to anchor in the basin opposite the Boat club.

The tug companies have given their men a part of the day off and the boats which are usually busy from morning to night are idle. Dredges have suspended for Labor day and the harbor is more quiet today than at any time during the present season.

It is stated that Labor Day this year is costing the companies thousands of dollars. All who could plan to have their boats on the way up or down the lakes have done so.

Coming as it does at the height of the rush season in ore, the beginning of what will probably be the biggest season in grain shipping in some years, Labor day is a severe and costly interference to shippers this year.

Holiday on Grain and Stock Exchanges of the Country.

Flax Market Marked By Wide Fluctuations During Week.

Today being a holiday, grain and stock exchanges were closed in all parts of the country. The Duluth board of trade, the Duluth Stock exchange and the local brokerage offices all kept their doors closed.

Flaxseed.

The Duluth flax market during the week ending last Saturday was one of great variations. The flax market has become more and more of a weather proposition from day to day. As each day goes by the buyers and sellers watch the weather with keener and keener solicitude. Every day that goes by without frost gives hope to the buyers, as it means that the crop is one day nearer to the hoped for 28,000,000 bu. Yet there are many causes of anxiety in the weather reports that come from different localities, and the excessive rainfall and the scarcity of sunshine have been great factors on the bull side of the market. In general the market has been rather bullish during the past week, and the closes of last Saturday were considerably higher than those of the preceding Saturday, though last Saturday was in itself quite a bearish day, by reason of the clearing weather conditions in the Northwest.

Receipts of flaxseed have been very small all last week, as the tables will show, and the same thing is true of shipments, though both the receipts and the shipments exceeded those of the week before. There is scarcely any old flaxseed left in the country, and how much new flaxseed there will be a few weeks hence is something that nobody can tell. The whole situation of the market spells conservatism. This feeling possesses both buyers and sellers.

ENGLAND NOT READY TO APPEAL TO HAGUE ABOUT CANAL TOLLS

Three Lines of Action Open, But None Is Decided Upon.

May Wait Until After Election in Hope of Solution.

London, Sept. 3.—A complete disavowal is given this morning by the British foreign office of the so-called official announcement that the British government will formally demand arbitration on the Panama canal tolls question.

"The lines of action which lie before the British government are now being considered and any announcement of the kind is premature."

This is the full text of the formal statement given out by the foreign office today in reply to requests for details as to the reported demand for arbitration.

In regard to the publication of the report, the officials of the foreign office said no announcement of any sort had been made or even decided on by the British government.

Origin of Statement.

The statement purporting to be official was issued by the Press association and the Central News, two of the leading news agencies. It appeared at an hour when it was too late to obtain independent confirmation or denial, and all the London newspapers printed it this morning as a fact.

Instead of this being the case, however, the Panama canal question remains in the same position it has occupied for some time. The government will in all probability propose its ref-

STATE ELECTION ON IN VERMONT

First Trial of Strength of Three Parties Is Being Held.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 3.—Vermont is electing a governor today, and whichever party wins will accept the result as a harbinger of success at the presidential contest in November.

A three days' rainstorm still was beating down on both sides of the Green mountains when voting began. Party leaders, however, found some consolation in the predictions of clear weather by noon.

The Republicans maintained that there was sufficient party loyalty to elect Allen M. Fletcher of Cavendish governor, in spite of the storm. The Progressive managers relied on the steadfastness of the followers of the new movement to bring out a substantial vote for Rev. Frazer Metzger, the party leader, while the Democratic leaders were confident of polling the full party strength for Harlan Howe.

Followers of the Prohibition and Socialist parties looked for the customary vote for the ticket leaders, Clement F. Smith for the former and Fred W. Sulter for the Socialists.

After Big Vote.

Many politicians pointed out today that while the total registration in the state at each election in the last twenty-five years was close to 120,000, it has been seldom that more than 55 or 60 per cent of those enrolled to vote have come to the polls.

No political apathy was expected today, but to guard against it nearly every voting place was well equipped with cabs and motor cars to bring the aged and infirm to the polls.

The regular Australian voting system obtains in Vermont. Chances for repeating were said to be minimized, for nearly all the ballot clerks knew each voter personally.

OPPOSE FUSION IN MISSOURI

Progressives Scent Plot By the Regular Republicans.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—The possibility of a fusion between the forces of the regular Republicans and the Progressives in this state were said today at the headquarters of the latter here to have entirely disappeared and that the cry among the delegates to the Progressive state convention which will open this afternoon, was "No fusion." It is declared the Progressives are fully determined to place their own candidates in the field.

It was said to have been the hope of Governor Hadley and some of his followers that fusion with the Progressives might be effected and that the latter would be induced to support the state ticket of the regular organization. At Progressive headquarters it is stated that efforts to bring this about have been made and that an attempt to bring dissensions in the Progressive ranks over the nomination of the party gubernatorial candidate was part of this plan.

Roosevelt will be the chief attraction at the session of the convention this afternoon. He is scheduled to begin his address to the delegates at about 6 o'clock. After dinner he may address the members of the City club and then will depart for St. Paul.

INVOLVED IN NEW YORK BLACKMAIL SCANDALS

CORNELIUS G. HAYES.

New York, Sept. 3.—Capt. Cornelius G. Hayes is the former inspector of police accused of having made a false statement to Police Commissioner Waldo. The case resolved itself into a question of veracity between Waldo and Hayes. Waldo demoted Hayes to the rank of captain and then suspended him because Hayes said he had received orders not to raid disorderly houses. The trial was postponed.

ROOSEVELT CONFIDENT

"We're Going to Win This Fight," He Declares at Muncie, Ind.

Throat Is Affected By His Work in Rain on Monday.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 3.—"We're going to win this fight," said Col. Roosevelt today.

The opening of his month's trip yesterday, he said, he regarded as significant in view of the demonstrations which marked his journey through Connecticut and Massachusetts. He had been told, he said, that in Connecticut there was little enthusiasm for the Progressive party, but he believed his reception in that state showed that the party was receiving a good deal of support there.

Col. Roosevelt passed through Muncie this morning and is due in St. Louis at 3 p. m. After a stay of a few hours in St. Louis he will leave for St. Paul. He was glad of the opportunity for a rest during the greater part of the day, as his tour followed so closely his hard campaign in Vermont that he had not time to recuperate. He made several speeches in the rain yesterday and last night was tired and hoarse.

Members of his party were fearful his voice would give way under the

PRIMARY DAY IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 3.—Voters of Wisconsin are today exercising the right of suffrage at a primary election for the nomination of candidates to go on state, congressional, legislative and county tickets at the general election in November.

The main statewide contest as far as a gubernatorial nominee is concerned, is between J. C. Karel and A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee, seeking the Democratic nomination.

Republicans and Democrats have plural candidates for state treasurer and attorney general and the Democrats are voting between two candidates for lieutenant governor.

Other principal contests are embraced in six of the eleven congressional districts where opposition exists among both Republicans and Democrats.

The weather in Milwaukee was clear and cool, and the voting only medium sized for the reason that there was no opposition to many of the candidates.

SOUTHEAST RAILWAYS AND MEN MEET AGAIN.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Conferences between the southeastern railways and their freight and passenger conductors and trainmen over a general wage increase were continued here today, with the employers and their men no nearer an agreement than they were three weeks ago. President Garretson of the conductors declared there was no truth in rumors that a strike order would be issued shortly.

MAN WHO SAW THE ROSENTHAL MURDER REFUSES TO TESTIFY

Thomas Coupe Reaches Liverpool—Says He Will Not Return.

Becker Refuses to Plead and Trial Is Set for Sept. 12.

Liverpool, Sept. 3.—Thomas Coupe, formerly night clerk in the Elks' club in New York City and an eye-witness to the murder of the gambler Rosenthal, was met by detectives when the steamship Lusitania docked here today. He was not placed under arrest, but was accompanied to a hotel, where he refused to make any statement until he had consulted with friends.

"I am not going back to America," said Coupe later at the police station.

The detectives informed the former night clerk of the New York Elks' club that District Attorney Whitman wanted him to return to America and testify as an eye witness of the murder of Rosenthal.

Coupe emphasized his reply by saying:

"The only people who could protect me are really my enemies and I doubt very much whether they are really anxious to get me back."

Police "Not Infallable."

"I have been night manager at an expensive hotel in New York and I know something," he continued. "I can tell you there is hardly a single policeman to be relied upon. In my case I have made my pile and am glad to be home among my friends. Certainly I am not going back to America unless my friends advise me to do so."

Afterward Coupe proceeded to Preston, about twenty-eight miles from this

ROCKEFELLER THREATENED

Cause of Special Guards at Pocantico Hills Is Alleged.

New York, Sept. 3.—The large force of armed guards which has been stationed around the John D. Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills for the last two weeks was established because of death threats received by Mr. Rockefeller himself and members of his family, according to the World today.

There have been numerous disorders among foreigners employed on the estate, but it is said that this is not the main reason for the precautions which Mr. Rockefeller has taken. Eighteen negroes, deputy sheriffs and a squad of detectives, all armed, constitute the guard.

According to the World, Mr. Rockefeller and his son have received a number of letters threatening both their lives and property and demanding heavy ransom. Threats to kidnap two young children of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who are ill with measles at a nursery on the estate have also been made, it is said.

VOTING ON 42 AMENDMENTS

Ohio Deciding Whether to Change State's Constitution.

Woman Suffrage Among the Questions Presented to Voters.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 3.—The fate of forty-two proposed amendments to Ohio's constitution is being decided today at a special election.

By nightfall the initiative and referendum, women's suffrage, liquor license, municipal home rule, the change in the judicial system, good roads and the remaining proposed amendments will be realities or still unsettled issues before the voters of the state.

Because of the unusual length of the ballot, and because each of the forty-two amendments had to be marked, the voting was slow. A majority of the voters required at least five minutes to mark their ballots, and many voters consumed ten or fifteen minutes.

Secretary of State Graves said today that the returns of the election would be slow in coming in and that the result on many of the less important proposals probably would not be known until tomorrow.

At best the probabilities are that the first returns will not be received until late tonight, according to Mr. Graves. Early voting in the larger cities of the state was fairly heavy.

Constitution of 1852.

Ohio's present constitution was framed in 1852. In the winter of 1873-1874, a constitutional convention was held, but its work was rejected at the polls.

JEALOUS SWAIN KILLS HIMSELF

Commits Suicide After Quarrel With Girl About Other Men.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.—Yesterday Charles Goede, 28 years old, went with his sweetheart to the Labor day picnic where the attentions the girl received from other men aroused his jealousy and after a dispute with her he went home. This morning his body was found in the lot outside his home where the disappointed lover had shot himself to death.

LIST OF DEAD UP TO FORTY

Fifteen Bodies Recovered in Stormstruck Part of West Virginia.

Food Is Scarce and Sanitation Work Is Being Rushed.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—The number of fatalities resulting from the floods of Monday in Western Pennsylvania, the panhandle of West Virginia and Eastern Ohio was increased to forty today when it became known that John Demstel, his wife and two children were missing from the ruins of their home on Chartiers creek near Canonsburg, Pa.

Fifteen bodies had been recovered from debris scattered through the valley of Harmons creek near Colliers, W. Va., nine being residents of Colliers and six of Holidays Cove.

Searching parties are working in the valleys of the stricken district, digging in the ruins of demolished houses in the hope of finding bodies, but in many instances the rush of water was so strong that it is believed the victims were carried far from the places where they met death.

Food Is Scarce.

Food in some sections is scarce because railroad communication has been cut off, but caravans of loaded wagons are making their way over badly washed roads bearing needed supplies.

Sanitary officers in the western Pennsylvania towns are already at work and large forces of men are cleaning streets and buildings.

In some villages entire families are shoveling mud out of their houses, children old enough to work being kept home from the first day of school to assist because of the great demand for workers.

The Chartiers valley from Washington, Pa., to McKee's Rocks, Pa., where the little stream empties into the Ohio river, is one stretch of devastation. It is estimated that 10,000 acres of growing corn has been ruined, while thousands of tons of hay floated away on the muddy torrent.

The damage to manufacturing plants will be very heavy. In some instances it will be necessary to install new machinery, and work will not be resumed for days, perhaps weeks.

SOLDIER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Bolt Sets Off Eight Cartridges in Trooper's Belt.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 3.—Trooper Sadler of the Fourth U. S. cavalry, was struck by lightning and killed while riding near Fort Huachuca today. Eight cartridges in his belt were exploded. His horse also was killed.

GEORGIAN KILLS SELF IN CHICAGO.

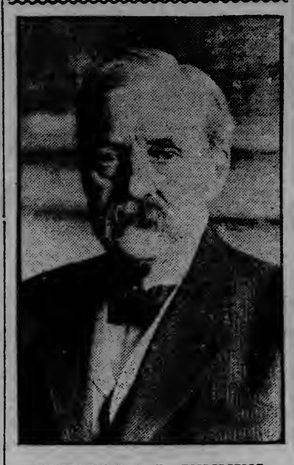

Chicago, Sept. 3.—H. H. Adams, 35 years old, whose home was in Macon, Ga., committed suicide at a downtown hotel early today by shooting himself in the right temple. Adams left a brief note asking that his father, C. M. Adams of Macon, Ga., be notified.

CANNOT STAND FOR BULL MOOSE PARTY

SENATOR A. B. CUMMINS
Of Iowa, Who Has Declared His Intention of Voting for Roosevelt.

TEDDY? YES; PARTY? NO!

Cummins Will Vote for Roosevelt, But Not Third Party.

Iowa Senator Denounces Taft Nomination and Bull Moose Bolt.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, in a public statement issued today, declares that he expects to vote for Col. Roosevelt for president, but is opposed to the formation of a third party. He does not believe that President Taft was the choice of the Republicans of the nation.

"The renomination of President Taft," was opposed by an overwhelming majority of the Republicans throughout the country simply because in his administration of the office as president, he had not done or said the things which the great body of the people believed he should have done and said. A meager majority of delegates succeeded in renominating him."

Reviewed Convention Rule.

The senior Iowa senator then reviewed the basis of representation by means of which, he claims, states with but a meager Republican vote domi-

TAFT GOES BACK TO WASHINGTON

Will Stop to Talk to Postoffice Clerks on Way From Beverly.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3.—President Taft will leave Beverly late today for Washington, where tomorrow he will deliver the opening address to the International Congress of Applied Chemistry. On his way South the president will stop in Boston long enough to address a national convention of postoffice clerks in Faneuil hall, and will dine with Representative John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

He will stay in Washington over night Wednesday, and leave Thursday in time to board the presidential yacht Mayflower at New York about 3 o'clock that afternoon.

Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, and George R. Sheldon, its treasurer, will join the president on the Mayflower. Mrs. Taft also is expected to meet the president in New York. The Mayflower will carry the presidential party to New London, Conn., where on Friday Mr Taft will address the Atlantic Deep Waterways association.

NATURE JOSHES JOSH, WHO TURNED BULL MOOSE.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 3.—Declaring last July that he was not satisfied with the way Taft wanted to treat the farmers, Joshua Anderson, four miles south of here, joined the Bull Moose party.

Next day a calf with two heads was born, and since then nature has been in a chaotic state on Anderson's farm.

He has gathered two crops of strawberries and his apple trees are again in bloom.

Two of his hens lay eggs at morning and night.

He says his cows give more milk and the horses do more work.

Prisoners in Penitentiary Start Riot in Effort to Escape.

Use Knives, Hammers and Barrel Staves in Fight for Freedom.

Three Are Said to Have Scaled the Walls and Escaped.

WORSE OUTBREAK IS FEARED AT PRISON.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 3.—That the local prison officials fear the worst is yet to come was evident when, in addition to the two local militia companies numbering about 130 men, the Lansing company was ordered to this city. Every man who can be induced to act as a special guard is being rushed to the prison.

The supply of firearms at the prison has been exhausted and heavy demands have been made on the supply in the various hardware stores of the city.

A number of newspaper correspondents are said to have been sworn in as deputies and are unable to send reports to their papers, every man being pinned under oath to remain silent regarding conditions inside the walls.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 3.—Rioting among convicts confined in the bullpens broke out this morning. The men reached the prison yard, where the officials exerted every effort to keep them from going over the walls.

The local companies of the state militia were ordered to the prison and it is said had orders to shoot the first prisoner who attempted to scale the walls.

The fire department was called to the scene, some fires having been started by the convicts.

When the prisoners reached the yard they began ruining everything within reach and fearing they would set the factories on fire the city fire department was summoned and is now aiding in an endeavor to subdue the rioters.

Hundreds of shopmen and others gathered on the streets surrounding the prison, and the special police, hastily summoned, had trouble in keeping the crowds orderly.

Prisoners Were Armed.

About seventy-five convicts were in the bullpens, which were opened by the inmates, and practically every prisoner obtained weapons of some kind. Knives, hammers, barrelstaves, etc., were used by the convicts in an endeavor to overpower the guard stationed inside the prison walls.

On seeing the fire department enter the prison yard, many of the rioters fled into the prison, while others hid in the various factory buildings, hoping to climb over the walls when an opportunity presented.

It is said that during the excitement three convicts scaled the walls and now are at large.

As fast as the members of the two local national guard companies are rounded up they are being rushed to the prison in automobiles.

One Convict Shot.

An hour after the outbreak occurred the convicts, apparently cowed by the presence of the militia and firemen, quieted down and were driven back to their cells.

One fleeing convict, failing to halt when ordered, was shot down by a guard shortly after noon. The prisoner was running across the yard when told to stop.

WOOD PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"

Manufacturer Is Arraigned in Mill Dynamite Case.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company, pleaded not guilty in the superior court today to an indictment charging him with conspiracy to distribute dynamite in Lawrence during the textile strike in that city last winter.

The identity of the third man indicted on the conspiracy charge became known today when Fred E. Atteaux surrendered at police headquarters. He is a member of F. E. Atteaux & Co., dye and color manufacturers of this city. Atteaux was taken into court shortly after his surrender.

Assistant District Attorney Levello told the court that the bail of $5,000 had been fixed by a commissioner last week and was satisfactory.

It was expected two other men indicted in connection with the case, Dennis J. Collins, a Cambridge dogfancier, and a prominent Boston merchant, whose name has not been disclosed by the district attorney, would be brought into court later in the day.

HOSPITALS NOT EXEMPT

Refuses to Set Aside Verdict of $4,000 Against St. Luke's.

Judge Cant in district court has refused to set aside the personal injury verdict of $4,000 allowed Mary E. McInerny against the St. Luke's Hospital association by a jury at the March term and in an opinion handed down today draws some fine lines as to how far charitable organizations may be held liable in personal injury cases.

Mrs. McInerny on Oct. 21, 1910, had her right hand crushed in a mangle in the laundry of St. Luke's hospital, where she was employed. She sued to recover $15,000 damages. The jury which heard the testimony allowed her $4,000. The hospital association, defendant, moved to set aside the verdict and enter judgment for the defendant, notwithstanding the verdict. It was claimed that charitable organizations are exempt from liability.

In denying the motion, Judge Cant said among other things: "Such corporations render a great service to the public and should be favored, but their life is not so far in the balance as to require that they should be exempt from the consequences of the law. * * *Where a charitable organization has itself failed in the performance of a non-delegable duty, it is liable."

The court holds that an employe working at a mangle in a hospital has no less rights than if working at a mangle in a laundry nearby.

Personal injury cases, the court holds, may be instituted by patients; employes; those invited on the premises to perform temporary services or even by those not having any business with the institution whatever.

There are instances and circumstances, says JudgeCant, in which the hospital or charitable organization may be relieved from liability. The hospital cannot be held liable for the wrongful acts of its servants, but can be held liable for employing incompetent employes.

A hospital, says the court, is excused from liability when the relation of benefactor and beneficiary exists and there is a quasi-contract to relieve the hospital from responsibility.

In the case before the court, an injury to an employe is involved. Judge Cant finds that the injuries were not caused by the negligence of a servant but of the corporation itself in providing an instrumentality which the jury has found was not reasonably safe.

In this case, there is no relation of benefactor and beneficiary or no implied agreement releasing the hospital from liability under the Good Samaritan doctrine, says the court.

Judge Cant points out that hospitals, supported by the public bear the loss of breakage and fire, and sees no reason for refusing to allow judgment from being entered against them in a personal injury action.

John Jenswold, Jr., is attorney for the plaintiff and Baldwin & Baldwin represented the hospital association. The case may go to the supreme court for a final decision.

MARTIAL LAW IN WEST VIRGINIA

Striking Coal Miners Tear Up Tracks—Are Armed With Rifles.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Martial law was proclaimed in the strike-affected district along Vacant and Cabin creeks today. The territory is a mountainous stretch of about twenty miles from Kanawha river to the Fayette county line and about eight miles wide.

The decisive move was precipitated by the destruction of railroad property by the striking miners, who tore up tracks in an attempt to stop the shipment of coal. There are more than 5,000 strikers, all of whom are said to be armed with rifles.

The express office at Cabin Creek today was broken into and boxes of ammunition and rifles were broken open by the strikers, but before they could get away with them the militia put in an appearance and captured the loot. Two machine guns, 15,000 rounds of ammunition and more than 100 rifles consigned to a coal company, were confiscated.

All wires from the strike zone have been cut, and communication between the various military posts is impossible.

CALIFORNIA HAS PRIMARY

Will Decide Whether Taft or Roosevelt Is the Republican.

San Francosco, Cal., Sept. 3.—Taft and Roosevelt adherents turned out in force for the state-wide primary today. The balloting will determine which side will be entitled to the Republican designation at the November election. A full list of candidates for assemblymen and half of the state senators were to be nominated, these, with the holdover senators, to constitute the nominating convention for presidential electors.

Should the Roosevelt legislative ticket be successful, Roosevelt electors will run as Republicans in November; should the Taft men win, the Roosevelt electors will be compelled to find a place on the November ballots by petition as Progressives. A few local contests were in progress on the Democratic side, but no issue of a state-wide nature was presented.

IN PROBATE COURT

In order to satisfy the debts against the estate of Frank Banta, lumberman, who was accidentally killed last January near Brookston, Judge Gilpin in probate court today entered an order for the sale of the land owned by the deceased. Benta left about $500 cash and land worth about $1,000. His sole heir is a father, Peter Benta.

Archibald L. McDermid was appointed administrator of the estate of his late wife, Emma McDermid, who died, aged 55, on Feb. 22 last at their home, 4715 Cooke street, this city. She left but a small estate, which will be divided between a husband, two sons and one daughter.

Nils Swanson, who died at Superior in 1901, left forty acres of land in section 15, 51-17, this county, which will be divided by the probate court between Swanson's children, one of whom is a son, Ole, of Duluth. There are three others, daughters.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The police state that with one exception the local breweries have entered into an agreement to help stamp out the blind-pig evil.

"The Duluth Brewing & Malting company is the only one which has not entered into the agreement yet," said Chief C. A. Troyer this morning. President Reimer Hoch has been out of the city for several days.

The police have made three arrests of beer agents, within the last few days. John Brander was brought in last week and this morning Frank Chalverson and James Montgomery were arrested. All of them are charged with having sold liquor in quantities of less than five gallons without having first been licensed by the city council. All of them entered pleas of not guilty and their hearings are set for this afternoon.

It appears that the breweries have made their agreement as a business proposition. The attorney who is representing them asserts that they realize that public sentiment is so pronounced that they feel that their own best interests can best be conserved by aiding in a campaign to stamp out blind-pigs.

The breweries are naturally the chief source of supply for the "speakeasies." For years it has been pointed out that if they would refuse to sell them beer they would be compelled to go out of business.

"The information pleased me immensely when I learned of it," said Chief Troyer today. "The breweries probably can do more than all other agencies put together to put the blind-pigs out of existence. Without beer they cannot do business and if the agreement is lived up to, and I believe it will be, the city will shortly be rid of a decided nuisance and one which it is difficult to reach."

Byron Webster, a negro porter, 30 years old, was arrested in Superior yesterday on a charge of having violated the federal white slave statutes. He is alleged to have taken Mabel England, a white girl, from Wisconsin to Minnesota for immoral purposes. He was brought to Duluth and turned over to Deputy United States Marshal George Mallory this morning. It is expected that he will be arraigned this afternoon.

Four foreigners feel very much aggrieved because they were arrested yesterday on charges of gambling. They declare that they were only playing "smear" for pop when the police swooped down upon them. They explain that the man who lost was "stuck" for pop for the crowd. They gave their names as John Haapanen, Mike Maki, Pete Koljonen and Isaac Lehto. They pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court this morning and their trials were set for this afternoon.

Andrew Myers, Gothald Stenstrom and John Olson pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having violated the game laws by hunting ducks before the opening of the season. They were caught Sunday by Game Warden Tom Storey. Each of them paid a $25 fine.

Clarence S. Paulson, a new member of the police force, is about to join the army of benedicts. He took out a marriage license this morning.

Joe Stone and John Polk were arrested yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct. The police reported that they were fighting in a West Michigan street saloon. They pleaded guilty in police court this morning and got $5 or five days in the county jail.

The automobile of Dr. J. D. Park caught fire on the road outside of Lester Park yesterday afternoon. No. 6 department was summoned and extinguished the blaze with chemicals but not before the body of the handsome car had been practically destroyed. It is asserted that the loss will be close to $1,000.

1,000 KILLED IN BATTLE IN CHINA

Seven Hundred Mongolians Captured By Gen. Chao Lin.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—"Governor Chao Erh-Hsun of Manchuria has telegraphed to the government," says a dispatch from Pekin, China, to the Chicago Daily News, "that Gen. Chao Lin attacked a large force of Mongolians near Tonanfu, defeating them after a twelve hour engagement. The Mongolians lost 1,000 killed and 700 were taken prisoners."

Rheumatism
A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT.

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. If, after you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it; one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

ILLINOISANS DO NOT HEAR TEDDY

Condition of His Throat Compels Him to Give Up Plans.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 3.—On account of the condition of his throat, Col. Roosevelt was obliged to give up a speaking tour through Southern Illinois which had been planned for him today. Frank Funk of Bloomington, Ill., Progressive candidate for governor, and Chauncey Dewey of Chicago, one of the Illinois Progressive leaders, boarded the colonel's train at Indianapolis and informed him they had engaged a special train for him, which was waiting at Terre Haute.

He was expected to speak at Paris, Mattoon, Pana, Shelbyville and Hillsboro. The colonel said he could not undertake the trip, but would speak at Mattoon, where his train stopped, without boarding the special train.

The colonel was greeted by a large crowd at the station when his train arrived at 11:40. He shook hands with all who could reach him during the ten minutes stop, but said he was too hoarse to attempt to speak. Raising a large bouquet of flowers, the present of a woman in the crowd, the former president elicited cheers which continued until his train moved away.

FULLERTON OPENS FISHERIES MEETING.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 3.—Delegates from practically every state in the Union were present today at the opening of the fortieth annual convention of the American Fisheries society. Members of the United States fish bureaus also were present. A resolution protesting against the United States forestry bureau's ruling placing a tax per acre on lakes operated by private fishing concerns was scheduled to be submitted. President S. F. Fullerton of St. Paul called the convention to order.

WOULD INDORSE REPUBLICANS

Nebraska Progressives May Not Put Up State Ticket.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 3.—With Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California, vice presidential nominee on the Progressive national ticket, as the principal attraction, the Nebraska state convention of the third party convened today. The California executive arrived this morning and was tendered a non-partisan reception. Afterward he breakfasted with Governor Aldrich.

It was decided at a meeting of the third party leaders last night to indorse the state candidates of the Republican party without exception, provided the candidates were desirous of such indorsement by the Progressive convention. A committee was appointed to interview the candidates today and ascertain their desires in this regard.

It also was decided to nominate W. O. Henry of Omaha and O. J. Smith of Kearney for presidential electors to take the place of the two electors nominated on the Republican ticket who favor the candidacy of President Taft. The remaining six Republican electors, who are favorable to Theodore Roosevelt, will be indorsed along with the state candidates.

WILL BUILD COKE OVENS

Expects Local Ovens to Have Capacity of 2,000 Tons Daily.

W. R. Pendry and wife arrived here this morning from Gary, Ind., and are stopping at the Spalding for the present.

Mr. Pendry is in the employ of the United States Steel corporation and has been brought here to look after the construction work on the coke plant which will be put up at Gary. Mr. Pendry said this morning that he knows nothing about the details of the plant for he has not yet seen the plans. He knows, merely, that he has been transferred to this point from Gary, Ind., to work on the construction.

Asked as to the probable size of the local plant he said that while he knows nothing about it, he would not expect it to be of more than 2,000 tons daily capacity. That of Gary, Ind., the largest in the world, has a capacity of 10,000 tons daily and the one in Joliet, Ill., which was the largest prior to the construction of the Gary plant, has a capacity of 4,500 tons daily. To begin with, Mr. Pendry believes a coking plant of 2,000 tons daily capacity at this point will be ample. A coking plant transforms coal into coke to be used in the making of pig iron in the blast furnaces.

BETTER NEWS OF NICARAGUA

Decided Improvement in Conditions Reported to Washington.

Washington, Sept. 3.—A decided improvement in conditions in Nicaragua was indicated by cablegrams to the navy department today from Rear Admiral Southerland. It is believed the navy soon will have the situation well in hand, as far as the control of lines of communication between Managua and Corinto is concerned.

The supply ships Prometheus and Glacier, which arrived at Corinto from San Francisco a day or two ago, have proceeded northward to Amapala, on the Gulf of Fonseca. This is the cable station beyond the Nicaraguan territorial limits and only a daylight run from Corinto, where the American fleet is making its station. It is believed that better communication by cable will be established by this route than by way of San Juan del Sur.

SEPTEMBER TERM HEAVY

Long List of Cases on the District Court Calendar.

With the call of the calendar by Judge Cant tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, the September term of the district court will be opened. The grand jury will report before Judge Cant at 11 o'clock, and after receiving instructions, will go into session for the consideration of such matters as the county attorney may present.

After the call of the calendar, the four judges will give their attention to the divorce grist, which is somewhat larger than usual this year. Thirty-nine cases will be disposed of, most of them before the regular civil jury cases or criminal actions are tried. The divorce cases that are postponed will go over to the latter part of the term or will be continued to the next term.

The civil calendar has 291 cases this term. The criminal grist will depend on the number of indictments returned by the grand jury. The number of cases will probably not be much larger than usual.

HOW GRAIN IS HANDLED

Precautions Taken By Duluth Board to Protect the Farmer.

Secretary Explains Routine Through Which the Shipments Must Go.

"A great many shippers in the country tributary to Duluth and a much larger number of farmers," said Charles F. Macdonald, secretary of the Duluth Board of Trade, today, "know little about the way in which the grain is handled on the grain exchange. The Duluth Board of Trade a year ago inaugurated a system of requiring all members of the Board who send traveling representatives into the country to secure a license from the Board. This license has only been issued after the applicant has made a personal appearance before the membership committee and undergone an examination.

"The line of questioning followed has been to determine whether or not the applicant was familiar with the purposes for which grain exchanges are organized, the methods and conditions under which grain is handled on grain exchanges, and in general to ascertain his knowledge of the grain business. It has been the experience of the Board, that while all traveling men are entirely familiar with the country end of the business, a very great number of them, perhaps the majority, had a decidedly hazy idea of conditions in a terminal market, and could tell the country men very little about how their grain was handled at the terminal market.

"All grain is inspected and weighed by the inspection department of the state of Minnesota, under the control of the railroad and warehouse commission. The Duluth Board of Trade has absolutely nothing to do with it. A car of grain, coming from the country, is stopped at the sampling point. One on the Great Northern road is at Cass Lake and another is at Sandstone; on the Northern Pacific there is one at Staples and on the Soo there is one at Thief River Falls and another at Glenwood. The car is entered by a state sampler, who obtains a sample of the grain in that car by probing it as many times as are necessary to procure a correct sample. The sampler also takes the number of the seal he breaks and examines the car for leakages.

Samples Taken.

"The Duluth sampling bureau has men at each of these points, and after the state sampler has left the car, one of its men enters and also probes the grain to obtain a correct sample. Following this, the car is resealed with the state seal, the number of which is recorded.

"These samples are expressed to Duluth, the state sample to the state inspection office in the Duluth Board of Trade building and the Duluth sampling bureau samples are distributed by that institution to the commission men to whom the cars are consigned.

"The state inspectors know nothing of the identity of the cars except by the car number. The sampling bureau man has, of course, received from the commission men the manifestoes of cars consigned to them. When the state inspector has placed the grade and dockage upon a car, if it is not satisfactory to the commission man, he calls for a reinspection, when the chief deputy inspector will pass upon the car. If still unsatisfactory, he appeals and the three members of the state board of grain appeals will pass upon the grade and dockage.

"The commission man in the meantime has compared the samples the state is using with that obtained independently of the state by the sampling bureau for his use. If he finds the samples different, he calls for a resampling of the car and the new sample goes through the process of inspection. If still dissatisfied he can place the car in a special bin in the elevator and a 'run' sample is taken.

"Of course not every car that comes to the market goes through the entire process, but the commission man is at all times on the job, fighting for the best grade and dockage that he can get on the grain consigned to him.

"After the grain is sold, it is ordered to an elevator. The unloading and weighing are done under supervision of the state of Minnesota. Before the elevator men do anything with the car, the state man examines it for leakages, takes the seal numbers and makes note if seals are missing or broken. After the car has been unloaded he examines the car to see that all the grain has been taken out, and then examines the 'boot' to see that all the grain has been elevated to the scales, which are at the top of the house. He then gives the signal to the man above that the car may be weighed. The upstairs man then records the weight of the car.

"A great many men familiar with the grain business have examined this system of weighing and have been asked to show wherein it can be improved and to indicate where there is any chance that the owner of the grain can lose any part of it, and none has ever been able to show wherein there is any possibility of the grain being taken from the owner and converted to that belonging to the elevator.

"If all people could come to the market and see how this is done, there would be a different general impression about the manner in which the grain is handled."

NOTABLE FABRIC EXHIBITION

The Glass Block Store Devotes Entire Store Front to Displays of Silks and Dress Goods.

A notable exhibition of the new fall silks, dress goods and dress trimmings is now being given by the Glass Block Store, the entire nine big display windows of the store front being given over to the displays of latest fall weaves and colors in the favored fabrics.

These windows evince at a glance a mastery of the art of artistic draping and a comprehensive exhibit of the fashion-favored silks, velvets, suitings and coatings which will be of great interest to women who follow the trend of fashions.

In three of the windows are shown rich brocaded and charmeuse silks. Figures draped in various suggestions of the panier styles, which are the keynote of women's dress fashions this season, give in a clever way a good suggestion of how the materials and trimmings will appear when made up. In other windows, suitings and coatings are attractively draped upon figures in such a way as to give very good suggestion of the tailored lines in finished garments. Another window is devoted to an attractive display of fine velvets and costume cords.

These displays are in many ways among the most remarkable ever shown on Superior street, both from a standpoint of the excellent collection of domestic and imported fabrics and trimmings and from the artistic manner in which they have been draped.

In the silk and dress goods salons also special displays of the new fall goods are being made this week and the exhibition is one of vast interest to the public which is cordially invited to attend this week.

SPECIAL IS CALLED OFF

Duluthians Prefer to Go to State Fair When They Please.

The special train for Duluth day at the state fair has been called off.

The efforts of the Commercial club to organize a party to make the trip to the state fair for Duluth day have proved unsuccessful.

This afternoon, stock was taken. It was found that the people going to the fair prefer to go their own way at their own time, so the special train was called off.

Duluth will be well represented at the fair tomorrow and every day this week. The railroads report a heavy sale of tickets from Duluth, but the people did not take kindly to the special train idea. Those wishing to spend only one day at the fair prefer to go at night, and spend the whole day. It was intended to start the special train at 7 o'clock in the morning, arriving at St. Paul at about 11 o'clock.

Duluth has been honored by the designation of Duluth day at the fair for the first time this year and Duluth is expected to show its appreciation by sending a big crowd.

The St. Louis county exhibit is one of the big attractions at the fair. Moving pictures of farm scene and open pit mining operations are given in a setting of an agricultural exhibit that cannot be exceeded for excellence and variety anywhere. Duluth people always take a lively interest in the fair and the setting aside of Duluth day was in appreciation of that fact.

DOCTOR FOR THE INDIANS

Duluth Physician Will Look After Red Men at Nett Lake.

Congressman Miller Also Working on Mille Lacs Problem.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller was unable to obtain the adoption of his bill for a tuberculosis hospital for Indians at the recent session of congress, but he believes it will go through at the session opening in December.

Last year Mr. Miller, who is a member of the house committee on Indian affairs, conducted a personal investigation of the Indians in Minnesota. He found them suffering from disease, living in squalor in many places and ravaged by tuberculosis. One of the first remedial steps that should be taken by the government, in his opinion, is the erection of a tuberculosis hospital at some central point. His bill, introduced at the recent session, failed of adoption largely on account of opposition by the Indian department. The opposition was based on the fact that provision was made for state and federal co-operation, while the Indian department wanted complete control.

As a result of the same investigation, conducted last year, Mr. Miller has secured the appointment of Dr. L. M. Brunet of Duluth as physician for the Indians at Nett Lake. Dr. Brunet is a veteran practicing physician with a lively interest in the Indian question and a real sympathy for the Indian.

Mr. Miller found the Indians at Nett Lake suffering from all forms of disease. They had not had surgical attendance for anything. They were practicing the old rites of the medicine man with poor success. They were in actual need of daily attendance from a skilled physician. Two or three physicians have been appointed under civil service rules, but they remained only a few months, being without interest in the work.

Dr. Brunet was finally appointed without reference to civil service. He will take up the work shortly, with the enthusiasm of a man interested in the Indian.

Civil Service Doctors.

"Two grades of physicians are obtained by civil service examinations," said Mr. Miller, this morning. "One is the young physician just out of school with book knowledge. The other is the old physician who hasn't any real interest in the work but takes the civil service examinations in order to get a berth for old age.

"Neither class is suitable to Indian work. I believe physicians for that work should be sought out as Dr. Brunet was sought out. He has practiced in Duluth for thirty years. He has an excellent medical education. He has studied the Indian and knows his needs. He will start a work that I believe will reach to every Indian reservation in the United States. The Indian cannot be handled by machine methods. Sympathy with the cause and interest in it are necessary, and Dr. Brunet has both."

Mr. Miller will go to Mille Lacs county soon to investigate another vexatious Indian problem. Some twenty years ago, a bill was passed in congress providing for the transferance of the Mille Lacs Indians to the White Earth reservation, and for the ceding of their lands for sale by the government. The Mille Lacs Indians are under the leadership of old Chief Wadena. They are the same Indians whose forefathers under old Chief Hole-in-the-day were the most powerful of the Chippewa tribe.

They are forest Indians, not prairie Indians, and when they were taken to the White Earth reservation and placed on prairie land, they promptly walked back to the home of their fathers at Mille Lacs. They have been moved several times, and some of them have remained at White Earth, but the majority have drifted back to the woods, streams and lakes of Mille Lacs. Their lands have been ceded away, and they are now squatters, harassed by land owners, sheriffs and courts.

This summer a report came to Congressman Miller that the Mille Lacs Indians were starving. He notified the Indian department, and an investigator was sent to make an examination of their condition. He found them in bad shape, and after issuing rations, he reported to the Indian bureau and recommended that the government purchase sufficient land to re-establish the tribe officially on their old hunting grounds. Protests were immediately offered by land men and others interested in Mille Lacs county. The Indians refuse to move to White Earth and the government must make some provision for them. Congressman Miller will go to Mille Lacs and investigate, on behalf of the committee on Indian affairs, and will recommend some solution of the problem.

THE public is growing more and more responsive to good advertising. And no advertising is good unless it tells the truth. Misrepresentation has no place in the business world today. Advertisers long ago recognized the fact that advertising that is not true is a detriment to the goods advertised. Consumers can depend upon the printed salesman to tell them the truth—an advertiser cannot do anything else. Read the ads and demand the goods from your dealer.

MUST WAIT FIVE DAYS

Season for Ducks and Prairie Chicken Will Open Sept. 7.

Ducks Are Said to Be Plentiful on St. Louis River.

HUNTING SEASONS.

Ducks, geese or any aquatic fowl, Sept. 7 to Dec. 1.
Prairie chicken, grouse, woodcock, plover, snipe, Sept. 7 to Nov. 7.
Deer and moose, Nov. 10 to Nov. 30.

Eager nimrods will have to restrain their hunting ambitions for five days more. Then they may turn loose on the ducks, and may, if they wish, go away from home to get prairie chickens. In regard to the latter, however, they must be careful not to mistake partridges for prairie chicken or Tom Storey is likely to butt in and there will be consequences.

The season for aquatic fowl, such as duck—the most important to the average hunter—will open on Sept. 7, which will be next Saturday, and on that day also prairie chicken may be shot if they can be found. For the water fowl, hunting will be good until Dec. 1 but for the others the season for which opens next Saturday the shooting must stop Nov. 7. The season for partridge, quail and ruffed grouse does not open until Oct. 1 and closes on Dec. 1. Of course the big game season comes later.

The law is very specific in regard to what a hunter may do in the way of shooting, and this year, it is claimed, game wardens will be more vigilant and greater in number than usual. It is desired that the slaughter should not be too general for the reason that the matter of game has reached the point now where the problem is one of conservation. In some classes of fowl the condition is serious and practical annihilation has occurred.

This year ducks are plentiful, and St. Louis river is said to be one of their favorite feeding grounds. It is expected that the vicinity of Duluth, therefore, will be the scene of a promiscuous bombardment at the birds; in fact some pot hunters have already started it, and a few of them have been arrested. As to the law-abiding hunters, they are all cleaning up their guns as one man these days, and it is likely that a few minutes after 12 o'clock of Friday night the killing will begin.

So far as the amount one may shoot is concerned, the law prescribes that as to fowl of all kinds guarded in any way by law, no person shall in any one day take or kill more than fifteen birds nor have in his possession at any one time more than 45 of any except water fowl of which one may have 50.

In all cases of game shooting, the possessor may have five days following the closing of the season to ship the game in his possession anywhere within the limits of the state.

JOHNSON SAYS HE IS SURPRISED

Criticizes Wilson's Opposition to Minimum Wage Idea.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 3.—Woodrow Wilson's criticism of the minimum wage scale feature of the Progressive platform brought a sharp retort last night from Governor Hiram Johnson, speaking here in Convention hall. The candidate for vice president on the Progressive ticket said Governor Wilson had failed to comprehend the question he discussed.

"I read with surprise the speech of the Democratic candidate for president, in which he denounced the minimum wage for women," Governor Johnson said. "I ask you, did the tired woman who labors for a meager wage, or the employer who makes it necessary for her to toil for this unsatisfactory sum, rejoice when they read that statement?

"It is apparent that the candidate who made that utterance lacks an understanding of the particular evil which we seek to remedy."

Heavy rain, lightning and thunder storms drove the governor to cover soon after he began to speak at Topeka. But once under shelter he defied the wet and thunder. At the close of the address, which was devoted to labor, a body of labor leaders who said they were of both parties assured the governor of their support. Governor Stubbs of Kansas and William Allen White of Emporia, Kan., also spoke. Governor Johnson left last night for Lincoln, Neb.

NELSON AND "INTERESTS"

Claims That He Was Responsible for Whitewashing of Ballinger.

James A. Peterson read the record on Senator Knute Nelson to a fair sized audience at Foresters' hall last night.

The Minneapolis man, who is Nelson's opponent for the Republican nomination for the senate, declared that during his eighteen years' service, Nelson has always stood against the people on questions in which interests of corporations were involved.

Various parts of Senator Nelson's public record were covered by the speaker. He went deeply into the Ballinger incident, explaining its importance to the people, and told of the investigation conducted by the committee of which Senator Nelson was the head. He declared that when the committee met in Minneapolis to formulate its report, Nelson deliberately left the meeting when he discovered that Ballinger's friends were not in the majority. He said that Nelson was primarily responsible for the whitewash of Ballinger.

Nelson's opposition to the La Follette amendment to the commerce court act, providing that no judge should be appointed to the court if he was in any way pecuniarily interested in railroads, was severely criticized.

Mr. Peterson also discussed the Overman amendment, which provided that no state act could be suspended except after three justices, one of whom should be a justice of the supreme court, had heard the application. Senator Nelson opposed the amendment, and the commodity law of Minnesota has been suspended for years in consequence of its failure of adoption, Mr. Peterson said.

The packers' immunity bath, which the speaker charged up to Senator Nelson, creates the principle of "one law for the big crooks and one law for the small crooks," Peterson said. He condemned Nelson's opposition to the La Follette provision for the physical valuation of railroads, to the telephone and telegraph anti-frank law, to the admission of Arizona as a state with the recall of judges in its constitution, to a law to prevent the watering of the stock of the Lake Erie & Ohio Ship Canal company and to a child labor law in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Peterson declared that Senator Nelson is out of touch with Progressive sentiment and that Minnesota as a Progressive state should not return him to the senate.

JOHN LIND PRAISES SWEDEN'S ADVANCE

Former Governor and Family Return From Trip in Europe.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3.—Former Governor John Lind returned yesterday with his family from Europe, after a tour beginning May 8 and extending into England, France, Germany, Holland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark. They were in Stockholm during the Olympic games, and enjoyed the spectacle of the American triumph, while Mr. Lind was also pleased at the showing of the Swedish athletes. It was his first visit to his native land since he left it a boy of 12.

"My principal impression on returning to Sweden," said Mr. Lind, "is that the country is so much in advance of what we have been led to expect. We have been told that in railways and in business the countries of Europe are far behind us, but such is not the case. They are abreast of us in many things, and ahead of us in some.

Care of People Noteworthy.

"I was especially impressed with the care of people in the cities, as to sanitation and living conditions. In the cities of continental Europe which we visited, there are no slums and no begging. Houses are not allowed to be occupied by a tenant until they have been inspected and pronounced habitable. This condition does not prevail in England, but in the continental countries it was everywhere apparent that, compared with America, they have spent more time in taking care of people and less in piling up dollars.

"Of course, it is difficult to make any comparison between Europe and America, because in so many things America excels, and the conditions are so vastly different.

Dined With American Athletes.

"We enjoyed the Olympic games, and met the American athletes on the Finland, where we took dinner once with the boys, and once with Capt. Thompson. They are a fine lot of fellows."

Mr. Lind was accompanied by Mrs. Lind, their two daughters, Miss Jennie and Miss Winifred, and their younger son, John. All returned except Miss Jennie, who remains in Germany for a longer stay.

Mr. Lind is to be entertained by his Democratic friends of St. Paul at a Woodrow Wilson dinner. He received their invitation on landing at Quebec, and informed the committee yesterday that any date they may fix after Sept. 5 will be acceptable to him.

KNOW POTTER'S WOMAN FRIEND

Brother and Sister of Dead Sculptor Give Statement on the Case.

Chatham, Mass. Sept. 3.—Mrs. Mary Potter and Hugh Potter, brother of Louis Potter, the sculptor who died in Seattle last week while under treatment by a Chinese physician, have given out a statement bearing upon the mysterious circumstances of his death.

It is first explained that Mr. Potter was always interested in the investigation of the occult sciences, "and was for some time under the influence of such teachings, but of late had utterly abandoned them as harmful and of no value." Last winter he investigated the teachings of Dr. J. E. Collinge, who was then lecturing on philosophy in New York. "Mr. Potter's sole aim in all his study" it is stated, "was to arrive at some higher spiritual insight, which might enable him to carry out his art conceptions."

Last July, while suffering annoyance from a skin disease, he went to Vancouver, "party for a rest, and partly to pursue his studies with Dr. Collinge there."

Identify the Woman.

The statement continues:

"The woman whose name is connected with the last sad chapter of Mr. Potter's life, is the private secretary and banking agent of Dr. Collinge, whom Mr. Potter met for the first time in New York last winter. She and Dr. Collinge accompanied Mr. Potter from Vancouver to Seattle, a day or two previous to the treatment by the Chinese doctor. Without a doubt the woman was to act as friend and nurse during the treatment, and she remained with him to the end.

"Mr. Potter's various ventures in the occult had been something of a joke to his family, and it is undoubtedly this fact which led him to avoid publicity in registering under another name, as well as that of the woman in question. No relative or friend of Mr. Potter, who knew him well, and knew his high aims and pure life, suspect him of any deviation from the standard which he had always set for himself.

Would-be Kidnaper Dies.

Wellington, Kan., Sept. 3.—Samuel V. Wood, who killed James Thompson and seriously injured Matt Manahan near Belle Palaine, Kan., two weeks ago while trying to kidnap Manahan's daughter, died at a hospital yesterday. He shot himself three times when overtaken by a posse of farmers. The wounds caused blood poison.

MADERO BACKED BY OIL INTERESTS

Senator Fall Also Says American Troops Were to Oust Diaz.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 3.—United States Senator A. B. Fall, who is investigating whether American money helped recent Mexican revolutions, says he believes that the Madero revolution was backed by certain American oil interests. He claimed to know "the day and the place the money was put up."

He claimed that "while President Taft did not know" their purpose, 20,000 American troops were gathered near the Mexican border to put Diaz out of Mexico.

This news was communicated to President Diaz and caused him to leave Mexico, Senator Fall continued.

At the Garfield Park Baptist church a large chandelier was broken and scores of candlesticks, prayer books and other articles were broken.

KANSAS CASE ARGUED.

Electoral Question Taken Under Advisement By Sanborn.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 3. — Judge Frank Sanborn of the federal court here late Monday took under advisement the temporary restraining order case in which an attempt is being made to prevent Charles Sessions, secretary of state of Kansas, from certifying to county clerks of Kansas the names of eight presidential electors who have declared in favor of Theodore Roosevelt for president.

D. R. Hite, who opened the case for the plaintiffs, argued that so long as the names of eight electors were obtained by irregular methods, they had no right to be placed on the regular Republican ticket.

John Dawson, attorney general of Kansas, asked the court for an opinion as to whether the names of Roosevelt and Johnson and Taft and Sherman could be placed on the same ticket.

Stewart, one of the electors, stated he did not declare at any time, nor did the supporters claim that he would support President Taft as the Republican nominee, but that he concluded that he could not conscientiously vote for Mr. Taft for president, nor Sherman for vice president, in view of the methods adopted for their nomination at the Chicago convention.

PRAYERS FOR ITALIAN ARMY

Meeting at St. Peter's Church Addressed By Priest and Consul.

Contribution Is Sent to the Italian Red Cross Society.

Praying for their relatives in the Turko-Italian war and giving thanks for the success of the Italian army during the past eight months, the members of St. Peter's Italian Catholic church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street, held a solemn prayer service last evening.

The church was packed to the doors by Italian residents of the city, who had come to pray for the Italian army now in conflict with the Turks. Rev. John Zarilli, pastor of the church, said solemn high mass and was assisted by several visiting pastors of the city and Superior. Dr. Zarilli spoke briefly of the heroism of the Italian soldiers, commending their bravery and faithful celebration of the daily religious rites.

The entry and inner walls of the church were decorated with Italian flags and motto cards. Stacked rifles and bayonets were placed about the room, giving the place a martial appearance and making a fit setting for such a service. Atilio Castigliano, representing the Italian crown in Duluth, attended the services and occupied a seat in the section reserved for the members of the St. Joseph's Italian Brotherhood.

As many of the members of the church have relatives fighting under the Italian flag, Rev. Dr. Zarilli prayed for their safety and for an early end of the war. He also spoke on the results of the war, should Turkey be defeated, declaring that the Turkish nation will benefit by being brought in touch with civilization and religion.

At the close of the services contributions amounting to $60 were received for the benefit of the Italian Red Cross society. The money will be forwarded at once in the name of the Duluth Italians to the society's headquarters at Rome and will become a part of the relief fund now being raised by the Italians throughout the world.

RETURN TO THEIR STUDIES

Nearly 5,000 West End Children Resume Their School Work.

Nearly 5,000 children started school this morning in the West end schools.

Although the total number is merely estimated by the various principals of the schools, it is believed that the attendance this year will be the largest in the history of Duluth. The West end has a larger attendance than any other section in the city. The largest attendance is at the Bryant school.

During the past vacation the buildings have been remodeled and the grounds improved. Several of the stagnant pools in the vicinity of the Ensign and Monroe schools have been removed. A drinking fountain has also been installed in front of the Ensign school, Twenty-third avenue west and Tenth street.

ACCEPTS CALL TO BUHL CHURCH

Rev. B. B. Hanscome, who has been in charge of the Clements Mission M. E. church, 830 Garfield avenue, will leave tomorrow for Buhl, Minn., where he has accepted a call from the Methodist Episcopal church. He will preach his first sermon there next Sunday morning.

Mr. Hanscome took charge of the Garfield Mission last June, following the death of the former pastor, Rev. J. A. Roberts. The work was only temporary as Mr. Hanscome had planned to return to Hamline university for a special course leading to a degree of doctor of divinity. It is understood that the Buhl offering is a flattering one and that Rev. Mr. Hanscome has for the present given up his plan of returning to the university.

The congregation of the Garfield church will hold a business meeting this week to arrange for a successor to Rev. Mr. Hanscome. During his charge, Mr. Hanscome made a number of friends both among the church people and residents of the West end.

WELFARE BOARD WORK.

Hillsiders Will Discuss New Organization and Campaign for Fire Hall

John Stone Pardee, secretary of the board of public welfare, will outline the work of the board for the coming year at a meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club to be held this evening at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street.

Following the address by Mr. Pardee the members of the club will begin an agitation for a fire hall in the vicinity of the schoolhouse. The protection against fire on the hillside is inadequate at present and the campaign for the hall will be placed in the hands of a committee to be appointed this evening. The members of the club want the fire hall located on Sixth street, between Ninth and Eleventh avenues west.

Annual Rally Day.

Plans for the annual rally day, Sept. 15, will be made tomorrow evening by the Epworth league and the Young People's Society of the Grace M. E. church at a meeting to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Blood, 305 North Twenty-second avenue west. Following the business meeting a social hour will be enjoyed.

Hanson Funeral.

The funeral of the 3-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Hanson, 1609 Michigan street, who died Saturday evening after a short illness, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street. Interment was at the Park Hill cemetery.

STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Failing to notice an approaching westbound car, William Benson stepped from behind an east bound car at Twenty-second avenue west and Superior street early last evening and was struck a glancing blow by the approaching car, which knocked him unconscious to the pavement.

When picked up by several eye witnesses, Benson was bleeding about the head and shoulders, where he had received several large wounds. He was immediately rushed to St. Luke's hospital, where his condition this morning is reported improving. He is expected to recover within the next three weeks.

Benson was crossing the street behind an east bound car and stepped directly in front of the west bound car, which was almost on Benson before he realized the situation. Although the motorman attempted to stop the car, Benson was struck a glancing blow, which knocked him to the pavement. He recovered consciousness after being taken to the hospital, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Frank Lynam.

CHANGE MINDS ON PAVING QUESTION.

The following committee of property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue west will appear before the board of public works to request a silica concrete pavement instead of tar macadam: Alderman William Bernard, John Moir, Peter Grignon and David Carroll.

The property owners originally asked for a tar macadam pavement and since the bids were opened by the board of public works, a number have changed their minds about the material and are now anxious to have a silica pavement. The engineering department has placed the cost of the pavement at $16,000, the bids for which are all within that estimate.

It is proposed to build a 24-foot pavement from Michigan street to Fifth street. The part between the curb and sidewalk will be parked and the property owners will plant trees along the avenue.

Sorensen Funeral.

The funeral of the 3-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Sorensen, 224 East Eighth street, who died late Saturday evening, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence. Interment was at the Park Hill cemetery.

The Young People's society of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, held a business meeting in the church parlors last evening.

CHICAGO OPENS WAR ON RECKLESS DRIVERS.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Reckless automobilists, whose disregard for law and speed regulations have resulted in six deaths within a few weeks, are to be as vigorously prosecuted in the future as murderers, hold up men and other criminals. City and county officials have joined hands in an effort to stop "joy-riding" in the streets, endangering the lives of pedestrians and the occupants of other vehicles.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Max Bloom in "The Sunny Side of Broadway."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

"PRINCE OF TONIGHT."

Labor Day Attraction at the Lyceum Pleases Large Audience.

The Labor day matinee and night performance at the Lyceum was a delightfully entertaining musical comedy, full of fun from first to last, containing many exquisite vocal numbers and set forth with the most elaborate scenic effects. The company was a large one and the costumes were many and frequently unique and fantastic. The audience was large and showed much enthusiasm by the frequent bursts of laughter and applause.

The comedy was "The Prince of Tonight," by Adams, Hough and Howard, presented by the Le Comte & Flesher company. The story is a fairy tale of love and trouble with a happy ending. The gorgeous scenery and costumes, together with the light effects were aptly in keeping with the supernatural features of the odd but interesting tale. A young lover, who has been rebuffed, seeks and obtains the aid of a multi-centenarian gardener, who by means of the wonderful power given by the blooming of his century plant, bestows wealth and power on the young man, enabling him to turn the tables on the disdainful object of his affection and compel her to play the role of the seeker instead of being the sought one. There is a final union of the two and the play ends as happily as could be desired.

Return Engagement.

Max Bloom opened this afternoon in a return engagement at the Lyceum in "The Sunny Side of Broadway," and Duluth will have another opportunity to see Mr. Bloom and his funny dancing horse. There will be two performances tonight at 8 and 9:30 and three performances tomorrow at 2:30, 8 and 9:30 and the prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents.

"Bought and Paid For."

Owing to the many inquiries for "Bought and Paid For," which William A. Brady, Ltd., will present at the Lyceum theater for the entire week starting Sunday, Sept. 8, Manager Marshall has about decided to open the sale of seats one day earlier than usual.

As this noted success will not be presented in the nearby cities a number of theater parties from out-of-town will attend the performance at the Lyceum, as they have already made requests for a number of the best seats. It is safe to say that "Bought and Paid For" is the biggest dramatic triumph produced in recent years and that it will establish a new record for long engagements in theatrical history is a foregone conclusion. It is promised that the New York cast and production will be seen in Duluth. The cast musters such artists as Diva Marelda, Josephine Drake, Gertrude Rudd, George MacQuarrie, Hobert Cavanaugh, Adrian Roseley, Arthur Wood and others of importance.

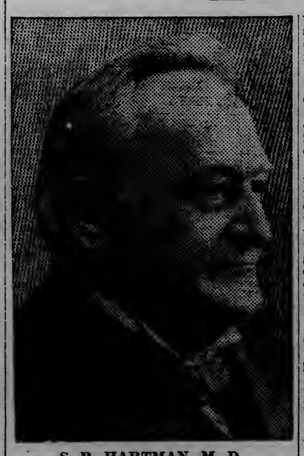

MINNESOTA WILL BENEFIT.

Eastern Potato Crop Is Reported Less Than Usual.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—Minnesota farmers are going to make a lot of money out of potatoes this year, according to statements made this morning at the state fair grounds by Prof. G. P. Grout of the Jean Duluth stock farm and visitors from other parts of the state.

The farmers are all glorying in an excellent potato crop, but Prof. Grout has news which will make them even gladder. He has been corresponding with Eugene Grub, probably the premier authority on potatoes in this country, according to this expert the potato crop in New York and New Jersey and in fact all along the Atlantic coast has been diseased and will be poor. The East is looking to the West, Mr. Grub wrote, and Minnesota is being named especially as the source of a big part of the potato supply this year.

Dr. Hartman Answers Questions About The Revised Pe-ru-na

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

In response to a great many queries I wish to make public statement concerning the sale of Pe-ru-na.

No, we are not selling as much Pe-ru-na as we used to. The reason for this is the change in the formula of Pe-ru-na.

The patent medicine business is very peculiar and particular. A person who has been in the habit of taking patent medicine will notice very quickly the slightest alteration in color, taste or effect. It does not look as it used to, or smell as it used to, or have exactly the same taste as it used to. It does not feel exactly the same in the stomach as before. The medicine will be promptly returned to the drug store and a new bottle demanded.

All this I knew before I changed the formula of Pe-ru-na, which I did six years ago, but did not realize the difficulty of overcoming the people's notions on this subject.

I made a change in the formula of Pe-ru-na. Quite a radical change. A change that altered the color and the taste and somewhat the medicinal effect of Pe-ru-na. I did this believing it was the best thing to do under the circumstances.

Immediately the change appeared, the people began to complain of Pe-ru-na. They generally thought the druggist was to blame, that their bottle of Pe-ru-na had been tampered with. This made bad feelings between the users of Pe-ru-na and the druggists. The druggists in some cases became irritated and angered and made complaint to the wholesalers and manufacturers. Thus the trade was temporarily in an uproar.

After a year of explanation the trade quieted down and the new Pe-ru-na took its place in the drug stores as a popular household remedy. And yet it has not attained the popularity that the other Pe-ru-na had. Changing the formula of Pe-ru-na was equivalent to introducing a new medicine into the drug trade, an extremely difficult thing to do now-a-days.

Pe-ru-na as it is made today is a very excellent remedy for catarrh and general catarrhal ailment. It is for sale in all drug stores and has a slight laxative effect, very much needed in these days. It seemed to me that it was in many ways a better remedy than before. Yet in spite of all explanations there is a considerable demand for the old Pe-ru-na as it used to be made.

I have authorized the formation of a company to manufacture it, under the trade name of Ka-tar-no. The Katar-no Co. is located in Columbus, Ohio, and stands ready to supply the trade with the old-time formula of Pe-ru-na under the name of Katar-no.

erence to the court of arbitration at The Hague, but the method of submitting it to that tribunal has not been decided upon.

The foreign office throughout has been outspoken in its conversations with representatives of the press in the statement that arbitration is the only possible course.

May Await Election.

Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, and other members of the British cabinet have been scattered all over the United Kingdom and the continent ever since the Panama bill became law, and in consequence there has not been any opportunity for the government to frame its program.

It is possible the government will await the result of the elections in the United States in the hope that the United States government may find a way afterward of meeting British wishes.

Three Courses Open.

Washington, Sept. 3.—No less than three separate and distinct "lines of action" are open to the British government in dealing with the problem raised by the passing of the Panama canal tolls act. It is assumed here that because there is more than one available avenue for British shipping to seek relief, the British foreign office has said the notice of an appeal for arbitration was premature.

President Taft has indicated one method by which the problem may be attacked. Congress, however, did not think well of the suggestion. That was to include in the act a paragraph giving jurisdiction to American courts to pass upon whether the act constituted a discrimination against British shipping, in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Test Right in Court.

Another means of dealing with the British grievance would be to allow any British ship owner to test, under existing law, before any United States court, his right to use the canal under the treaty on terms of equality with American ship owners. Chairman Adamson of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce and many senators and other representatives had declared that if British rights have been infringed there already was a remedy in the statutes.

The last avenue is relief through arbitration, although many publicists have held that owing to changes of sovereignty over the canal zone and other events developed since the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, Great Britain has no actual right to demand arbitration.

As the canal cannot be opened for a year and a half, there will be ample time for the British foreign office to elect which method of relief shall be employed.

Miss Mary Clark, 22, to Taylor McCain, 21.

ROOSEVELT CONFIDENT

strain of the next few weeks. The colonel brought with him from New York a tank of oxygen to be used in treating his throat, and will be under the care of a specialist during his trip.

As soon as he was up this morning Col. Roosevelt read Governor Wilson's speech in Buffalo yesterday in which the governor spoke of the attitude of the new party toward the tariff and the trusts. The colonel intimated that he would reply to the governor.

Col. Roosevelt talked over the New York state situation with William Hotchkiss, New York state Progressive chairman. Mr. Hotchkiss was on his way to Syracuse for the state convention.

The colonel would give no hint of whom he favored as candidate for governor, saying it was for the convention to decide.

At Muncie a crowd of several hundred people was at the railroad station to see Col. Roosevelt. He appeared on the rear platform and shook hands with those within reach. The crowd called on him for a speech, but he shook his head. His throat still was in bad condition and he decided to save his voice and make as few speeches as possible.

ROWDIES AT PICNIC

Union Labor's Celebration Marred By Presence of Young Toughs.

Beer Bottle Hurled Through Car Window at Motorman.

Although the labor unions did all in their power to prevent the use of intoxicants at Fairmont park yesterday, a number of young rowdies came to the grounds under the influence of liquor.

That they made it disagreeable for the union men and their families who attended the picnic is putting it mildly. Not only was their language a disgrace, but their conduct was disgusting.

One party of would-be toughs tried to "lay out" a street car motorman with a beer bottle. It appears that the conductor and the motorman had put them off the car on the trip out about 8 p. m., because of their cursing and swearing. They waited for the car to make its return trip. After it had made the turn at the loop and had picked up a crowd from the park, one of them threw a bottle of beer through the front vestibule. It barely missed the head of the motorman, shattering the window and the glass of the door at the front of the car. It broke when it fell to the aisle of the car. The coward who hurled it ran away, losing himself in the crowd. It is reported that other drunks made a show of themselves on street cars and offended the passengers, many of whom were women and children.

The people in charge of the picnic arrangements absolutely forbade the carrying of intoxicants into the grounds. But despite that fact, a number of those who went out carried bottles in their pockets in addition to what they had already consumed.

IOWA JUDGE'S GRANDSON MAY BE MURDER VICTIM.

Mason City, Iowa, Sept. 3.—The body of Clarence Weaver, 18 years old, a grandson of Judge Weaver of the Iowa supreme court, was found floating in Clear lake late yesterday. He had been missing since Friday from Dodge's Point, where he had been camping with the Weaver family for several days. Marks found on his face show the effect of blows, and his neck was broken. Murder is suspected, and an investigation is being made.

posal, as adopted by the constitutional convention, will go into effect on Oct. 1 of this year if ratified, while the other proposals would not be effective until Jan. 1, 1913.

The proposed initiative and referendum provides for the direct initiative upon petition of 10 per cent of the state's voters on amendments to the constitution and the indirect initiative upon legislative question. Should 3 per cent of the electors petition the secretary of state for a law, the secretary of state must refer the petition to the general assembly. If the legislature should pass the law petitioned for, it would then become subject to the referendum, which would require the signatures of an additional 3 per cent of the voters to become effective.

If the general assembly should fail to pass the law, or pass it in amended form, the original bill and the substitute could be presented to the people for a referendum vote upon petition of an additional 3 per cent of the voters.

Any law passed by the general assembly could, under the proposed amendment, be voted upon by the people, upon petition of 5 per cent of the electors. The proposal places an inhibition upon the using of the initiative and referendum for the passage of laws for the classification of property for taxation or for the single tax.

Limits Supreme Court Power.

Another proposed amendment provides for limiting the power of the supreme court, by making the circuit courts the court of last resort in the majority of cases. The name of the circuit court would be changed to the court of appeals. The supreme court would then be the last court in constitutional cases, and cases where the life of a prisoner was at stake.

The woman's suffrage proposal would eliminate the word "male" from the present constitution, and give votes to women.

The proposed good roads amendment provides for a state bond issue of $50,000,000 for the building and maintenance of good inter-county wagon roads.

Labor leaders of the state secured the passage by the convention of a proposed amendment providing for the welfare of employes and for the enactment of a minimum wage.

For the Cities.

Under the proposed home rule for cities proposal, municipalities could adopt any one of the three following forms of government:

First—They might, upon the vote of the electors, elect fifteen citizens to frame a charter, which would then have to be submitted to the voters for approval.

Second—They might adopt, by a majority vote, a form of government provided by the legislature.

Third—They might decide to be governed as at present, by a municipal code framed by the legislature.

Substitute For Recall.

The removal of all public officials, including the judiciary, upon complaint and hearing, is provided for in an amendment which was passed by the convention after the recall, as in effect in the Western states, had been defeated.

A proposal providing for a liquor license provides for limiting the number of saloons to one to every 500 population. In the larger cities it would decrease the number of saloons from two-thirds to one-half.

Other proposals which will be voted upon are: Reform in civil jury system—Provides for a verdict in a civil case upon a vote of three-fourths of the jury.

Abolition of capital punishment—Provides for life imprisonment at hard labor as punishment for first degree murder, instead of electrocution.

Depositions by state—Provides that the state may have the right to take depositions in criminal cases. Also provides that the judge shall take notice of the failure of the accused to testify.

Suits against state—Provides that suits may be brought against the state. Such suits cannot now be brought.

No Death Damage Limit.

Damage for wrongful death—Takes off the present limit of $12,000 damages for wrongful death, and places no limit.

Investigations—Provides that the legislature may investigate along lines of proposed legislative action.

Governor's veto—Provides for a three-fifths instead of a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature to pass a bill over the governor's veto.

Mechanic's and builders' liens—Gives laborers, builders, mechanics and material men liens upon the property upon which they work.

Workingmen's compensation—Provides that Ohio's present workingmen's compensation law be placed in the state's charter.

Conservation—Provides for the conservation of forestry, water power, and for state regulation of the mining, weighing and marketing of all minerals.

Public work—Provides for an eight-hour working day for laborers engaged on public works.

Criminal testimony—Would regulate the use of expert witnesses and expert testimony in criminal trials.

For Torrens System.

Prison contract labor—Provides against the sale of prison made goods on the open market, unless marked "Prison made."

Extra legislative sessions—Would restrict the general assembly in special session to the consideration of only such matters as stated in the governor's call for the extra session.

Common pleas courts—Provides for a common pleas court in each county, and gives the people the right to combine the common pleas judgeship with the probate judgeship.

Justices of the peace—Would abolish justice of the peace courts in cities having police courts.

Anti-injunction—Provides against injunctions in labor disputes except to protect physical property.

Primary Elections.

Primary elections—Provides for primary election of delegates to national conventions, and for primary nomination of state, municipal and county officials. Also provides for a primary vote on choice for United States senators.

Boards of education—Provides that city school districts may determine the size and organization of their boards of education.

Superintendent of public instruction—Provides for the election of a state school commissioner for a term of four years. The school commissioner is now an appointive position and for only two years.

Insurance—Provides for the state regulation of insurance—will permit public property to be insured in mutual insurance companies.

Board of public works—Would abolish the board of public works and provide a superintendent of public works, to be appointed by the governor for a term of one year.

Taxes and Corporations.

Taxation—Would abolish the poll tax, and make state, municipal and school bonds taxable. Raises personal property exemption from $200 to $500. Provides for the uniform rule, and authorizes the income, inheritance, franchise and a tax on oil, gas, coal and other minerals produced in the state.

Corporations—Provides for the regulation of corporations and the sale of personal property.

Liability—Provides for the placing of a double liability upon bank stockholders, and for the state inspection of private banks.

State printing—Provides for the building of a state printery.

Eligibility of women to offices—Provides that women may hold positions in state institutions where women or children are cared for.

Civil service—Would place all appointive state officials under civil service.

Adertising—Would give the state power to regulate bill-board advertising.

Constitutional amendments — Would provide for the placing of proposed amendments to the Constitution upon separate ballots without party designation.

city, where his father has a large dry-goods business.

Was Before Grand Jury.

New York, Sept. 3.—Thomas Coupe, met today by detectives at Liverpool, is one of the few actual eye witnesses of the murder of Herman Rosenthal. He left New York last Tuesday on the Lusitania. Two days later word reached District Attorney Whitman he had disappeared.

Mr. Whitman said at the time he feared this marked the beginning of attempts to spirit away witnesses, but he added that he had no legal way of detaining Coupe. He had testified before the grand jury and had been counted on to take the stand at the trial of Becker and others charged with the Rosenthal murder.

Becker Before Goff.

On the application of District Attorney Whitman, the case of Police Lieut. Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was transferred today from the court of general sessions to the criminal branch of the supreme court before Justice John W. Goff, sitting in extraordinary term.

Mr. Whitman obtained from Justice Goff authority to examine the grand jurors who are to sit during the extraordinary term in connection with the John Doe proceedings into police graft. He said this request was made in view of recent disclosures that a number of men on the panel had realty holdings used by gambling establishments and disorderly houses.

Becker was arraigned before Justice Goff for pleading shortly before 11 o'clock, but still refused to plead, on his counsel's advice that the indictment had been "improperly and illegally found." By direction of Justice Goff a technical plea of not guilty was entered for the prisoner.

Delays Not Granted.

Counsel for Becker protested that he was not ready to go to trial and insisted that he needed a week at least for further preparation. Justice Goff quickly overruled four motions brought by Mr. McIntire to obtain a delay and at Mr. Whitman's request set the trial for Tuesday, Sept. 10.

To the surprise of all, Becker's lawyer did not ask for a change of venue. He requested, however, that the trial be set for some time about the middle of October, when the "present hysteria and clamor" should have subsided. This was necessary, he said, in order that his client might have a fair and impartial trial.

Becker came into court nonchalantly and pleasantly greeted several friends.

After a conference with Mr. Whitman, the date of the trial was changed by Justice Goff from Tuesday, Sept. 10, to Thursday, Sept. 12. This was done because Becker's counsel refused to waive the usual two days allowance granted after the opening of a term of court.

"Refuges" for Witnesses.

Aside from the arraignment of Becker, most interesting of the day's developments in the Rosenthal case on this side of the Atlantic was the discovery by the district attorney's office of two alleged "refuges," conducted by the so-called "vice trust," and the report that a considerable sum of money belonging to Becker had been traced to Port Jervis, N. Y. The "refuges" uncovered were said to be a hotel in Hoboken, N. J., and four cottages at Greenville, Sullivan county, N. Y., where workers of the underworld, who might be sought as witnesses for the prosecution, could bide their time until the storm blew over.

TEDDY? YES; PARTY? NO!

nate the conventions and force on the great mass of the party men who are undesirable to the majority of Republican voters. Continuing, he said:

"The man who could not see there would be a rebellion whenever these over-represented states forced a nomination against the strong opposition of the states in which there is a real Republican party, was blind as a bat, and the man who could not hear the rumble of the rising storm was deaf as an adder.

"If the convention which nominated Mr. Taft had changed the system in obedience to the popular demand, we might have had patience to wait; but as though wanting to furnish every reason for revolt, it attempted to fasten it still more firmly upon us. If this were all we would be amply justified in overthrowing the system by refusing to accept the nominee. But this is not all.

Seating of Delegates.

"The system, indefensible as it is, was not enough to overcome the adverse majority in the Republican state, and therefore the complaisant committee, and following them the convention, deliberately seated Tafe delegates from Washington, California, Arizona and Texas, who had no shadow of title to seats in the convention. I speak of these states because I have examined the record as to them and have reached a conclusion after the most careful study and reflection. And thus the will of a tremendous majority was defeated by the power of a bad system and the machinations of a committee.

"I take no pleasure in reciting these things, for I would like to support a Republican candidate for president.

"There is but one way, however, to make sure the system of the Chicago convention will be abolished and its scenes never repeated, and that is to make it plain that the candidate who is the product of the system and the beneficiary of the methods cannot reach the office to which he aspires. Therefore, I cannot support Mr. Taft."

"In so saying I am all the more a Republican, for it is clear to me that the existence of the party depends upon a quick and emphatic condemnation of the wrongs I have mentioned, and I am in perfect harmony with the declaration of the Iowa Republican platform."

Senator Cummins then quotes the "individual conscience" planks of the Iowa Republican platform, in which it is left to the voter to determine for whom he will vote for president.

Against New Party.

Continuing he says: "The reason the Republicans were so largely against the renomination of Mr. Taft was their profound conviction that he is not a Progressive and does not believe in a proper sense that the people should rule the country.

"The fact that this was the attitude of the vast majority of the Republicans proves to me conclusively that a new party is unnecessary, untimely and unfortunate. I fear that it will retard, rather than hasten reform.

"Theodore Roosevelt was the manifest choice of the greater number of Republicans who expressed a choice for president. He is appealing to the moral and progressive forces of the people, and I expect to vote for him; but it must be understood that I will do so protesting against the organization of a new party and dissenting with some of the doctrines of his platform. My vote for him will indicate that I believe he desires to promote the common welfare, but will not indicate that I look upon the new party as a wise or enduring movement in public affairs."

Senator Cummins in conclusion devotes his attention to the Republican state nominees, saying his chief interest in this campaign is to see that they are elected.

LA FOLLETTE PRAISES POSTOFFICE CLERKS.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 3.—The National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, in annual convention here, has received this message from Senator La Follette:

"I admire your grit. Through you we won this last fight."

Oscar E. Nelson, president of the federation, in announcing the objects of the federation, said it was organized to educate the clerks and the public, to seek a shorter workday, to better working conditions through legislation, and to co-operate with the American Federation of Labor, with which it is affiliated. He rejoiced that "gag rule" had been removed by recent legislation. This was the "fight" to which Senator La Follette's message alluded.

A special discussion of the garbage question and present conditions in Duluth, investigated by the special garbage committee, and a report on the work outlined for the Civic study class will be the chief features of the September meeting of the Woman's Council which will be held Friday morning of this week at 10 o'clock at the club room of the library.

A report of what is planned and perfection of the organization will be made at Friday's meeting. The first study meeting of the class is planned for next Monday morning at the library club room at 10 o'clock.

A Daisy for Duluth.

A flower as an emblem of every city is a new thought being suggested and following the plan the states have adopted.

The hardy daisy has been suggested as a typical and appropriate flower for Duluth and the women's clubs are interested in the plan and will probably take the matter up and push it through.

St. Paul has taken the sweet pea for its flower and other cities in the state are talking of choosing an emblem, but as yet the idea is new and not generally adopted.

Modesty does not always mean silence; nor the lack of it, presumption.

Those who know the Everett Piano's rich tonal quality, its plenitude of artistic and poetic beauty need no telling—they have formed their judgment.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR DULUTH PLAYWRIGHTS

Amelia Bingham wants a play.

Miss Bingham, who is America's first and best known woman producing manager, is at the Orpheum this week, presenting a series of three famous scenes from famous plays. She has been presenting this act in America and in Europe for three years, all the time waiting to find a play that will be satisfying both from an artistic and a box office standpoint.

"If I could only find a modern 'Madame Sans Gene,'" said Miss Bingham yesterday. "I have read scores of mediocre plays. There is no lack of amateur playwrights, and there are tons and tons of manuscripts that are not worth the paper they are written on. They open with a maid dusting off the parlor furniture, and drag an impossible heroine through impossible scenes to a waiting lover's arms. They are weary wastes of drivel, inconsequence and utter rot.

"Oh, for a new idea in a play—something big, gripping and vital. It does not need to be well handled at first, and I don't care whether it is comedy or tragedy. I would prefer both. A play can easily be whipped into shape in the producing if the idea and the possibilities are there. I don't care whether the author is known or unknown. If he has a big idea for a play, I will produce it before next spring, and if it is what I want, it will make a fortune for the playwright and myself.

"I am presenting these scenes from famous old time plays, because I can't find a new play as satisfying."

STUDIES ARE RESUMED

Thousands of Pupils and Teachers Begin Year's Work.

Manual Training Popular—Only Six Will Take Scandinavian.

School started today, as perhaps thousands of parents, children and teachers of Duluth are painfully aware—painful to the parents, because this morning a new schedule of getting the children out of bed had to be assumed, and the hurry and anxiety of getting away with everything they were supposed to take on the initial day was exhausting to the mothers, the fathers in most cases having dodged the job and found that they were required at their offices or other places of business more promptly than usual. It was painful to the children just on general principles, and painful to the teachers because of the perpetual uncertainty they experience of the element they are about to go up against.

The various grade schools of the city, the Central high school, the Irving school, the Industrial high school and the normal are scenes today of great activity. The day is devoted chiefly in each to enrolling the pupils and getting their standings and studies straightened out. The standings are always a good deal of bother, the teachers say, and the matter of elective studies is also one which causes a good deal of concern and adjusting.

The only new element in the studies of any of the schools this year is that of the introduction in the third year of high school of the Scandinavian languages as elective studies. Up to noon today only six had elected to take up these studies, three deciding upon Swedish, two to take Norwegian and one willing to take either.

It is too early to determine just where the greater number of pupils will drift to in the way of studies, but indications point to a very large increase in the industrial school courses. The boys in general are eager for this branch of work and more girls than usual signified this morning that they wanted to take up sewing or cooking. The teachers find that the physical activity of these branches and the development of some object in plain sight as a result of the work, appeals to the students very strongly.

Aside from the enrollment and other things mentioned as falling upon the first day in school, the new teachers are busy getting acquainted with each other and with their pupils, and the new pupils are equally busy getting acquainted with their teachers. All is bustle at the schools, the work of getting organized for the year being rushed at top speed.

It is impossible as yet to obtain any idea of the enrollment of the schools, and this will not be known for two or three days, but it is believed that a much larger initial enrollment than last year will be the result of today's work. The enrollment of the high school is expected to be about the same as a year ago, but in the grade schools more children are expected.

At the normal, President Bohannon says that the enrollment will be much larger than last year on the opening day. The chief attention today at the normal is being given pupils from outside of the city. Last year more than 200 from out of town enrolled on the first day, but President Bohannon says that many more than that are enrolling today; just how many he cannot yet tell. He looks for the local attendance to be fully as large as that of last year and most likely larger.

All of the school corridors are masses of moving humanity and the pretty summer dresses of the girls, to be worn yet awhile, are somewhat in contrast with the fall suits of the latter, so far as could be seen, have attended school today "all dolled up."

By tomorrow, it is believed, the enrollment of the high and normal schools will be pretty well determined.

Some Advice to the Maid When the Love of a Man Grows Cold.

What can you do when a man's love grows cold?

Well, what can you do?

How am I to answer such a pitiful little query?

If I knew that his love had really grown cold, it would be a simple matter for, from my viewpoint, there isn't much you can do, once a man commences to show you, in innumerable little ways, that his interest in you is passing away. Better accept the inevitable, bury the heartache and hope for love's revival, but scarcely expect it.

For when love, or the fascination that passes for it so frequently, is done, there isn't much that can reawaken it, least of all any studied effort on the part of one who formerly inspired it. The best advice I can offer is that which will leave no regrets, no humbled pride, and which, after all, is as effective as any.

Leave the errant lover very much to himself. Try the absent treatment. Conduct your life just as you would under normal conditions. Let him believe it is as easy for you to forget as for him. This may pique his pride and renew his interest.

Don't mope at home and don't flirt too outrageously abroad in the hope that it may come under his observation. Act naturally, and, without seeming to do so, show him that you can enjoy life without him.

You can't force the renewal of love. Therefore don't make the mistake of running after a man with your heart on your sleeve and your soul in your eyes. Don't have recourse to any schemes for revenge, satisfaction, and winning him back, unless you would remove the last gleam of hope for the attainment of your heart's desire.

If it's a lovers' quarrel it's different. There is something you can do without jeopardizing your dignity. Right here I advise every young woman and every young man, smarting and suffering under a misunderstanding, not to let another day pass without doing what each one can to unravel the tangled skein and establish happiness again.

Don't hold out until too late because pride keeps you from making the explanation that reason demands. Let me add, too, that it isn't always expedient to play the injured party.

If you love him, make up with him. It is good discipline. After marriage you will have to ignore many unpleasant incidents and do the making up without regard to who is right and who is wrong, if you hope to have any congeniality. A little practice in the gentle art beforehand will not come amiss.

AUGUST NOW MONTH OF BRIDES

Replaces June as Period of Cupid's Greatest Activity.

In Duluth, August has replaced June as a wedding month.

Heretofore, June, with its perfume-laden breezes and its atmosphere of roses, was the bride's favorite month.

Now it has abdicated in favor of the eighth month of the year—or at least as far as Duluth is concerned.

During the past month 123 marriage licenses were issued by J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court.

In June, but 116 matrimonial permits were granted and in July but sixty-eight.

The average for August was nearly five weddings a day. In former years June has always been the heaviest month in the matrimonial traffic.

ST. PAUL DAY AT THE FAIR

Total Turnout for First Day 120,000, the Largest for Opener.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today is St Paul day at the state fair. The weather is ideal and an even greater attendance is anticipated than was recorded on the opening day yesterday.

Although yesterday was a legal holiday, many retail houses and a large number of jobbing and manufacturing firms here declared another for today to permit their employes to visit the exposition.

Among the special features arranged for St. Paul day are the 2:13 pace on the one-mile track for the $3,000 St. Paul purse, and a special set piece appropriate to St. Paul as a part of the fireworks following the "Old Mexico" spectacle.

The judging of exhibits will continue, as well as all the regular features, including the university lectures, aeroplane flights and vaudeville performances.

Yesterday's attendance totaled approximately 120,000, but this included 25,000 school children who were admitted free. This is said to exceed all records for first day attendance.

It's Heater Time Again.
Have You Considered the Monitor Radiator?

Again we wish to call your attention to the Heater question. Only the best should satisfy you. A good heater is always a fine investment.

There is downright satisfaction, warmth and comfort in a MONITOR RADIATOR HEATER.

Why? Because it is built on a scientific principle. Every one will admit that the Five Front Flues radiating heat directly into the room are a big advantage. The hot gases pass directly down these flues after leaving the fire box. You thus get the greatest benefit from the coal you are burning. No heat is lost in passing through back flues.

THREE REASONS—BUT VERY POOR ONES.

A Missouri man wrote to the Kansas City Star, leading Roosevelt party organ of the West, asking this question: "I have been working to make the Republican party progressive. Why should I give that up and join the new party?"

The Star gave these three reasons as its answer to the question, which it will be admitted is a very pertinent one:

1. The old party alignment is unnatural and divides the progressive vote: it is a plain proposition that there ought to be two great parties—Progressive and Conservative.
2. The reactionary element is in control of the Republican organization, and it is strong enough to block nation-wide efforts for progress.
3. The mass of the progressive Republicans are going into the new party and the old party is a hopeless wreck—just as the Whig party was in 1856.

If the Star's correspondent is really "from Missouri," he can easily admit all three of these propositions and still remain unconvinced that it is his duty to cast his fortunes with the Roosevelt party.

If he cares more for human welfare and progress in this Republic than for the political glorification of a single individual, he certainly will remain unconvinced.

It may be admitted that the old party alignment WAS unnatural, that it divided the progressive vote, and that there ought to be two great parties—Progressive and Conservative. But the Roosevelt party merely subdivides the progressive vote, and there are today two great parties precisely as there should be—a Republican Conservative party under Taft, Sherman, Penrose and Barnes, and a Democratic Progressive party under Wilson, Marshall, McComb and Palmer.

It is true that the reactionary element is in control of the Republican organization, but that organization will not be "strong enough to block nation-wide efforts for progress" if the Republican progressives get behind Wilson and the redeemed Democratic party.

Whether or not "the mass of the progressive Republicans are going into the new party" is very questionable. Many will prefer to make their votes count by voting for Wilson. The wreck of the Republican party is undoubted. Its wreck ought to be hopeless, with none but Barnes, Penrose, Sherman, Tawney and Taft on guard. But is the progressive Republican likely to better his lot by going into the "new party" to join hands with Flinn, Perkins and Tim Woodruff?

The answer to the Star's three propositions is not to join Roosevelt and submerge the cause of human progress in the consuming ambition and thirst for power of an individual, but to vote for Wilson, a people's candidate who will be a people's president.

Where's the Lemonade?

There's some point to the comparison of the present campaign to a three-ring circus. And every Republican member of congress except the avowed standpatters is included among the acrobats. The standpatters will do for the clowns.

SCHOOL.

Those who holidayed Sunday and Monday and found it hard to get down to the grind this morning will realize how the young folks feel today, when school opened after many weeks of holidaying.

Still, they'll get over it, and a reasonable percentage of them will soon be getting some enjoyment out of it, and a fair degree of profit.

Generally, those who are getting a good deal out of their school work enjoy it and look forward to its resumption with pleasure rather than dread.

Perhaps, in time to come, the public school courses will establish a closer relationship between school work and the child's human interests; and then all the pupils will get more out of it and will think less of the long vacation and more of the school year.

The schools are good, and they are getting better. But they are yet the most old-fashioned and unprogressive of our public institutions. Otherwise, it would not be true that a depressingly large proportion of the pupils are turned out of school prematurely to face the problems of life without adequate preparation therefor, and with their real education yet to be gained—and painfully.

Still, the schools are far from bad, and Duluth's are as good as there are going. So instead of commiserating those whose laggard steps led them schoolward this morning, we congratulate them.

The Cynosure.

This is the day when actors and other people with press agents look with envy at Vermont.

THE FIRST GUN.

Vermont is holding its state election today, and the process of getting about it doubtless has been difficult because the whole nation has been edging in so closely along the foul lines that the players have had trouble confining their attention to the business before them—which business really concerns the state alone, and the nation not at all.

But by an ancient and in some respects absurd custom, state elections are conducted on national party lines, and the nation has been paying close attention to the Vermont fight because it hoped to get a line on what is coming in November.

It does not seem likely, at this writing, that any very useful hints to political prophets will develop. The situation is complicated by the fact that this is one of the states where the third term party has put a state ticket in the field, but nothing has developed so far to indicate that the Roosevelt ticket will run better than third in the race.

The Republican ticket will undoubtedly get the most votes and the chief point of interest will be the figure the third term party cuts, and where it gets its votes. Most of them, of course, if not all of them, will come from the Republican forces. Some of the votes that have ranked in the Democratic column in Vermont returns in the past may be protest votes against the Republican machine, and some of these may go to the Bull Moose ticket. The Republican vote may be expected to shrink through indifference and defections, but it will be a surprise if the Democratic total suffers any loss except those accounted for above.

A majority is necessary to elect, otherwise the election goes into the legislature; and this rather unlikely result is the most the Democratic and third term candidates can reasonably hope to accomplish.

Goodby Goats.

Of course it is possible that a certain outcome of the coming election would result in changing the expression to "get your bull moose."

REGISTER.

Remember that you must register for the primary election.

The polling places will be open until 9 p. m. If you have not registered, do so now, and you will have it done and will be eligible to vote at the primary and general elections.

For Naturalists.

Can a Bull Moose have a goat?

TWO ILL-CONSIDERED OFFICES.

Two state offices are to be filled in the coming primary and general elections which will not receive the public consideration they deserve.

These offices are those of lieutenant-governor and railroad and warehouse commissioner. Two commissioners are to be nominated and elected.

The office of lieutenant-governor is probably considered as little by the general public as any other office in the list; yet in many respects it is the most important office to be filled—more important, even, than that of governor.

The lieutenant-governor presides over the senate. He appoints the committees to which all proposed laws are referred. The fate of popular legislation often depends on the character of the committee organization created by the lieutenant-governor.

That's why, while the people ignored this office, the special interests paid very close attention to it and picked carefully the men who were to fill it.

That's why and how Ray Jones and Adolph Eberhart got to be lieutenant-governor.

Another reason why the people should pay strict attention to this office is illustrated by what happened when the late Governor Johnson died during a term. Eberhart, as lieutenant-governor, succeeded him.

The people ought to guard against the possibility of such a thing happening again.

It ought not to be necessary to explain why the office of railroad and warehouse commissioner is important. So far as the state's powers are concerned, the people must rely largely on the railroad and warehouse commission to see that their interests are taken care of. The railroads are amply able to take care of their own interests.

Neither of these offices should be filled carelessly. In neither case should the people ignore them, thus permitting those specially interested to fill them to their own taste.

There has been too much of that in the past. There should be none of it in the future in Minnesota.

Sounds Interesting.

What's the etymology of that name Penrose, anyway?

COMMENTS ON CONGRESS.

We have been reading the comments on the session of congress just closed.

They are very entertaining, if not very informing.

As nearly as we can sum it up, the situation is about as follows:

Those who want Roosevelt or Taft to be elected president find the session to have been extravagant, long-winded, futile, fruitless, foolish.

Those who want Wilson to be elected president find the session to have been economical, patriotic, energetic, effective, fruitful.

In point of fact, congress passed several good bills reducing the tariff taxes, and that was the chief business and the vital duty of the session. It is no fault of congress that Taft vetoed these bills.

Congress also saved some money, which is a cheerful variation when every recent congress has been increasing the national expenditures.

Congress passed a parcels post law, and if it had done nothing else this would have made the session worthy of praise.

So on the whole the session averages up very well indeed, and the only possible way to put it below the average is to blame it for President Taft's acts in denying the people the relief from tariff taxes which congress offered to provide.

Why This Backwardness?

Up to date no baseball pitcher has adopted the title of "Lefty Louie."

WOMEN AND THE ELECTION.

When the citizenship of the nation casts its votes for the presidency Nov. 5, in six states women will vote on equal terms with men.

These states are Washington, California, Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado.

It is estimated that something like 1,347,000 women will be eligible to vote for president—a sizable increase in the total vote and an element to be reckoned with by all parties.

The woman suffrage movement has come slowly, but it will come more rapidly in the future than in the past. Actual experiment has shown that while it has not precipitated the millenium to allow women to vote, it has not, on the other hand, brought the harm either to womanhood or to society that its opponents predicted.

On the whole, the effect has been good.

But the issue of whether or not women shall vote does not depend so much on what good or harm will come of it. It depends more on whether this shall really be a government by and for the people.

Women are "people," and so are entitled to vote on equal terms with men.

There will be no real equality, no honest democracy, until they are conceded this right everywhere.

The professional optimist will see something significant regarding the coming election in the beautiful weather dished out on Labor day.

Now comes word that the oyster crop is to be a bumper one, too. Which would seem to indicate that Oyster Bay is not to be lacking in general interest whichever way things go.

THE SHAM OF IT

By SAVOYARD.

Mr. Roosevelt does not believe that this people are governed half enough. Claiming to be a Jeffersonian, he thinks Jefferson was talking nonsense when he would restrict the powers of the government within its constitutional limitations. He proposes that government provide prosperity and all sorts of good thing and scatter them among the people and that is what he says he intends to do when the people again put him at the head of affairs.

Here is a sample of his stuff. He would continue the protective tariff on iron and steel, all their constituent elements and all the thousands of articles that are their resolvents. That is to make prices high. Then he would raise a commission to fix the prices of all these things, which is not only a destruction of competition and a nullification of the law of supply and demand, but pure socialism, for if the government fixes the prices of these things it will not stop till it fixes the prices of every article sold in every market throughout the republic. And why not?

Mr. Andy Carnegie believes the government should fix the price of iron and steel. So does J. Pierpont Morgan, so does Judge Gary, head of the Steel trust; so does George W. Perkins, manager of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign. Go into Wall Street and tag the first dozen "malefactors of great wealth," and at least eleven of them you will find in favor of a governmental commission to fix the prices of trust-made goods.

There is nothing new in it. Twenty years ago the producers of silver insisted that the government should fix the prices of their merchandise, and we had more than one national political campaign in which that policy was the paramount issue. We all remember what a convulsion it was, breeding the most disastrous financial panic and ruinous industrial depression of our history. Now, iron and steel are articles universally consumed. Everybody must buy them and to get them one must sell what he has to spare in order to get the wherewith to buy. The government is powerless to fix the price of cotton, or wheat, or corn. Liverpool has that job and the government cannot usurp it. Thus one class of citizens are subject to the law of supply and demand when they go to sell and are forced to buy in a market that the government makes a legalized monopoly. With Roosevelt in authority, is it not absolutely certain that the price of steel, thus fixed by the government, would be precisely what George W. Perkins agrees to? Gary knows what his trust wants. Perkins is running the Bull Moose campaign and financing it.

Mr. Roosevelt is very bitter against the Standard Oil company; but you have never heard of a word he said in criticism of the Steel trust, that is an infinitely more oppressive combination than Standard Oil ever was, bad as it always has been. Steel is one of the profitable little amusements the Steel trust indulges. Its magnates are also directors in numerous railroads. Say one of those roads is in need of 50,000 tons of steel rails. It buys the rails of the Steel trust at a price greatly in excess of what the trust would charge a foreigner for them. Thus the Steel trust is trading with itself for its own merchandise. That is all the Credit-Mobilier was back yonder forty odd years agone, and some of our very greatest statesmen like to have got into the penitentiary about it.

Now comes its customers who say to that railroad, that has just been robbed by its own board of directors, "your freights are too high and they must be lowered." An investigation is had by the interstate commerce commission. The road shows its enormous cost of equipment, for rails are not the only things a railroad gets of the Steel trust. A computation is made and it is found that if the road reduces freights it must pass dividends and default on fixed charges, and so the consumer of the country continues to be burdened by this road's high rates. About every railroad in the United States is in that fix—fair spoil for the insatiate steel monopoly that is gorged with over $700,000,000 watered stock.

Taft had Wickersham to sue the Steel trust for its flagrant and insolent violation of the Sherman law. Roosevelt denounced the suit as an outrage. Is it any wonder that such steel magnates as Munsey and Perkins are putting up for Teddy? When Perkins made the threat against Roosevelt that Herbert Knox Smith conveyed to the then president, Bonaparte was ordered not to prosecute the Harvester trust, that was selling farm machinery to farmers in Alberta, Canada, cheaper than the same goods were sold to farmers in Kansas. McCormick is of the Harvester trust, and it is no wonder that his newspaper, the Chicago Tribune, supports the man who protected his Harvester trust in its defiance and violation of the law.

That Herbert Knox Smith letter is a campaign document.

According to Roosevelt there are two sorts of trusts—good and bad. The Steel trust is a good trust—its magnates are for Teddy. The Oil trust is a bad trust—its magnates are for Taft. Roosevelt took counsel of Harriman when that gentleman was raising $260,000 campaign boodle. Two years later Harriman refused to contribute one cent. Then war was made on him. In 1904 Harriman was "good"; in 1906 he was "bad".

How can anybody have any confidence in Mr. Roosevelt's sencerity? Why should he be appointed to cure the evils that flourished all the time he was President in 1901-9? He says the two old parties are boss-ridden; one of them is; but at Baltimore the bosses were overthrown, and he can show no man active in Democratic councils who is not a thousand times purer politician than Bill Flinn, who is running the Bull Moose campaign in Pennsylvania.

Woodrow Wilson is the only candidate for president with any pretentions to the title of real reformer.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SHOT-GUN ACCIDENTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Once more our attention is called to the list of accidents caused by shotguns, by an article in Tuesday evening's Herald, Aug. 27. According to the statement, a fine young man—Raymond Backus, 22 years old, a graduate of Yale, educated, and talented very likely—is the victim. "And there are others." I am one who has watched a great number of accounts of these shooting accidents, and I have come to the conclusion that eight or nine times out of ten they are caused by double-barreled shotguns, with hammers on them. To be sure, we have all noticed a number of such accidents just this past summer caused by .22-caliber rifles, also a little carelessness added in for good measure. How long is it going to take boys and men—all people, young or old—to learn and remember and follow the advice given so long ago and repeated so many times in regard to double-barreled shotguns? (Right here, Mr. Editor I have made a little mistake.) I should say any shotgun or rifle with hammers on. Here is the warning: "Never pull a shotgun through a fence, out of a wagon, out of a boat or sleigh, with the muzzle pointed toward you." Now, friends and sportsmen everywhere, I wish to remind you that I don't know it all, about guns, any more than I do about anything else. But I believe the most of you will agree with me when I say that hammerless rifles and shotguns are safer as a general rule. I have never owned a double-barreled hammerless gun, but I have heard and read a lot about them, and they seem to be like anything and everything else manufactured; in this respect, there is a big difference in some of them. If The Herald editor is willing to print this long lingo, and some true sportsman sees it who can enlighten us on this subject, that is, show us the good, bad and indifferent among hammerless guns, I feel sure it will be appreciated by a great many.

In looking over an old copy of The Herald printed last winter, (date March 14), I noticed an article by N. Boyer entitled, "Questions Hunters Should Answer." At some future date I may undertake to pass a few comments on this subject by Mr. Boyer if the editor thinks it is fit to print, or has the room, and if I do I am most certain to add a few more things about "Questions a Hunter Should Answer."

P.S.—I was tempted very much to change the title of this article and name it "Precept Upon Precept, Line Upon Line." G. W. McKAY.

Kelsey, Minn., Aug. 31.

THANK YOU, SIR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

My appreciation of The Herald generally and of its editorial page especially, is so high that I cannot refrain from expressing it—for publication or not, as you choose. Several of the leading dailies of the country come under my eye constantly but it seems to me that none of them select subjects for editorial treatment so judiciously and handle them so trenchantly, fairly, wisely and exhaustively with ever the purpose in view of defending and promoting the welfare of the people and of the country as does The Herald. It is doing a great work nobly and well. It has my gratitude and thanks. BURT W. DAY.

Hutchinson, Minn., Sept. 2.

PAVING PROBLEMS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That was a very clever and able letter on the Duluth paving problem in the Saturday evening's issue of your paper. If a few people were appointed to investigate pavings and the uninformed property owners would give them power to act, we could save our city from recklessly laying these impossible pavements.

One would think that any resident residing near Sixteenth avenue east would oppose either tar macadam or bituilthic as the new pavement to be laid on East Third street. To see the horses falling continually when hauling any load on Sixteenth avenue above Third street has caused much bitter comment. It is now practically impossible to drive up or down with a load or carriage there, and yet property owners are requesting this same pavement, or worse on the 5 per cent grade on Third street!

It is surely the duty of the common council and the board of public works, with their knowledge and experience in the past, to oppose what they know to be an improper pavement.

That Twenty-third avenue east is left as it has been the past two years is a disgrace to our city. The one block in particular from First to Second street is a strong argument against laying any more of this kind.

A TAXPAYER.

Duluth, Sept. 2.

Great Men and the Soil

John Locke: The great men among the ancients understood very well how to reconcile manual labor with the affairs of state, and thought it no lessening to their dignity to make the one the recreation to the other.

That indeed which seems most generally to have employed and diverted their spare hours was agriculture. Gideon among the Jews was taken from thrashing, as well as Cincinnatus amongst the Romans from the plow, to command the armies of their countries against the enemies; and 'tis plain their dexterous handling of the flail or the plow, and being good workmen with these tools, did not hinder their skill in arms, nor make them less able in the arts of war or government. They were great captains and statesmen as well as husbandmen.

Cato Major, who had with great reputation borne all the great offices of the commonwealth, has left us an evidence under his own hand, how much he was versed in country affairs; and, as I remember, Cyrus thought gardening so little beneath the dignity and grandeur of a throne that he showed Xenophon a large field of fruit trees all of his own planting. The records of antiquity, both among Jews and Gentiles, are full of instances of this kind, if it were necessary to recommend useful recreations by examples.

Can a Nation Be a Gentleman?

September Century: There was only one question that should have been involved in the discussion about the levying of tolls on the commerce of the Panama canal, and that was: Shall the United States government keep its plighted faith with the nations of the world, as embodied in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty? It is too clear to be disputed that our national honor is the supreme issue in this controversy. No matter how cunningly the language of the treaty may be twisted and distorted, it cannot be made to say anything else than what it declares on its face. This is so obvious that the ablest lawyers in the senate have warned that body and the house of representatives that if a violation of the treaty is attempted the question will be taken to The Hague tribunal, with the certainty that it will be decided against us at a cost of many millions of dollars, since in the case of an adverse decision the United States government would have to refund all the tolls it had collected from foreign ships, and would have to open the canal to all nations on the same terms that we had opened it to our own ships—that is, without any tolls whatever. The greatest service our rulers at Washington can do the country is to see that its honor is kept as untarnished as that of the most scrupulous gentleman. The way to make a people love their country is to make sure that its reputation is maintained as a source of love and pride.

RINGDAL FOR GOVERNOR

Praised By All.

St. Peter Herald: P. M. Ringdal, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, is receiving very considerate treatment from the Republican press of the state. They have scanned his record, and know that no better man could be elected. Partisan politics does not cloud the vision of Minnesota's editors.

Many Tributes.

Little Falls Herald: The splendid response of the Democratic press of the state to the candidacy of P. M. Ringdal, and the good words spoken of him by so many Republican papers are tributes well merited. The candidacy of Mr. Ringdal is one that bears examination from every standpoint. Of him it may well be said:

"How happy was he born and taught
That serveth not anothers will!
Whose armor is his honest thought,
And simple truth his utmost skill."

Strong Platform.

Belgrade Tribune: P. M. Ringdal, who is a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, in response to the rank and file of that party, solicits his support on an exceedingly strong platform. The central plank is devoted to the initiative and referendum.

Felicitating People.

Willmar Tribune: Already Republican papers of the state are felicitating the people on the probability that a man of the progressive principles and careful and judicious business judgment possessed by Peter M. Ringdal is likely to be nominated by the Democratic party and be the next governor of Minnesota.

Chances Are Good.

Montevideo Leader: P. M. Ringdal is a candidate for the governorship on the Democratic ticket and is making a clean and active canvass for the place. We think his chances are good at both primary and general election. The people are going to vote for men rather than for parties this year and it is time to pick out the best man obtainable for the high office of governor. Keep your eye on Ringdal.

Out for Good Things.

LeSueur News: Candidate Ringdal is out for some good things. He favors the initiative and referendum. That is more than his party, in convention at Baltimore, favored. Ringdal seems too matter-of-fact for a successful politician.

All for Ringdal.

Ada Herald: With such a man as P. M. Ringdal in the field as a candidate for governor the people of Minnesota need have little concern as to the outcome of the primary election next month beyond the fact that enough backers of good government and progressive principles turn out and cast their votes in sufficient numbers to assure the nomination of Mr. Ringdal. Never in the history of the state has public opinion been so unanimously in favor of a candidate as it is for Ringdal at this time. The press of the state, regardless of political affiliation, has nothing but kind words to say for Ringdal. The reason for this is that he is a good clean man, a man of high character and ability and has always been found on the right side of public issues. No better man can be selected for governor.

Not an Opportunist.

Hutchinson Leader: Mr. Ringdal is not an opportunist—he has for years advocated progressive and reform ideas, and his statement is in line with his public record.

What Has He Done?

From the Albert Lea Tribune (Rep.).

Governor Eberhart was not going to make any campaign for renomination at the primaries, but after surveying the field, the Ed Smith machine decided that if it had any possible show of maintaining itself at the public crib, it was only after a fight.

So the governor will make a "dignified" fight for the place. As a matter of fact the governor has been making a most strenuous canvass for renomination for the past six months or a year through his many appointees, who have been out over the state rounding up things in his behalf. But it is known that things have not rounded up to the satisfaction of the Ed Smith machine, hence the latest move on its part, of having the governor issue a little booklet, claiming everything in sight.

This booklet tells what a great booster the governor has been for Minnesota, and informs us that at all of his talks before this and that, all over the country, his subject has been Minnesota. By intimation, rather than words, it shows the great care he has taken during the three years he has occupied the office, to keep away from it as much as possible, and avoid the problems the solving of which would be of some benefit to the mass of the people of the state.

His one great hobby has been the consolidation of rural schools, and it tells how interested he has been in boosting that work, though it seriously neglects to tell the public just what he has accomplished in that line. People who are in a position to know, are of the opinion that most of the effective work which has been done in that line during the last year or two, has been accomplished by our former townsman, Supt. E. M. Phillips, who occupies the office of rural school commissioner, at the hands of the department of public instruction.

He also claims credit for much of the legislation enacted by the legislature during his incumbency, and all of that enacted during the special session, including the increased gross earnings tax, a measure which he never advocated or supported.

But we look in vain for some reference as to what he has accomplished in the way of curtailing the extravagant expenditures of the state, and a reduction of the tax burdens of the people. We find nothing. Had there been such a sub-head, it would have been followed by a blank piece of paper. He has done nothing in that line.

During the past ten years, according to the report of the state treasurer, the expenses of the state government of Minnesota have doubled in amount and for nearly one-third of that time Adolph O. Eberhart has occupied the governor's chair, and he has yet to open his mouth and lift his hand in the interest of the people in lifting the burden of taxation from their shoulders to the greatest possible extent. The expense of his own office has grown far beyond that of any of his Republican predecessors, and what has he done to show for it? Not one thing of any value to the people of Minnesota.

The Tribune and Times-Enterprise believes that the people of this state would be willing at any time to exchange any advantage which may have come or will come to the state from the gadding which the governor has done for the so-called advertising, which is of a very doubtful value, for some good solid work by a state executive, first in securing an economical administration of the affairs of the state, and second in securing a distance tariff law, which would give the people of the smaller cities and the rural districts, some of the advantages of the large cities.

And toward these two matters Adolph O. Eberhart has never lifted hand or voice in behalf of the people during this occupancy of the governor's chair of Minnesota.

A Plea That Won the Jury.

Kansas City Star: John J. Crittenden, the eloquent Kentucky lawyer of a past generation, was once defending a murderer. Everyone knew the man was guilty, but the eloquence of Crittenden saved him.

"Gentlemen," said Crittenden, at the end of his great plea, "'to err is human, to forgive divine.' When God conceived the thought of man's creation, he called to him three ministering virtues, who wait constantly upon the throne—Justice, Truth and Mercy—and thus addressed them:

"'Shall we make this man?'

"'O God, make him not,' said Justice, sternly, 'for he will surely trample upon thy laws.'

"'And Truth, what sayest thou?'

"'O God, make him not, for none but God is perfect, and he will surely sin against thee.'

"'And Mercy, what sayest thou?'

"Then Mercy, dropping upon her knees, and looking up through her tears, exclaimed:

"'O God, make him; I will watch over him with my care through all the dark paths he may have to tread.'

"Then, brothers, God made man and said to him: 'O, man, thou art the child of Mercy; go and deal mercifully with all thy brothers.'"

His Distinction

New York World: Theodore Roosevelt has earned the distinction of being the only man who ever held the office of president of the United States whose testimony invariably required corroboration.

THE WILSON CAMPAIGN FUND

A PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN FUND FOR A PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT

SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED AT THE HERALD OFFICE, DULUTH

CAMPAIGN FUND FOR A PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT.

C. d'Autremont, Jr., Duluth.	$100
A. C. Weiss, Duluth.....	100
T. T. Hudson, Duluth.....	50
Alfred Jaques, Duluth.....	50
Harris Bennett, Duluth.....	25

M. J. White, Upson, Wis....	1

"Upson, Wis., Sept. 1, 1912.
"Wilson Campaign Fund,
"Herald Office, Duluth, Minn.
Gentlemen—Enclosed please find $1 for the good of the cause.
"M. J. WHITE."

The above note, with an enclosure of $1 was received by the Wilson campaign fund today.

It should be one of many of the kind Mr. White is a true Progressive. He believes in the Progressive cause. He believes that Woodrow Wilson typifies that cause, and he wants to see Woodrow Wilson elected to the presidency. He is willing to contribute his dollar to the good cause, and does so without hesitancy and with enthusiasm.

There should be many such. Every reader of The Herald who believes that Woodrow Wilson should be elected president of the United States should contribute whatever he can to the Wilson campaign fund. His $1 subscription will do much toward spreading the cause of Progressive Democracy over the country. Many $1 contributions will do more good than as many dollars contributed by one man, for they will show a wider spread of Wilson enthusiasm.

If you are a Progressive you want to see Woodrow Wilson elected.

A great political campaign cannot be conducted without money.

The Democratic national committee needs money now. The campaign is under way. Legitimate expenses are many, and they must be met by contributions from the common people of the nation.

If you want to see Woodrow Wilson elected, you should be willing to do your part.

If you can contribute $5, you should contribute that amount.

If you feel that you can afford to contribute only $1, you should send $1 to the campaign fund.

Every dollar will be put to good use.

All indications are that Governor Wilson will be elected if his principles and his personality can be brought before the people in all parts of the nation. That can be done only by an aggressive, wide-spread campaign such as the Democratic national committee has planned. No large campaign contributions will come from the corporate interests. They do not want Governor Wilson elected president. Governor Wilson does not want their aid in his campaign. He looks to the common people for the votes and for the fund to finance his campaign. The common people should respond to his sent to the Democratic national committee.

Contributions should be mailed to "Wilson Campaign Fund, Herald Office, Duluth, Minn." The contributions will be acknowledged by publication in The Herald, and the lists will be sent t othe Democratic national committee. Every contributor will receive a handsomely engraved receipt suitable for framing, and will have the satisfaction of knowing that he has contributed to a fund to elect a "People's President."

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Congressman Miller Maintains His Position on the Fence in Presidential Contest—The Contest for the Republican Nomination for Governor—Hans B. Haroldson to Manage Peterson's Campaign in Duluth—Jacobson May Be Third Party Candidate for Governor If Eberhart Is Renominated—Gordon Attacks His Opponents.

Miller on the Fence.

He declares he is thoroughly progressive and wants to continue to work for progressive legislation, and then leaves the voters in the dark as to whether he believes Taft, Roosevelt or Wilson would be the most valuable executive for the nation.

"I do not believe that there is any room in this state or any necessity in this state, for a third party. Unquestionably the place to work for the success of progressive principles in this state is in the Republican party," he says.

The repetition of "in this state" is evidently the result of careful forethought.

Mr. Miller doesn't say anything as to the necessity of a third party in the nation. He is careful to avoid any reference to the Republican president who vetoed tariff legislation Mr. Miller says was not enacted. He says the selection of a president is the people's job and he will leave it to them. In the same breath he goes outside of his congressional campaign to tell the voters what they shall do in the state campaign.

Before the Chicago convention Mr. Miller was silent on the contest between Taft and Roosevelt. He has been just as silent since the Chicago convention. He has obtained a position of even balance on the fence and evidently intends to keep it.

It was announced some time ago that the Roosevelt organization in the state would demand a definite statement from Mr. Miller. The intimation is that Mr. Miller will have Bull Moose opposition if he should fail to declare for Roosevelt. If Mr. Miller should declare for Roosevelt he would run contrary to his statement that "Unquestionably the place to work for the success of progressive principles in this state is in the Republican party." If he should declare for Taft, his progressive record would be stamped as a record of political expediency.

A position on the fence is a difficult position for any office holder or office seeker this year. It will grow increasingly difficult for Mr. Miller as the campaign advances.

The portion of his statement relating to his own candidacy and the duty of the people to make a selection for president without suggestions from congressional candidates, follows:

I have filed for re-election for congress on the Republican ticket. I have always identified myself with the progressive element in legislation and if re-elected will continue that course. I was perhaps the first to preach the progressive cause in this section of the state, and have unfailingly given my allegiance to that cause ever since. It is significant that the progressive movement which I now thoroughly believe is supported by the great mass of the American people is a Republican movement starting in the Republican party and practically all of its leaders and workers are and have been Republicans. The Republican party of this state is thoroughly progressive. There can be no question about that. By party, mind you, I do not mean a few leaders or anything called an organization. I mean the great mass of the voters—they constitute and form the party.

I do not believe that there is any room in this state, or any necessity in this state, for a third party. Unquestionably the place to work for the success of progressive principles in this state is in the Republican party.

The fundamentally important thing in the progressive movement is that the people shall themselves determine those things peculiarly within their own pwer to determine. If the progressive movement doesn't mean this it doesn't mean anything. One of the most important things within the power of the people to determine is the selection of their president. That is their job and they are equal to it. I am perfectly willing to abide by their decision. The president is the executive of the nation. Congress is the law-making body. The two are of co-ordinate power, but under our scheme of government are distinct and separate. I am a candidate for re-election for the reason that I have enlisted in the progressive cause and desire to carry on the work during this formative period. The experience I have gained during the last four years is of the utmost value in the work, and without such experience it would be mighty difficult to play much of the part in the events that will transpire within the next two years. This is one of the most important districts of the United States. Its business affairs alone require expert care and vigorous application. This work has always been a pleasure to me.

The Governorship Contest.

With the primary election only two weeks away, the opposition to Governor Eberhart is just as great in volume and just as far from crstallization as ever.

A field of five candidates is lined up against the governor, who has the support of the old organization that has up to this year been all-powerful in Republican politics in Minnesota.

The reactionary element in state politics is making its last stand on Eberhart. It has given up all hope of carrying Minnesota for Taft. It was routed and left for dead in the presidential contest last spring. It has revived sufficiently to make a last desperate contest for the renomination and re-election of Eberhart.

Gordon, Lee, Young, Spooner and Falk are opposed to Eberhart. Each is for himself and against the governor. Each is traveling over the state endeavoring to obtain votes for himself and to keep votes away from Eberhart.

If the Progressive sentiment which is distinctly anti-Eberhart, would settle on one or two of the Progressive candidates, and use the second-choice provision of the primary law, Eberhart's defeat would be accomplished.

If only 15 or 20 per cent of the voters use the second choice, which is the hope of the reactionary element, Eberhart will be renominated under the present lineup.

The Eberhart press has deliberately set out to confuse the people on the second choice in the hope that confusion would breed caution and cause the voters to neglect the second choice for fear that their first choice would be injured by its use. The tactics will be successful to some extent. The Progressive press is endeavoring to make the people understand that a second choice vote cannot be counted until the first choice is eliminated, and Progressive candidates are hopeful that the people will use the second choice.

Gordon's stock has not gone down as greatly as the Eberhart press is endeavoring to make people believe. His campaign has been badly managed and poorly financed, and his managers have failed to take advantage of political opportunities, but "Gordon is still strong. As the Minnesota Mascot says in reaffirming its support of Gordon, he was the first in the field. He issued the declaration of war, and the other Progressives merely stole his thunder when they entered the field.

Lee is probably the most formidable factor in the field right now. That is due to the fact that his campaign has had good management, and plenty of funds, and he has been personally active from the moment he declared his candidacy. He has spoken in every district, and has succeeded in attracting attention to himself by the violence of his strictures on the subject of state expenditures.

Much may happen in the next two weeks, but on the showing at present, Young should follow Gordon and Lee in first choice votes. He has certain strength in the Seventh district and a little in Southern Minnesota, but in Northern Minnesota his strength is hard to find and many voters resent his entrance into a race that already had a sufficient number of entrants.

Spooner has conducted a vigorous personal campaign on the declaration that no direct state tax would be needed in Minnesota if the finances of the state were properly administered, but for some reason his candidacy has not taken hold.

Martin Falk isn't known and will not be a factor.

Duluth Manager for Peterson.

Hans B. Haroldson, who has been identified with the Progressive movement in Duluth since it started, has been appointed local manager of James A. Peterson's campaign. Mr. Haroldson, who is a young attorney, will make a young man's campaign for Senator Nelson's opponent.

Mr. Peterson, who gave two speeches in Duluth, left today for Two Harbors and the range. He was preceded by William T. Coe, his campaign manager. Mr. Peterson left this morning for Two Harbors, where he was scheduled to give an afternoon talk today. Tonight he will speak at Ely, tomorrow night at Virginia, Thursday night at Eveleth and Friday night at Hibbing. Tonight Mr. Coe will speak at Winton, where he fishes each year and where he has many friends.

Having failed to get any of Nelson's friends into joint debate with Peterson's supporters, Mr. Coe has written a personal letter to Senator Nelson, asking that he publicly answer a list of questions submitted. The questions cover Nelson's votes on slip subsidy, on the commerce court, on allowing railroad stocks and bonds to be made security for national bank currency on an equality with government bonds, on child labor in the District of Columbia, on the immunity bath amendment, on the Ballinger incident, on the Canadian Northern bridge across the Rainy river, on the Arizona Constitution, on the senate organization, and on the La Follette wool bill.

The chances are that Mr. Coe will not get a rise out of the senior senator, either, but he and Peterson's other campaigners will make the most of the silence expected.

"Jake" for Governor.

The Progressive committee of fifty will hold a meeting tonight at St. Paul and will remain in the Twin Cities until after the visit of Col. Roosevelt Thursday.

The committee will probably take no action on a state ticket this week. Progressive candidates have a chance in the Republican primary two weeks from today and the committee will not jeopardize their chances by any action indicating a belief that the Progressives are out of the Republican race.

Talk in St. Paul indicates that J. F. Jacobson of Madison will be the Progressive candidate for governor if Governor Eberhart should be renominated at the primary. The Roosevelt men have already declared that if the governor as a representative of the reactionary wing of the Republican party should win at the primary, they will put a candidate on the ticket by petition. Jacobson is said to be the man.

Gordon Raps Opponents.

On returning from a week's tour through Southern Minnesota, Sam Gordon has issued a statement repeating his declaration that he will not withdraw, and declaring that the finds the outlook good. Incidentally he takes a shot at Lee for basing his campaign on the contingent fund of the governor and at Young on the ground of the high price of his services to the state in the railroad cases.

Gordon says:

The Progressives are inquiring closely into the legislative records of the several candidates for governor, all having served in the law-making branch of the state government, and with all due respect to my opponents, I feel and know that I am profiting by that investigation.

I am not basing my opposition to Governor Eberhart on the small matter of how he has expended his contingent fund and I do not believe the people of the state care to quibble over so trivial a matter. There are enough greater and more momentous questions.

I hold that the governor stands for the brewery trust, the railroads and allied special interests, and against the people's interests.

I hold that the brewery-owned saloon and through it the brewery dominance in politics is the greatest menace we have to good clean government in the state today. Governor Eberhart takes the opposite position and has the solid backing of this powerful organization, while its entire force is centered against my candidacy.

I hold that this state has been ridden over rough-shod by the railroad interests while Eberhart stood idly by and never raised a finger in protest.

I contend that Minnesota would never have been singled out as the weak sister in the group of states in which to bring suits to set aside the legislative law in the rate cases had it not been for the fact that we have a weak sister in the executive chair, and today the people would not be paying 3 cents a mile railroad fare instead of 2 cents and merchandise rates would not have been increased one-third, a direct result of the Sanborn decision, had Minnesota had a governor with some fighting blood and backbone.

As a result we not only have these increased rates, but the state has already paid out $52,000 to high-priced lawyers as fees to fight the cases in the courts and the end is not yet. Governor Eberhart's attitude in this matter has been to not only acquiesce in the Sanborn decision, but when the governors of twelve other states met to protest against the Sanborn decision and organize an effort to fight it, Minnesota's governor was most conspicuous by his absence.

Furthermore, these pending rate cases which have been dragging wearily in the courts have for two sessions of the legislature been held up as a bugaboo by the state's high-priced special attorneys in order to prevent legislation looking to an equalization of merchandise rates and the preventing of a continuance of discrimination between individuals and communities. These are a few of the important reasons why I am opposing Eberhart.

Another, and upon which the whole proposition centers, is the fact that he stands for bossism and high-handed machine rule in affairs of government. He indorsed the national Republican convention which forced the nomination of Taft; he stands for the bossism and machine methods of Ed. Smith in a general way and in turn the dictates of Fred Zollman and Ed. Parish, the brewery trust representatives.

Warner's Platform.

C. H. Warner of Aitkin, who is a candidate for re-election to the house for the Fifty-second district, has issued a statement setting forth his stand on questions at issue. He is opposed for the nomination by Thomas Brusegaard of Hill City. Mr. Warner's statement says:

I favor the enactment of presidential preferential primaries; the bringing of popular government closer to the people, and will vote for the choice of the people for United States senator. I favor the taxation of unsold state lands for the support of schools, for constructing roads and for making all local improvements. I am in favor of radical railway rate legislation. I favor 2-cent passenger rates for all, rich and poor alike. I favor a fair distance tariff freight law. I favor the regulation of express, telegraph and telephone companies and the reduction of rates to a reasonable basis. I favor placing some restraint on the rates fire insurance companies may charge and the placing of this matter in the hands of the state insurance commissioner or some board with power and authority to fix rates. I am in favor of eliminating brewery influence in politics, am opposed to the brewery owned saloon and in favor of county option. I am for a just reapportionment, for good roads, immigration, drainage and the settlement and development of Northern Minnesota. I stand for a square deal, and if nominated and elected will give to the people of this district my best thought and efforts and the most constant and faithful service of which I am capable.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

Confined to His Home for Weeks

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was the only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out that all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He told me to go to the Progressive Medical Association at No. 1 West Superior street. He had been cured himself by them and he knew they were square and knew men's diseases better than any other doctor in Duluth. They applied their Dissolving Method and at first my progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."—E. H. C.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made From Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

SAYS GIRL PULLED GUN

Tony Vultevich, Arrested With Revolver, Tells of Narrow Escape.

Declares Mande Slakich, Whom He Jilted, Attempted Murder.

Because she had been jilted by her lover, after a courtship of over six months, Mande Slakich, a young Austrian girl, this morning attempted to kill Tony Vultevich, who managed to take the revolver away from her before she was able to accomplish her purpose.

This is the story Tony told when he was caught running down Raleigh street with a revolver in his hand. Patrolman Anderson was standing in front of Doyle's saloon at 5519 Raleigh street, when he saw Tony dash from behind the building with a revolver in his hand, and sprint down the street. Officer Anderson stopped the fugitive with a shot from his own gun and arrested Tony on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

When brought to the West Duluth station Tony unfolded the story, startling from the time he first pressed his suit with the young Austrian woman until the culmination of the affair this morning. According to Tony, he had told Mande yesterday that his love had now grown cold and that it would be impossible to continue his courtship any longer. This morning Tony met Mande in the yard behind the saloon and she began to upbraid him for his sudden coldness and love for some other woman.

During the argument, Tony claims, Mande pulled a gun from her waist and was about to kill him, when he jumped aside, grasped the gun from her hand, and ran out into the street. Officer Anderson took the gun away from Tony and managed to keep him from several Austrian women who ran out into the street and attempted to attack him.

The gun, when examined by Officer Root at the station, was found to be loaded. Tony was locked up pending an inquiry into his claims, which are to be investigated by Officer Anderson. Tony is 23 years old and has worked as a laborer here for the past three years. The girl is 20 years old and came to this country several years ago. Asked why he had given up his love affair, Tony said that he was too poor to marry and that he did not care to go with a girl under such circumstances.

3,500 CHILDREN ARE REGISTERED

Growth Is Shown in All the West Duluth Schools.

More than 3,500 children, it is estimated, were in attendance at the opening session of the West Duluth schools this morning.

The number is the largest in the history of the local schools and shows a growth in every school in this end of the city, including Gary, New Duluth, Smithville and Fond du Lac. The largest attendance is at the Irving school and the Industrial high school, where over 1,600 children registered this morning. After the various classes were organized and the books distributed, the children were dismissed for the day.

The principals of the various West Duluth schools for the year 1912-1913 are as follows: S. A. Foster, Irving and Industrial high; Miss Frances Malthaner, Fairmont; H. G. House, Ely; Mrs. Lillian Davis, Merritt; J. Harter, Oneota, and Miss Sarah Smith, Stowe.

Futter of the West Duluth Commercial club, the library board at its regular monthly meeting this afternoon announced that its action in appointing Miss Margaret Ryan as librarian of the West Duluth library was final and that no change will be made from the original plan.

The petition presented by Mr. Futter was signed by a large number of West Duluth residents and requested the board to rescind its action in appointing Miss Ryan the new librarian in place of Miss Lyda J. Marble, former head of the local institution. Miss Marble is still working at the library, while Miss Robb, her former assistant, left last Saturday evening.

The board announced that it will issue a report within a few days, explaining its stand in the matter.

HAS HARD TIME TO GET INTO JAIL

Rich Indian Finally Accomplishes Necessary Formalities.

Portland, Or., Sept. 3.—George K. Gray, a wealthy Klamath Indian, got into jail today to serve a sixty-day sentence, only after a series of applications and arguments.

Gray was sentenced two months ago for having provided intoxicants with which his fellow-tribesmen celebrated not wisely but too well a birthday in the Gray family. Gray was granted a two months' suspension to harvest his crops. The time having expired, he appealed for admission to the jail Sunday and was refused. After two days of effort he finally got the needed papers today and marched back to jail.

REBELS AT WORK NEAR CANANEA

Cananea, Mex., Sept. 3.—Mounted rebels dashed into the Cananea district today, cut all the wires between here and Naco and burned three railroad bridges. When the news reached Cananea, 200 men left to engage the rebels, reported as numbering about 125 men.

Rebels Take Ojinja.

Marfa, Tex., Sept. 3.—Ojinja was captured by rebels today without firing a shot. The federal forces commanded by Gen. Sanchez fled to the hills and a small garrison left behind failed to fight. With the capture of Ojinja the rebels have obtained badly needed provisions, arms and ammunition.

SHERLOCK HOLMES, JR.

Chicago Record-Herald: "I see you have just painted your porch," said Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Yes," replied Dr. Whatson, "but one does not need to have an extraordinary talent for making deductions in order to discover that. The porch looks as if it had just been painted and there is the smell of fresh paint in the air."

"You do not keep a dog."

"Ah, now you interest me. What is there about my freshly painted porch that suggests to you that I do not keep a dog?"

"There are no dog tracks on it," replied the great amateur detective as he calmly lighted his pipe and walked away.

PETER DRUNK; PETER SOBER

Great Difference, Says C. C. Rosewater, in Discussing Republican Party.

Victor's Brother Says He Has to Work for Entire Family.

"Peter drunk and Peter sober are two different people" is the way C. C. Rosewater, manager and one of the owners of the Bee of Omaha, Neb., expresses hope for the Republican party when the ides of November arrive. It was therefore inferred that Mr. Rosewater regards the party, or a portion of it, as intoxicated by Rooseveltism, but with a chance of waking up before election day and carrying an aching head with it to the polls.

Mr. Rosewater and his family have been at Toben's Harbor, Isle Royale, for three weeks and returned from there today. Mr. Rosewater sent his family home, but, owing to the fact that he is a sufferer from hay fever, he will remain here for a few days and will then go into Wisconsin to see some paper mills in which he is interested. He does not relish the idea of talking politics. His brother and partner, Victor Rosewater, was chairman of the Republican national committee at the recent national convention, and C. C. Rosewater says that his brother takes care of the political end of the business.

"I attend to the publication's business and that of our farm paper," said Mr. Rosewater at the Holland today. "Otherwise, if somebody didn't we would go broke.

"So far as the political situation is concerned, I can say but little for I have been out of the world for three weeks, and anyway I don't take a great deal of interest in it."

He was asked about the situation in Nebraska when he left and he said that were the election held then it would mean Wilson. Roosevelt, he admitted, has cut a big figure in Nebraska, as he has elsewhere.

"But," said he, "I do not know of anything that he can do except defeat Mr. Taft, and I think that he may not succeed in doing that. Peter drunk and Peter sober are two different people, and just now the Republican party is far from a normal state of mind. It should be remembered too that things that are 'boomed' are not stable, and I question if this boom that is on now will last until November. Nobody can say that Mr. Roosevelt is stable. All admit that he is the extreme of the radical. Mr. Wilson, of course, is not extreme, but he is a radical. And people are afraid in their hearts of trusting to too radical a man.

"The maintenance of industrial welfare does not stop with the employers, but extends to the employed. Just now, with a return of industrial prosperity, more people than those who are talking about it, dread any uncertainty about its future, and I believe are prone to maintain the growth that has started. Also it is a fact that the Republican party is and has been a pretty close corporation, and you will find many people who have now declared themselves away from it, drift back before the final test. The fate of many Silver Republicans of 1896, who have ever since been trying to re-establish themselves in good standing with the party, is too recent a lesson to be forgotten quickly.

"There is no question but that Mr. Wilson is a very strong candidate, but I think that the innate prejudice that most business men and mechanical men have for the college man, believing him a theorist more than a practical man, will militate against him. But as I said before, this is only my opinion, and I don't know much about it."

BIG ELEVATOR IN CHICAGO BURNS

National Malting Company Suffers $250,000 Damage.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—One of the large grain elevators of the National Malting company in One Hundred and Third street was destroyed by fire today. The loss was estimated at $250,000. Fifty workmen in the elevator when the fire broke out escaped without injury.

MEXICANS HOLD WIFE FOR RANSOM

Cuban Citizen Begs 2,000 Pesos From People in Border Towns.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 3.—After a hard ride of more than 100 miles, Alonzo Fernandez y Arquillos, a Cuban citizen, arrived here today in an effort to raise 2,000 pesos to free his young wife, who is held hostage by rebels at his home at Colonia Diaz.

Arquillos called on Gen. Steever at Fort Bliss, Tex., and appealed to Gen. Joaquin Telles, commander of the Mexican federal forces about Jaurez.

Three days ago twenty rebels visited the ranch, which Arquillos managed for a City of Mexico banking house, and demanded 2,000 pesos (about $1,000), which the Cuban could not produce. He was given until Wednesday of this week to obtain the money. He started at once for El Paso. His wife was held as hostage.

ROUTINE MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD.

A short and routine meeting of the county board is being held this afternoon at the courthouse.

A good sized grist of bills was allowed and two judges and one clerk named for each of the fourteen unorganized election precincts of the county. Six liquor applications were received and will be acted upon before an adjournment is taken this afternoon. Chairman McInnis and Commissioner Frazer were prevented from attending the meeting through illness.

The October meeting of the board will probably be a busy one from present indications. This will be the adjourned session of the semi-annual meeting. The annual county tax levy will be made at that time.

COMMERCIAL CLUB FAVORS MUNICIPAL GARBAGE COLLECTION

The municipal committee of the Commercial club favors the extension of the municipal garbage collection system within a reasonable radius of the city incinerator.

At a meeting today, the garbage collection matter was discussed and the committee indorsed plans for the extension of the system on lines that will give the best results.

It was the sense of the meeting that it would be impracticable to haul garbage from Lakeside or West Duluth to the city incinerator, and that ultimately additional plants should be built east of Twenty-fourth avenue east and west of Twenty-fourth avenue west.

The committee would also have household garbage collected free and business house garbage put on a fee basis.

RAILROAD AGENTS WILL VISIT DULUTH.

A large party of members of the National Association of Railway Agents, en route in a special train to the Pacific coast for their annual convention, will be in Duluth next Sunday from 10 o'clock in the morning until 6:30 in the evening. They will be entertained by the Commercial club and Duluth railroad men. They will be taken on a boat ride up the river and for an automobile drive around the boulevard. Other forms of entertainment will also be provided.

TAKES MEASURE OF THE CHAMPION.

Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 3.—C. G. Waldo, Jr., the young Brooklawn player, took the measure of Champion Harold Hilton this morning on the links of the Chicago Golf club in the first half of the initial round of match play for the national amateur championship.

The Bridgeport youth played in par, having the English master one down at the turn, five down at the home hole. Waldo showed signs of strain, however.

"I wish it was over," he said.

Hilton was silent as he left the green for a noon rest from the hot sun. His round of 77 was a good one, but Waldo, with a two on the ninth and a three on the thirteenth, was unapproachable.

MARK TWAIN'S GREATEST "SCOOP."

Elbert Bigelow Paine in Harper's Magazine: It was March 18, 1866, when Mark Twain arrived at Honolulu, and his first impression of that peaceful harbor remained with him always. In fact, his whole visit there became one of those memory pictures, full of golden sunlight and peace, to be found somewhere in every human past.

It was near the end of June when he returned to Honolulu after a tour of the islands, fairly worn out and prostrated. He expected only to rest and be quiet for a season, but all unknown to him, startling and historic things were taking place in which he was to have a part—events that would mark another forward stride in his career.

The Ajax had just come in, bringing his excellency, Anson Burlingame, then on the way to his post as minister to China; also Gen. Van Valkenburg, minister to Japan; Col. Rumsey and Minister Burlingame's son, Edward, then a lively boy of 18. Young Burlingame had read the "Jumping Frog" and was enthusiastic about Mark Twain and his work. Learning that he was in Honolulu, laid up at his hotel, the party sent word that they would call on him next morning.

Clemens felt that he could not accept this honor, sick or well. He crawled out of bed, dressed and shaved himself as quickly as possible, and drove to the American minister's, where the party was staying. They had a gloriously good time. When he returned to his hotel he sent them, by request, whatever he had on hand of his work.

A still greater event was imminent. On that very day, June 21, 1866, there came word of the arrival at Sanpahoe, on the island of Hawaii, of an open boat containing fifteen starving wretches who on a short ten-day ration had been buffeting a stormy sea for forty-three days. A vessel, the Hornet, from New York, had taken fire and burned on the line, and since early in May on that meager sustenance the sufferers had been battling with hundreds of leagues of adverse billows, seeking for land.

A few days following the first report, eleven of the rescued men were brought to Honolulu and placed in the hospital. Mark Twain, of course, recognized the great news importance of the event. It would be a splendid beat if he could interview the castaways and he the first to get the story of it to his paper.

There was no cable in those days; a vessel for San Francisco would sail next morning. It was the opportunity of a lifetime, and he must not miss it. Bedridden as he was, the undertaking seemed beyond his strength.

But just at this time the Burlingame party descended upon him, and almost before he knew it he was on the way to the hospital, on a cot, escorted by the heads of the joint legations of China and Japan. Once there, Anson Burlingame, with his splendid human sympathy and handsome, courtly presence, drew from those enfeebled wanderers all the story of their long privation and struggle that had stretched across forty-three distempered days and 4,000 miles of sea. All that Mark Twain had to do was to listen and make the notes.

He put in the night, writing against time. Next morning, just as the vessel for the States was drifting away from her dock, a strong hand flung his bulky envelope of manuscript aboard, and if the vessel arrived, his great beat was sure. It did arrive, and the three-column story on the front page of the Sacramento Union, in its issue of July 19, gave the public the first detailed history of the terrible Hornet disaster and the rescue of those starving men. The telegraph carried it everywhere, and it was featured as a sensation.

WAS NOT HIRING ANY GENERALS.

Gen. John B. Gordon's "Reminiscences of the Civil War," Probably in no military organization that ever existed were there such cordial relations between officers and private soldiers as in the Confederate army. This was due, doubtless, to the fact that in our ranks there were lawyers, teachers, bankers, merchants, planters, college professors and students who afterwords became chief justices, governors and occupants of the highest public stations.

Since the war some of these privates have told with great relish of the old farmer near Appomattox who decided to give employment, after the surrender, to any of Lee's veterans who might wish to work a few days for food and small wages. He divided the Confederate employees into squads according to the respective ranks held by them in the army. He was uneducated, but entirely loyal to the Southern cause. A neighbor inquired of him as to the different squads:

"Who are those men working over there?"

"Them is privates, sir, of Lee's army."

"Well, how do they work?"

"Very fine, sir; first rate workers."

"Who are those in the second group?"

"Them is lieutenants and captains, and they works fairly well, but not as good workers as the privates."

"I see you have a third squad; who are they?"

"Them is colonels."

"Well, what about the colonels? How do they work?"

"Now, neighbor, you'll never hear me say a word about any man who fit in the Southern army; but I ain't a-gwine to hire no generals."

BRIDGET NONPLUSSED.

New York Evening Sun: Mrs. Jenkins had retired to her room to try to sleep off a headache. She had a particularly devoted maid, Bridget. Bridget now annoyed Mrs. Jenkins greatly by tiptoeing to her door every little while and peeping in at her.

Finally Mrs. Jenkins called to Bridget and asked her not to do it as it was disturbing her, to which Bridget replied:

"Shure, Mrs. Jenkins, phat am I to do? When yez makes a noise I think yez wants me, an' whin yez is quiet I gits to thinkin' maybe yez is dead."

CONSIDER FOND DU LAC ROUTE THE BETTER ONE

Superior's original plan to open a highway from the steel plant to the farming section near Carlton and the vicinity of Wrenshall has been dropped by the residents of West Duluth and the members of the New Duluth Commercial club.

The New Duluth Commercial club is now agitating for the opening of the highway through Fond du Lac and across St. Louis river at Chamber's grove. This plan, say the members of the club, is far more better than the Superior plan, which would mean an outlay of twice the money and an additional distance of several miles.

The Superior plan would greatly benefit the business men of that city and will probably be taken up by the residents there, now that there will be no co-operation from New Duluth. The Superior plan is for Duluth to build and improve the approach to the new St. Louis bridge at the steel plant, while Superior will similarly improve its approach to the bridge. In this way the farmers from the outlying country and Carlton county would go through the Wisconsin country in coming to New Duluth and Duluth.

This plan would not help Duluth in any way, say the members of the club, with the possible exception of preparing the bridge for the proposed street car extension from Superior to the steel plant. The present plans of the club provide for the improvement of the roads near each side of the proposed bridge at Chamber's grove, Fond du Lac. The river is 800 feet wide here and the co-operation of the government and the county officials will be asked by the club. The bridge will open up both Carlton and Wrenshall counties and will also connect with a road running down to St. Paul.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ALL DEPENDS ON COLONEL

His Wishes on Third Party Ticket in North Dakota to Govern.

Moose Presidential Candidate to Be Piloted By Progressive Friends.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. Theodore Roosevelt will be in the hands of Progressives during his visit in this state Friday. The third party leaders of North Dakota, desirous of avoiding anything that might tend to line Roosevelt up in any manner with the stalwarts of the Republican party, have seen to it that no such condition shall arise.

In Grand Forks that question was given attention by the new party men, and they declared most emphatically that Roosevelt's reception here must be handled by the Progressives. In accordance with that wish, the Grand Forks Commercial club, which had taken on the early work, turned the matter over to H. Bendeke, and the latter had complete charge of the arrangements, the purpose being to place a known Progressive at the head of the movement, rather than to run chances of bringing in names of local men, identified with the Commercial club, that might not prove entirely satisfactory from a Roosevelitian point of view.

Big Speech at Fargo.

Col. Roosevelt's address to the state third party convention in Fargo Friday noon will be a big feature in state politics. Many expect that the colonel will give advice as to the course he believes should be pursued in the nomination of a state ticket. Should he advise that such a ticket be placed in the field, the result will be important, as it would mean the nomination of a third ticket from top to bottom, with the greatest fight being centered about the office of governor. Another feature of the third state ticket question is that of Roosevelt's view of Congressman Hanna, who supported him in the presidential primaries last March. Some do not believe the colonel will advocate a state ticket, because its advocacy would, in a measure, be a slap at Congressman Hanna.

This week the Democrats are becoming active throughout the state. Coupled with the big banquet at Bismarck tonight, and the state committee meeting as well, there are numerous meetings throughout the state for the purpose of organizing Wilson clubs, Grand Forks, Williston, Binford and several other places being in line on that score. The committee in charge of the organization of such clubs proposes to place them in every county in the state.

TWO GIRLS WOUNDED BY "UNLOADED" GUN

Man Handling Weapon Pulls Trigger With Nearly Fatal Result.

Anamoose, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warning them to "run or he would fire," Johan Heintz, aged 20, raised an "unloaded" shotgun to his shoulders and pointed it at his sister, Regina Heintz, aged 16, and Margaret Schneider, aged 14, fifty feet ahead of him, pulling the trigger. The gun was loaded and both girls were nearly killed. The shot nearly tore all the muscle from the left shoulder of the Heintz girl, while Miss Schneider received much of the charge in her right shoulder and arm.

Miss Heintz's injuries are very serious, the flesh being torn from her arm and shoulder by the terrific force of the big charge.

The accident happened on the Heintz farm, fourteen miles northwest of here.

ISHPEMING MAN SHOTGUN VICTIM

Testing New Weapon at Target Shooting When He Is Shot.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—While Mike Rock, janitor at the American mine office here, and Rolo Jackamo, a friend, were shooting at a target at Diorite Sunday, Rock was accidentally shot and killed by a new gun they were testing. While they were readjusting the target the new gun fell from its place alongside a woodpile and went off, the charge striking Rock in the abdomen, at a distance of twelve feet, according to the story his companion tells. The latter is being held pending the result of a coroner's inquest.

Rock was 36 years old and had a wife and family in Italy. He was one of the best known Italians in Diorite and news of the fatality came as a great shock to his friends.

At his apiary Mr. Crowell has the latest kind of hives, extractors and other appliances. The bees feed on the white clover and basswood and as a result the honey is of an excellent quality and taste. The honey is extracted and placed in pint jars, tastefully labeled and the product is handled by many merchants of the city, to whom Mr. Crowell wholesales it.

PEOPLE MUCH EXCITED.

Wild Reports Over Work of Surveyors in Field.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Parker R. Howard of Duluth, who travels for the Cudahy Packing company, says the people in the vicinity of Roseau and northwest of Thief River Falls are very much excited over the survey crews of the Northern & Southern railroad, which are working in that section.

There are five crews working, one south of Winnipeg, one north from Iowa, which will soon meet the Winnipeg crew; one in Missouri, one in Arkansas and one in Texas.

The Winnipeg crew for the past two weeks has been working not far from Roseau, having crossed the line and is now working down east of Thief River Falls.

The proposed road from Winnipeg to the gulf, which is an air line, crosses ninety railroads, and the promoters are disposing of an immense amount of stock, considerable of it through the section of the country where the survey is being made.

Any Scientist will tell you that Beer keeps best in Brown Bottles

Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, Chicago, writes:

"We have tested beers repeatedly, placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure; found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed. The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles."

TEDDY TALKS IN THE RAIN

Discusses Wilson, Socialism, the Tariff and the Weather.

Advocates Turning School house into "The Senate of the People."

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Theodore Roosevelt has struck out on the trail of the bandana handkerchief to follow it on a month's journey in to the four corners of the country. His first day's trip took him into Connecticut and Massachusetts. Then he turned toward the West. He was greeted at every stop yesterday by large crowds.

Col. Roosevelt discussed Socialism, one of Woodrow Wilson's speeches, the tariff, the Democrats and the weather.

He spoke feelingly of the weather, for he made some of his speeches standing bare-headed in the rain.

"I'm sorry you should suffer so much from the wet," he told the crowd in Hartford, Conn. "I'm glad to see, though, that the Progressives of Connecticut never suffer from cold feet."

The colonel announced his belief that the national government should help lighten the expenses of political campaigns. He also declared himself in favor of control of insurance companies by the national government, and said schoolhouses shoud be used for political meetings.

Use the Schoolhouses.

"I wish to touch on the need of the government exercising its powers to help voters to get more control over their machinery than at present," he said at Hartford. "One of the ways by which I would see that done is by having greater use made of the schoolhouses by getting the government to utilize them as they have never yet been utilized. For example, the polling places ought all to be in the schoolhouses. At present we have the polling places in sheds, barbershops, saloons, everywhere, but we don't have them in the schoolhouses.

"But the schoolhouses should be utilized much more than that. They should be thrown open to all citizens for the purpose of public meetings, especially political meetings. That means that either the school principals or some other school officer should have it made part of his duty to provide for opening school buildings whenever needed for public meetings, and should, if necessary, provide means for having memoranda made of the discussion.

People's Senate Chamber.

"At first blush this will strike you as rather a revolutionary move. But I am sure we shall have to have the government assume for all parties some of the expenses of our political campaigns. It ought not to be necessary for the parties to hire buildings in which their candidates are to speak. We can make each schoolhouse a senate chamber of the plain people.

"Think of how this would reduce the expenses of campaigns. Everything should be done in the line of making the government limit what is necessary to be spent, and what can and shall be spent on campaigns, and also to make the government provide further legitimate means of reaching the people by arguments, which ought to be the real end of every campaign committee."

In speaking of control of insurance companies, Col. Roosevelt said:

"The national government must inevitably assume the control over business operations of many kinds that it never before has touched. For instance, the national government will have to control the insurance business, not to the extent of interfering with the taxing power of the states, but so as to properly regulate and protect the insurance companies."

The colonel began his tour with the announced intention of making one speech in most of the states he is to visit. The only speech he had planned to deliver yesterday was in Hartford, although a few days ago he promised to stop at Bridgeport, Conn., for an hour. But at almost every stop along the line he found crowds which cheered until he made a speech.

Col. Roosevelt is due at St. Louis at 3 p. m. today and after speaking there will leave for St. Paul.

WILSON TO TALK IN MINNESOTA

Michigan and Wisconsin Also to Be Visited By New Jerseyan.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Congressman A. S. Burleson of Texas, chairman of the speakers bureau of the Democratic national committee, who has arrived in Chicago on his way to Maine, announced that after the second week in September Governor Wilson would deliver a series of speeches in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The itinerary for this tour has not been completed. Governor Wilson will not go west of Minnesota on this first trip into the west, but early in October he will return to the west to speak in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. Dates for this second trip will be announced within a fortnight.

DECREASED PRODUCTION

Report By Geological Survey Shows Encouraging Prospects for 1912.

Washington, Sept. 3.—There was a decrease of nearly 28 per cent in the production of iron ore and a smaller but noteworthy decrease in the production of pig iron and steel in the United States in 1911, compared with the production of 1910, due to the large over-production of ore in 1910 and to a lessening in demand for iron products in 1911. The prospects for 1912 are encouraging, according to Ernest F. Burchard of the United States geological survey, in a report just issued on the "Production of Iron Ore, Pig Iron and Steel in 1911," but at no time since 1907 has the excessive capacity for manufacturing iron and steel been fully utilized, and nothing short of abnormal activity, which is not likely to occur in 1912, will result in employing the full capacity of the plants.

Conservation of Ore.

One of the important features of the iron-ore industry in 1911 was the increased attention paid to the conservation of ore in the Lake Superior region through beneficiation (washing, concentrating, roasting, nodulizing and briquetting of ores).

The iron ore marketed in the United States in 1911 amounted to 40,989,808 long tons, valued at $86,419,830 at the mines, compared with 56,889,734 long tons, valued at $140,735,607, in 1910. Minnesota and Michigan produced the bulk of the iron ore, the former 23,398,406 long tons and the latter 8,944,393 long tons.

During the year 159 mines produced over 50,000 long tons of iron ore each, compared with 191 mines which exceeded that output in 1910. The largest quantity produced by any single mine in 1911 was 1,553,510 long tons, from a mine at Marble, Minn.

The production of pig iron in 1911 amounted to 23,257,288 long tons, valued f. o. b. at the furnaces at $327,234,624, compared with 26,674,123 long tons, valued at $412,162,486, in 1910, a decrease in quantity of 3,416,835 tons and in value of $84,827,862. Pennsylvania produced the greatest quantity of pig iron, 9,581,109 long tons; Ohio was second, with 5,371,378 long tons, and Illinois stood third, with 2,036,081 long tons.

The total quantity of steel produced in 1911 was 23,675,501 long tons, against 26,094,919 long tons in 1910. The bulk of it came from Pennsylvania, whose output was 13,207,539 long tons.

In this report the United States geological survey has undertaken for the first time to present the statistics of production of iron alloys separately from those of pig iron, with which they have been heretofore included. Although the total quantity of these alloys is small, amounting to only about one-eighth of the average production of pig iron for one month, the value per ton is relatively so great as to have an important influence on the apparent value of the pig iron if included with it. The total marketed production of these iron alloys, or ferro-alloys, in 1911 as reported to the geological survey was 253,375 long tons, valued at $8,377,832. These alloys have a variety of names, such as ferromanganese, spiegeleisen, ferrosilicon, ferrophosphorus, ferromolybdenum, ferrotitanium, ferrotungsten and ferrovanadium, according to the metal with which the iron is combined.

LOUIS WEBER DIES IN WEST

One of Duluth's Earliest Settlers Succumbs to Old Age.

Word has been received in Duluth of the death Sunday of Louis Weber, 86 years of age, at Los Angeles, Cal., of complications due to old age.

Mr. Weber was one of Duluth's first settlers, coming here forty-four years ago. He opened and ran the first bakery in Duluth and was in business until ten years ago, when he removed to the West because of his health. He is survived by two sons and four daughters. One of them, Sergeant A. F. Weber, of the local police force, resides in Duluth. The funeral took place today.

KAISER REVIEWS AN ARMY OF 60,000 MEN.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Emperor William passed in review yesterday the most powerful army ever gathered in Berlin in time of peace. It comprised over 60,000 men and was composed of the artillery, cavalry, infantry, engineers and auxiliary troops of the guards and of the third army corps. The army flying corps took part in the parade for the first time since its formation. Eight aeroplanes and two dirigible balloons under the guidance of officer-airmen flew at the head of the marching columns, as they passed the emperor.

REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT

Senator Bourne Tells What He Called at White House For.

Gives His Version of Effort to Get Peace With Oil Trust.

Washington, Sept. 3.—United States Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon has replied to Col. Roosevelt's statement that he and Former Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania were the only legislators who ever called at the White House during his administration in regard to Standard Oil.

"I must confess surprise at Col. Roosevelt's dragging my name into the controversy he is now having with Standard Oil representatives and others," said Senator Bourne. "I fail to see how my effort to bring about a settlement between the government and the Standard Oil company in 1908 has any bearing upon the present political situation."

The senator, explaining that in 1908 he did endeavor to settle differences between the government and Standard Oil, declared that he did so "believing such a result would prevent the continuance of a panic started in 1907 and that the government could secure much better terms through a settlement than through court."

Favored Co-operation.

The senator further declared that he told President Roosevelt he thought the time opportune to make a settlement with the Standard Oil company, and to secure their co-operation in getting a federal corporation law "that would provide a harbor or refuge for honest business with the government, the harbor master, and the penitentiary for the dishonest business men."

"President Roosevelt expressed grave doubt," Senator Bourne continued, "about any settlement favorable to the government being made with the Standard Oil company. Entirely on my own volition and without Col. Roosevelt's, I went to New York and sought an interview with Mr. Archbold. I explained to him the advantages of a federal incorporation law. Mr. Archbold expressed himself as willing to compromise with the government and favored a stringent federal incorporation law."

Following this, the senator said, several conferences were held with the representatives of the department of justice.

Would Minimize Panic.

"In my opinion," he continued, "the government would have been much better off had one been made rather than the final decision of the supreme court. I wish to state that I had no personal interest in the matter other than a desire to minimize the panic and secure the support of big business interests for a virile federal incorporation law.

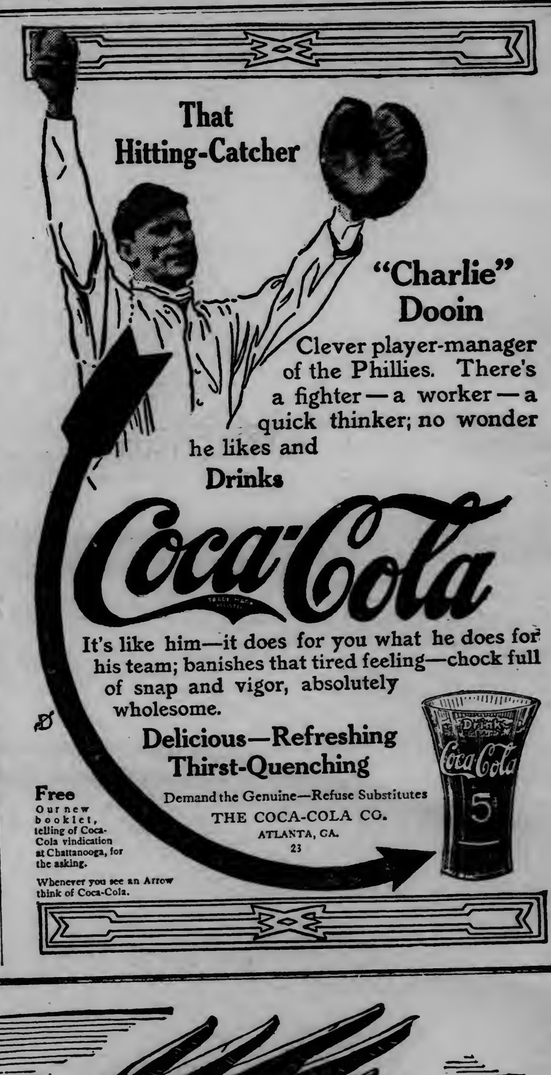

"I have never had any interest in any of the Standard Oil companies. I have known Mr. Archbold and his family for several years, and have visited his house. Neither he, nor any of his associates, has ever talked to me about any congressional or state legislation other than my talks with him on a federal incorporation law and the popular government fundamentals."

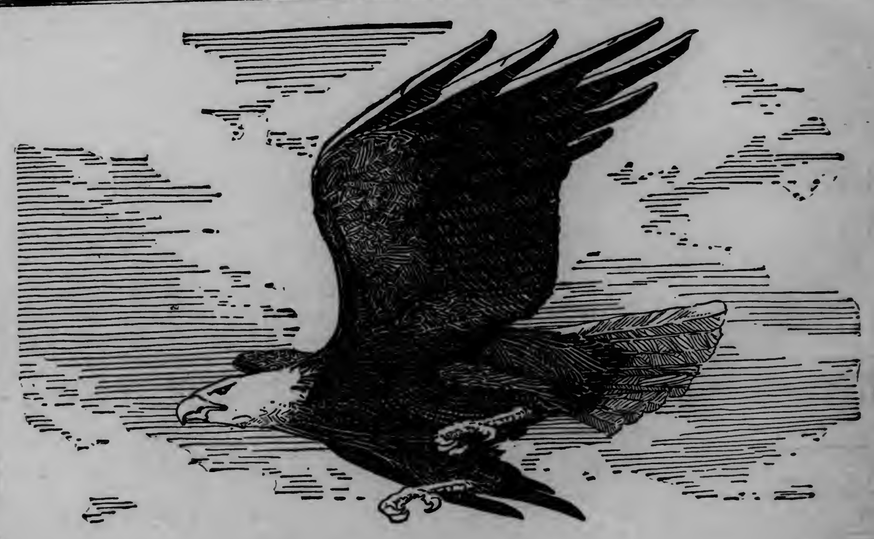

STEAMER BURNS AND SINKS AT BALTIMORE.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 3.—After an outbreak of fire which swept rapidly through her hold, the steamer Nantucket of the Merchants & Miners Transportation company turned over late yesterday afternoon and sank to the bottom of the Baltimore harbor.

Firemen and members of the crew who had been fighting the flames from the deck of the ship, narrowly escaped death. Frantically they clung to the masts, stanchions and parts of the rigging as the plunge was made. All of the men, about forty in number, were rescued by fire and police boats. The vessel was valued at $450,000.

The best way not to succeed is not to advertise.

CURTAIN IS RUNG DOWN

Duluth and Superior Divide the Labor Day Double Bill.

1,500 Fans Bid Farewell to Pennant Winning White Sox.

Duluth—just to be fair—divided another double bill with Taylor's Red Legs yesterday. The occasion was the passing away of the 1912 season of the See-Eye league. Fifteen hundred fans witnessed the death struggles of the late lamented season and were at its bedside when life was declared extinct shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday.

The weather was delightful for baseball, it seemed that it had been dished up for the occasion and presented to the management of the local club on a silver platter. It helped out on attendance wonderfully and seemed to give stimulus to the players in the last two games of the season. Both proved fine exhibitions.

The morning mix was staged at Hislop park across the pond. Just to be sociable Duluth let the Red Sox win. The score was 3 to 2. At Athletic park yesterday afternoon the tables were turned on the Swampers, Darby's Dooks subjected the Taylor men to the humiliation of a 2 to 0 shutout.

In the morning fracas the fielding and batting was of the first order, both sides playing without error. All counts were carried. 'Old Faithful' Worman was the selection of O'Brien for mound duty and Lampman dispensed for the Suburbanites. 'Old Faithful' was not in the very pink of condition and although he rose to the occasion in several of the pinches, it was conceded that Superior had a shade the better of it.

Superior scored three and Duluth two. A two-bagger or better figured in every count. Leber's home run in the sixth with McGraw already on was responsible for Duluth's end of the score. It was the ability of the Superior swatters to hit when hits were most needed that really turned the trick for the Reds.

Duluth had a chance to score in the first, but it fell through. This chance consisted of two singles and a stolen base. McCauley for Superior in the second hit the ball and secured $50 and two bases. McCauley was advanced on a single by De Lave and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Superior scored again in the fourth, when Benrud's double to left brought in Dunn, who had singled and been advanced. The Red Legs again tallied in the seventh, when Donovan trotted home after a pass, sacrifice and a double by Dunn. Duluth nearly scored in the eighth.

Afternoon Game.

The afternoon game at Athletic park was an interesting exhibition. It was sort of a pitchers' duel between Red Legs Rhoades and one Mr. Johnson of Duluth. Johnson had the rabbit foot with him when it came to pulling out of tight places; to-wit: bases full and only one man out. Johnson got into other tight pinches but squeezed through.

The only scoring during the entire matinee took place in the seventh inning. It was thus: Leber was safe on McCauley's miscue. Sours singled, advancing Leber to third. Sours stole second. Little Eva scored on Sam Menece's sacrifice fly and Sours took third. Bennie was struck by a pitched ball, and after the customary wrangling as to Rhoades' intentions in the matter, he took first. On an attempted double steal, Bennett secured second and Sours was caught at home plate. Stark walked and Johnson singled, scoring Bennett.

In the seventh, Superior threatened seriously to score. With one man out, the bases were filled and prospects were fine for runs, but Johnson met the situation and crawled out by fanning Black. Rhoades popped out, ending the spasm.

Ford for Superior was robbed of a good bingle by Bluhm, who speared a hot one several feet off first base in a rather sensational manner. In the last inning Superior's prospects brightened, and with two men on, Taylor—wise old head—conceived the idea that this would be the critical moment to use Mr. Benrud, pinch hitter. Mr. Benrud was to hit for Rhoades and attempt to bring in De Lave and Black, who had both singled. Benrud tried hard, but flew to deep center, Bennett spearing the sphere. This was the passing of Superior's last chance. The last Superior man went down on an infield pop-up.

F. Robinson made a balloon ascension and parachute jump immediately after the game. This afternoon there will be a post-mortem at Hislop park, Superior—a sort of a 'Bosters' Day" affair. Duluth and Superior will play.

RIXEY BEATS RUCKER IN A PITCHING DUEL.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Philadelphia defeated Brooklyn in one of the best pitching duels seen here this season by 2 to 1 in thirteen innings. The opposing pitchers were Rixey and Rucker. The latter weakened in the thirteenth inning, when the home team scored the deciding run on four singles. Rucker did not give a base on balls, and only three passes were given by Rixey. Score: R. H. Brooklyn defeated the home team in the morning game. The visitors tied the score after two were out in the ninth on a home run drive by Erwin, a pinch batter, and they won the game in the eleventh inning on Miller's double with two men on the bases and two out. The batting of Magee, who made four hits in five times up, was a feature of the game. Score: R. H. E.

BIGGEST CROWD IN YEARS SEES GIANTS WIN.

Boston, Sept. 3.—The biggest crowd at a National league game in this city in several years, saw the Giants take both games of the double-header from Boston, thereby increasing their lead in the pennant race, while Chicago loafed. Doyle's home run with two men on bases, won the first game in the twelfth inning, after a pitchers' battle, in which Perdue opposed Marquard and then Mathewson. It was a runaway for New York in the second, the score being 6 to 1, the Giants combining hits with Donnelly's wildness for five runs in the third inning. Tyler, who succeeded Donnelly, held New York safe until the game was called in the seventh inning on account of darkness. The scores:

TEAMS FINISH GAME BY LIGHT OF BON FIRES.

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—Cincinnati won both games of a double-header from St. Louis, at the close of which one of the most remarkable sights ever seen on the local base ball grounds was witnessed. It was almost dark and the crowd had been calling for a called game. When Umpire Eason refused to listen to the cries, bon-fires, made by programs, sprang up all over the park, and in a few moments thousands of them were in evidence. Eason insisted on the game being played out, however. McLean was hit in the head with a bat in the first game and retired. The opening contest was featured by great fielding. The scores:

HIGHLANDERS LOSE DOUBLE BILL TO BOSTON.

New York, Sept. 3.—Boston took a double header from New York on the Polo grounds, the home of the New York Nationals, by scores of 2 to 1 and 1 to 0. Boston won the first game in the eighth inning when Yerkes scored Hooper with a triple and Ford let him home with a balk.

The second game was a pitchers' battle in which Wood won the decision over McConnell. It was Wood's fourteenth straight victory. Boston scored the only run of the game in the first inning when Hooper singled and McConnell threw wild to catch him napping. He went to third on Yerkes' sacrifice and scored on Speaker's sacrifice fly. New York had three on bases in the ninth inning, but Wood struck out McConnell for the third out. FLYNN BEATS FRISCO BOXER

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 3.—Putting a cyclonic finish to a cautious, well-judged early pace, Jim Flynn of Pueblo was declared the winner of his battle with Charlie Miller at Colma yesterday, when the big San Franciscan refused to leave his corner and toe the scratch for the sixteenth round.

Miller gamely stayed through the fifteenth round, but claiming that two of his ribs were fractured and that he was barely able to walk, he ignored the beckoning gong for the sixteenth. Miller's condition was plainly such that he could not continue. It was whispered at the ringside that the police were about to draw the curtains on the scene.

With the exception of some of the earlier rounds, Flynn outfought his former sparring partner and administered a severe beating to the champion aspirant. He closed Miller's left eye and drew blood from the face more than once. During the last five rounds he had Miller wobbly a portion of the time, and on four occasions nearly scored a bull's eye by dropping Miller.

Miller was willing at all times and forced the fighting through many of the rounds. He stood and exchanged punches for punches with Flynn and started several rallies that brought the crowd to its feet yelling.

Flynn used an effective right uppercut, and jolted Miller with head punches. He landed frequently on the body, but took few chances in registering his blows.

During the tenth round, after Miller had beaten Flynn around the ring in one of the sensational rallies, he stood and looked at the fireman and then said, smilingly, "Gee, Flynn, I've got to give it to you. You're a tough guy."

Flynn weighed about 182 pounds and Miller was down to 218 ringside. Spider Kelly refereed.

DULUTH MEN MAKE A GOOD SHOWING

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3.—Favored with ideal weather the canoe regatta at Lake Harriet yesterday afternoon was viewed by hundreds of enthusiasts, while the contests were exceptionally spirited. The Lake Harriett club captured first place after the Duluth Boat club team were disqualified in the rescue race, which took 5 points from their standing and gave them second place. Lake Harriet had 38 points; Duluth, 31; Minneapolis Athletic club, 17; Tri-Lake, 8, and Minnesota Boat club, 1.

The showing of the Duluth team was remarkable for the fact that four men only represented the Zenith City. Dr. Lynam their star man in the singles was unable to accompany the team and Guy Warren did not arrive in time.

Lloyd Williams for Duluth took third in the 100-yard singles, 17 and 18-foot class. In the 200-yard doubles Horak and Fry took second, and Dave and Lloyd Williams, third. Dave Williams took third in the 100-yard singles.

Dave Williams took third and Lloyd Williams second in the 100-yard standing on the gunwale. Williams brothers took first in the 100-yard changing seats, doubles. Horak and Fry were second in this event.

In the relay race Duluth won first. Dave Williams and Fry started, Fry was changed to L. Williams and then to Horak. The 100-yard doubles, standing on the gunwale went to Horak and Fry, first and Williams brothers, second.

Duluth was disqualified in this last named race and the judges ordered the race run over, with Duluth finishing first and second again.

In the rescue race Duluth took first place, but the judges disqualified them, claiming that they paddled too far in making the change. The event is a new one in the West and all of the participants were new to the restrictions. The Duluth crew put in a protest and even wanted to race it over as they had been allowed to do in the other event, but this was denied them. The miscue robbed them of first place.

Finnish Athletes Arrive.

New York, Sept. 3.—Hannes Kohlemainen, the Olympic champion distance runner, and his brother, a professional Marathon runner, who arrived here Sunday, were allowed to land yesterday. The fact that they were held up at Ellis Island over night, led to reports that the Finnish athletes might not be permitted to enter the country, but they only shared the inconvenience of all steerage arrivals, and when it was found today that the brothers were sufficiently well supplied with funds, they were promptly released. They expect to work as masons in this country and to participate in athletics.

MANDOL WINS FROM RIVERS

New Orleans Fighter Clearly Demonstrates Superiority Over Clever Mexican.

Rivers Was Made to Look Like a Novice—Decision Popular.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 3.—Out-generaled and out-fought in nearly every round by Joe Mandol of New Orleans, Joe Rivers, the Los Angeles lightweight, lost the decision to the visitor at the end of their 20-round bout in the Vernon arena yesterday.

The Mexican claimant to the highest honors in the lightweight class was a mere novice in the hands of the clever Southerner, although he outweighed Mandol two pounds when they entered the ring. Rivers weighed in at 133 and Mandol 131. Rivers made a much poorer showing than he did against Ad Wolgast on July 4. He appeared slow and showed to advantage only in the infighting. In the closing rounds Mandol even outfought him in the clinches.

Mandol solved Rivers' defense early in the bout, landing straight lefts to the face almost continuously without return. In the eighth he began rocking Rivers' head with right and left swings, and in nearly each of the succeeding rounds he followed this style of attack. He showed great cleverness in blocking and countering. The boys spent much of the time in clinches, and Referee Eyton was compelled frequently to pry them apart.

Rivers had a shade the better in the fourth, sixth and eleventh rounds. In the thirteenth Mandol nearly closed the Mexican's right eye with a left swing, and in the next round he punished him severely with straight lefts and rights. Mandol appeared to be tiring in the sixteenth round, and the fierce slugging match at long and short range Rivers earned even honors for the round. The seventeenth was almost a repetition, Rivers roughing it toward the close and wrestling Mandol to the mat at the bell. The nineteenth was Mandol's.

Rivers tried his best to but away the Southerner in the last round, but Mandol cleverly eluded his rushes and swings. The decision in Mandol's favor was popular.

CHICAGO CREW WINS REGATTA

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Chicago carried off honors in the annual regatta of the Lincoln Park Boat club, held on the lagoon at Lincoln park, defeating the Milwaukee Boat club team in the eight-oar race and the 480-yard relay swimming event. The Cream City team defeated the locals in the four-oar gig race, capturing the half-mile event in 3:02.

The Chicago team made good time in the shell race, covering the half-mile course in 2:40 2-5. In the swimming race the Chicagoans outclassed the visitors, being sixty yards ahead at the finish.

George Gordon and Christian E. Wartson won the double shell event from E. Kerf and A. Rheberger. The time given was 2:48, but this was unofficial.

An amusing event, not on the program, was staged when Howard Hays, Jr., 3 years old, son of a member of the Lincoln Park club, and another boy of the same age, swam a thirty-yard race. Young Hays was an easy victor, and on this account the other contestant refused to give his name. Each boy wore a life preserver.

PROCTOR WINS FROM THE FITWELLS.

Reneaud, in the box for the Proctors in their game with the Fitwells on the latter's grounds yesterday, pitched a great game, allowing his opponents only two hits, and winning his game by a score of 3 to 1. Talbot, for the Fitwells, also pitched a good game, but the Proctors bunched their hits on him and secured scores. The game was a fast one, both teams playing in league style and giving the spectators plenty to cheer about. The Proctors have been winning games with clockwork-like precision and are anxious for a game or a series with any team which thinks it is the champion team of the Head of the Lakes. Dr. Lawler will receive propositions for contests. Score:

Proctor .....1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 x—3

Batteries—Reneaud and Schaeffer; Talbot and Buski.

BRONSON-FERNS FIGHT A DRAW

'Wildcat" Is Harder Hitter But Bronson Excelled at Infighting.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—Ray Bronson of this city and Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns of Kansas City, fought ten fast rounds to a draw here last night.

One minute after the opening of the first round, Ferns crossed Bronson with a hard right to the jaw, sending Bronson down for the count of nine. Bronson's gameness gave him an even break in the second.

Ferns opened the third round by flooring Bronson for the same count with another hard right to the jaw, but Bronson came back strong.

Ferns was by far the harder hitter, but Bronson's superior infighting and clever footwork earned him a draw.

OSHKOSH BOXER BEATS DAVE SMITH

New York, Sept. 3.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., knocked out Dave Smith, who holds the middleweight and lightweight championships of Australia, in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Madison Square garden last night.

Smith was on his feet when the referee intervened, but the foreign fighter was out to all intents and purposes. After 1 minute and 18 seconds of fighting, McGoorty landed a left on the jaw that sent Smith down for a count of nine. As he arose, a right uppercut to the jaw sent him down a second time. McGoorty had an advantage of five pounds, weighing in at 167. Louis De Ponthieu of France, lightweight champion of France, outpointed Tommy Garry of Chicago.

WHITE SOX TO WAUSAU.

What players he can spare, Darby O'Brien will send to Mike Malloy at Wausau today.

Stark will go today and others may follow tomorrow.

PITTSBURG FANS SEE OPEN AIR MIX

First Event of the Kind Proves Successful; Clark Beats Jeannette.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3. — Pittsburg was initiated to open-air fighting, the first real event of its kind that has been staged here. A large audience appeared and the program was successful.

Jeff Clark of Joplin, Mo., "The Fighting Ghost," and Joe Jeannette of Hoboken, N. J., aspirant for championship laurels, composed the principal bout. Three other good bouts were held before the principals appeared. Popular opinion gave the best of the mill to Clark. In several rounds he fought rings around Jeannette. Clark weighed 163½ and Jeannette 198½.

Marathon Race.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3.—Fritz Carlson of Minneapolis won the amateur modified Marathon race of twenty miles, Minneapolis to St. Paul and return, in easy fashion, making the trip in two hours, two minutes and three-fifths second. Sidney Hatch of Chicago was second, more than ten minutes behind the winner, his time being 2:13:55. Third and fourth places went to Sidney Bright of Minneapolis and W. J. Kennedy of St. Louis respectively. Bright collapsed just as he crossed the line. Forty-two entered the race, but only twenty-nine answered the starting gun, nineteen men finishing. Carlson, the winner of the local race, first came forward as a distance runner when he finished fifth in the Boston Marathon this winter.

HORSES MAKE RECORD TIME

Minor H. and George Gano Make Low Time in Paced Trial.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 3.—Although Minor Heir and George Gano of the M. W. Savage barns failed to lower the pacing team record for the mile in 2:02¾ made by Hedgewood Boy and Lady Maud three years ago, the Savage team, paced by a runner, in connection with the Great Western races here, made the low time of 2:04¼. The record, say race officials, is the second best in the world, the former mark of 2:05¼ never having been broken until the performance of Hedgewood Boy and Lady Maud C. The time by quarters was 31, 1:02, 1:34, 2:04¼.

2:25 trot, purse $1,000, best three in five—Fred Harding, b. g., by Constantero (Fenton), won; Lulu Lumine, b. m., by Orator (Ames), second; Odd Bell, b. g., by Belshire (Langum), third. Best time, 2:19 ¾.

New York, Sept. 3.—Against adverse weather conditions on a wet track and field, "Jim" Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian who holds the Olympic Decathlon and Pentathlon records, won the all-around amateur athletic championship of America at Celtic park yesterday. He was first in seven of the ten events which make up the trying contest, and finished second to John Bredemus of Princeton in the other three, the pole vault, one-half mile walk and sixteen-pound hammer throw.

Gets Decision on Foul.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 3.—Benny Chaviz of Trinidad was awarded the decision over Monte Attell of San Francisco on a foul in the twelfth round of a gruelling fight here yesterday. The delivery of the foul caused wild excitement. Spectators crowded into the ring and the platform collapsed. No one was injured.

Rain Spoils Races.

New York, Sept. 3.—Owing to rain and the poor condition of the track, only four of the seven automobile races scheduled were decided at the Brighton Beach race track. "Bob" Burman did not enter a one-mile record with his 300-horse power Benz.

Ball Season Ends.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Play in the Central Association of Baseball Clubs ceased yesterday for the season. Ottumwa won the championship, having jumped into the lead some time ago. It was a fine race for the pennant, Keewaydin finishing in second place, only two and a half games behind the leaders.

Bout Did Not Take Place.

Winnipeg, Can. Sept. 3.—The fight between Freddie Welsh of England and Ray Temple of Milwaukee, scheduled to take place here, was declared off. It was stated that Temple was not in condition to go on. Walsh, who has been here for several months, announced that he would return to England at once.

Virginia Boy, Bitten By Mad Dog, Dies in Agony of Hydrophobia.

Mayor Murphy Orders That All Unmuzzled Dogs Be Shot on Sight.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas William Hedican, aged 7½ years, son of Patrick Hedican, a special officer for the Oliver Iron Mining company in the Higgins location, died at his home in that location about midnight Monday, from the attending physician's diagnosis as hydrophobia. It is said the boy's last hours were marked with great agony and it became necessary to hold him in his bed. The boy was one of seven children and his death created a mild sensation.

Bitten By Unknown Dog.

The boy was bitten by an unknown dog July 28 last. The wound was given the usual treatment but not until forty-eight hours prior to death did he develop symptoms of hydrophobia or did the case become alarming. Unfortunately the dog that bit the boy was never identified otherwise the animal's head might have been sent to the state university to determine whether it had rabies and a more vigorous treatment for hydrophobia given. The people are considerably worked up over the affair and to prevent any more dogs biting children, Mayor Murphy today issued orders to shoot on sight all unmuzzled dogs found at large.

It is said that there have been several cases of mad dogs on the range this summer and that some cows and other animals have been bitten but this cannot be verified.

GROELLE CASE IS DISMISSED

No Prosecution of Man Who Was Brought Back From Winnipeg.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—On motion of Assistant County Attorney Boyle in district court today Judge Hughes dismissed the case against Oscar Groelle, who was charged with having collected money for the Virginia Brewing company while employed by that concern a year ago and not turning it in. The assistant county attorney said that owing to the lack of evidence he did not think a conviction could be secured. The court granted the motion. Groelle was arrested in Winnipeg a few weeks ago and brought back on the charge of withholding about $1,100 from the brewing company.

It is reported that a settlement has been effected between the complaining witness and the accused, but this cannot be verified.

The court this afternoon will hear some of the cases against alleged blindpiggers at Gilbert, who were convicted in the justice's court and appealed. Assistant County Attorney Warren Greene arrived to prosecute the cases.

Brofie is a well-known character, having lived for some time around Ely and Winton, having followed the woods for a livelihood.

The Ely Tuesday club began their regular meetings for the year this afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Olds.

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

BY A SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

Well! Well!! Well!!! Two days of beautiful weather in a row. It is almost too good to be true, but this indeed true, Clarice. The weather man cannot maintain such good humor for a very long period, however. He returns to his croak, "Showers tonight or Wednesday." We should be thankful for small favors and hope he misses his guess.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:30 and it will set at 6:45 this evening, giving thirteen hours and fifteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Since Saturday showers have fallen at times over most Northern districts except that there was but little or no rain in the meantime over the Dakotas. Hot weather has prevailed steadily since Saturday in Central and Southern states. At the Head of the Lakes there will be more or less cloudiness during the ensuing thirty-six hours and local showers are apt to occur during either tonight or Wednesday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer Wednesday and in west portion tonight.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight in north and west portions; warmer Wednesday in east and south portions.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight in northeast portion.

Minnesota—Fair in east and south; showers in northwest portion tonight or Wednesday; warmer tonight in southeast portion; cooler Wednesday in west portion.

North Dakota—Showers tonight or Wednesday; cooler tonight; cooler Wednesday in east and south portions.

South Dakota—Local showers tonight or Wednesday; cooler.

AURORA BEATS TOWER IN EXCITING GAME.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora baseball team won an exciting game from Tower, Monday, in six innings by a 6 to 5 score. Tower had the game won, and lost it through poor playing after two men were out. It was poor baseball on both sides, but there were many interesting situations that made the game most exciting and interesting. At the close of the sixth the game was called to allow Tower to catch the train.

NOTES FROM TOWER

Tower, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many people enjoyed Labor day at Everett's, at Vermilion Dam, some twenty or thirty taking dinner there.

A number of lake visitors have arranged to spend all of September on the lake, and a number are already booked for a part of October at numerous cottages.

A large number of women and their children enjoyed a trip on the Olive to Gold island, where a picnic dinner was spread. The day was one that was more of a July day than any experienced that month.

Lyle Bruneau, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bruneau of this place has enlisted in the United States navy, and is now on his way to Mare Island Navy Yard at San Francisco.

Pal Brown to Move.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pal Brown of Hibbing has decided to move to Chisholm and has completed a deal for a residence by purchasing the dwelling on the corner of Fourth avenue and Pine street, formerly owned by Judge Edward Freeman. He states that his prime motive for doing so is to give his sisters the advantage of a good school. They will move from what is locally known as his training quarters next week.

He will arrange for training quarters here as soon as he is located.

RECORD WAS IN DANGER

Street Railway Carried More Than 111,000 People on Labor Day.

More than 111,000 passengers were carried by the Duluth Street railway yesterday.

This figure comes within 7,000 of setting a new record for the company. The greatest number of people ever carried in one day was 118,000.

The fine weather yesterday, the first Duluth has experienced in many weeks, took everybody out of doors. The theaters were well filled, as a holiday always brings out the amusement seekers, but their capacity was not tested as it would have been if the fine weather had been less of a novelty.

"They seemed content to sit on the curb and watch the sun shine," said one theater manager this morning, "and I don't blame them a bit. I sat on the curb part of the afternoon myself."

The bulk of the travel was on the West Third street and on the Lakeside lines. Lester park and Fairmont park were crowded all day, and the company concentrated its efforts on handling these crowds. It was handicapped with the single track line on the extreme end of Grand avenue, but ran its cars in bunches of three and four, as rapidly as they could be switched.

PRAYERS FOR FREE SCHOOLS

World-Wide Supplication Will Be Offered Next Sunday.

On next Sunday will take place a world-wide prayer service on behalf of the free schools of the world, and millions of lips are expected to beseech the Great Teacher for a blessing on the schools and the pupils. In connection with this movement 2,500 American clergymen are expected to lead these services. This universal prayer service at the beginning of the school year will perhaps be made an annual custom if the desires of the National Reform association prevail, that organization suggesting and organizing the movement. This universal prayer is a definite part of the movement which will culminate in the Second World's Christian Citizenship conference to be held in Portland, Or., next June and July.

As yet no Duluth clergymen has been notified to lead the movement here, but a request is likely to be received during the week, as it has been announced from Philadelphia, the headquarters of the movement, that a request has been sent to a Duluth minister.

TAX PROBLEMS BEING TALKED IN DES MOINES.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Tax problems now facing hundreds of cities in the United States can be solved only by the centralization of taxing power and presentation of the yearly taxing budget to the tax payers through one body, according to E. L. Heydecker of New York, who is attending the annual conference here of the National Tax association. President A. R. Foote of Columbus opened the meeting with an address. The conference will continue three days.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 3.—The postoffice was moved Sunday to the International State bank building, the government having taken a lease of the front fifty feet of the storeroom facing Fourth avenue. The building to be vacated is owned by E. E. Peterson & Co., who, needing it for their business, asked the government to vacate. Fortunately it was possible to secure the bank room, the location of which is good and which will have heat and other modern conveniences along with janitor service. Postmaster Lloyd and assistants are pleased with the change.

Proper Care of Hair and the Complexion

The worry and bother of wearing hair-nets and veils to make the hair stay up and conceal a dull, "stringy," unkempt appearance can easily be avoided by stopping shampooing with soap. The "free" alkali in soap irritates the scalp, makes the hair streaked, dull, coarse and brittle. Shampoo with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water and the hair will always be light, fluffy and easy to do up, besides looking decidedly neat. This shampoo lathers abundantly, dries quickly, stops itching scalp and cleanses as no other shampoo will. The luxury of extreme cleanliness which comes from the use of this shampoo has made it so popular that many of the best hairdressers now use it exclusively. It is inexpensive and can be bought at any drug store.

To whiten and beautify face, neck and arms, dissolve four ounces of spurmax in a half-pint witch hazel or hot water, adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply this lotion freely and it will tone up the skin wonderfully and quickly. It makes the skin soft and smooth, and will remove that shiny, muddy look which is so annoying. This lotion will be found much better to use than face powder, as it does not rub off easily like powder nor does it give the face that "powdered look." This spurmax lotion is excellent for removing and preventing freckles, chapping and roughness of the skin.

QUIET DAY IN HARBOR

Shipping Has Not Yet Recovered From Labor Day Lull.

Wheat Tonnage Contracted for—Coal Moving More Freely.

After the Labor day lull in local shipping, the Duluth-Superior harbor was slow to resume activity this morning, only a few boats leaving the harbor and not one entering up to the noon hour.

One day of inactivity places shippers at a much greater disadvantage than is generally supposed and it will be the last of the week before the boats are coming and going regularly again.

Shippers have been working quietly for the past week, for it became known today that vessel capacity to the extent of several millions of bushels of wheat has been lined up. Just how much is not known. More than 1,000,000 bushels of capacity in addition has been covered for flax.

The rate, it is presumed, is the same as it has been for some days, 2½ cents, although no announcement has been made and shippers are very quiet when asked about it. The tonnage mentioned was all for October and November.

Tonnage is in good demand this week. Spot tonnage is being sought by shippers at ¼ cent less than the stated rate. Nearly all of the tonnage will be used between Duluth and Buffalo. A few of the vessels were chartered for loading at Fort William.

Grain is not yet going down the lakes in large quantities. The grain seems to be coming in at Fort William faster than it is at Duluth, according to advice given Duluth brokers. A few days of fine weather would help greatly, say the shippers. Under favorable weather conditions trainmen are able to handle the trains more quickly.

It was reported last week that while the inquiry for tonnage was brisk there was but little actual chartering. As a matter of fact last week was the most active in chartering since the season began, but so completely in the dark was the business transacted that only those on the inside of the market conditions and lake shipping, knew of it.

Coal Coming.

Coal is coming faster. Ten cargoes were received in the local harbor in the last twelve hours. The docks below are catching up with their work and the boats are not being delayed so long at the loading end. Boat owners are refusing coal because the dispatch has been so poor. As the loading is now being done more quickly, more of the boats may be engaged in the trade.

But ten boats left the Duluth-Superior harbor yesterday. This is said to be the lightest list of departures from this harbor in some years.

New Lock at Soo.

"Preliminary work will be started at once, preparatory to letting the contract for the new lock at Sault Ste. Marie," says Lieut.-Col. Mason M. Patrick, corps of engineers, U. S. A., in charge of Detroit district, in an official announcement.

The new fourth lock, which is planned in connection with the new canal now under construction, will be of the same dimensions as the third lock, which is now nearing completion. The length will be 1,350 feet between gates providing a usable length of not less than 1,300 feet. The width is to be not less than 80 feet and the minimum depth of water inside will be not less than 24 feet.

Both the new locks will be much larger than either of the three at present in use at Sault Ste. Marie. Poe lock, the larger of the American waterway, is 800 feet long, 100 feet wide, with a depth of 22 feet of water over the sills at mean stage. The smaller, Weitzel lock, is 515 feet long and 80 feet wide, allowing to 60 feet at the gates with a depth of 17 feet of water over the sills at mean stage. The Canadian lock is 900 feet long and 60 feet wide with a depth of 22 feet of water over the sills at mean stage.

There are five large steel freighters on the lakes with a width of 60 feet, the steamers Samuel Mather, William G. Mather, George G. Crawford, Francis E. House and W. J. Filbert and two steamers with a width of 64 feet, the Col. James M. Schoonmaker and William P. Snyder, Jr.

Lieut.-Col. Patrick estimates that the work of constructing the fourth lock will likely be in progress three seasons.

RAILROADS

MOVE CARS PROMPTLY

That Is Order Sent Out By Railroad General Agents.

Shippers Asked to Co-operate to Prevent a Car Shortage.

Move cars, and that quickly, is the keynote of all communications sent out by railroad general agents to their local agents this year. The roads of the Northwest contend that they have sufficient motive power and plenty of rolling stock to handle their business if the shippers do not loaf on their jobs of loading and receivers in turn do not dally in unloading. Therefore haste is urged and insisted upon. The roads claim that there is always a disposition among dealers in the country towns, for instance, to delay ordering coal or other commodities until the situation becomes tense and then order in a hurry, causing congestion of cars and delaying business in general besides needlessly tying up equipment. Vigorous methods are demanded of local agents and they are being punched up by their chiefs. The following circular letter to agents and "all concerned" from one road is a fair sample of what is being sent out:

"On account of the large grain crop and the consequent heavy movement of coal, lumber and other commodities this season, it is important that all concerned should appreciate the necessity of loading, unloading and releasing cars as promptly as possible.

"We have provided ample equipment to handle the business in sight if offered at a reasonable time and not bunched.

"The so-called 'car shortage' is seldom the result of an actual shortage of equipment needed to move the business, but is invariably caused by bunching the movement, delays in loading, unloading and releasing cars, and shortage of storage facilities for coal, lumber, grain and other heavy commodities.

"I wish you would confer with all shippers and consignees at your station, go over the situation carefully with them, and request their co-operation in the matter.

"Dealers in coal, lumber and other heavy commodities should arrange storage facilities in order to carry a reasonable stock and place their orders early instead of waiting until these commodities are actually needed, thus bunching the tonnage, and causing delays, particularly during winter operation. If the storage facilities at your station are insufficient, report the situation in detail and say what action, if any, shippers are taking to provide proper storage.

"The railroad and warehouse commission on July 15 issued a circular asking the co-operation of the public and calling the attention of shippers to the following suggestions:

"'Shippers should make demand for cars on the station agent in writing.

"'Load cars as promptly as possible, and to full capacity of cars ordered, and not take advantage of full free time allowed for loading, and should give railway company immediate notice when car is ready for release.

"'See that sufficient grain or other products is on hand to load the cars to their capacity.

"'Not use cars for storage while waiting for deliveries to complete carloads.

"'Not place orders for more cars than absolutely needed.

"'Consignees should unload cars as promptly as possible and not take advantage of the free time allowed for unloading, and should give company immediate notice that the car is ready for release.

"'Give disposition of all cars as quickly as possible after arrival at destination.'

"Please take up vigorously with all concerned and advise result."

ROADBED SINKS.

Piece of Soo Road Near Kenmare, N. D., Furnishes Railroad Freak.

Kenmare, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A freak track condition exists on the Soo railroad's wheat line, just east of here, due to a peculiar condition of the earth some of the roadbed has sunk ten feet leaving the ties and rails suspended in the air.

It is supposed that the roadbed at that particular point, being on the side of a hill, rested on a bed of soapstone, and that a slide occurred down in the earth, with the result that surface caved in to fill the space thus created.

Train service at the place was abandoned entirely until the company was able to construct a temporary bridge over the sunken ground. It is probable that a permanent bridge will have to be erected there.

ENTERS EMPLOY OF CANADIAN NORTHERN.

C. Alger Anderson, traffic clerk for the Minnesota & International railroad at Brainerd, has resigned to accept a position as chief freight clerk in the newly established general agent's office of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific road, otherwise known as the Duluth-Winnipeg extension of the Canadian Northern road. Mr. Anderson is not a stranger in Duluth railroad circles, having been formerly chief freight clerk under C. J. Longbotham, general agent of the Chicago Great Western in Duluth.

WILSON PLEASED AT RECEPTIONS

Has Three More Speaking Dates Set in New York State.

New York, Sept. 3.—Greatly pleased with his reception in Western New York state, Governor Woodrow Wilson returned to New York city today from Buffalo, en route to Trenton.

The governor said he regarded his speeches in Buffalo, especially the one at the evening mass meeting, as "setting the stage for the campaign," and his "first political address." He was pleased, he said, with the manner in which the crowds applauded his speech analyzing the third party platform. His attitude toward the third party, he said, is that the social reforms proposed by its platform are admirable, but their "method of performance is impossible."

The governor said he was looking forward to his speech in New York city tomorrow night before the Workingmen's Woodrow Wilson league, his speech on the next Monday before the New York Press club, and his address at the state fair at Syracuse, Sept. 12, which constitute, for the present, his New York state engagements.

BULLS ARE ON THE RUN

Sunny Weather and Big Receipts Make Wheat Plunge Downward.

Flaxseed Is Also Beared By Clear Skies, But Trade Is Quiet.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 3.—This was a bearish though very active day on all the wheat markets of North America. Sunny skies and large receipts gave the bears full control of the situation. Duluth September wheat closed today at a decline of 2¼c. Cash wheat closed a cent over September. Durum closed 2¼c off, oats ½c off, rye 1c lower and barley unchanged to 9c lower. Duluth September and November flaxseed closed 2c off, October 2¾c off and December 3½c off.

The Duluth wheat market was very active and very bearish this morning. In fact all the wheat markets of North America were bearish. The recent bright weather in the American Northwest and the Canadian West was the main factor. This morning's weather map showed clear skies over Minnesota and the two Dakotas, but rather cloudy and rainy weather to the west and northwest of these states.

Other reports were strongly in favor of the bears. The American primary receipts as reported today were more than double those of the corresponding day of last year. The American visible wheat supply last week increased 922,000 bu. The receipts of wheat are daily growing larger in all the American markets. Duluth today had on track 473 cars, of which 361 were filled with wheat. This wheat is largely from Northern Minnesota and North Dakota. All signs point to enormous receipts of wheat on the Duluth market, as well as on other markets, in the near future.

There was a special report from Kansas City, which likewise favored the bears, being to the effect that the grain buildings through the Kansas country are wholly inadequate to take care of the wheat and other grain crops.

Duluth September wheat, which closed Saturday at 92¾c, opened today at 92c asked and no bid, then had worked down to 90⅛c. There were downward movements also at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat today closed ¾d to ⅞d lower. The slump on that market was due to weaker American cables, favorable Russian reports, larger Russian and world shipments with a large amount from America and the pressure of Russian offers on the market. The market was to some extent steadied by the report from Germany that the wheat and oats crops had been badly damaged by wet weather.

Flax Also Lower.

The bright weather also put flaxseed lower today. The big crop is nearer and nearer to an accomplished fact each day. There is little demand for flaxseed now, for crushers are encouraged to wait for lower prices. At the same time there is very little flaxseed offered, though the new seed has begun to arrive to some extent at Minneapolis. This is principally the seed from Southern Minnesota. It is thought that new seed will soon be appearing on the Duluth market. At noon today Duluth September flaxseed was 2c down, October and November were 2½c off and December was 3½c off. Winnipeg October was off 1c at $1.62 asked, being only 7c less than Duluth October.

Advices from North Dakota indicate on the whole that there is a very large yield of flaxseed in the fields but two to three weeks of bright clear weather are needed to ripen it and put it out of danger. It is said that the fields in which will is evident are much less numerous than in previous years.

The Montana flax seems to be much farther advanced than that of North Dakota. It is said that about 70 per cent of the yield is now out of danger from serious frost injury and if there are no frosts of any consequence before Sept. 15, 80 to 85 per cent of the yield will be safe.

It is thought that the fact that the big wheat crop of the Northwest must be handled before much is done with the flaxseed, will keep the flax prices high during the major part of the month of September. It is generally expected that there will be a big shortage of cars during the most active part of the wheat-moving season.

The following dispatch has been received from St. Petersburg by the Chicago Paint, Oil and Drug Review:

"The most interesting item from the flax field to be noted for the moment is that pulling has begun in several districts, such as Opotchka, the Sychevka and other districts. It is only the first sowings, however, that are being gathered and as in some districts such as Opotchka great heat has endured for a considerable period now, it is feared that the seed will be light. It is observed in the reports that a large quantity of the plant will be short in fiber, though stout and good in quality. It will be somewhat costly, as labor is dear on the fields. At Ostroff pulling is in full swing and here at all events the stems have improved much under more favorable weather than has been enjoyed in other districts. The weather has become somewhat showery and cooler."

CHICAGO MARKET

Big Receipts and Heavy World Shipments Depress Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Big receipts Northwest and heavy world shipments had a depressing effect today on wheat. Commission houses were generally sellers. Aside from moderate short covering there was no important demand. The opening was ⅛@1c lower. December started at 92@92½c, a drop of ½@1c and steadied at 92⅛c.

Reports of big yields in the Dakotas and Minnesota led to a further decline. The close was steady with December 1c net lower, at 92c.

Favorable weather for the growing crop made the corn market easy. December opened ¼@⅜c to ⅝@¾c off at 54⅝@54¾c, and later held around 54¾c.

Later the market fluctuated with narrow confines, closing steady at 54¾c for December, a net loss of ¼@⅜c.

Oats showed steadiness owing to a well-distributed trade. December started unchanged to ⅛c down at 32⅛@32¼c and seemed inclined to remain within those limits.

Price changes in provisions were irregular and business limited. The market as a whole, however, averaged about the same as Saturday night.

First sales varied from 5c lower to 10c advance, with January, $19.35@19.40 for pork, $10.90 for lard, and $10.27½ for ribs.

THE REPORTER WAS "SCOOPED."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: There's a very busy man in Cleveland. He leaves home before his family is awake in the morning and he comes back after they have all gone to bed at night. It's a large family, but he is scarcely acquainted with it, for he is a newspaper man.

And this terrible story is told about him: The city editor sent him out on an absorbing story the other afternoon. He was gone for hours before he returned to the office. When he staggered in he went directly to his desk, sank into a chair, laid his head on his arms and burst into hysterical tears.

"I worked for three mortal hours on that lost child story," sobbed the tired reporter. "I spent all my expense money for candy, dollies, toy street cars, toot horns, trying to coax him to tell what his name was and where he lived—or at least what his mamma called him and what his papa looked like. I thought if I could beat the police to it and by my own efforts restore him to his mother's arms I'd get a lot of good sob stuff and glory and exclusive features. But it wasn't any use. A darned old fly cop beat me to it—went out and dug up the mother, brought her around to me and she snatched the kid from my arms!"

"Well, cheer up! Cops usually find kids, and it wasn't so much of a story. Besides, the mother should have been grateful enough to——"

"Oh shut up! The mother grateful? Why, the mother was my wife!"

A CHEAPER WAY.

Boston Traveler: While we are discussing Tom Riley as a politician we must not forget that he is a lawyer, and many of his snap-stories are anecdotes of the bar. Here is the judge's latest:

"What an expense your legal department must be," said the inquisitive one.

"Quite right," replied the trust magnate.

"Still, I suppose you must maintain it?" interrogated the questioner.

"Well," answered the magnate, "sometimes I think it would be cheaper to obey the law."

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Advance in Call Loans to Highest Rate Since Last April.

New York, Sept. 3.—Suspension of higher transcontinental freight rates by the commerce commission and last Saturday's unfavorable bank statement were among the several factors or developments offered in explanation of the heaviness which followed the triple holiday in the stock market. Canadian Pacific was weakest of the railways, declining over 4 points, while Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading and a few other active issues yielded a point or over. Coppers and Steel were strong at the outset, but fell back before noon. Bonds were irregular.

Coppers constituted the feature of the greatest interest at the opening of today's stock market. Utah was up a point, with a substantial gain in Chino. American Locomotive and Pittsburg, C. C. & St. Louis declined a point with less severe losses in Union Pacific and Reading.

Increased buying of obscure specialties failed to stimulate the leaders, most of which exhibited a dragging tendency.

Small recoveries followed the termination of the forenoon selling movement, but business dwindled on the rise.

On steady liquidation practically the entire list recorded lower prices in the late afternoon with especial pressure upon Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Steel and Anthracite shares.

The market closed weak. Prices ebbed slowly in the last hour to the lowest level of the day. The decline was accompanied by an advance in call loans to 4¾ per cent, the highest rate since last April.

GRAIN NOW POURING IN AT RATE THAT MAY BREAK ALL RECORDS

Nearly 2,000 Cars Have Arrived in Last Three Days.

Movement From North Dakota Is Just Fairly Beginning.

Fine Quality of Wheat Is Surprise to the Inspector.

"Grain is arriving at Duluth in large volume for this time of the year," said H. E. Emerson, chief deputy of the local state inspection office, today. "This is remarkable in view of the fact that farmers over the Northwest generally were late in getting their seeding done, as they had to do so much spring plowing, their fall plowing having been cut short last year by bad weather. There must be an enormous harvest. All signs point to that conclusion.

"Today this office has on hand a total of 533 cars of grain for inspection. Yesterday we had 1,306 cars, but that represented the receipts of three days. A year ago on the day following Labor day we had 1,055 cars and on the following day 397 cars. You see there is a big increase this year over last, but the movement is by no means in full swing. I should not be at all surprised to see the daily car receipts run up to or over 600 in the near future.

"The cars that are now being received are mostly from South Dakota and Southern Minnesota, though some

CUMMINS' TALK PLEASES TEDDY

But the Colonel Insists That Third Party Is Here to Stay.

Keokuk, Iowa, Sept. 4.—Col. Roosevelt referred here today to the statement of Senator Cummins that he would vote for the Progressive ticket, but would not join in the third party movement.

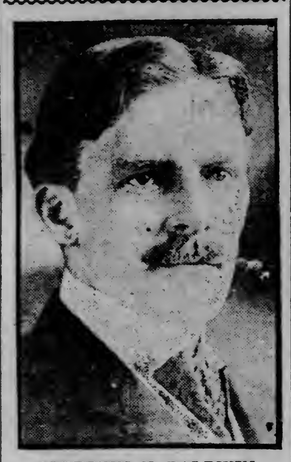

"I was particularly pleased," he said, to read yesterday the statement which Senator Cummins has made. The senator for years has stood for the fundamental principles on which we stand. He differs with us on matter of detail, but that is inevitable in a movement of this kind. There were such differences between Lincoln and others of his day. I feel that the issue, 'Thou shalt not steal,' is one on which we all ought to be united and it is with peculiar pleasure that I read of the attitude of Senator Cummins.

"I am not in the least concerned because the senator says he does not believe this will be a permanent movement. I do believe it."

There were some men, the colonel said, who believed that one or the other of the old parties could be "cleaned up."

"Let them come with us this fall," he continued. "I think that they'll like our company so well that they'll stay with us."

CHOSEN TO HEAD NEW GOVERNMENT BUREAU

ALBERTUS H. BALDWIN.

Washington, Sept. 4.—President Taft has decided on the nomination of Albertus H. Baldwin of Connecticut to be chief of the new bureau of domestic and foreign commerce. This bureau is a consolidation by congress of the bureau of manufactures and the bureau of statistics in the department of commerce and labor. Mr. Baldwin was connected with the United States fish commission from 1884 to 1887. He afterwards served in the agricultural department, the department of the interior, department of commerce and labor, as chief clerk of the census and as chief of the bureau of manufactures, to which position he was appointed in 1910.

QUIZ TEDDY IN OCTOBER

Clapp Committee Will Ask Him About Campaign Funds.

Clark, Underwood, McCombs, McKinley and Dixon Also Summoned.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Col. Roosevelt is expected to appear Oct. 2 or 3 before the special senate committee investigating campaign contributions, to testify regarding the allegations of John D. Archbold and Senator Penrose that the Standard Oil company gave $100,000 to the Republican national committee of 1904 with his approval.

Chairman Clapp has been informed unofficially that the colonel's speaking dates will bring him East about that time.

Upon his return today from Vermont,

TAFT HAS THE GOUT

Goes to Bed to Take Care of It and His Sprained Ankle.

Is Unable to Address Chemists—Silent About Vermont.

Washington, Sept. 4.—When President Taft returned to the White House today on his return from Beverly, his right ankle, sprained a few days ago while playing golf, was giving him so much trouble that he was obliged to break his morning engagement to address the opening of the International Congress of Applied Chemistry.

Upon the advice of Maj. T. L. Rhoades, U. S. A., his personal aide and physician, the president took to his bed for a few hours. He will receive the chemists at a garden party in the White House grounds later today if the weather permits.

The president declined to comment on the outcome of the election yesterday in Vermont.

In addition to a sprained ankle and a sore foot, President Taft is suffering from a slight attack of the gout. His comparatively long siege of work this summer with little opportunity for his usual daily exercise, is partly to blame for his condition, according to his friends. It was believed that a week of rest on the yacht Mayflower and in Beverly will put the president on his feet again.

OHIO REJECTS WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Adopts Forty Amendments to the State Constitution.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Additional returns from yesterday's special election on amendments to Ohio's constitution confirmed the early indications that all of the forty-three amendments were ratified with the exception of equal suffrage and possibly good roads.

The returns seem to indicate that the vote on the taxation amendment was closer than was at first believed.

The suffragists declared today that the fight for equal suffrage in this state will continue. They intimated that the initiative and referendum, which passed by a big majority, will be used in another attempt to give votes to women.

Indications early today were that the total vote on all of the forty-two amendments will not be known for several days. Returns on the nine principal amendments yet are to be received from more than 3,000 of the 5,197 precincts of the state.

Another surprise was the comparatively light vote on the liquor license amendment. In the larger cities the vote on license ran from 10 to 15 per cent behind the vote on the other principal amendments.

Vegetable Growers Meet.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Specialists from all parts of the country in the raising of vegetables are in Rochester today in attendance at the fifth annual convention of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America.

W. E. LEE REFUSES TO CAST LOTS WITH SAM GORDON AND YOUNG

PRISON RIOT IS QUELLED

Only One Half-Minute Disturbance Breaks Out at Jackson.

Five Companies of Michigan National Guard on Duty There.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 4.—The state penitentiary, the scene of yesterday's rioting, today was almost as quiet as a cemetery. Only the presence of the soldiers and small groups of spectators lingering outside the deadline indicated anything unusual. Warden Simpson and members of the prison board of control declared the revolt of the convicts had been effectually crushed.

But one incident marred the quiet today. It occurred when a number of the convicts who had declared themselves ready to return to work were removed from the cell houses. Somebody started yelling. Others joined in the clamor and then the prison officials took a hand in the matter. Thirty seconds later a group of silent convicts marched to the workshops.

MOTION PICTURE MEN MEETING IN ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans for the organization of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' league are being discussed today by representatives of the 1,200 motion picture men in Minnesota, which opened its convention here this morning. The league is to be affiliated with the national league. A state board of censorship is to be appointed, to work in conjunction with the national board in New York. It is proposed to remove the objectionable features of the business. The convention will continue until tomorrow.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 4.—A bottle containing 120,000,000 disease germs, enough to infect an entire city, is awaiting a claimant at the police station here.

It was lost from a train, probably from the express car. The bottle was being shipped from the New Jersey state laboratory, probably for experimental purposes in some other laboratory. It was found lying near the track by Patrolman John McGinnis.

Unwilling to Leave Choice of Progressive Candidate to Chance.

Gordon Suggests Plan in Open Letter to His Opponents.

Young Consents and Also Suggests Another Method of Elimination.

Sam Y. Gordon is willing to cast lots with William E. Lee and E. T. Young to determine which one of the three Progressive candidates for the Republican nomination for governor shall withdraw.

William E. Lee declines. He said today that he will not enter into any agreement by which he may be eliminated before the primary election.

Hugh T. Halbert, chairman of the Progressive committee of fifty, proposes that the question of who shall withdraw be submitted to a committee of twelve, made up of three men appointed by each of the three candidates and three others to be selected by the nine.

E. T. Young will agree to Halbert's proposition, or will submit his case to the committee of fifty or to the members of the last legislature.

Mr. Gordon's proposition is made in an open letter to Lee and Young. It was made public yesterday at a conference held at St. Paul, with Halbert as the moving spirit. Gordon and Young were present in person and Lee was represented by W. O. Clure, his campaign manager, and his son, Rudolph Lee.

Efforts to reach an agreement failed, the attitude of Lee's manager being the stumbling block. He took the position that Young was the last in the

DETROIT BOODLE CASES RESUMED

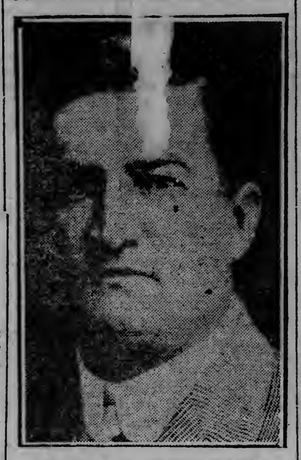

Alderman Frank Mason Held to the Recorder's Court.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—Four members of the Detroit common council were scheduled to appear in the recorder's court today for arraignment on bribery charges growing out of the Wabash railroad street closing case. They are Aldermen Glinnan, Tossy, Brozo and Ostrowski.

Alderman Frank Mason yesterday was held to the recorder's court on a similar charge and his examination set for Sept. 26.

ROOSEVELT MEN WIN AT THE CALIFORNIA PRIMARY ELECTION

MAKES TOUCHDOWN ON POLITICAL GRIDIRON

JUDGE J. C. (IKEY) KAREL
Of Milwaukee, Who Was Nominated for Governor in the Democratic Primary in Wisconsin.

KAREL WINS IN WISCONSIN

Former Football Player Is Named for Governor By Democrats.

Some Contests for Other Places Are Not Yet Settled.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—Late but far from complete returns from yesterday's primary election do not change last night's figures, which indicated a landslide vote in favor of John C. Karel of Milwaukee for the gubernatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket over Adolph J. Schmitz.

Karel attributes his victory to his stand in opposition to the state income tax law. This measure was strongly defended by Mr. Schmitz, who made a vigorous campaign. Judge Karel is a former Wisconsin football star, and was known throughout the college athletic world as "Ikey" Karel.

There were no other party contests for the heads of state tickets in Wisconsin, and but few nominations below governor doubly contended for.

Harry W. Bolens of Port Washington has a big lead over Henry A. Moehlenpah of Clinton as Karel's running mate, and Nicholas Schmidt appears to have beaten George Leonhard of Marshfield

Colonel's Name Will Go on Ballot as Republican.

Wilson Men Given Substantial Victories in Democratic Vote.

Progressives Victors in Majority of Congressional Contests.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4.—Yesterday's primary election, which gave the Progressive party its first opportunity in California to test its strength, assured the Roosevelt-Johnson organization control of the state convention that is to be composed of the legislative nominees.

This means that Republican electors pledged to Roosevelt will go on the official ballot as the Republican candidates. Taft leaders, to get their electors on the ballot, will be forced to resort to petitions.

Contests among Democrats resulted in substantial victories for the Wilson forces over the old Clark element championed by former Congressman Theodore Bell.

The vote yesterday was light, particularly in the northern half of the state. Women especially were inactive, with the exception of the leaders, who enthusiastically helped in the voting booths.

Congressional Fight.

Much interest centers in the congressional fight, in which the Progressives apparently carried a majority of the eleven districts. Early today the result appears to be as follows:

First district—E. A. Hart, Progressive.
Second—F. M. Rutherford, Progressive.
Third—Charles F. Curry, Republican.
Fourth—Julius Kahn, Republican.
Fifth—John I. Nolan, Progressive.
Sixth—J. R. Knowland, Republican.
Seventh—James C. Needham, Republican.
Eighth—E. A. Hayes, Republican.
Ninth—C. W. Bell, Progressive.
Tenth—W. D. Stephens, Progressive.
Eleventh—S. C. Evans, Progressive.

Woman for Judge.

In the local contests for superior judgeships, Miss Lucy Goode White, a newspaper writer and a prominent Socialist, was nominated.

GIRL DROWNS TO SAVE MAN'S LIFE

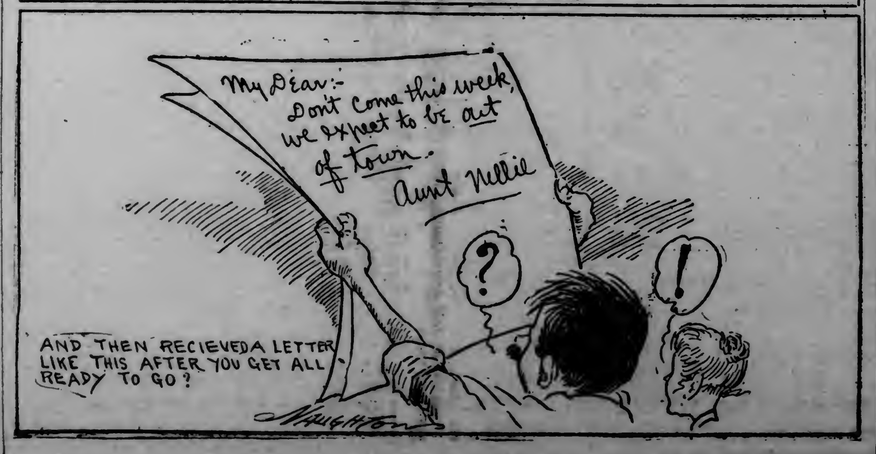

Dorothy Nixon of Washington, D. C., Dies With Companion.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Dorothy Nixon, 22 years old, the daughter of Richard R. Nixon, financial clerk of the United States senate, was drowned at Colonial Beach, Va., in a vain attempt to rescue her swimming companion, Franklin W. Wiseman, aged 20. A party of friends, including Miss Nixon's two sisters, witnessed the double tragedy from the beach. The bodies were recovered and brought to Washington.

Young Wiseman, whose home was in Havana, Ill., was employed in the census bureau.

GOING TO THE STATE FAIR THIS YEAR?

ROSENTHAL WITNESS IS NEAR BREAKDOWN

Thomas Coupe Thoroughly Scared and Will Stay in England.

Willing to Aid Prosecution From There—Hayes May Help Whitman.

Preston, Eng., Sept. 4.—Thomas Coupe, former night clerk at the Elks' club in New York, and an eye witness to the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, says he is ready to help District Attorney Whitman in every possible way, but will not return to the United States.

Coupe appears to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He is staying with his brother, who says he evidently is in great fear, while some of his friends express the belief that he was driven from New York by threats of death.

Coupe today announced that his intention not to return to the United States was definite. He had previously conferred with several members of his family on the subject.

Can Identify Men.

He then made the following statement:

"From a window on the ground floor of the Elks' club I saw the gray motor car so plainly that I could identify its number, and also I could

SUFFRAGE FAILS AGAIN IN CHICAGO

Women Fall 30,000 Short of Enough Names to Get on Ballots.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—For the second time within five months Chicago women have failed to gain approval for the equal suffrage movement from male citizens.

The first time was last April, when the voters decided in the primaries against equal suffrage by a vote that approximated two to one. The second failure has been registered in the result of the attempt to gain 100,000 signers in a petition that a proposition granting equal suffrage under the public policy act, be submitted to the voters on the November ballot. Yesterday was the last day on which signatures could be handed in in time to be presented to the secretary of state Friday. Approximately 30,000 names were lacking.

LIFE INSURANCE MEN IN SESSION IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Five hundred men from the United States and Canada, representing eighty-eight life insurance companies of Western and Southern states, with a business, in 1911, of $1,323,309,929, attended the annual meeting of the American Life convention here today. The convention will continue until Friday.

REPUBLICANS' LEAD IN VERMONT BROKEN

BULL MOOSE MEN OF OHIO GATHER

Arthur L. Garford Likely to Be the Nominee for Governor.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Although the first state convention of the Progressive party in Ohio will convene this afternoon and the machinery will be put in motion, no little interest is centered in the arrival of Governor Hiram Johnson of California tomorrow, who will address the convention.

A conference between Col. Roosevelt's running mate, James R. Garfield, Arthur L. Garford, Walter F. Brown and other Progressive leaders is scheduled to be held immediately upon the arrival of Governor Johnson.

Delegates will caucus by districts this afternoon in the various offices in the state house to select the members of the new state central and other committee. The convention will be called to order at 4 o'clock by Temporary Chairman Garfield.

Arthur L. Garford of Elyria, who was defeated for the gubernatorial nomination at the Republican state convention, seems to be the popular choice of the delegates for the Progressive nomination for governor.

Typhoon at Formosa.

Amoy, China, Sept. 4.—A typhoon last Thursday destroyed many streets in the city of Taihoku, the capital of Formosa, and also devastated the northern districts of the island. The tea crop was not seriously damaged.

Party Fails of Majority for First Time in Presidential Year.

Result of Primary "Very Gratifying," Says Governor Wilson.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 4.—The close race between the three parties—Republican, Democratic and Progressive—in yesterday's election, was emphasized today in the revision of returns of the vote for governor.

Returns as compiled and revised today from all but fourteen small towns gave for governor:

Allen M. Fletcher, Republican, 25,072.

Harlan B. Howe, Democrat, 19,472.

Rev. Frazer Metzger, Progressive, 15,070.

Clement F. Smith, Prohibition, 1,493.

Fred W. Suiter, Socialist, 1,042.

The missing towns in 1910 gave: Mead, Republican, 1,486; Watson, Democrat, 486; Towle, Prohibition, 38; Ordway, Socialist, 11.

If the proportionate gain or loss is maintained in the remaining towns it is figured that the total vote in Vermont for the three leading candidates will be: Fletcher, 26,100; Howe, 20,100; Metzger, 15,550.

Bull Moose Candidate for Every Office Is Expected.

Keokuk, Iowa, Sept. 4.—An offer of support from Republicans of Missouri was rejected yesterday by Col. Roosevelt, it was learned today, on the terms under which it was tendered.

Col. Roosevelt received the offer when he reached St. Louis, and was led to believe that if he accepted it some of the most influential members of the Republican organization would be behind him in his fight for the presidency.

His refusal was made publicly when he was addressing the state Progressive convention, although the delegates were not in a position to know the full significance of his words.

The terms of the offer were that if Col. Roosevelt would induce the Missouri Progressives to refrain from putting a full state ticket in the field, and would indorse the Republican candidates, the support from Republican sources would be given.

Answered in Address.

"I received letters from certain prominent Republicans of Missouri," said Col. Roosevelt today, "in which they said they would support me if we would not put a state Progressive ticket in the field. I gave my answer to them in my address to the Progressive convention."

In his speech, Col Roosevelt said the question whether a full ticket should be named had been laid before him and that his advice was that a complete ticket should be put in the field. He declared for a full ticket except in states in which either of the old party organizations could be taken into the new party.

Col. Roosevelt's public declaration was taken to mean that all chance of a compromise in Missouri was ended and that the Progressive party would take up the fight with the Republicans straight down the line.

Lawyers to Report.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—When the Missouri state Progressive party convention assembles for its second day's session, chief interest will be in the report of a special committee of lawyers named yesterday to consider the legal questions involved in placing the convention's prospective nominees on the ballots for the November election. The committee on resolutions and rules also is expected to report. Nominations probably will be reached this afternoon.

Judge Albert D. Nortoni of St. Louis is the leading candidate for governor, although friends of Former Circuit Attorney Arthur N. Sager of St. Louis are urging his name. The candidacy of Richard Dalton of Hannibal is causing wide comment. Dalton was formerly a stalwart Democratic campaigner.

ELOPEMENT DID NOT TAKE PLACE

St. Paul Young Woman Denies She Will Wed Contractor's Son.

The reported elopement to Duluth of Miss Rose Steinberg of St. Paul, and the son of Contractor Butler of St. Paul, did not take place and will not take place, according to Miss Steinberg, who was reached over the long distance telephone today in St. Paul.

The report was received in Duluth Monday that Mr. Butler had been sent to Duluth by his parents, and would leave here for Europe. It also stated that Miss Steinberg had come to Duluth and that the wedding would take place here.

Miss Steinberg emphatically denied the report today. She stateld that she knew Mr. Butler, but that no engagement existed between them, and that they had no intention of eloping. She stated that Mr. Butler is now on the range on business, but that she kew nothing more of his plans.

AMUSEMENTS

LYCEUM—"The Sunny Side of Broadway."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

J. A. Lacy, representing the Sheehan English Opera company, was in Duluth yesterday arranging for the appearance of his company at the Lyceum Sept. 16 and 17.

"Grand opera in English at $1.50 prices ought to be an attraction for Duluth," said Mr. Lacy. "We will present two well-known operas, 'Il Trovatore' and 'The Chimes of Normandy.' The company has sixty people and carries its own orchestra.

Because it is both human and humorous, "Bought and Paid For," which William A. Brady (Ltd.) will present at the Lyceum theater for one week, starting Sunday, Sept. 8, is George Broadhurst's greatest play, and, moreover, it takes rank among American plays recently produced. Notwithstanding its commercial title, it is not one of those tiresome business plays in which the stock ticker is the villain. There is no business except the trafficking in a woman's ideals and these in the end rise superior to mere dollars. In an atmosphere that is thoroughly New Yorkish, the author allows the principle of self-respect to flourish strongly before the final curtain. The poor little telephone girl who marries a rich bachelor for his money, even after having had her eyes opened to his deplorable taste in home decorations, may remind one of a Laura Jean Libbey heroine, but Mr. Broadhurst protects this by having her sister say as much. "Bought and Paid For" is unlike any other comedy drama written in years and will be interpreted by the New York cast. The production is carried complete.

Max Bloom will give his last performances of "The Sunny Side of Broadway" at the Lyceum when Duluth theater-goers will have their last chance to see Abe and his funny dancing horse "Rebecca." There will be two performances tonight, one at 8 and the other at 9:30.

"The musical instrument known as the 'merimba' which we use in our act was invented by the South sea islanders," said William Weston, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week in a sketch known as "Attorneys at Music." The merimja is better known to vaudeville audiences as the xylophone and Mr. Weston claims to have the largest one in the world in his act, five people playing it.

"The South sea islanders," he said, "used a cocoanut for a resonator and a piece of wood across it for the sounder. They made no attempt to tune them, but simply beat upon them. Then the white man came along, substituted metal resonators for the cocoanuts and tuned them until a musical instrument was evolved. That's where we got the xylophone and any musical instrument dealer will confirm that."

INSURANCE FIRMS COMBINE

New Company Will Take Over Business of Two Agencies.

Announcement was made yesterday of the consolidation of two well known insurance agencies—the Little & Nolte company and the Stephenson Insurance agency. A new company is being incorporated to take over the business.

Robert M. Ritchie, insurance engineer of this city, will be manager of the new company, which will handle all branches of the insurance business with experts in charge of each line. The new concern will have one of the best equipped insurance offices in the state.

Mr. Ritchie has been in the insurance business for twenty-four years and is recognized to be one of the leading insurance engineers in the Northwest. Henry Nolte and John A. Stephenson are well known to Duluthians. Mr. Nolte has resided in Duluth for thirty-three years, twenty-two of which has been spent in the insurance business. Mr. Stephenson has spent twenty years in this profession in Duluth.

The real estate business of the two firms will be kept separate.

GIRL TELLS STORY OF HER DOWNFALL

Lured to Moorhead and Forced to Become "White Slave."

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lured by Fargo men and older women to Moorhead saloons, induced to drink, then drugged and ruined, after which she was forced to become a "white slave," is the story a 16-year-old girl swore to at Harvey, N. D., where Helen Reitan, Violet Jackson, William Johnson and A. C. Jackson were arrested.

State Humane Agent Blake brought the two women here this morning and the men are held at Harvey under a ten-day vagrancy sentence till a more serious charge can be formulated.

Lured to Moorhead.

The young girl says she began work in Fargo two years ago at the age of 14 as a domestic, and last week was induced by the trio to go to Moorhead, where she drank some beer and did not regain consciousness till next morning when she was in a room in a lodging house with one of the men. Later she was compelled to accompany the other three to Valley City, Courtenay and Harvey, where relations with other men were forced, Johnson and Jackson taking the money the girls earned. The girl says her mother is in the insane asylum at Fergus Falls, and her father is a drunken wanderer. Blake claims to have a direct case against the men.

county treasurer by a 2 to 1 vote over her male opponent. She was elected treasurer two years ago, being the first woman in Wisconsin to hold county office. This fall a determined effort was made by the politicians to defeat her. There was no opposition to the other county offices excepting one. Mrs. Archibald has probably carried every precinct in Ashland county.

CLASSIFICATION QUESTION RAISED

Application of the Judiciary Clause of Election Law Is Problem.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether the classification of judges as provided in the new nonpartisan judiciary primary law will be maintained on the November election ballot is a question so mooted that the attorney general probably will be called on for an opinion before the election ballots in Ramsey county are printed.

While there are students of the law who maintain this same classification will be maintained on the election ballot, Judges Brill and Kelly of the district bench contend it is questionable, and lean to the opinion that the classification will not be made. Municipal Judge Hanft, who is a candidate for nomination to the district bench, is positive in his statement that there can be no classification at the November election.

Should there be a classification in November it would mean merely a contest between Hanft and Judge Dickson, whereas if there is no classification Judge Hanft would be against the field and the man receiving the lowest vote would be the loser.

BALLOT STUFFING CHARGES MADE

Jones Claims Blease Won By Fraud in South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 4.—When the Democratic executive committee of South Carolina met here today to canvass the results of the recent primary it was understood that charges of fraud filed by Judge Jones, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, running against Governor Blease, would be investigated. Included in the charges are specific allegations of ballot box stuffing.

A new element of interest in the situation has been added by the statement of Senator Tillman, advising the committee against hasty action. Mr. Tillman warned the committee that if it should declare Judge Jones the gubernatorial nominee and there was a suspicion of unfairness to Governor Blease, then Blease would run as an independent in the general election.

ESTRADA GOING TO NICARAGUA?

Former President Is Said to Have Started to Help Diaz.

New York, Sept. 3.—Gen. Juan Estrada, former president of Nicaragua, has quietly left his hotel in Brooklyn and is believed to have started for Nicaragua to aid President Diaz in quelling the revolution.

He was accompanied by Gen. J. M. Moncada, formerly minister of the interior of Nicaragua. They left the hotel Monday without announcing their destination, but friends here believe they have gone to Nicaragua in compliance with an announcement made some time ago.

It was said at the hotel that Gen. Estrada still was registered there, but that he was absent at present and had not said when he would return.

"Correct Dress for Women and Girls"

Early Autumn Days Find Us Well Prepared!

¶ While we cannot say our stocks are complete—the way women have been selecting Fall Clothes the last few days would easily prove they are not far from it.

¶ The "Robespierre" is the coat of the season. This coat was brought out by us early in the season. Now everybody admits it — the style "eclat." We have the original coat worked up in some of the prettiest materials and combinations ever shown in Duluth.

¶ Handsome Eponge, Corduroy, Vicuna, Velour Ribbed Boucle and Chinchilla are some of the more prominent materials. Priced from $15 upwards.

¶ Suits were never any prettier nor were there ever more beautiful materials shown. Any woman who appreciates a fine Custom Tailored Suit will delight in the "severe" and "demi" suits we are now showing.

¶ Not alone are the designs to be admired, but the new materials, such as Peau de Soeur, the velour cloths, new English nubs and many others.

¶ You can buy a new suit, tailored to Gidding requirements, as low as $19.50 and a better one from $25.00 to to $59.50.

WHEN school and college girls start talking about clothes, soon enough will "Gidding's" creep into the conversation. Just now we are outfitting many girls for school. There is a reason, too. We are now showing authoritative styles in Juniors' and Misses' Suits. Garments that show what "dash" and "correct lines" really mean. Never before have we had such a fine variety so early in the season.

¶ Moderately priced from $22.50 to $35.00.

¶ A tailored frock for the grade school girls. They are made good—for practical wear. Some styles are in novelty design priced from $5. Others in one and two-piece Peter Thompson effects at $6.75 and up. And the new Norfolk dress at $12.50.

¶ What is a new tailored suit without one of our new waists? Many new features in the new waists. The "Directoire" plays a prominent part in the neck fixings—

¶ Messalines, Pompadour Silks and Taffetas are just the thing for early autumn wear. $5.00 to $10.00.

Gloves

There is a style among the new gloves that particularly struck the writer. It is made of "Valdemar" kid, an edging of black surrounds the top, and hand embroidery matches it on the back. They sell at $2.50.

Every Summer Garment Must Go!

$35 and $50 Suits are now..... $10.00

OPPOSE LONGER TERM

North Dakota Socialists Against Judges Serving Ten Years.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Opposing the increase in the terms of the supreme court justices from six to ten years, Arthur LeSueur of Minot, Socialist candidate for congress in the Third district, contended that such a law is in direct opposition to the present-day trend in matters judicial. In several addresses this week the Minot candidate, who formerly was president of the Minot city commission, has voiced Socialist opposition to the plan.

Mr. LeSueur, discussing the third party movement and Col. Roosevelt, declared the latter had taken planks fro mthe Socialist platform as a means of getting votes. But Roosevelt, he claimed, stopped just short of real Socialism.

SCANDINAVIAN SALVATION ARMY HAVING GOOD GROWTH

CAPT. MARINUS FRISTRUP.

MRS. MARINUS FRISTRUP.

Taking charge of the Scandinavian Salvation army at 1631 West Superior street when it was an infant institution, Capt. and Mrs. Marinus Fristrup have, during the past eight months, made it one of the strongest of its kind in the state. According to the first report just issued by Capt. Fristrup, the local institution has grown considerably during the past few months, while the corps is now better off financially than at any other time in its history.

Since Capt. and Mrs. Fristrup took charge of the corps last January, having come here from Chicago, 122 converts have been added to the membership, 28 recruits were secured, 22 soldiers enrolled and over $200 spent on charity. During that time a girls' sewing class with 26 members has been organized, a boys' anti-smoking league with 12 members and exactly $540 paid off on the Salvation Army building.

Capt. and Mrs. Fristrup are assisted by Lieut. Olga Salveson and Corps Cadet Anna Pearson. The hall at 1631 West Superior street is worth $20,000 and has a mortgage at present of $5,400. During the past few months a number of repairs and additions have been made to the structure.

Both Capt. and Mrs. Fristrup are musicians and singers of no mean ability and have taken a prominent part in concerts and entertainments during their residence in the West end. Capt. Fristrup plays a dozen instruments equally well, but is usually heard with the flute or slide trombone.

Capt. Fristrup announced yesterday afternoon that the first annual fall harvest festival will be held Sept. 18-21. A series of concerts and entertainments will be featured during the festival. The regular fall campaign will commence Sunday, Sept. 29, when the weekly meetings will be resumed. A series of musical entertainments will be conducted every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock during the months of October and November.

WANT ROAD FOR FIRE HORSES

Hillsiders Say Department Is Unable to Reach Them Now.

Until the city is able to build a new fire hall on the hillside, the members of the Fifth Ward Improvement club who held their regular monthly meeting last evening at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street, want Fourteenth avenue west paved so that fire department No. 2 can climb the hillside in case of fire.

The question was discussed by the members before the final vote was taken and it was decided to request the city council to pave the avenue from First street to Third street. In this way the department will be able to reach the hillside section without the present difficulty. This plan, say the members, is only temporary, as a campaign for a new fire hall will be continued.

John Stone Pardee, secretary of the board of public welfare, gave a short talk during the early part of the evening on the plans of the board for the coming year. He also explained the appropriations desired by the board in carrying out its work for the next year.

WILL PRESENT A NORWEGIAN DRAMA.

The Varde club, a literary and social organization of Norwegian people in the West end, will present the Norwegian drama, "Til Sethers," Thursday evening at the St. Jean Baptiste hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street.

The members of the club have been rehearsing the drama for several weeks. About thirty members are in the cast, which includes both men and women. They will wear the Norwegian costumes during the action of the play. Special scenery has been secured for the occasion.

The Varde club was organized in 1909 with thirty charter members and now has an active membership of 300. The club is interested in literature and the drama, featuring as a rule two plays and three debates a year. The members also entertain at several social features during the year. The present officers of the organization are: Jens Jacobson, president; Sam Anderson, vice president; Thomas Fossen, financial secretary; John Tronnes, secretary; Peter Skadberg, treasurer; Gust Nilsen, inside watch; Stork Jacobson, Theodore Rude and Iver Lund, trustees.

LEE WILL SPEAK IN THE WEST END.

William E. Lee, Republican candidate for governor, will speak this evening at a mass meeting to be held at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. A reception is being planned for Mr. Lee by the prominent Republicans of the West end and an effort is being made to fill the large hall with voters. Several of the local Republicans campaigned among local residents yesterday, requesting each one's presence at the meeting this evening.

WEST END BLOCK BEING REMODELED.

Workmen are now finishing the improvements to the Sloan building, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The smaller halls on the second floor have all been remodeled into offices, which are now occupied by physicians and surgeons. The large hall in the center of the floor is being repaired and will be used for dances and lodge meetings. The old offices have all been repainted and papered during the past two weeks.

WEST END MARKET WELL PATRONIZED.

Although the weather today is discouraging, every stand at the West end market place was filled this morning. The farmers conducted a good sale from 7 o'clock until noon, when most of the produce was gone. Few of the residents minded the weather and many shoppers were at the stands during the morning.

identify every man who got into it. Several policemen could see everything as well as I could, but I saw nothing to indicate that they made any attempt to stop the assassins."

In reply to the district attorney's wireless request that he should return to America, Coupe cabled a refusal today and said he would make his deposition before an American consul in England.

In an interview afterward Coupe said:

"My conscience tells me I should help Mr. Whitman to the full extent of my ability, but I prefer to do this by giving my deposition here.

Not Paid to Leave.

"The intimation that I was paid to leave New York is a falsehood. The standing of my people here ought to prove a sufficient refutation of that story. Frankly, I did run away from New York, for I am convinced I was serving my personal interests best by so doing."

Coupe admits he is one of Mr. Whitman's most important witnesses. He declares that although he did not see the actual murder, he did see the assassins speeding away in a gray automobile and noted that the police made no effort to follow it.

Coupe denies having made sweeping charges against the New York police. He says he had no easy time escaping the detectives who sought to prevent his departure from America.

Hayes and Whitman Talk.

New York, Sept. 4.—Before leaving for Albany today to confer with Governor Dix relative to summoning another panel from which to select an extraordinary grand jury, District Attorney Whitman declined to say anything about his conference of last night with Cornelius G. Hayes, the demoted police inspector. Hayes was likewise silent.

It had been rumored for some time that Hayes would come over to the district attorney. His break with Commissioner Waldo, who accuses him of making a false statement in saying that Waldo had instructed him not to molest disorderly houses unless the raids were sanctioned by Waldo, brought about the inspector's demotion to the grade of captain, his removal from the Tenderloin to Staten Island and the preferring of charges on which he is to be tried.

In this situation it is said that Hayes decided to go to Mr. Whitman and tell all that he knows about the so-called system. As an inspector in the police department he was familiar with its workings, and if he so desires, it is said, he could give the district attorney valuable information to be used in the graft investigation.

Flynn on the Job.

William J. Flynn, who resigned his secret service position to aid in the graft investigation here, began today his duties as special investigator for the aldermanic committee. The committee will hold its first session on Monday, with Mayor Gaynor as one of the first witnesses.

ARE PAYING THEIR WAY.

Harvest Hands Loath to Take Chances in Box Cars.

Hillsboro, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The box car route is less popular this year with harvest hands traveling over the state because of the danger of being held up by thugs infesting such trains looking for "easy pickin's" in the way of men carrying rolls earned in the harvest fields.

Herman Anderson of Minneapolis, who had been employed in the Southern Minnesota harvest fields several weeks, says he was waiting in the Fargo railroad yards several days ago to catch a freight train out and while so doing was set upon by a pair of thugs and robbed of most of his earnings to date, saving some by reason of the fact that he had an uncashed check.

Anderson reached Hillsboro last night and declared he would never again try to save mileage during harvest season, particularly if he was carrying any portion of his earnings with him. And Anderson says there are a whole lot of others just like him. Railroad officers, too, state that the traffic of harvest hands is greater than usual.

DROWN IN CHIPPEWA.

Two Perish When Swinging Bridge Breaks Over Dam.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 4.—J. Karhoff, Philadelphia, and J. F. Bransfield, Boston, were drowned in Chippewa river at Cornell Monday, when a swinging bridge over the new dam and on which they were working broke according to a message received here. The men were thrown into the deep current. The companion was thrown into the river but escaped by clinging to a plank.

The flood on the Chippewa river is the greatest of the season, has washed out the cofferdam at Cornell and caused a loss of over $100,000 to a local manufacturing concern.

DEATH CHANGES FAMILY'S PLANS

Italian Emigrant Killed When About to Send for Family.

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instead of the message which she waited bidding her to come to America, Mrs. Vito Luvis and her four children back in Italy will receive word of her husband's death. He was killed here last night while trying to board a train.

Luvis came to this country recently and expected as soon as he saved enough money to send for his wife and four children. He had almost enough money and had told her in his last letter, according to his companions, that the time was near when she should be able to join him.

BUSY TERM INDICATED

On Call of Calendar 278 Cases Are Set for Trial.

Thirty-Nine Divorce Actions Will Be Heard By Court.

But few cases were stricken or continued when Judge Cant in district court this morning made the call of the September term calendar. Consequently the term will be a heavy one.

There were 294 cases called. Of this number, eleven were stricken, ten were continued to the next term and five were dropped, having been settled out of court. The number of cases set for trial was 278, which includes both jury and court civil actions.

This afternoon, Judge Cant will hear motions on several of the cases. This may result in some more of the actions being continued to the next term or stricken from this calendar.

The grand jury, consisting of seventeen members, was charged by Judge Cant at 11 o'clock, following the call of the calendar. None other than general instructions were given to the jurors by the court. The following is the personnel of the grand jury:

W. P. Mars, Duluth, foreman; A. A. Barr, Eveleth; A. E. Bawden, Duluth; Dell M. Baker, Virginia; James M. Clark, Duluth; Alex H. Donald, Duluth; J. O. Evjen, Duluth; C. C. Ferguson, Duluth; F. B. Ferguson, Duluth; Levi Frazier, Eveleth; C. Axel Goodholm, Duluth; Simon Grassinger, Duluth; John Schwab, Duluth; Edward Shanks, Duluth; Walter F. Tarbutton, Duluth; James Trezona, Eveleth, and Isreal Winer, Eveleth.

The grand jury will go into session this afternoon. The criminal calendar, according to Warren E. Green, assistant county attorney, will not be more than half as large this September as last and there are but a few cases of any importance to be disposed of. About twenty-five indictments are expected to be returned.

One murder case will be brought before the grand jury. Emil Lindholm is held to the grand jury for the killing of John Tallio in a stabbing affair in a lower Lake avenue saloon on July 5 last. The grand jury is not expected to report to the court before Saturday.

On the civil calendar thirty-nine divorce cases will be tried at this term. Nearly all of them will be disposed of before the jury cases are called. This afternoon and tomorrow several of them will probably be disposed of. The jury cases will probably not be reached before next week.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, in a formal statement today, announced he would support Col. Roosevelt's candidacy for president.

"The Republicans of Oregon, as well as of every other presidential primary state except Wisconsin, selected him as their choice for president this year," said Mr. Bourne. "These presidential primary returns clearly indicate that Col. Roosevelt is the choice of the great majority of the Republican party, and certainly he was of Oregon; hence, I, being the originator of the presidential preference law, shall support Col. Roosevelt for the presidency in the November election."

FARMER IS KILLED WHEN WELL CAVES

Charles Bengstrom Meets Violent Death Near Republic, Mich.

Republic, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Bengstrom, a farmer living near here, met a tragic death by the caving in of a well he was digging two days ago.

The cave-in buried the man twenty feet below the surface. Bengstrom's assistant, who was manipulating the windlass, was prompt in giving the alarm and rescuers were soon at the scene, but it was several hours before the body was recovered.

Mr. Bengstrom was 44 years of age and is survived by a wife, a daughter of 15, and a son of 7. He was well known in this district, in which territory he had lived practically all his life. His farm was on the Michigamme river, two miles from town. The funeral of Mr. Bengstrom was held this afternoon.

The total population at the poor house, hospital and sanitarium is now 116.

NO PROGRESSIVES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY

Concord, N. H., Sept. 4.—In the annual primary elections held throughout the state, Franklin Worcester was unopposed for the Republican nomination for governor, as was Samuel D. Felker, who headed the Democratic ticket. The Progressive party had no part in the primaries, but is expected to place candidates on the November ballots by petition.

WILSON'S OLD ENEMY WOULD GO TO SENATE.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 4.—Governor Woodrow Wilson learned last night that James Smith, Jr., former United States senator from New Jersey, had filed a petition at Trenton to be a candidate in the coming primaries for United States senator. He declined to comment on it, but intimated that he probably would later.

DULUTH RABBI SPEAKS.

Principal Figure in Dedication of Houghton Synagogue.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Temple of Jacob, synagogue of the First Congregation of Israel, the Copper country's first Jewish religious organization, was dedicated Sunday afternoon with simple, but impressive ceremonies, in the presence of a congregation that completely filled the pretty little edifice at the Hanbock approach of the Portage lake bridge. Rabbi M. Lefkovitz of Duluth was the principal figure in the ceremony and he was assisted by Rabbi Joseph Hevesh, who is the new pastor of this flock.

The Temple of Jacob is a brick and stone edifice standing on a slight eminence overlooking Portage lake.

The dedicatory service was opened by B. Gusse, who chanted a hymn in Hebrew. Then followed a processional of a number of the older men of the congregation, each bearing a mammoth scroll, on which is written the law. The scrolls constitute a manuscript copy of the Talmud, the Jewish or old testament. I. Rien chanted a psalm as these scrolls were being placed in the tabernacle.

Mrs. I. Goldsmith lighted the perpetual lamp as the next step in the ceremony.

Rabbi Lefkovitz of Duluth introduced Rabbi Joseph Hevesh to his congregation, prefacing this by a few remarks in commendation for the building of the temple. Speaking from the theme, "How Goodly Are Thy Tents, Oh Jacob, and Thy Tabernacle, Oh Israel," Rabbi Lefkovitz declared "A dream has come true, a yearning has become an actuality." He said that the simplicity of the building typifies the rugged simplicity of the ancient faith. He knew that the building had come to being only through sacrifices and labors, but that "the sacrifices and labors only make the achievement the more praiseworthy."

DELAWARE MOOSE PARTY WILL GATHER SEPT. 11.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 4.—The state committee of the Progressive party in Delaware has issued a call for a state convention at Dover on Sept. 11. In addition to nominating three presidential electors for Roosevelt, candidates will be named for all elective state offices.

CLOQUET WEDDING.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — The wedding of Miss Lorena Golden and Carl Johnson took place this morning at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Lemmer officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Louise Dalback and the groom by Carl Johnson. Both girls were charming. The bride in a gown of white satin messaline with veil and bride's roses, and the maid of honor in a dress of cream-colored batiste. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Golden, on Eighth street, the young couple leaving on the noon train for their wedding trip.

TAFT AND WILSON BOTH TO SPEAK

Array of Governors Also Are on Waterway Meeting Program.

New London, Conn., Sept. 4.—Men who are vitally interested in the development of deeper waterways in the states along the Atlantic seaboard gathered here today for the fifth annual convention of the Deep Waterways association.

President Taft is to deliver an address Thursday afternoon and Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Secretary Nagle of President Taft's cabinet, Governor Foss of Massachusetts, Governor Pothier of Rhode Island, Governor Tener of Pennsylvania and Governor Mann of Virginia also are on the program.

The visit of President Taft is made coincident with the observance of the anniversary of the battle of Groton Heights.

TAKING FEW FISH.

Marquette Fishermen Are Not Having Much Luck.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marquette fish dealers cannot account for the poor fishing in Lake Superior waters. The month of August should show an increase in their catches of trout and whitefish, but this year the fishing has been poor all summer. One boat came in yesterday with but four small boxes of fish, hardly enough to pay the expense of going after them. Between now and the close of the season for commercial fishing, Nov. 20, the nets will be set in the shoals to catch trout that come into spawn. The largest catches now come from near Grand Island.

HOLD UP WRONG TRAIN IN SOUTH

Bandits Stop Freight Instead of Richly Laden Express.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 4.—Three bandits, plentifully supplied with high explosives and an automobile, lay in wait twelve miles east of here last night for a New Orleans & Cincinnati express on the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

When they heard the puffing of a locomotive they set their holdup plans in motion, but after they had halted the locomotive they found it was hauling a long line of freight cars instead of express and passenger coaches. Covering their retreat with leveled guns, the men made off in their automobile.

Mail Association Meets.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 4.—The United States Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit association is in session here in thirty-eighth annual convention. Delegates representing 8,000 active members are in attendance from practically every state in the union.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Efforts to Get One of Three Progressive Candidates for Governor to Withdraw Are Unsuccessful—Democrats to Be Organized in Every Precinct — Democratic Text-Book Out — General Apathy in Command.

No Withdrawal Yet.

Efforts of Hugh T. Halbert, chairman of the Progressive committee of fifty, to get one of the three Progressive candidates for governor to withdraw have proved unsuccessful.

Gordon suggested that he, Young and Lee draw lots.

Young suggested that the committee of fifty determine the question.

W. O. Clure, manager for William E. Lee, suggested that Young, who was the last man in the field, withdraw.

The efforts to get one of the three candidates to withdraw will be continued, but there is little hope of success.

Lack of a disposition to get together has characterized the campaigns of the Progressive candidates. Therein lies Governor Eberhart's hope of renomination. If all Progressive candidates remain in the field, and if the Progressive voters can be so confused that they will not vote the second choice, the governor will be renominated.

Even the Progressives are beginning to fear that no more than 15 or 20 per cent of the voters will use the second choice. The primary law is new. The second choice provision is not really complicated to those who have studied it, but the great majority of voters have never even seen the law. What they do not understand, they will not use, and it is lamentable that few will take the trouble to investigate the provision.

Gordon's proposition would seem to be the fairest. Gordon, Young and Lee all have certain strength. However, there is not so much difference between the men, that the supporters of the man to whom it fell to withdraw could not transfer their allegiance. The objection that the candidacy of no man should be submitted to chance will not hold, for the law recognizes the casting of lots when it provides that lots must be cast in case of a tie vote in the election for certain offices.

The fight on the Smith-Eberhart machine would be greatly simplified if Young and Lee were to accept Gordon's proposition. With only two real Progressive candidates in the field, Progressive voters would have little fear of marking a first and second choice for the two candidates.

Democrats to Organize.

Plans will be made for the organization of the Democrats of every precinct in Minnesota, at a meeting to be held in St. Paul tomorrow.

The National League of Democratic Precinct Clubs has been organized, starting from the top with Senator Owens of Oklahoma as president. He has appointed state presidents, and the state presidents have in turn appointed county presidents.

F. A. Pike, who has been prominent in St. Paul politics for some years, is the president appointed for Minnesota. Walter F. Dacey has been appointed county president for St. Louis county. Mr. Pike has also appointed an advisory and executive committee, of which Judge Alfred Jaques and Marcus L. Fay are members.

At the conference to be held in St. Paul tomorrow, Democratic chances in Minnesota will be discussed and the county presidents will be urged to start the work of organizing the precinct clubs. The plan is to get a thorough working organization effected early in the campaign so that effective work may be done for Woodrow Wilson and the whole Democratic ticket.

Carlton County Plans.

At a recent meeting of Carlton county Democrats, held at Cloquet, a Wilson and Marshall club was organized, with the following officers: President, L. S. Patterson, Cloquet; vice president, M. Christensen, Barnum; treasurer, John Flynn, Carlton; secretary, C. J. Fitzpatrick, Cloquet. The club has started with a good membership and rapid growth is expected, as the Wilson sentiment was strong during the pre-convention campaign, and has increased steadily since. The Democrats of Carlton county are enthusiastic over the prospects of Democratic success, national and state, and have almost a complete county ticket in the field.

Democratic Campaign Book.

The "High Cost of Living" is the keynote of the Democratic text book for 1912, just issued by the Democratic national committee. The fallacy of a protective tariff is exposed in a series of articles prepared by experts who have made a special study of the numerous schedules of the Payne-Aldrich bill. Under the headings, "The High Cost of Living," "Wool, the Keystone of the Arch," "Cotton Manufacturers," "Tariff Board a Fraud," "How Tariff Was Raised on Cotton," "Dolliver on Protection," "Protection and Farmer," "Taft's Best Law Ever," "The Family Sugar Bowl," "How Prices Have Soared," "Tariff and Manufacturers," "The Tariff in the Home," "Would Save $20,000,000,000," "United States Consumers Pay Piper," the system of protection is attacked from every angle. It is the most comprehensive and carefully prepared exposure of its kind ever made from any political text book.

The trusts are taken care of in an able fashion. There is an article bristling with new facts concerning the famous absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the United States Steel corporation in 1907; the report of the Harvester trust, which President Roosevelt held up at the request of George W. Perkins, together with the correspondence thereon, are published in full. The result of the Stanley investigation of the United States Steel corporation is taken care of in two articles—"The Greatest of Trusts" and "How Interests Control." The interesting features of the book are "The True Roosevelt, by William H. Taft," and "The True Taft, by Theodore Roosevelt." These articles are simply compilations of extracts from the speeches of these two men delivered in 1908 and 1912. They make a novel and amusing exhibit.

The data on the life and work of Governor Wilson and Governor Marshall is very complete. The story of the former's life was written by William Bayard Hale, the widely known magazine writer. The laws that these two men have caused to be enacted for the benefit of labor and the public health are treated specially. There are many other articles giving information concerning practically every subject that may be discussed in the campaign.

In getting out the book so early, the Democratic national committee has not only beaten the Republican and Third Term parties, but has broken all Democratic records. In former campaigns this book has appeared the latter part of September or the first of October. The text book committee which had charge of the preparation of the book was composed of Josephus Daniels, chairman of the bureau of publicity; James T. Lloyd, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, and Robert Wicliffe Woolley. The latter was the editor in charge of the work.

Typographically, the book is said by experts to be the best one ever turned out by a campaign committee. The price of the book is 25 cents a copy, and orders will be filled from either the Chicago or New York Democratic national headquarters.

Jim Manahan Coming.

James B. Manahan, the auburn-haired foe of the Pullman Car company, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large, will be in Duluth next Saturday night.

Mr. Manahan doesn't believe in hiding his light under a bushel or even under the roof of a hall. He needs space for his campaign, so he talks in the open air. He will make three or four street corner addresses Saturday night, probably at Lake avenue, at Third avenue west and at some point in the West end. He has followed the same style of campaigning in Minneapolis, and has found that he had crowds while the other candidates were talking to chairs.

Mr. Manahan is one of the picturesque characters of Minnesota politics. He is a fiery orator of the old school, and once he gets a crowd he can hold it.

Gordon Answers Lee.

Sam Y. Gordon takes exception to William E. Lee's appeal to Northern Minnesota for support of a Northern Minnesota man. He has sent the following letter:

To the Political Editor of The Herald:

I notice in an interview from Hon. W. E. Lee, published in your paper on Sept. 2, the following statement:

"I am probably selfish in urging Northern Minnesota people to stand for things that will benefit Northern Minnesota. I do not believe that Duluth people should go to Traverse county or Stevens county or Blue Earth county or Ramsey county for a candidate for governor. Todd county, where I live, is in Northern Minnesota. I want to see Northern Minnesota developed and I want to see the whole state governed with economy and efficiency. I believe Duluth should stand by the remainder of Northern Minnesota and support a Northern Minnesota candidate."

While I have no criticism of Mr. Lee, I am just a little surprised that he should appeal for votes on sectional prejudice. I have only sympathy for Northern Minnesota's wants and needs and would do anything within the bound of reason and fairness, if I am elected governor, to aid that section of the state, but a governor can only be a just governor, who administers fairness alike to all portions of the state. However, since Mr. Lee has seen fit to call attention of his residence as compared with other candidates, it will be seen by consulting a map of Minnesota that Long Prairie, Mr. Lee's home, is three miles south of the north line of Traverse county. If, therefore, Traverse county is too far south, as contended by Mr. Lee, is not Long Prairie also too far south?—Respectfully, SAM Y. GORDON.

Apathy Reigns.

With the campaign less than two weeks away, General Apathy still has command of the situation. That is especially true in this section of the state. James A. Peterson spoke to twenty-five Monday night. William E. Lee spoke to about the same number last night. When L. C. Spooner visited Duluth, his crowd numbered about twenty. Mr. Lee said last night that he has found that the smaller the town, the larger the crowd, and Duluth being the largest city in which he has spoken, it produced the smallest crowd.

The evidence is that the people are reading and thinking for themselves. They are taking interest in politics but their interest doesn't extend to all offices and to every candidate. Candidates for county office are having hard sailing endeavoring to get the attention of the voters.

Light Registration.

The registration in Duluth yesterday was light. Only one more day for registration remains before the primary election, and unless the voters show more interest they will be able to vote at the primary only under discouraging difficulties. The registration next Tuesday should be large. Unless voters register next Tuesday, they will be able to vote at the primary election only on the presentation of an affidavit of residence, corroborated by the affidavits of two freeholders of the district. Registration before the primary election qualifies the voter for the primary and general elections.

HAS THE BEST POTATOES

County Also Likely to Land Prize for Grains and Grasses.

Exhibit at State Fair Compares Most Favorably With Others.

St. Louis county leads all others in potato exhibits at the state fair and bids fair to take first place in the display of grains on the straw, clovers and grasses, celery, cauliflower and small fruits.

According to advices received from the state fair grounds today, the St. Louis county exhibit has attracted considerable attention from the large crowds which are now attending the annual state show.

The potato exhibit, in particular, is one of the finest ever put on display anywhere. Those who contributed to it were: Christian Melby, superintendent of the county poor farm, fifteen varieties; Jean Duluth farm, two varieties; William Engwald, one variety; August Velander, one variety; Oscar Fichtener, one variety, all of Duluth, and E. C. Chapman, one variety, from Chisholm. Floodwood would have been represented had the exhibit not been injured in transit. The shipping directions were not complied with and the exhibit was not crated as it should have been.

A. B. Hostetter, who is in charge of the St. Louis county exhibit, says that those who wish to help to show the county's possibilities should learn that it only wastes their products and spends the county's appropriation for express charges to be careless in following the shipping directions from the ones having the exhibit in charge.

Notwithstanding the late season for ripening grains this year St. Louis county made a fine display of grains on the straw. The exhibit is said not to be surpassed by any other county on the grounds. In small fruits, celery and cauliflower, St. Louis county easily led all others.

The Homecroft society is a novel feature of the St. Louis county department and receives considerable careful attention from all who are personally interested in reducing the cost of living.

PANAMA YIELDS TO U. S. DEMANDS

Police Officers Blamed for Attacks on Americans Are Ousted.

Washington, Sept. 4.—H. Percival Dodge, American minister to Panama, finally has secured some measure of satisfaction from the government of that country for the maltreatment of a number of Americans by the Panama police. In response to his demand, the chief of police, Quijano, tendered his resignation several days ago, and left Panama under an assumed name for Guayaquil. Now the state department is informed that Police Captain Delaossa, who had refused to resign, has been separated from the service by order of his government.

Minister Dodge's demand for the dismissal of these officers was based upon impartial investigations of no less than four different cases, running back as far as July 4 last, where American citizens had been beaten and shot and stabbed on the slightest pretext, or none at all, by the Panama police, for whose conduct Quijano and Delaossa were said to be responsible.

Mr. Dodge, will leave Panama Thursday for the United States.

GETS PAY FOR SERVICES RENDERED IN 1865.

James Kelly, manager of Lake Superior Demurrage bureau, who was a soldier in the Canadian army between 1865 and 1870, yesterday received a check for $100 from the Canadian government.

The money was in lieu of a land grant for his services on the frontier at Niagara in 1865.

Mr. Kelly had previously received a land grant of 320 acres from the Ontario provincial government for his services as a member of the late Gen. Wolsey's Red River expedition in the first Riel rebellion.

AUGUST WAS MOST DISAGREEABLE MONTH.

August weather has been cussed and discussed quite generally, and it already has been stated that the month just ended was the worst of its kind so far as weather is concerned in the history of the Duluth weather bureau, but here are the figures as given out by H. W. Richardson, local weather forecaster:

The average temperature was 57 degrees, the lowest since the weather station was established here, which was in 1871. Only two years approach it. They were 1903 and 1907, during each of which the average was 60 degrees. The highest temperature of the month was 78 and the lowest 42. The normal average for the month is 64.9 degrees. The precipitation for the month was 3.25 inches, the heaviest rainfall being 1.02 on the 9th. The normal is 3.63 inches. There were only three clear days, eleven were partly cloudy and seventeen were cloudy. There were twelve days of fog, on four days thunderstorms were experienced, and on two days light frosts were found. Rain fell on fifteen of the thirty-one days of the month. The prevailing wind was northeast, the average hourly velocity being 10.4 miles, and the heaviest velocity being 32 miles on the 28th.

How Women Can Save Money

"Women save a good part of the cost of many dainty aids to beauty if they purchase the necessary ingredients at the drug store and mix them at home. For less than a dollar you can make a six months' supply of the finest shampoo powder known—one said to really cause hair to grow long, thick and glossy. Just mix four ounces of orris root with a package of genuine therox; sprinkle a little on the head, brush out, and your hair will be clean, wavy and beautifully lustrous.

"The electric needle for removal of superfluous hair is expensive and painful. A paste made of plain delatone and water accomplishes the desired result quickly and safely. Cover the hairs with the paste, let it remain a few minutes, remove and wash the surface.

"When eyebrows are thin or lighter in color than the hair apply pyroxin with the finger tips. To make the eyelashes long and darker in color, gently massage the lash roots with pyroxin.

"A true complexion beautifier that removes freckles, tan, sunburn, dark and muddy patches and other blemishes, can be made cheaply by dissolving four ounces of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Use instead of powder. It makes the skin fair, smooth and satiny."

BOYS RETURN FROM CAMP

Annual Outing on Serpent Lake Proved Thoroughly Enjoyable.

The campers of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. have returned from their outing on the shore of Serpent lake at Deerwood, ruddy and brown with exposure to wind and sun and enthusiastic over their trip. Norman D. McLeod, secretary of the department, said today that an endeavor would be made to give the boys all possible chances to enjoy the Indian summer in more outings.

Arrangements have been made for a circus to be given by the department on Sept. 27 and 28. Committees will be appointed soon to take care of the details.

The autumn swimming schedule has been opened, Tuesdays and Thursdays being set apart for high school boys and Wednesdays and Saturdays for intermediates.

TOURIST SEASON IS NOT YET ENDED.

Pleasure trips on the lake will be continued by the public through the month of September, for, as a rule, that month affords some of the most delightful outing weather of the year. The managers of the steamboat lines expect to do a large business this month. The Lakeland is due to be at Duluth on Sept. 11 and 18, the Juniata on Sept. 12 and 23, the Octorara on Sept. 27 and the Tionesta on Sept. 30. The Minnesota will make two more trips.

ONLY "CASCARETS" IF CONSTIPATED

Gently Clean Your Liver and Constipated Bowels While You Sleep.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

DENIES THAT SHE TRIED TO KILL

Girl Pleads Not Guilty to Attempted Murder of Sweetheart.

Mande Slakich, who Tony Vultevich claims attempted to kill him yesterday morning, pleaded not guilty when brought before Justice of the Peace J. J. Moran this morning. She was released on payment of $50 bail and her trial was set for this afternoon.

According to Tony's story, the young girl attempted to kill him, after he had told her of the termination of his courtship. The young people had been going together for the past six months, and this sudden coldness on the part of Tony angered the girl, he said, and the attempted murder was the result. He told the entire story before Justice Moran this morning.

Tony was arrested by Patrolman Anderson shortly before noon yesterday on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. The gun, Tony claimed, was the one he had taken away from the girl. After an investigation yesterday Tony was released.

SORRY BRITONS ARE SO HASTY

Westminster Gazette Deplores Heat Over Panama Canal Tolls.

London, Sept. 4.—Strong regret at the spirit in which the Panama question is being discussed on this side of the Atlantic is expressed today by the Westminster Gazette, the government organ, whose editor, J. Alfred Spender, is considered as possibly the next British ambassador at Washington.

The charges of "Yankee perfidy," it says in an editorial, "have had the precise effect that might have been anticipated in the American retort that Europe is strewn with examples of this perfidy. This only serves to generate heat where light is wanted.

"It is likely," continues the Gazette, "that diplomacy will fail to arrive at a settlement, in which case the government's course clearly is to ask for arbitration." It is then pointed out that the United States senate's ratification of an agreement to arbitrate the question could not be obtained until afted the coming election.

In conclusion, it says, "President Taft is so deeply committed to the principle of arbitration that his refusal to submit the question cannot be conceived."

PIONEER ST. CLOUD WOMAN IS BURIED.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hayward, one of Stearns county's pioneers, who died Sunday, was held yesterday afternoon. She was born in Wesley, Me., Jan. 23, 1830, and with her husband, Josiah Hayward, came with others to Stearns county in 1856, living first on a farm and later running the Grand Central hotel here. Six of her eight children survive: Mrs. John Coates, Mrs. D. H. Freeman, Mrs. F. H. Holden, Mrs. C. P. McClure, S. L. Hayward and D. S. Hayward. There are also six sisters living: Mrs. John Cooper of this city, Mrs. Lavina Day, Mrs. Josephine Carrick and Mrs. S. MOTORMAN KILLED IN COLLISION IN CHCAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—James Johnson, motorman on a suburban car entering the city, could not stop his car at a grade crossing of the elevated railroad, he tugged at the lever and shouted a warning to the passengers before he was crushed to death when the car struck the rear of a five-car train on the other road. Four passengers were injured.

NEW CHOLERA OUTBREAK IN SOUTHERN SARDINIA.

Washington, Sept. 4.—A fresh outbreak of cholera in the town of Cagliari in Southern Sardinia was reported today to the public health service. Officials regard the outbreak as a dangerous one and have ordered quarantine at all United States ports against ships from the infected district.

BACK TO NATURE, GOTCH URGES.

By Frank A. Gotch: Most business men labor forty-eight weeks in the year with the reward of four weeks' vacation dangling before them as their compensation.

A few utilize that precious time in squaring Nature's overdraft, while the many idle away their time at some resort where the hardest work they do is to shoot a billiard ball across the green cloth.

The real vacation—the one that puts the pump action back into the heart and tunes up the nerves—is the kind that's spent out where Nature hasn't been interfered with.

This life in the open does not rest physically. But it does something else: It restores the twang to the jaded nerves, and drills something new and novel into the mind.

Maybe our cavemen ancestors lived several hundred thousand, or a few million years ago. That doesn't make much difference, because we still retain a considerable part of their pioneer instincts.

It really doesn't make much difference how many times we bait the hook—and lose the bait; or how many times we shoot at quail and miss; every time we go out along the grass-carpeted trail we are throwing off adipose tissue and getting something that can't be purchased over the counter.

The business man returns from his hunting and fishing trip tanned and lean. He sleeps like a dead man, and he has an appetite that makes corned beef and cabbage taste better than potted pigeon. He is a little crude and rough—and doesn't know exactly how to behave around the office. Something lingers away down inside him; a memory of the soft feel of the breeze and the perfume of growing pine.

City life has fewer charms and the few she has she operates more slowly. The vacationist takes to the parks—and rides out into the open places. He is after fresh air—and he likes to feel his muscles respond to the demands upon them.

Compare this sort of business man with the kind that finds enjoyment in some summer hotel—or who never gets nearer a green pasture than the emerald tint in his drinks. See which one is better fitted to "put through a deal" and stand the gaff and heart achee of business.

Vacation exercise comes naturally. It arrives as a result of some absorbing amusement—and it does its work, and does it well.

Exercise, with natural surroundings, is always more valuable than the kind found in a hothouse. The gymnasium is good, and valuable, and commendable. But Nature's gymnasium has its own settings, and it injects interest into the work. It makes the stunts pleasurable—and it supplies plenty of pure air and simple habits. It gets a man back to beginnings—and these are the things that count.

Figure on your next vacation with this end in view—and never mind the red ants and insect bites. They are privileges when you get a brand new start—an extension to your lease.

HOW PAIN WAS CONQUERED.

New York Sun: It was a baker's son who saved the human race from endless pain. Sir James Simpson was the first man to discover that chloroform could be used to render persons unconscious for the purpose of performing operations. Until almost the middle of the last century when anyone underwent a surgical operation there was no way in which the patient could be rendered unconscious. Mr. Simpson first practiced it upon himself, and one day was found lying unconscious on the floor of his study where he had fallen after inhaling it.

THE evening newspaper became a necessity to the people as soon as they ceased to be content with knowing, today, only what had happened in the world YESTERDAY. In the times when news traveled slowly, and life itself lagged along at a peaceful pace, it was a great privilege to be able to learn, in the morning, something about the events of the day before; but as the living pace quickened, and the telephone and telegraph made TIME a figure of speech, the desire and the need to know THE SAME DAY, what had transpired in the world THAT DAY, called into existence the EVENING newspaper. And the same conditions that give it peculiar NEWS VALUE, give it, of necessity, equal value as an advertising medium.

Woman's Realm

Miss Ellen Ludward of Chicago has arrived to take up her work as secretary of the junior work at the Young Women's Christian association and she and Miss Mae Anders, the extension and industrial secretary, are making plans for the winter's work.

Miss Ludward will have charge of the work with the younger girls, those under 16 years of age, and will organize their clubs and direct their work and play.

Clubs will be formed in all of the public schools and Miss Anders and Miss Ludward will commence their organization now in schools near the association building and will gradually extend to the other schools farther away. The West Duluth schools will also be taken as a center of work this year and clubs will be formed there right away.

The girls' campfire work will be taken up soon and campfire bands will be organized.

Miss Ludward comes from Chicago, where she graduated from the school of civics and philanthropy and spent one year at the Chicago Commons, where Dr. Graham Taylor has done so much work. Since then she has spent three years in work at the Unity House, Minneapolis.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

Robespierre waists, coats and neckwear are a feature of the new fall styles. Most of the shops are showing the Robespierre garments in various lines.

The neckwear has proven most popular, ruffs and collars being readily sold. The collars are either high or low, as the wearer desires. There are the high stocks with ruff of lace and revler effects in the black satin trimmed with crystal buttons, or there are the low collars with round lay-down black satin collars, and reveres on white net or lace foundations trimmed with black jet beads.

The effect appears in the waists also. One of the shops displays an attractive waist on this model in Dresden flowered chiffon, made with black silk collar and reveres, and a blue crepe silk waist had white satin collar and reveres.

The effect appears in the misses' coats and in the dressy street and afternoon suits.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Small Sympathy Due Woman Who Weds "With Her Eyes Open."

Claiming that her husband contracted the habit of intoxication the day following their marriage, a woman sues for divorce. She further states that he has failed to provide for her.

To this the husband retorts: "She took a chance when she married me. She wasn't misled as to my habits and she knew I was out of work at the time."

All of which disposes of the case very neatly unless you are inclined to analysis and argument, which I am.

Let us pass lightly over the foolishness of the man and woman who marry when a means of support is lacking. There may be justifiable reasons. It is the evil habit displayed the moment he was married that interests me.

It certainly seems improbable, if not impossible, to me that a man should become a drunkard over night. And it is just as improbable that the woman he married could be entirely innocent of his weakness for strong drink. But, to be strictly impartial, men have now and again succeeded in wholly deceiving women in regard to their habits.

However, the practice of ignoring a man's habits, or at least mildly tolerating them during the engagement, and then making a row over them when it is too late, is one that most of us have frequently observed. It isn't a present day folly, either. It has always been so.

The real truth is that most women are fairly well acquainted with the faults and foibles of their husbands beforehand, either through personal knowledge or the enlightenment of relatives and interested friends.

Do they profit by the knowledge or heed the protestations?

Not one in a hundred.

They marry in a hurry and repent more hurriedly. Most of them expect to exercise some remarkable influence that will put a stop of everything objectionable. But when they come to tackle the problem it is a different matter. Their influence isn't as potent as they had believed.

There was a time when women endured such things because they had it to do. Now, the great majority flee to the divorce courts. A few may deserve to be freed. But more ought to hold their tongues forever. Knowing what they know, the better part would be to abide by the bargain.

Consider well the man before you marry him. When you marry him "with your eyes open," stick to him as long as you can.

There isn't much nowadays in the excuse that "you didn't know." It is easy to know.

Some Practical Ideas for Woman's Club Study

Taking its own state as a subject, the woman's club has given the following outline for club study by Miss Helen N. Winslow in the Delineator:

1. What was your first permanent settlement? What is its rank among cities or towns today? Who were your first settlers?

Where were the stars and stripes first unfurled? Give experiences of first settlers.

Where was your first printing press and your first newspaper located? Leading newspapers and magazines of today, if any.

When was the state admitted to the union? Where was the first capital, and why selected? Where is it today, and how does it rank with other cities?

2. What state institution was your first? How many counties have you, and what are their names? How do they rank in population?

What are your important lakes and rivers?

How does your state rank in agriculture, mining, manufacturing, small farming or fruit raising? Have you important mines, quarries or other natural resources?

3. Who was your first governor? Has the state ever given a president or vice president to the nation?

From what part of the union or of the old world did your pioneers come and what were their leading characteristics?

Where was your first railroad, steamship line or canal? What was the effect on the people of that time?

4. What does your state do for its schools? How do your schools rank with those of other states? How many, and what school systems prevail in your state?

Where was your first public library? How many libraries has the state? Define the difference between the term "state" and "commonwealth." What states use the latter title?

5. How many and what educational institutions are controlled and supported by your state? The origin of your school fund? What is your town or city school appropriation?

Do you have any open-air schools? Vacation schools? Manual training schools? What are they doing for the young?

Have you established any postal savings banks? What advantages do they give?

6. What about your laws? Are your state laws regarding women and children altogether satisfactory? What are your laws of inheritance and guardianship of children?

How were your courts established? How is your supreme court managed?

What are your prison laws? Is there any room for prison reform in your state?

7. How did your state get its name? How does it rank in the union? In what respect does it lead others? Where does it fall short?

How is your legislature formed or elected? How many local senators and representatives in your state? What is their salary, and how often do they meet? How many senators and representatives to congress do you have? How elected? What are their salaries?

8. What noted people has your state given to the world?

Authors, poets, musicians and historians of your state?

Historical places? Leading women of today?

What can we women do to improve conditions and raise public standards and better the laws?

Empress Josephine Compared With Modern American Women in Extravagance in Dress

In an interesting article on "A Woman and Her Raiment" in the American Magazine, Ida M. Tarbell says in part:

"Napoleon at the beginning of the empire allowed Josephine $72,000 a year for her toilet, later he made it $90,000. But there was never a year she did not far outstrip the allowance. Masson declares that on an average she spent $220,000 a year and the itemized accounts of articles in her wardrobe give authority for the amount.

"Josephine's case is of course exceptional in history. She was an untrained woman, generous and pleasure-loving, utterly without a sense of responsibility. She had all the instincts and habits of a demi-mondaine, moreover she had been thrust into a position where she was expected to live up to great traditions of magnificence. Her passion for ornament had every temptation and excuse for it. was constantly excited by the hoards of greedy tradesmen and of no less greedy ladies-in-waiting who hung about her urging her to buy and give. It is hard to believe that Josephine's case could be even remotely suggested in our democracy; yet one woman in American society bought last summer in Europe a half dozen night gowns for which she paid $1,000 apiece. There are women who will start on a journey with 100 or 150 pairs of shoes. There are others who bring back from Europe forty or fifty gowns for a season! What can one think of a bill of $500 for stockings in one season, of $20,000 for a season's gowns, coats and hats from one shop and as much more in the aggregate for the same articles in the same period from other shops; this showing was made in a recent divorce suit.

"What can one think of duties of over $30,000 paid on personal articles by one woman who yearly brings back similar quantities of jewelry and clothes. This $30,000 in duty meant an expenditure of probably about $100,000. It included over $1,200 for hats, over $3,000 for corsets and lingerie. This was undoubtedly exceptional; that is few women of even great wealth buy so lavishly. Yet good round sums, even if they are small in comparison, are spent by many women in their European outings. They will bring from six to twelve gowns which will average at least $150 apiece, and an occasional woman will have a half dozen, averaging from $450 to $500 apiece. One might say that eight to twelve hats, costing $25 to $50 apiece, was a fair average, though $800 to $1,200 worth is not so rare as to cause a panic at the customs house."

A Woman Who Is a Big Labor Leader

In the American Magazine appears an interesting article about Josephine Casey, a young Chicago elevated railway employe, who has become an important labor leader. She is American organizer for the International Garment Workers' union and is a sort of goddess to hundreds of foreign working women. Following is an extract from the article:

"As organizer of the International Garment Workers' union her real work has been found. Josephine Casey stands for a living wage and arbitration. She is no walking delegate stirring trouble for an occupation. If a strike is inevitable her advice is—'Don't antagonize the public by unnecessary violence.'

"She is helping thousands of men and women to become what Lincoln Steffens calls 'spiritually organized.' Her first task as organizer is welding together immigrants of many nations and conflicting prejudices. During the big protracted garment workers' strike in Cleveland the settlement people used to say—'Miss Casey is conducting this strike in seven languages and dumb crambo. All the Italian girls can say is 'Meesa Case! Steeck togetha! Yes, steeck togetha!'' Her success in pulling with varied people may be gauged by the love the Jews bear her on New York's East side. They have adopted Josephine Casey by translating her first name. 'Yoshke' they call her.

"One must live through a strike to appreciate the strain of her work. She must first do everything in her power to make clear to the employer the position of the workers, also her position as a representative of the International Garment Workers' union—that she comes to help negotiations, not to hinder. Courage must be breathed into wavering strikers. A cheerful face must be kept while the most timid return to 'scab.' She must urge and urge again the folly of needless violence. Upper and middle class prejudice must be faced. There is the heartsickening task of trying to get the truth of the strike situation before a public in the hands of a capitalized press. There are funds to be raised and harmony to be maintained. If the strike draws out into weeks and months there is suffering to face (always Josephine Casey's sympathy keeps her poor), and then comes the heroic work of heartening discouraged human beings to stand firm.

"A heavy task, indeed, for one frail pair of shoulders, but there is the recompense of knowing that these struggles secure to men and women better wages and better conditions under which to work. Whatever success this young labor leader has she always attributes to the garment workers themselves, for the secret of her courage is her faith in people."

The Importance of a Hat.

Edith M. Weidenfeld says in the fashion department of the Woman's Home Companion: "'A new hat I must have,' says the average woman each season, and a new hat she does have, even if she has to go without some of the necessities to get it. Now this may seem foolish to some, but in reality it is very wise. With a becoming hat, fresh and up-to-date, even though it is accompanied by an old suit, provided it is neat and trim, a woman passes as stylish and well dressed. Let her appear, on the other hand, in a new suit, with an old hat, dejected and hopelessly out of fashion, and she is immediately referred to as way behind the times. And so it is that the woman who is wise in dress matters begins each new season with a new hat."

Chickens breathe 8,278 cubic feet of air in twenty-four hours for every 1,000 pounds of live weight, while men require only 2,833 cubic feet and cattle but 2,804: Hence for poultry ventilation is a matter of first importance.

SQUELCH THE MASHER!

The letter in the Open Court tonight protesting against the inactivity of the police and the shameless activities of the street mashers is but one of many similar complaints that have reached The Herald.

It is charged by many, and it seems to be true, that street mashers have been permitted such latitude that even in the daytime it is torture for a good woman to walk Superior street, and that in the evenings it is much worse.

The most useless insect in the community is the street masher. He is a lowbrowed being with large ideas of his own powers of attraction, with no morals and no shame. To him there is nothing sacred in womanhood, and nothing in unprotected womanhood to stir any instinct of chivalry—for he knows not the meaning of the word.

To him an unprotected woman is merely an opportunity to develop the foulness of his nature.

There are two ways of handling the street masher.

One way, and the right way, is for the police to take care of him.

The other way is for the husbands and brothers of the women he soils with his attentions to take him in charge and give him the thrashing he deserves so richly.

It is to be hoped that the police will not make it necessary for lawabiding men to turn lawless and disturb the peace by punishing these reptiles.

It will not be necessary if the police do their duty.

The police should keep as careful a watch for these offenders against decency as they do for thieves and drunkards. When they catch one of them at it they should arrest him. They will find plenty of people willing to become witnesses in such a case.

And then it will be the duty of the police court to impose the maximum penalty—and it never should be a fine that is imposed.

Thirty days on the chain gang will be a wholesome treatment for the street masher; and if that prescription is imposed on a few of these things which infest the city streets there will be less cause for complaint in the future.

Wherefore?

Up in Eveleth they are hinting that a man is crazy because he goes around talking about having caught some big fish. They're getting pretty all-fired pernickety up there on the range.

PAVING AND THE HORSES.

Those who are writing to the Open Court about putting slippery pavements on inclined streets represent an element in the community which the city authorities will do well to take into account.

Their viewpoint, too, is one which it will be well for these authorities to adopt as their own.

There is no need of putting a material which makes a slippery pavement on thoroughfares with a steep grade. There are plenty of good materials which are not slippery; and the desirable pavements which tend to slipperiness can be used on the streets where the grade is slight or where there is no grade at all.

Nobody who has watched a team of horses struggling up a slippery grade with a load behind them will need to have a diagram to explain why this is so.

If motives of humanity do not appeal, then there are yet to be considered the economic factors of delay and of injury to valuable animals.

On the grades there should be pavements to which a horse's feet may cling. On the levels the pavements which are slippery—and several very desirable pavements are slippery—may be freely used.

She'll Lose.

A Cincinnati man is being sued for divorce because he insists on going shopping with his wife. But in Ohio insanity is not a legal ground for dvorce.

WHY HE IS FOR WILSON.

The Herald before has pointed out the significance of the fact that such a man as Louis D. Brandeis, the brilliant Hebrew lawyer who has dedicated his life and talent to the service of the common good, is supporting Wilson for the presidency.

Mr. Brandeis continues to make good his choice, and to explain it in terms that are convincing and true.

In an interview at Sea Girt the other day, after a talk with Governor Wilson, Mr. Brandeis said:

"I am for Wilson because he has the brains to lead effective reform. All progressives, whether in the past they have affiliated with the Democratic or Republican parties, should get behind the governor and assure his election. I am opposed to Roosevelt because the fundamental creed of the new party is to recognize, authorize, legalize and encourage monopoly."

He might have added that not only has Governor Wilson the brains to lead reform, but the WILL to lead it.

There are plenty of men who have the brains, but lack the will; and who are using their brains to obstruct and confuse and defeat every real reform that promises better things for the common people.

Mr. Brandeis is for Wilson not only because he believes in his ability and desire to serve the common good, but because Taft is unthinkable and Roosevelt a grave peril—the graver because of his admitted ability and force.

"Our government," said Mr. Brandeis, "rests upon a basis of liberty. The important thing today, so far as the preservation of our liberty goes, is the industrial relation of man to man. The new party stands out and says that the relation shall be one of absolutism. The party is trying to make evil good, and that is a thing it cannot do. The only practical thing is to eliminate the evil and substitute the good.

"It is time for us to undertake to regulate competition instead of monopoly, for our industrial freedom and our civic freedom go hand in hand and there is no such thing as civic freedom in a state of industrial absolutism.

"Thus the new party in its program becomes a house divided against itself.

"I am extremely sorry to see that so many good men who are seeking only for the best things have been misled into following the new party when they are confronted with an opportunity such as they have never had before in this country. They can follow a candidate who is absolutely free, who stands for the things that mean industrial liberty, who has no obligations and has made no promises except the promise he has made all his life, to do the best he can for the community.

"We have a wonderful opportunity before us to put Governor Wilson in office and give him the opportunity of using his fine character and great attainments for the advantage of all."

There is the sound, reasoned judgment of a man who has brought to the study of public affairs as great ability, as unstained patriotism and as independent thought as any man in the nation.

That Lets Her Off.

Paris is reviving the custom of kissing a lady's hand instead of shaking it. Must be rather awkward when the lady is on a shopping tour and has several bundles.

T. R. THE IMMACULATE.

"I have never done anything wrong," says Theodore Roosevelt; and he says it very loudly, as though he anticipated doubt and defied denial.

Congratulations, Colonel!

We know of nobody else in all this land who can truthfully say as much for himself.

Never Changes.

Brainstorms come and brainstorms go, but the one thing that abideth ever is didn't-know-it-was-loaded.

THE RESULT IN VERMONT.

Only Democrats and Bull Moosers can possibly find comfort in the returns from yesterday's state election in Vermont. The Democrats can find the most comfort, for they made a substantial gain in their vote. The Republicans can find nothing but dismay in a loss of nearly twelve thousand votes out of last election's 35,263, a shrinkage of almost exactly one-third.

The failure of the Roosevelt party to gain any Democratic support whatever indicates its certain failure in November, and shows it to be merely a Republican split, with its strength made up entirely of a Republican protest vote. If the situation in the nation parallels the Vermont result, the Democrats will make gains enough to win the election easily, and the Republican party will lose a third of its strength to Roosevelt.

Though it does not change the result, it is a victory for the forces opposed to Republicanism that the election of governor, by a failure to secure a majority, is thrown into the legislature for the first time in the history of the state in a presidential year.

Next is Maine, which votes next Monday. There the fight is between Republican and Democratic tickets, and a sweeping Democratic victory is indicated.

Another Coincidence.

It just happens that the same letters that begin the words "Bull Moose" also stand for "Bad Medicine."

OHIO VOTES FREEDOM.

Incomplete returns indicate that Ohio has placed itself in the list of people-owned states by adopting a modern Constitution including the initiative, referendum and recall, a minimum wage provision, a complete primary election system, etc.

Woman suffrage has been rather badly defeated, unhappily. Very evidently the voters of Ohio believe in the square deal for themselves, but not for their women.

On the whole, however, Ohio is to be congratulated on the result.

An Expensive Boarder.

New York boasts of an alderman who at one sitting ate nine and a half pounds of beefsteak, nineteen rolls, three pounds of potatoes and drank eleven cups of coffee. The police system isn't the only thing in New York that needs investigation.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Minnesota state fair opened with good weather, with a great show all ready for sight-seers, and therefore it is good to see that the turnstiles on that day recorded a record-breaking attendance.

Minnesota has the finest state fair in the land, and this year, from all accounts, it is by far the biggest and best ever held.

It should be a source of great pride to every citizen of the state, and it will be well if as many citizens as possible attend it. They will come away from it with a larger and nobler idea of the splendor of the state they live in—of the variety and extent of its industries and wealth.

And, by the way, today is Duluth day at the fair. Duluth is responding to the honor thus bestowed by letting the whole state know that it is on the map, that it is a part of the state, and that it is at the fair in force and with good lungs and in good voice.

And Others.

"I have never done anything wrong," says T. Roosevelt. Now there's an opening for Dear Maria that couldn't be beaten.

SILLY? WHAT OF IT?

Newspaper opponents of the initiative and referendum are making merry because in Los Angeles there has been talk of submitting to the people under the referendum the question whether or not there shall be free lunches in the saloons of that city.

Very likely if the people of Los Angeles are called upon to vote on this question, it will be rather an absurd use of the principle of direct popular control. Perhaps it will even be an abuse of it.

But what of it?

It certainly is no argument against the initiative and the referendum. Foolish things will be proposed under the initiative and the referendum. Few foolish things will be done, however, for the people as a mass are not foolish.

But the enumeration of one or two absurdities in the operation of the initiative and the referendum is no argument against the principle.

The statute books are filled with the follies of legislators, and the legislative hopper at every session of every lawmaking body overflows with them.

It is a safe bet that a thousand times more foolish things are proposed by the representatives of the people than will ever be proposed by the people themselves, and ten thousand times more foolish things done.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

IMMORTALITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Asking your kind indulgence, I wish to say a few words.

I have noticed in your paper lately that you print in large-size type on your editorial page extracts on "Life," which to me strike an answering chord. In this evening's paper, for instance, was a very beautiful passage suggesting to me the beauties of nature, and, somehow, touching upon the immortal. It seemed to create a sense of peacefulness to me. It is, I suppose, because very recently my mother passed away from this earth, and because my mind has dwelt on this subject a lot, especially since then.

Sometimes one meets people who do not (or say they do not), at least they appear not to, believe in aught but this earthly existence. To me this seems awful, because if we were not to meet our dear loved ones again, what an immense tragedy this life would be. I can see clearly where, if one became of that perpetual frame of mind, it would lead to doing away with one's life as quickly as possible and have it over with. But where one thinks, believes, feels and knows and hopes of that great future, then this earthly parting is not so hard to bear. And it must be so. And I believe God gives a great peace to our hearts and souls upon the taking away of a loved one. Otherwise how could one bear it?

I wish to suggest that at the heading of the column of those deceased you put "Those Who Have Passed Away," for it is only a passing away, a transition to something infinitely better than this poor world. "Dead" is such a tragically sad word, and why should we make this parting seem so hard as that word sometimes implies? Thanking you kindly for hearing this plea, I am sincerely,

MASHING SQUAD MUCH IN EVIDENCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A word regarding Duluth's "mashing squad." In my opinion, the time has arrived for the Duluth police department to break up the pernicious activities of a certain element of roughnecks who infest the main thoroughfare of the city, before some husband or brother of some good woman or girl goes to a gun-work for relief.

Almost anywhere between Third avenue east and Fifth avenue west on Superior street the smirking knave is in evidence—not singly, but in droves. They stand in groups of five and ten, and when a female of almost any age—14 to 50—with a nice figure or a pretty face, passes them, these uncouth men nudge each other, make remarks and stare in a disagreeable manner. Of course, the first impulse of a husband under such circumstances (women escorted by their husbands are not immune from the nasty practices of the masher) is to rush in and give battle; but the man with the strongest heart hates notoriety and the possible consequences of being taken to jail as a witness, and all that a husband can do is to walk on and say nothing.

She may not be physically injured, but she cannot escape rotten remarks, rottener language freely spoken in her presence, the terms of "chicken," "kid," "Sarah," etc.

I believe the fault lies with the police. If Duluth's policemen were less concerned in assuming a judicious mien and a look of preoccupation, they might find time to clear the streets of these men (and a horde of dawdy women) and leave some room for the honest wives and daughters of Duluth's taxpaying citizens.

In front of cigar stores, saloons, shoe-shining shops, and in doorways of cheap hotels and poolrooms, the "masher" finds room to stand and gape at respectability in skirts, and they never miss an opportunity to catch the unsuspecting and innocent eye of a girl or good-looking woman passing their retreat.

Duluth commercially can be proud; but its civic functions are loosely enacted. Those in charge cannot wink at the shame of a condition which permits the sidewalks of the main street of the city being occupied by hundreds of men whose chief occupation seems to be the exhalation of cigarette smoke into the faces of passersby, and the gamut of whose eyes must be run by every respectable woman walking along the street and attending to her own business.

These conditions are not permitted to exist in other cities; why here?

W. BALDWIN.

Duluth, Sept. 3.

NEARLY RIGHT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It gives me pleasure to indorse that part of the News Tribune editorial Monday morning which favors continuous employment for those who wish to work all the time.

I hardly think, however, that the farmers will agree with that part which favors making them pay all the taxes. They may favor making the capitalists and manufacturers pay all the taxes.

HOME-MAKERS OR HOME-BREAKERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of Aug. 29 I read with interest the article stating the position of the Associated Charities in the matter of breaking up homes on the ground of poverty.

I am a mother of five children. Because I was not able to carry the burden, they were all taken away from me and put in a home.

I can say from experience that a mother placed under such circumstances will not know what a happy or contented day is.

With me, it was almost as horrible as death to try to live without them, because they were the only ones I cared to live for. If the plan of the Associated Charities of Duluth is carried out, you will find a lot more contented mothers and better children.

I for one hope that such an idea may be worked out, and that children may be allowed to stay with their mother, instead of being taken away from her and put in a home—all on account of poverty.

A MOTHER.

The Tonic of Fresh Air.

Kansas City Star: Did you ever stop to think why there is so little sickness in the summer compared with the winter? Pneumonia, diphtheria, scarlet fever and similar infectious diseases are infrequent in the hot months. They jump into activity with cold weather.

The reason is that in the summer, windows and doors are open and people live in the open air. Under these conditions their bodies are highly resistant to diseases getting a foothold. There are as many bacteria all about in the summer as in the winter. Only in the summer the body's natural policemen—the white blood corpuscles—are active enough to repel the invaders.

In the winter with impure air, artificially dried out, the body loses a degree of its power of resistance and the bacteria get in their work.

Kate Ketchum

Phoebe Carey in Harper's Bazaar.

Kate Ketchum, on a winter's night,
Went to a party, dressed in white.

Her chignon in a net of gold
Was about as large as they ever sold.

Gayly she went because her "pap"
Was supposed to be a rich old chap.

But when by chance her glances fell
On a friend who had lately married well,

Her spirits sunk, and a vague unrest
And a nameless longing filled her breast—

A wish she wouldn't have had made known,
To have an establishment of her own.

Tom Fudge came slowly through the throng,
With chestnut hair, worn pretty long.

He saw Kate Ketchum in the crowd,
And, knowing her slightly, stopped and bowed;

Then asked her to give him a single flower,
Saying he'd think it a priceless dower.

Out from those with which she was decked
She took the poorest she could select,

And blushed as she gave it, looking down
To call attention to her gown.

"Thanks," said Fudge, and he thought how dear
Flowers must be at this time of year.

Then several charming remarks he made,
Asked if she sang, or danced, or played;

And being exhausted, inquired whether
She thought it was going to be pleasant weather.

And Kate displayed her jewelry,
And dropped her lashes becomingly;

And listened, with no attempt to disguise
The admiration in her eyes.

At last, like one who has nothing to say,
He turned around and walked away.

Kate Ketchum smiled and said, "You bet,
I'll catch that Fudge and his money yet.

"He's rich enough to keep me in clothes,
And I think I could manage as I chose.

"He could aid my father as well as not,
And buy my father a splendid yacht.

"My mother for money should never fret,
And all that it cried for the baby should get;

"And after that, with what he could spare,
I'd make a show at a charity fair."

Tom Fudge looked back as he crossed the sill,
And saw Kate Ketchum standing still.

"A girl more suited to my mind
It isn't an easy thing to find;

"And everything that she has to wear
Proves her as rich as she is fair.

"Would she were mine, and that I today
Had the old man's cash my bills to pay;

"No creditors with a long account,
No tradesman waiting 'that little amount';

"But all my scores paid up when due
By a father-in-law as rich as a Jew!"

But he thought of her brother, not worth a straw,
And her mother, that would be his, in law;

So, undecided, he walked along,
And Kate was left alone in the throng.

But a lawyer smiled, when he sought by stealth,
To ascertain old Ketchum's wealth;

And as for Kate, she schemed and planned
Till one of the dancers claimed her hand.

He married her for her father's cash—
She married him to cut a dash.

But as to paying his debts, do you know,
The father couldn't see it so;

And at hints for help, Kate's hazel eyes
Looked out in their innocent surprise.

And when Tom thought of the way he had wed,
He longed for a single life instead,

And closed his eyes in a sulky mood,
Regretting the days of his bachelorhood;

And said in a sort of reckless vein,
"I'd like to see her catch me again,

"If I were free as on that night
I saw Kate Ketchum dressed in white!"

She wedded him to be rich and gay;
But husband and children didn't pay.

He wasn't the prize she hoped to draw,
And wouldn't live with his mother-in-law.

And oft when she had to coax and pout
In order to get him to take her out,

She thought how very attentive and bright
He seemed at the party that winter's night—

Of his laugh, as soft as a breeze of the south,
("Twas now on the other side of his mouth.)

How he praised her dress and gems in his talk,
As he took a careful account of stock.

Sometimes she hated the very walls—
Hated her friends, her dinners, and calls:

Till her weak affections to hatred turned,
Like a dying tallow candle burned.

And for him who sat there, her peace to mar,
Smoking his everlasting cigar—

He wasn't the man she thought she saw,
And grief was duty and hate was law.

So she took up her burden with a groan,
Saying only, "I might have known!"

Alas for Kate! and alas for Fudge!
Though I do not owe them any grudge;

And alas for any that find to their shame
That two can play at their little game!

For of all hard things to bear and grin,
The hardest is knowing you're taken in.

Ah, well! as a general thing we fret
About the one we didn't get;

But I think we needn't make a fuss
If the one we don't want didn't get us.

Getting Informed.

Washington Star: "I went into politics," said the serious woman "so that when national topics come up I can understand what my husband is talking about."

"And has your plan succeeded?"

"To a certain extent. It has brought us into closer mental accord, for I find that he doesn't understand, either."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The steamer Maritana sailed from South Chicago yesterday for Duluth, having among her passengers John D. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil company, Henry C. Frick of the Carnegie Steel company, Jay C. Morse of the Illinois Steel company and H. C. Pickands, the millionaire iron man of Cleveland. It is said an important deal in iron ore lands is projected.

•••The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Rakowski was celebrated at 331 East Superior street on the evening of Aug. 28. Many friends of the celebrants throughout the Northwest were present. Mr. Rakowski and Miss Krause were married in Duluth a quarter of a century ago and are among the very oldest settlers in point of actual residence.

•••Among the school teachers who are here for the first time are Miss Nellie Stoughton of Jackson, Mich.; Miss Abbie of Granite Falls, Minn.; Miss Clara Helline of Dayton, Ohio, and Miss Georgiana Thompson of Fredonia, N. Y.

•••Mrs. T. G. Govett and children have returned from Tower and are at home in West Duluth.

•••Miss Beulah Gilman of St. Cloud, daughter of ex-Lieutenant Governor Gilman, has arrived to take a position in the city schools.

•••Assignee F. W. Paine of the Iron Bay company has been authorized by an order of the district court to sell the company's lands and other property to O. H. Simonds for $60,000.

•••Fred S. Avery will hereafter manage the West Superior hotel. He has had charge of the Hotel Lafayette at Lake Minnetonka.

•••Articles of incorporation of the Parkersburg Iron company were filed yesterday by James Billings, P. S. Bemis and Frank Cox of this city. The capital stock is $100,000.

•••Achilles Nelson, the well known city ticket agent of the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, left yesterday for the East, and after a short stay there will proceed to Mexico. He has been granted a year's leave of absence by the railroad on account of ill health.

•••Mrs. J. S. Dinwoodie returned yesterday from a two month's visit among her old friends in Boston and Old Orchard.

THE GOVERNORSHIP

At the Pink Teas.

Cass Lake Times: Adolph and his little booklet, presumably set to music, will be in great demand in the rural school districts from now until November. One lump, or two please?

Selfish Interest.

Fairmont Sentinel: Gov. Eberhart's managers are busily engaged throwing cold water on the second choice provision of the new election law. They well know that should the voters take advantage of that privilege the governor and the unholy influences behind him would suffer a crushing defeat.

Some Attraction.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: We are willing to bet that the state fair will be packed to s. r. o. this year, for there in an attraction billed that exceeds by far the famous "amphiousbivolupous" of the old time circus. It, too, was captured only after "an enormous loss of life (to the state), and stupendous expense." It will be kept, as is the usual custom with freaks, beneath a separate canvas, but will be one of the big, free attractions. The name of this exceedingly rare and, in fact, only relic of this specie is "Fortunatus, the Twister." He will do one of his regular, genuine, twisting stunts at the fair this year, and no loyal son of this old North Star state can afford to miss it.

Admitted by Friends.

Fergus Falls Journal: The Wadena Pioneer Journal, which is supporting Governor Eberhart, can see the force of the attacks on the extravagance of his administration, judging from the following admission:

"William E. Lee, the Todd county candidate for governor, is making a strenuous campaign on the issue of retrenchment in expenditures for purposes of state government. This is the really weak point in the armor of the Eberhart administration and the Todd county man is making the most of the issue."

The Governor's Advertising.

Warren Register: Possibly the state has suffered none from the long and frequent absences of Governor Eberhart. The helm of state may have been as safe in the hands of his private secretary or his executive clerk. But the governor's claim that his visits to other states have given Minnesota valuable advertising is one hard to believe. Have they brought to this state a single industry of any kind or even one settler? If so, we have yet to learn of it. The governor's claiming credit for the primary law, increased gross earnings tax, etc., makes us laugh. He called the special session because the Republican state convention of May 15 scared him into doing so. The anti-Eberhart sentiment that overwhelmingly prevailed in that convention caused him to make the grandstand play of calling an extra session that was favored by but a small proportion of the people of the state.

Governor Grows Weaker.

Laporte News: There are people, and the number is growing, who think that Lieutenant Governor Gordon's visit to the great Bull Moose was purely a political play to ride into power on the wave of his leader's popularity. It is now in politics as everything else, "every tub must stand on its own bottom." That is why Governor Eberhart is growing weaker, and William E. Lee is growing stronger. The governor's record upon which he stands is growing more and more shaky while Mr. Lee's is getting firmer and firmer.

Proclamations.

Northfield News: It is said on good authority that a proclamation will shortly be issued from the executive office setting aside a day for business men in small towns to help farmers gather corn. The governor appears to have progressive views of the extent of his prerogative. It might be well in such case for him if he wishes to secure a more methodical transaction of private affairs also to set apart certain days when the farmers might lawfully congregate to do the community thrashing. It has been noted also that there is not that uniformity in this state which is desirable in the days housewives select to do the family washing. It should surely be in the interest of good government and of the comfort of Minnesota citizens were the government once for all to fix a stated time for the discharge of this important function by executive proclamation.

That Contingent Fund.

Fairmont Independent: Governor Eberhart attempts to justify his using up the governor's contingent fund by pointing out that one item criticized, was for transporting an insane woman Bertha Clausen from Duluth back to New York.

He also defends himself by saying that the late Governor Johnson used the fund in the same way as he has done.

The governor's excuse shows the weakness of his position. He selects one item, where the money taken out by him was used for a charitable purpose, because that one item would be apt to appeal to people's sympathies, and then he attempts further to hide behind the acts of a deceased governor who was much loved.

The question at issue is whether the governor ought to take money out of the contingent fund and use to pay his personal bills to clipping bureaus and for traveling expenses, and whether or not when he uses the people's money, he should not file an itemized statement showing how it was used.

The fact that a former governor used the fund in a similar manner, or that part of the money taken out by him was properly used, does not answer the charges made against him.

Good Company in Books

Henry Ward Beecher: A book is good company. It is full of conversation without loquacity. It comes to our longing with full instruction, but pursues us never. It is not offended at our absent mindedness, nor jealous if we turn to other pleasures—of leaf or dress or mineral, or even of books. It silently serves the soul without recompense — not even for the hire of love. And, yet more noble, it seems to pass from itself and to enter the memory, and to hover in a silvery transformation there, until the outward book is but a body and its soul and spirit are flown to you, and possess your memory like a spirit. And while some books, like steps, are left behind us by the very help which they yield us, and serve only our childhood or early life, some others go with us in mute fidelity, to the end of life—a recreation for fatigue, an inspiration for our sober hours and a solace for our sickness or sorrow. Except the great outdoors, nothing that has so much life of its own gives so much life to us.

A Boomerang of Criticism.

Popular Magazine: Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, the president of the University of Virginia, tells this story, illustrating the importance of being careful in criticism:

"I know of a certain instructor in rhetoric who always impressed upon his students the necessity of clarity in what they wrote. A young man brought on one occasion a very carefully prepared essay.

"'A good piece of work,' said the instructor, 'but, Mr. Smith, you should remember to write every sentence so that the most ignorant person can understand every word you put down.'

"The young man looked worried, and then asked anxiously:

"'What part of my essay was not clear to you, professor?'"

THE WILSON CAMPAIGN FUND

A PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN FUND FOR A PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT

SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED AT THE HERALD OFFICE, DULUTH

The progressives are awakening. Seven contributions, aggregating $143, were received by The Herald for the Wilson campaign fund today. The total is now $482.

The contributions received today were accompanied by expressions of hope that Woodrow Wilson will be elected to the presidency. They came from progressives who are anxious to see Wilson placed in the presidential chair and the affairs of the government turned over to a true friend of the people.

Marcus L. Fay, who contributed $50, is one of the veteran Democrats of St. Louis county, and was an ardent supporter of Wilson before the Baltimore convention. He has just returned from a trip to the East, and he reports that Wilson sentiment is everywhere.

"I have no doubt but that Wilson will be elected president," he said. "I found everywhere that the true progressives of all parties are for the Democratic nominee. The Democratic national committee has started its campaign on the right lines by appealing to the people for their funds. They show good faith with the people, and the people should respond to their appeal."

Frederic W. Paine sent in $50 and Fred L. Ryan contributed $25. John Christie mailed $10 with a note in which he said:

"You will find herewith my check for $10 to help along the good cause represented by Governor Wilson.

"My sympathies in national politics have always been with the Democratic party and I am glad to say that during the past twenty years I have never felt such confidence in the success of a party as I do in connection with the present campaign.

"It therefore gives me great pleasure to contribute my mite to help accomplish this desirable result, although I feel assured that there was never less reason for spending money to accomplish a desirable result than there is during the present campaign. I feel assured that the great mass of the common people are with us in this fight to such an extent that no amount of corruption from the enemy will defeat the choice of the people."

John Boyer contributed $5 with a hope that it would help in the campaign for good government. Si Bennett sent $2 and Louis Bennett contributed $1, accompanying the contributions with expressions of hope for the triumph of Governor Wilson at the polls in November.

The good work should go on. Progressives of the territory in which The Herald circulates should be well represented in the Democratic national campaign fund. The cause is one to which any man may be proud to contribute.

The dollar of one man will be as gladly received by the Democratic national committee as the larger sums from other men. The $1 and $2 and $5 contributions of the great mass of the people will make up the bulk of Governor Wilson's campaign fund.

The Democratic national committee is collecting a "People's Campaign Fund For a People's President." The response has been surprising. There is no better indication of the extent of progressive sentiment than the readiness with which progressives in all parts of the nation have contributed to Governor Wilson's fund.

Every contribution will be acknowledged by publication in The Herald, and each contributor will receive from the Democratic national committee a handsomely engraved receipt, suitable for framing.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FARGO WAITS FOR COLONEL

Third Party Candidate Expected to Have Warm Welcome Friday.

Question of Putting Up Moose State Ticket Has Not Been Decided.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. Roosevelt will be here Friday and considerable interest is taken in the coming of the ex-president.

The size of the crowd that will greet him depends much on the weather. The farmers have been retarded somewhat in their work by frequent rains. If the weather is clear and bright the attendance will not be as large as if it should rain tomorrow. In any event there will be a sufficently large crowd to give the former president a warm welcome. Interest has always been taken in his public life because of his former residence in this state in the ranching days.

Aside from the interest in his speech here many people are speculating as to what he will recommend on the question of a third state ticket. Immediately following the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt, his supporters in this state announced that a third congressional and state ticket would be named in North Dakota. Since then, however, there has been a marked change of sentiment and it now looks as though no third state ticket would be named. His friends insist that if the third partyites stay out of the state fight they will get from 10,000 to 15,000 more votes than if a Moose is named.

Hanna Roosevelt Man.

L. B. Hanna, the Republican nominee for governor, was the original Roosevelt man in this state and worked hard for him in the March primaries. It is said that Roosevelt will not indorse any proposition to name a third candidate against him. On the other hand many of Hanna's friends would welcome a third state ticket. They insist that a third candidate would merely draw certain Republican votes that would otherwise go to Hellstrom, the Democratic nominee, and that Hanna would have two weak opponents instead of one formidable one.

National Committeeman More of the Roosevelt party in this state is reported to have gone strongly on record as against a third state ticket. It is claimed that he takes the position that if a third ticket is named thousands of Hanna's friends, who would otherwise vote for Roosevelt, will then throw their support to Taft. In such a case Wilson would probably carry the state.

Some of the more radical Roosevelt men want a complete congressional and state ticket named. They refuse to be governed by the progressive views of the nominees. They wish to make the sole and only test as to whether the nominees are for or against Roosevelt. This element is headed by Judge Lauder of Wahpeton but is apparently in the minority.

So far as known the overtures of the third party men to the followers of La Follette have not borne fruit. Many enthusiastic La Follette men express more antagonism to Roosevelt than to Taft.

CHICKENS THICK IN NORTH DAKOTA

Weather Conditions Have Made Coming Hunting Season About Ideal.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The open season for chicken and duck shooting in North Dakota begins Saturday. Not for years have the chickens been so numerous or well developed as this season. Conditions appear to have been ideal and the young birds are now as large and strong apparently as the old ones.

The wet weather has filled the lakes, sloughs and pot holes all over the state and the duck crop is the largest for many seasons. As a result of the unusually large number of birds many hunters who have heretofore paid little attention to the sport will be afield Saturday and Sunday. Most county auditors report the number of hunting licenses issued up to date exceed those for a similar period in any former year. Residents pay $1 licenses and non-residents $25.

The laws of the state permit a shooter to kill ten prairie chickens and twenty-five ducks in any one day. The open season for chickens continues till Nov. 1 and for ducks till Dec. 15. Goose shooting is permitted till May 10.

WILSON CLUBS QUITE ACTIVE

North Dakota Followers of New Jersey Governor Are Getting Busy.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local Woodrow Wilson club will have a meeting next Tuesday evening when there will be good speaking and a general discussion of plans for the campaign.

George H. Fields, chairman of the Eddy County Democratic committee, has called a county-wide meeting to be held in New Rockford, Sept. 9, to organize the Eddy County Woodrow Wilson club. M. D. Hildreth will be the principal speaker, being a member of the state committee and taking up the question of organizing a Wilson club.

In Binford, Griggs county, the Wilson-Marshall club has been formed with a membership of about fifty.

Williston Democrats have also taken up the battle for Wilson, and at a meeting to be held this week they will perfect the organization of a club.

It is the plan of the committee representing the state Democratic organization to place county and local Wilson clubs throughout the state. They propose to make the Democratic forces more thoroughly organized this year than ever before, and they are inviting all progressives to affiliate with them in their effort to bring about the election of Wilson electors from North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Storie was accidentally killed by the discharge of a shotgun lying in a carriage in which he was driving alone. The charge entered his side, and death must have been almost instantaneous.

Stubbards and Bert Stanford developed an accusation of violating the liquor laws against Stanford, Prosecuting Attorney D. J. McLennon, who appeared for Stanford, changed roles and, becoming a prosecutor, demanded a warrant for his client's arrest.

Stanford entered a like charge against Stubbards so that now both principals of the petty civil suit are under arrest, while the prosecuting officer is opposing both of them in the criminal procedure.

ENFORCING "DRY" LAWS.

North Dakota Law Enforcement League Getting Busy.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The State Law Enforcement league is camping on the trails of violators of the act preventing the sale of liquor in this state.

The advent of the harvest season is responsible for the fact that so many blind pigs have sprung up and the officials usually are kept busy this period of the year.

At Ecman and Russell, Sheriff Sandstrom and deputies made several raids, arresting three men.

At Wildrose, Williams county, successful raids were made by Sheriff Olsen and State's Attorney Braatlien, William Platt and W. Snyder being caught in the drag net.

Aneta, Nelson county, yielded two piggers, both of whom have pleaded guilty and are now serving time. Erwin Pond was given a five months' sentence, while Tom Miller was given three months, and both will spend that time in the Grand Forks county jail.

INHALED DEADLY GAS

Is Theory of Death of Lake Carriers Association Member.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 4. — (Special to The Herald.) — Accidental, resulting from falling down by the Great Northern pump house and inhaling gas from the exhaust pipe, was the theory of the coroner as to the death of Daniel Morrison, whose body was found lying beside the pump house. It is said he had been drinking and is presumed to have fallen while in a stupor.

He was a member of the Lake Carriers' association of Pennsylvania and Deputy Coroner Nelson, who took charge, wired the secretary. He received an answer stating that nothing could be done by the association as he was not in service at the time of his death, but that Secretary Marrs of the association wired the dead man's brother at Erie. Funeral arrangements will not be made until word is received from the brother.

YEGGS WORK AT BAGLEY.

Bagley, Minn., Sept. 4.—Sunday night the Bagley postoffice safe was blown and robbed of $93 in cash, $165 in stamps, the registered mail being overlooked as was also about $600 worth of stamps. The robbers entered the building by breaking a rear window.

The stamps secured were in small books and about $600 worth of stamps were found under the safe door where it was blown by the nitro discharge, thus being overlooked by the yeggs.

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—The body of Chester J. Markland, member of Company M, Twenty-eighth infantry, stationed at Fort Snelling, was found Tuesday afternoon in the Minnesota river, near the Mendota ferry.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Danderine Destroys Dandruff and Stops Falling Hair at Once—Grows Hair, We Prove It—Absolutely Harmless.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

STATE HAS SPENT MONEY "LIKE A DRUNKEN SAILOR"

William E. Lee Arraigns the Governor and the Brewery Machine.

Urges His Hearers to Read Chester A. Congdon's Letter.

The brewery machine in Minnesota politics and Governor Eberhart, whom he declared to be the candidate of the breweries, were severely arraigned by William E. Lee, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, in a speech at Foresters' hall last night.

"If a town clerk or a school district clerk in the first back forty organized in St. Louis county were to run the affairs of his office as Governor Eberhart has conducted his office, there would be an uproar that would be heard all over the state," said Mr. Lee. "Yet the chief executive of the state comes before the people again with confidence that he will be re-elected. He is depending on the political machine. If he had depended on the votes of the people, he wouldn't have left a record such as I have referred to."

Mr. Lee declared that the brewery organization in politics is responsible for all the evils of Minnesota government. The breweries, with control of a minority of the legislature, have been able to control the whole legislature, by capturing the organization and the committees. Log-rolling and trading have brought honest members under the domination of the breweries.

"The breweries defeated reapportionment in the last session," he said. "I have been all through Southern Minnesota during this campaign, and the people of that section of the state are willing that Northern Minnesota should have fair representation in the legislature. The breweries are not willing, and they have had the say."

There isn't a state department that isn't less efficient and more extravagant because of the domination of the legislature by the brewery machine, Mr. Lee said. He pointed out that some years ago, when the Jacobson 4 per cent gross earnings tax bill was pending, its advocates declared that its passage would obviate the necessity for a direct tax in the future. Since that time the inheritance tax and other special taxes have increased the state revenue, yet in 1903 the direct tax on the assessed property of the state was 1.5 mills on a valuation of $800,000,000 and in 1911 the tax was 2.65 mills on a valuation of $1,212,000,000.

Extravagance.

"In 1911 more than $16,000,000 passed through the state treasury," he said. "The money of the people was spent by state officials like drunken sailors. Taking out of the $16,000,000 the money for the revolving funds of state institutions and the loans made to towns and school districts, we have $13,500,000 expended, and yet at present the state owes $600,000 of borrowed money.

"That is the logical, natural result of permitting the brewery organization to run the state government. 'Come easy, go easy,' is the rule. The pace of the legislature is followed by the other departments of the state government.

"In 1901 the legislative session cost $145,929. In 1911 the regular session cost $319,971.91. There is at least $100,000 sheer waste. No man can account for such an increase in ten years.

"In 1901 the executive department cost $124,212. In 1911 it cost $317,809.12. There is no satisfactory explanation possible for such an increase.

"There are loafers around the legislature, but if you want to find the real loafers on the state payroll you should hunt up the state boards. The woods are full of them, especially at this time. Catch one of them and you will find a string. If you follow the string you will find Ed Smith or Fred Zollman or some other agent of the breweries on the other end. When he pulls the string the appointee dances. It is easier to keep those political tools on your payroll than on the machine payrool.

"In 1901 state boards cost the state $129,276. In 1911 they cost $556,861.44. Much of that could be done away with. All boards relating to agriculture and state development should be put under the state agricultural college as in Wisconsin. We would then have an army of experts in the field instead of an army of politicians."

Mr. Lee severely criticized the governor's handling of the contingent fund. He called attention to items of $1,345.15 for traveling expenses, to expenditures for cut flowers, subscriptions to newspapers, taxicab bills and clippings. He said the governor had permitted others to spend money from the contingent fund which was entrusted to his care for emergency use. He pointed out that he had legal evidence that the governor was out of the state on many occasions when the records of state boards purported to show that he was at St. Paul attending to the business of the state.

Mr. Lee discussed railroad rates at some length and declared that the people in the western part of Northern Minnesota, having common interest with Duluth and desiring to trade here, were forced to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago by manipulation of railroad rates. He said the legislators sent to St. Paul by St. Louis county have never done anything to help the situation.

The speaker urged his hearers to read C. A. Congdon's letter on the activity of the breweries in Minnesota politics.

"Let the breweries brew beer and sell it just as other people attend to their own business," he said. "I believe also that every state, county, town and crossroads hamlet should have the right to say whether it will or will not license saloons. I want the people to have the last word on every question. That is the real issue. Shall the people rule the government or allow it to be ruled by somebody else?"

field and should withdraw. Mr. Lee, who is in Duluth, takes the same position.

Gordon declares, in his open letter to Lee and Young, that he was first in the field and has made a hard fight against the machine, but he is willing to submit his chances to a casting of lots in order that the situation may be clarified and the opposition to the machine simplified.

Gordon's Letter.

He says:

"Only two weeks now remain until the date of the state-wide primary election. You gentlemen as well as myself are flying the Progressive banner and as a result many of the Progressive voters of the state are more or less bewildered as to whom to favor for the Republican nomination in order that the best results may be obtained in advancing the Progressive cause in this state. I am firmly convinced that I am in the lead of all Progressive candidates for the nomination, but with the field divided as it is, I fully realize the danger of the Progressive cause losing, although having a large majority of the vote. With only two Progressive candidates in the field under the second choice primary, such a result could hardly be brought about, and since I consider the success of Progressive principles as advocated by our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt, to be paramount to the personal ambitions of any one man, I hereby propose that you two gentlemen and myself in the presence of the committee of fifty recently appointed by Hon. J. F. Jacobson, get together and arrange a drawing of lots in which all shall have a fair and equal chance and thus bring about the elimination of one of us before the primaries. This will leave the Progressive voters an opportunity to concentrate their support by casting first and second choice votes for the two remaining candidates according to their preferences and insuring a victory at the polls. Should either of you fail to accept this proposition, I will go still further in order to clarify the present situation by proposing to cast lots with either one of you.

Wants Cause to Win.

"In making this proposition, I realize there will be some who are opposed to me who will at once raise the cry that it is an acknowledgement of weakness on my part, but I have long since come to the conclusion that a man in public life who hesitates to do the thing he believes to be right for fear of the criticism and misrepresentation of some of the people, is not the kind of a man who brings about any great good to the public. I don't for one moment concede that my candidacy is weak as compared to that of any other man in the field. On the contrary, I think that all observing and well-informed persons look upon my candidacy as leading the Progressive field today, but I want the Progressive cause to win in this election, and upon that basis I make this proposition.

"For the past two and one-half years I have led as best I knew how a strenuous and consistent fight against bossism and brewery-machine rule in Minnesota politics. For several years Ed. Smith was the boss of a well organized state senate combine, holding his power through the organization of which the present governor, then lieutenant governor, was the head. Smith retired from the senate and when the governor proposed to increase and extend his power as political boss by placing him at the head of the Republican committee in the state, I raised my voice in strong protest at a time when many believed that in doing so I had jeopardized my own chances of election to the lieutenant governorship, but I had the satisfaction of knowing that I was not "trimming" or sailing under false colors. I did not succeed in defeating Smith's appointment at the time, but today his bossism and machine rule are denounced on every side.

Record in Senate.

"After my election as president of the state senate, I organized that body in the interests of progressive principles and in the interest of open legislation and so far as the work of my committees is concerned, on behalf of the best interests of the people, I challenge comparison with any previous session of the Minnesota legislature. At the very outset of the recent special session, fifty-five of the sixty-three senators (many without due consideration), singed an agreement to consider but two measures—the state-wide primary and corrupt practices act. On the first day in compliance with this agreement, a rule was adopted for the appointment of a committee on reception of all other bills, said committee to consist of nine members, one from each congressional district, and the rule provided that no measures could be reported from the committee except by unanimous consent. While I believe a majority of the members hastily signed the agreement without considering its effect, it is generally understood that its object was to prevent consideration of the railroad gross earnings tax increases, the federal income tax amendment and any other measures that might threaten special interests of one kind or another. I realized the importance of that special committee and after four days' careful work, I was able to name nine men who were willing to report out and recommend popular legislation and as a result the measures that were sought to be defeated were made laws. After the close of the session, after considerable debate, a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee of three senators to investigate as to the brewery ownership and control of saloons and the charge that brewers were aiding and abetting in the establishment of blind-pigs. I appointed such a committee which has been at work since the session, and I do not think anybody is ready to charge that it is a whitewash committee, but on the other hand the testimony adduced before that committee is of such a nature as to prove that the appointment of such a committee was fully justified.

Willing to Take Chance.

"I have referred briefly to my official record and the fight I have made for progressive principles and good government. During this time I have been the subject of much misrepresentation and many and varied attempts have been made to hold me up to ridicule by those in sympathy with the bosses who dislike my official conduct. For that I have cared not, but after having made what I consider a winning fight for the Progressive cause, I dislike to see it lose out in the finish, because of a division of forces and while I was first in the field as a candidate for governor on a Progressive platform and was urgently requested to get into this fight by hundreds of Progressive newspapers and individuals throughout the state, and firmly believing I am today the leading candidate of the Progressives of the state, I am willing to take the chance of elimination as set forth in my proposition herewith submitted to you, and I sincerely trust the same will be accepted forthwith.

"Should I be the one eliminated from this contest, I shall cheerfully give my time and services to the Progressive cause from now until election day.

"Yours very truly,

"SAM Y. GORDON."

Lee's Statement.

After reading Gordon's letter and the press reports on the conference at St. Paul, Mr. Lee, who is in Duluth, gave out the following statement today:

"There was no demand for Mr. Young's candidacy. He took the responsibility of becoming a candidate and if by so doing he has muddled the situation it is up to him and his friends to clarify it by withdrawing.

"So far as submitting the case to chance, I do not think it is fair to the candidates, nor fair to their supporters, that a candidate who has some prospect of being nominated should put his chances on a par with the man who has no chance of being nominated.

"If the people will vote at the primary election for both first and second choice for governor that will eliminate the candidates who should be eliminated, and nominate a man who will be satisfactory to a majority of the people of Minnesota. I am willing to submit my candidacy to the people on that basis and abide by the result."

grain is also coming from Northern Minnesota and North Dakota. A great deal of grain is coming up here from more southerly points for export by way of the Great Lakes. Two cargoes of spring wheat and a cargo of durum have already been shipped from Duluth for export. You see we are ahead of the Canadian crop and that is why the export movement is becoming very active just now. A great deal of grain is being shipped out to Eastern points and we cannot always tell whether it is for export or not, but we think it reasonable to suppose that most of what is going out, or at least a large part of it, is for foreign countries.

"I suppose there will be a big export movement of durum this year. Men on the Board of Trade in a position to get reliable information have estimated this year's durum crop of the three Northwestern states at 20,000,000 bu. That is a great deal of durum and vastly in excess of last year's crop, which was very light. Last year much durum was mixed with spring wheat and ground by the millers, but I do not think much of that will be done this year, for durum is more expensive than spring wheat. There is plenty of spring wheat for the millers this year, without mixing in any of the durum, and that fact, coupled with the strong European demand, leads me to believe that practically all of the durum that is raised in these three Northwestern states will go to Europe, especially to the Mediterranean countries, where there is a great market for it. This will mean a big movement of durum through Duluth.

Will Be Bigger.

"The movement of grain from North Dakota to Duluth has not fairly commenced yet. Of our cars on track today, only nine were sampled at the Cass Lake bureau, which gets the cars from North Dakota. I suppose it will not be long before the Cass Lake cars for Duluth will number 200 to 300 a day, but at that time, it is probable that the car receipts from South Dakota will be falling off. Still, I think it is safe to say that the present big receipts do not by any means represent the largest volume of grain trade that is destined for Duluth this year.

"I have been surprised at the fine quality of wheat that we have been receiving, notwithstanding the heavy rains that have occurred, and the many complaints of harvesting and thrashing being interfered with by the bad weather. Farmers manage better now than they used to. They are more careful about cutting their wheat when it is dry and getting it thoroughly dried before thrashing it. There has been some smut this year, but not a great deal of it. This year we are nearly free from rust. Rust generally results from muggy weather and we have not had a great deal of that this year. Last year the wheat crop was very badly damaged by black rust.

"We have not had a car of No. 1 hard wheat this year, but I am satisfied, from the samples that have been received at the office, that we shall receive a great deal of it. The quantity of wheat in the fields is large this year, and as a rule, where you have quantity you have quality. A large crop is apt to have a larger percentage of good wheat than a small crop.

"The wet weather has injured the quality of the barley crop of the Northwest this year by producing stain. Such barley does not sprout so well as the well-cured kind. The quality was better last year, but there was not much of it, for the harvest was very light. Notwithstanding the stain, I believe the farmers are going to make more money on barley this year than they did from their crop of 1911.

"Rye is arriving in large quantities and is of better quality than last year. The drouth hurt it last year, cutting down the quantity and impairing the quality.

"The movement of the oats crop to the Duluth market has not yet commenced. We have not yet been able to tell much about the quality, but we have reason to believe that there will be a large harvest.

"We have received but one car of new flax, which came yesterday. It was from near Barnesville, Minn. The quality was excellent and it graded No. 1. The weight was fifty-one pounds to the bushel. That flax must have been sown uncommonly early. The movement of new flax to the Duluth market will probably be in good volume between the middle and the last of this month. It looks as if we would have a fine, large crop, but no one can tell how much of it the frost will catch before it matures. The planting was generally very late."

who had been kept in confinement since last Friday's trouble were put to work today. Five companies of the National Guard will remain at the prison at least forty-eight hours longer and then only a portion of the guardsmen will be discharged unless present plans are changed.

Although officials of the prison declare they believe the presence of five companies of state troops has thoroughly cowed the unruly convicts who figured in yesterday's riot, there was a feeling in prison circles today that almost anything was liable to happen within the next forty-eight hours. Warden Simpson said he would no longer rely on a "bull pen" in which to house his so-called bad men, but intended to keep those who refused to behave either locked in the cell rooms or handcuffed to the grating until they decided to "be good."

The liberation of convicts who declared themselves ready to obey the prison's code of laws was expected to be today's most important development.

Adjt.-Gen. Roy C. Vandercook and five companies of National Guard are ready for emergencies.

Since yesterday's riot was quelled there has been a general feeling that one or more convicts who cherish what the officials term fancied wrongs might suddenly try to seek revenge. The hope was expressed, however, that if the soldiers succeeded today in getting the convicts back to work the backbone of the "strike" would be effectually broken.

as nominee for state treasurer on the same ticket.

Neck and Neck Race.

John F. Doherty of La Crosse and Charles A. Kading of Watertown, Democrats, seem to be running neck and neck for the nomination for attorney general.

Of the two contests on the Republican ticket, Henry Krumrey of Plymouth is leading Henry Johnson of Madison as nominee for state treasurer, and Walter C. Owen of Maiden Rock has an advantage over Philip Lehner of Princeton for attorney general.

Fragmentary returns from the Third congressional district, where two Democrats were seeking the nomination, show Aldro Jenks, Dodgeville, to be slightly ahead of Albert H. Long, Prairie du Chien.

A hot four-cornered contest which may require an official count to decide was conducted in the Tenth congressional district between four Republicans—Secretary of State James A. Frear, Speaker Charles A. Ingram, Assemblyman J. C. Gilbertson and A. T. Twesme. What few returns have been received give Frear a slight lead, though all four show strength in their home sections.

date for governor to obtain a majority for the first time in the history of the state in an election preceding a presidential election, will necessitate the election of the state's chief executive by the legislature.

Legislature Not Certain.

It is expected that the Republicans will have a substantial majority in the legislature, although there are nearly eighty-one towns yet to report on the vote for representatives.

The strength of the Progressive vote was the feature of the election. The Democrats also increased their vote over two years ago. The falling off in the Republican vote was marked. Indications were that a great part of the defection went to the Progressives, although the Democrats also gained and a few of the Republican votes went to the Prohibition ticket.

The result of the election is greatly encouraging to the Progressive party of the state. Both Progressive and Democratic leaders professed to see in the result a good prospect to defeat the Republicans in the presidential election in November in Vermont.

"Means Business," Wilson Says.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 4.—"The fact that the Democrats more than held their own in Vermont, a Republican state, and also made substantial gains, means business throughout the country," said Governor Wilson today, commenting on the election results in Vermont.

The governor said the big Democratic vote was "very gratifying."

It was difficult, however, he said, to analyze the results in Vermont on any comparative basis because the total vote was so much larger this year than two years ago, and it was hard to trace the sources of the gains. At any rate, he said, the Vermont election indicated a heavy vote throughout the country in November, and he said that he regarded it as significant that the Democrats had carried the cities throughout Vermont.

"Certainly Encouraging."

'One thing is sure," added the governor, "the Democrats did not lose any votes to the new party and the Republicans lost. The results are certainly encouraging."

The governor said he was "greatly pleased" to notice the favorable vote in Ohio on the constitutional amendment proposing the initiative and referendum. He also manifested much interest in the primary vote in New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

The governor planned to leave here at 2 o'clock today for New York, where tonight he will address a dollar dinner given by the Woodrow Wilson Workingmen's league of New York.

W. J. Bryan is expected to meet Governor Wilson within a few days. The governor was uncertain as to where he would meet Mr. Bryan, whether here or on a speaking trip.

Clamor to Hear Bryan.

"I expect to get in telegraphic communication with Mr. Bryan soon," said the governor. "He has not seen Mr. Bryan since the Jackson day banquet in Washington.

"We have been getting telegrams from everywhere," remarked the governor, "asking for Mr. Bryan to speak. The country seems to be clamoring to hear him."

QUIZ TEDDY IN OCTOBER

where he spoke for the Progressive ticket, Chairman Clapp began organizing the committee's inquiry into the pre-convention campaigns of this year, provided by the Penrose resolution as it passed the senate.

Letters to Others.

Letters were sent to Speaker Champ Clark and Representative Oscar W. Underwood, both candidates at the Baltimore convention; Chairman McCombs of the Democratic national committee, who was the manager of Governor Wilson's campaign; Representative William B. McKinley, chairman of the national Taft bureau; Senator Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the national Roosevelt executive committee, and others, asking them to testify before the committee. Through these men and others the committee expects to bring out the expenditures made for the various candidates before the Chicago and Baltimore conventions.

While the exact date of Col. Roosevelts' appearance will be determined by his arrangements for public speaking, the committee has set the tentative date of Oct. 2 or 3.

Senator Clapp was much pleased over the election returns from Vermont.

ACCUSED OF STEALING HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—Severin M. Severson is under arrest here charged with stealing his own automobile. According to accounts Severson gives, he left his automobile in a garage in Glasgow, Mont., last fall. The owner of the garage sold the machine and left the country. When Severson went to claim the property, the owners refused to give it up. Severson watched his chance and drove the car away in spite of the fact that the owner shot after him.

He reported at Minot safely, but was arrested. He will fight extradition.

MUST SAVE MONEY.

St. Paul Judge Would Compel Profligates to Save.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—Compulsory economy among young men who squander their earnings, was inaugurated by Judge Hanft in police court Tuesday, and henceforth every young man charged with drunkenness who does not show he is thrifty, will have a guardian appointed over his earnings.

Young men must put one-third their earnings in a savings bank, pay one-third to their parents for board and lodging. The remainder, one-third, is for their personal needs and pleasures.

This rule was first applied yesterday to Charles Taylor, arrested for drunkenness. He said he earned $70 per month, paid his parents $6 per week, and had none of the rest left. To enforce the order of saving, a twenty-day suspended sentence was pronounced. The same provision was applied to William Blair, William Balin and F. Lubin, held for drunkenness, excepting the suspended sentence was made forty days. Probation Officer Brill is to collect the salaries and make the apportionment under the court rulings.

JEWISH NEW YEARS

Rosh Hashanah Will Fall This Year on Sept. 12.

The Selihot, a period of a few days set aside by the orthodox Jews for penitential prayers prior to the celebration of the Jewish New Year's day, is almost at hand. The Selihot prayers are chanted in the minor key before dawn in the Jewish houses of worship, which are dimly lit. They indicate grief and repentance for the sins of the past year.

The New Year's day, or Rosh Hashanah, falls this year on Sept. 12, and is the beginning of the Jewish year 5673. This day on the Jewish calendar is known as the first day of Tishri. Its observance is based on the 24th verse of chapter xxiii of Leviticus, which reads as follows: "In the seventh month in the first of the month ye shall have a sabbath, a memorial, of blowing of trumpets, a holy convocation."

The Rosh Hashanah is a day of remembrance, the purpose of which is to remind the Jew of the duty of self-examination and self-judgment. The principal feature of the service is the sounding of the Shofar or ram's horn. The day is observed from sundown on Wednesday, Sept. 11, to sundown on Thursday, Sept. 12.

On the afternoon of the New Year's day, many Jews observe the ceremony of Tashlich, in which the worshipers congregate near a running stream, and the passage in Micah from the 18th to the 20th verse of chapter vii is intoned. This passage ends with the phrase, "Thou wilt cast all their sins into the depths of the sea." This ceremony originated with the German Jews about the fourteenth century. Its observance is widespread among the race, but not universal.

After the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Jews exchange the greeting, "A good year" or "Mayest thou be inscribed for a good year." New Year's greeting cards are also sent. The religious ceremonies are followed by a period of social festivity and rejoicing.

The Jews of Duluth will celebrate the New Year at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, where the Rosh Hashanah sermon will be delivered by Rabbi Lefkovitz, and at the Adath Israel synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street.

EDITOR WILL LEAD MT. McKINLEY TRIP.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—An expedition to climb Mount McKinley next spring has been organized by C. E. Rusk, an editor of Prosser, Wash., reputed to be the most skillful mountain climber in the Pacific northwest, and Mert Lavery, who led a number of expeditions in 1910 and 1912. Rusk led an unsuccessful expedition to the mountain in 1910 and 1912. Rusk Philadelphia, who climbed Mount Blackburn last summer, is also considering an expedition to Mount McKinley.

Pickett, master in the inquiry instituted by the United States to take evidence in connection with the American government's suit to dissolve the alleged shipping trust. The examination of Mr. Ismay was private and his testimony will not be disclosed until it is reported to the United States court in New York. The hearing ends the work of Mr. Pickett here.

CLEAN YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS WITH "SYRUP OF FIGS"

More Effective Than Calomel, Castor Oil or Salts; Gently Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Bowels Without Nausea or Griping. Children Dearly Love It.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something to-night."

Most people shrink from a physic—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills.

It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit; of eating coarse food; of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs to-night and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, without gripe, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it can not cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company. That, and that only, is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

TAKES ISSUE WITH WILSON

Roosevelt Talks at St. Louis About Tariff and Trusts.

Advises Third Party There If Others Cannot Be Taken Bodily.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—Woodrow Wilson's stand upon the tariff, the trusts and the proposal for minimum wage scales was assailed by Col. Roosevelt in his speech here. The colonel joined issue squarely with Governor Wilson, taking as his text the Democratic candidate's speech at Buffalo. He delivered his address before the Missouri Progressive state convention, and left for Iowa, where he is to make a number of campaign speeches. The colonel saw nothing of Governor Hadley, who remained at the state capital.

Governor Wilson, said Col. Roosevelt, had paid a warm tribute to the Progressive platform, "a tribute which I cannot reciprocate as to his platform." He denied emphatically that the Progressive planks on the tariff and the trusts constituted the party's real program.

Tariff "Not the Issue."

Turning to the tariff, Col. Roosevelt stated that the governor was diverting attention from the real issues when he took up tariff changes as the panacea for the evils of the day.

Taking up Governor Wilson's criticism of the Progressive policy in regard to the regulation of trusts, Col. Roosevelt asked:

"If the Democratic platform really offers any hope for the solution of the trust question, why, during the last two years that Mr. Wilson has been governor of New Jersey, has nothing whatever been done under Mr. Wilson's lead, or even attempts by Mr. Wilson, in New Jersey for the regulation of the trusts?"

The colonel was advised to ask the convention as to whether it should name a full state ticket.

"I feel that you ought to," he said. "I feel that except in those states in which we can take over bodily either of the old parties, we ought to run a straight Progressive ticket."

Throat Troubled Him.

Col. Roosevelt's throat still troubled him. In his speech, he said:

"Yesterday, Mr. Wilson, alluding to the third party platform, asked: 'With that program, who can differ in his heart, who can divorce himself in sympathy from the great object of advancing the interest of human beings wherever it is possible to advance it?'

"I am very glad that Mr. Wilson should be with us in his heart, but if his party sympathizes with us in its heart, why didn't they, in their platform, make a program at least remotely resembling ours? Our sympathy for the program is not only within our hearts; it is within our heads and hands also.

"When he comes to the tariff, Mr. Wilson attempts to quote me, but he is singularly unsuccessful. He states, for instance, that I am not concerned with the interests of the general taxpayer, the general public. If he would take the trouble to read what I have said, or to read our platform, he would find that the commission principle which we propose, and to which he and his party are hostile, has for one of its principal objects the careful consideration of the needs of the general public.

Tried in Germany.

"We are advocating the commission system, which has been tried in Germany, and which has been one of the pieces of governmental and industrial mechanism that have been so extraordinarily successful in building up the great prosperity of the German empire.

"I believe in protection; I believe that if Mr. Wilson's free trade policy or tariff for revenue only policy is in good faith adopted, and not merely treated as a campaign cry, widespread disaster will result to American life.

"But I do not for a moment believe that a protective tariff by itself offers in any way or shape the solution for the economic and social injustice against which the Progressives are striving.

"Let Mr. Wilson study what has happened to industry in England and in Germany during the last forty years. During these forty years England has been under a free trade system, and Germany has adopted a high tariff system. During these forty years the conditions of the labor world have grown worse in England and better in Germany. Germany has advanced relatively to England all along the line, and especially in the standing of her people.

Not Total Disagreement.

"As to what Mr. Wilson says about a minimum wage, I cannot say that I disagree with him in toto. We are only advocating what we are sure can be done and ought to be done. Evidently Mr. Wilson has not studied the conditions about the labor of women in many factories in big cities.

"Mr. Wilson comes out squarely against our proposal to regulate the trusts. He has not anything to put in its place except a statement that he stands 'by the great Democratic thinkers' who have made the Democratic platform on this subject.

"Mr. Wilson is now governor of New Jersey and has been for nearly two years. If the Baltimore platform really offers any hope for the trust solution, why, during these two years, has nothing whatever been done by New Jersey under Mr. Wilson's lead, or even attempted by Mr. Wilson in New Jersey, for the regulation of the trusts? The answer is because the states by themselves cannot meet the difficulty and it is pure Toryism to suppose that they can, and incidentally any such policy would have the grinning support of any law-breaking trust.

Control of Government.

"Mr. Wilson seems to forget that part of our program is to give to the people themselves direct control over their own government; that is, put them over the governmental system and their agents of government. When the people themselves thus effectively control their own government and the government in its turn controls the big corporations, it seems to me veriest folly of fear to express apprehension lest under such a system the chief employers, as Mr. Wilson says, because they have 'this tremendous authority behind them,' may oppress the wage workers. We have a genuine constructive policy. Mr. Wilson's plan, as far as I can gather, is merely to continue the present futile system, adding fresh and empty protestations. We must supplement the anti-trust law by the kind of real and efficient governmental control advocated in the Progressive national platform, or we will not have made even one step toward solving the trust question."

Forty-Six Years an Editor.

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 4.—To have been engaged in the printing business for sixty-eight years and an editor forty-six years of that time is a record not acquired by many men who have chosen this line of work. But such is the record of A. W. McKinstry, editor of the Faribault Republican, who has just sold his paper and plant to Walter M. West of Minneapolis and a son of Prof. West, formerly of the University of Minnesota.

TAFT LAUDS U. S. CLERKS

President Talks at Boston Meeting of Postoffice Employes.

Limps Upon Platform Owing to Injury to His Foot.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4.—President Taft last night contrasted the conditions that confronted a president in the days of the spoils system with the system of appointment under the civil service; attacked the Democratic house of representatives for attempting to limit the tenure of government employes, and declared that so long as he has the power, no old government clerk need fear discharge unless the United States has provided a civil service pension to keep him from want in his old age.

The president spoke in Faneuil hall to hundreds of postoffice employes in convention here. He said that the job of president in these days is not a thing of joy when appointments are considered, but the times of Lincoln, he added, "must have been a perfect hell." More than anything else he has encountered in the White House, Mr. Taft said, the filling of vacancies that are not under the civil service has proved irksome and distasteful to him, and three times he has urged congress in special messages to extend the blanket of the civil service to all government employes.

One Foot Bandaged.

Mr. Taft motored in from Beverly three hours before his train left for Washington, to speak to the clerks. He limped into Faneuil hall with his right foot in bandages, and wearing on it a loose felt slipper instead of a shoe. The foot was injured several years ago while Mr. Taft was playing golf, and late Monday he strained it again. He was able to stand without aid, and did not use a cane in walking. It was expected that he will be able to go out on the links again when he returns to Beverly Saturday.

At 8 o'clock last night the president left for Washington to keep an engagement there today with the International Association of Applied Chemistry. He will return by way of New York, where he will board the yacht Mayflower, and on the way north will stop at New London, Conn., to address the Atlantic Deep Waterways association. Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, and George R. Sheldon, its treasurer, will be his guests over night Thursday on the Mayflower. Mrs. Taft probably will take the trip.

Was Wildly Cheered.

President Taft was wildly cheered when he entered Faneuil hall. Congressman Greene of Massachusetts had preceded him and had praised the president for his veto of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill when it contained a provision to limit to seven years the tenure of civil service employes.

The president began by praising the "faithful, skillful, intelligent" employes of the government who have built up the machine of government in 125 years so that no matter what president or cabinet officer or bureau chief leaves Washington for vacation, the public business goes on and the government whels turn. He said he had personally observed that machine in operation for many years and knew its faults and good points.

"The charge has been made," with a bang of his fist on the speaker's table, "that government employes are overpaid. That is not true. I know hundreds of men in Washington who are not compensated within five times or even ten times of what they would have received under modern conditions in other lines. I do not mean to say that I favor an advance in salary of five or ten times what they get now, but the government should assure these men of permanence of tenure and that they will be taken care of in their old age."

Favors "Enforced Pensions."

The speaker explained that once he favored a system of straight out pensions for government employes. After observation of the working of this system abroad, however, he had come to the conclusion that it was not the best and that it made for smaller salaries and less rapid advancement for the worthy.

"And now," he continued, "I believe in a system that might be called an 'enforced system of pensions,' where the government pays part and the employes contribute as well."

Mr. Taft gave his reasons for the veto of the legislative bill. He said that not only did he oppose it because it was unfair and because it was placed before him in an improper measure, but because it would have made the life of congressmen and presidents concerned in reappointments unbearable.

"The bill would have accomplished nothing good," he said. "It would just be like beating the devil around the bush."

With a picture of how many appointments were made in the days before civil service, the president concluded his address.

"It must have been a perfect hell in those days," he said. "I speak with emphasis because I do not know anything connected with the government that so interferes with the administration of the office as the applications and pressure that are brought to bear to fill these offices that are not now under the civil service."

HOLDS CHICAGO SLEUTHS AT BAY

Alleged Freight Car Thief Caught When Ammunition Fails.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—After holding six detectives at bay for half an hour, during which time nearly 100 revolver shot were exchanged, Thomas Shannon, an alleged freight car thief, was arrested charged with the recent theft of $25,000 worth of property. Pursued several miles by the police, Shannon sought refuge in the home of Mrs. Martha Maxwell, 396 Southwestern avenue, where he stood at an upper window and fought a revolver battle with his pursuers.

His ammunition exhausted, Shannon disappeared from the window and later was found hiding in a closet.

Shortly after, an alleged accomplice of Shannon, who gave the name of Roger McDonald, was arrested. He admitted he was the owner of the wagon said to have been used by Shannon in carting away stolen goods, but claimed that it had been stolen from him Monday night by Shannon.

Goods valued at $4,000, alleged to have been stolen by Shannon, were recovered by the police.

BRITON ACQUITTED OF MURDER IN TURKEY.

Constantinople, Sept. 4.—Lieut. Herbert G. Montagu, formerly of the British army, who was charged with the murder of a Manchester merchant named Davan in a hotel here Aug. 11, was tried by a jury made up of five British residents, and acquitted. His acquittal was due in a large part to his own testimony.

It was largely owing to statements of Lieut. Montagu, who, although engaged with the Turkish forces in Tripoli, was acting as a correspondent for a London newspaper, that the reports of atrocities on the natives by Tripoli by Italian troops gained wide currency some nine months ago. His dispatches described cases of alleged indiscriminate slaughter of Arab women and children, and other acts of barbarity on the part of the Italians.

Everything With the Henricksen Mark of Quality

The Difference

between buying jewelry and buying the other things you wear is principally a matter of time. You buy a hat for a month or two, a pair of shoes or a suit for a season. But you buy a watch or a diamond ring that must last you a lifetime. Styles of wearables change so that you would scarcely appear on Superior street in the dress or suit you bought a couple of seasons since. With a piece of jewelry—well, you can see how necessary it is that we must at all times give you only that which will please you in the wearing or using not only one or two years, but in 10 or 20.

That's what we mean when we say "Everything with the Henricksen Mark of Quality."

RUN DOWN BY YOUNGER SON

Woman and Three Children Drowned By Boy With Motorboat.

Lansing, Iowa, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Frank Lankford and her three children, John, 21 years old; Mabel, 12 years, and Francis, 4 years old, were drowned three miles below here Tuesday afternoon when a boat in which they were riding was upset in a collision with a gasoline launch driven by a younger son. The woman and her children were thrown into the water and frantically struggled to save themselves.

John Lankford, the oldest son, who was the only member of the party able to swim, made a valiant effort to save the lives of his mother and brother and sister, but drowned in the attempt. He managed to keep the members of the party above water for nearly half an hour but finally became exhausted from his struggle and sank when his calls for help were unanswered. The son in the motor boat was too young tu give assistance.

DR. WILEY FAVORS WILSON FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE

Roosevelt Abandoned Consumers to Rapacity of Mercenary Manufacturers.

Taft Continued Board Under Whose Patronage Adulterators Poison People.

New York, Sept. 4.—The following article is taken from the Democratic Text Book, which has just been issued. The splendid fight of Dr. Wiley, a lifelong Republican, for pure food is known in every hamlet and every home in the land.

BY HARVEY W. WILEY,
(Former Chief Chemist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

My appeal is chiefly to those who, like myself, have been lifelong Republicans. I believe that no kind of an administration is going to ruin the country. I have a high personal regard for each one of the candidates for president and vice president on all the tickets. All the political platforms are mainly sound and all promise effort in behalf of the whole people. My choice is not based on a platform. It was determined by my impressions of the real attitude of the candidates respecting the public welfare. We are creatures of heredity and environment. In our attitude towards great public questions we are almost altogether creatures of environment.

What two men are by environment least likely to be swayed by special interests and most likely to be guided by devotion to public welfare? Two of the candidates have already been tried in the presidential chair and we know by experience what may be expected if either of them resumes his former seat on March 4, 1913.

Roosevelt's Record.

Mr. Roosevelt by reason of his attitude towards the food and drug act abandoned the consumers of the country to the rapacity of a few mercenary manufacturers. Under authority of congress I had carried on extensive experiments with my so-called poison-squad and found that certain substances, viz., benzoic compounds, sulfurous compounds and sulphate of copper (blue stone), were injurious to health.

The law conferred upon me, as chief of the bureau of chemistry, the duty of acting as a grand jury and determining whether foods and drugs were adulterated or misbranded. Instead of appealing from my decisions to the courts as the law requires, the users of these poisons appealed to President Roosevelt. He not only listened to them, but he abrogated the plain provisions of the law, appointed a board not contemplated by the law, and directed that these predatory interests might continue their attacks on the health of the people until this board, unknown to the law, should decide otherwise.

Taft Did Worse.

Can we safely trust the campaign for public health to Mr. Roosevelt? I cannot believe that to be the proper course. Mr. Taft inherited this exceedingly bad condition of affairs from his predecessor and has not only continued this illegal board under whose patronage adulterators are still poisoning the people, but he did worse. In the matter of the adulteration of distilled beverages, in which Roosevelt upheld the legally constituted authorities, Mr. Taft reversed that policy and threw the mighty weight of the executive office to the support of the worst lot of adulterators that ever disgraced a country.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Marshall, by their strenuous efforts in behalf of the food laws of their respective states, have given a positive promise to end such a threatening state of affairs. They will support to the utmost the officials under the law who are trying to protect the public health and will make short shrift of those who have brought about these present unbearable conditions.

Wilson and Marshall, by their education and environment, are free from bias in favor of predatory interests and are inspired by true patriotic zeal in behalf of public welfare.

I support the Democratic nominees in the full knowledge that many of the prominent Democrats in congress have been in full sympathy with the paralysis of the food law in behalf of the unholy dollar. But when the Democratic president and vice president lend the aid of their powerful sympathy in behalf of the public health, those of their own party not in sympathy with them will be robbed of their power for evil. If Roosevelt or Taft be chosen, the soldiers of fraud and adulteration will be impregnably entrenched for another four years, and benzoates, sulfites and adulterated alcoholic beverages will have a new lease of life.

Will Renovate Department.

I believe also that President Wilson will renovate the department of agriculture, reeking, as it has been for the past twelve years, with scandals and favoritism. He will see to it that the bureau of animal industry will protect the public health instead of the efforts of the packers to sell diseased meats under the deceptive phrase "U. S. Inspected and Passed." Under President Wilson no more Pinchots will be kicked out of the service, no more unspeakable McCabes will exercise dictatorial powers. There will be no more cotton leaks and jungle atrocities, no more Everglades swindles. Buccaneering, boasting and buncombe will give place to sane efforts for the promotion of real agriculture and the public health.

Under Wilson the department of agriculture will be restored to speaking terms with the state agricultural colleges and experiment stations, and the state officials will no longer be regarded as inferior beings, living only on the largess of a Washington cabal. I ask all who want honesty and faithful service in the department of agriculture, the promotion of public health, and executives who have grown to manhood and lived in an environment favorable to that which makes for the public welfare, to vote for Wilson and Marshall.

RETURN TO OLD DOBBIN

No Automobile for Socialist Campaign Tour of St. Louis County.

Candidates Will Have Old-Fashioned Wagon Full of Literature.

No handsome touring car, decked out in flags and banners and loaded with campaign literature, will swing around St. Louis county in promoting the interests of the Socialist candidates at the fall election this year.

The old fashioned horse and wagon will be used instead. It may be slower than the benzine buggy, say the campaign managers, but is surer and is apt to make more of an impression in the rural districts.

The local organization of Socialists in the Eighth congressional district has mapped out a field route which will be covered by a horse and wagon via the country roads. The wagon will be loaded down with campaign literature which will be distributed broadcast among the farmers of the communities visited.

A complete stereopticon outfit to be used in towns where halls can be secured will also be taken along. The pictures will aim to show contrast between the so-called classes. The campaign will be made in the interests of the Socialist ticket at the general election.

WHAT BECOMES OF OLD CARS?

Some in Junk Piles—"One Lungers" Still Running—Farmers Buy Many Second-Hand Machines—Engines Put to Other Uses.

What becomes of old automobiles in Duluth?

In answer to this question a local dealer pointed to the back of his shop. There in a littered pile stood thousands of parts.

There were old-fashioned tops, wheels, transmissions and many other parts piled up in confusion in one big heap. Then there were frames and other parts of cars made years ago.

"Every time a man with an old-fashioned car wants it repaired we go to this scrap heap and find the part. There are several makes represented and usually we can find the screw or the bolt or the part wanted, or one that will fit.

"That pile of junk is worth a good deal of money to us for in the repair line we get lots out of it. The men go to it every day looking for parts.

"Some of the old cars are still on the streets. I saw a one-lunger, as an old-fashioned, one-cylinder car is called, on the street today. It was an old Winton, made, if not before, right after the war. The man who owns it uses it to peddle butter and eggs.

"There are a lot of cars with the engine hooked under the seat. These are old fashioned, but they get over the ground and that is all a lot of people care about. A great many people are not particular about the looks.

"The farmer is great on buying second-hand cars and a great many of the older ones will be found in the country, still running. The farmer is different from the city man. He makes a study of the motor and he puts in a lot of work keeping it running. The city man wants one that is quiet and one that he doesn't have to spend any time on. The farmer doesn't care about a little extra noise and he enjoys taking the motor down and putting it up again.

"A good many old automobile engines are in daily use pumping water, sawing wood and doing other work of this kind.

"Some of the old cars are made over into delivery wagons and they give good service, too. For the most part, however, they rot away in a back corner of some one's garage or are sold for the scrap on them to second-hand dealers.

"An old car doesn't bring very much money. I have known one of the old one-lunged fellows to go for $50. Sometimes by 'dinging' them up a good bit they are made to run pretty well. The farmer is most patient and he gets along finely with the old ones.

"Some of the motors are placed in motor boats. Many amateurs buy them up and place them in boats and they are said to give good satisfaction.

"The old cars in Duluth are used to repair other old cars. They are sold for junk. They are sold to farmers. They find their way to boat owners and sometimes end up sawing wood in a wood yard or pumping water from a well."

MORE MONEY FOR THE GOVERNMENT

Fiscal Year Starts With Increase Over Last Year's Receipts.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Treasury figures for August indicate that the government revenues are jumping over the returns for the same period of last year. Customs receipts for August and July, the first two months of the present fiscal year, ran $4,000,000 each above the figures for the same two months in 1911. Ordinary internal revenue taxes increased $3,000,000 for the two months period this year.

Aside from the Panama canal and the public debt the excess of ordinary disbursements over receipts was approximately $16,000,000 less than for the corresponding two months last year, largely attributable to the holding up of the appropriation bills in the closing weeks of congress. The public debt was diminished during August by $689,542. During August fifteen national banks, with a total capital of $495,000, were authorized to begin business, making a total of 10,250 national banks organized up to last Saturday.

The United States mints during August coined $505,000 in gold, $586,000 in silver and $226,000 in one-cent pieces.

MALARIA—BLOOD POVERTY

Malaria is a species of blood poverty known as Anaemia. In the first stages of Malaria the complexion becomes pale and sallow, the appetite is affected, the system grows bilious, and there is a general feeling of weakness. As the circulation becomes more thoroughly saturated with the malarial infection, the digestion is deranged, chills and fever come and go, skin diseases, boils, sores and ulcers break out. Malaria can only be cured by removing the germs from the blood. S. S. S. destroys every particle of malarial infection and builds up the blood to a strong, nourishing condition. Then the system receives its proper amount of nutriment, sallow complexions grow ruddy and healthful, the liver and digestion are righted and every symptom of Malaria passes away. S. S. S. cures in every case because it purifies the blood. S. S. S. is a safe and pleasant remedy as well as an efficient one. Book on the blood and any medical advice free to all who write.

SUPERIOR IS TRIMMED

Sox Win an Exhibition Game From Taylor's Red Legs.

Delave Is Easy for the Pennant Winning Tribe.

In an exhibition game of ball, played at Hislop park in Superior, the pennant-winning Duluth team trimmed the Superior aggregation for good measure to the tune of 8 to 1, and galloped blithely about while doing it.

It was no trouble at all. The way the Duluth bunch leaned against De Lave's twisters was a shame, and a very few of them remained unsolved. So far as Hoffman's work in the box for the Duluth bunch is concerned, Superior, although well acquainted with the gentleman, acted quite bashfully about soaking his offerings.

The discussion opened by O'Brien going out short to first; then Hargrove put a solid one into center, and Bluhm got by. Leber flew out to center, then Sours scored Hargrove and put Bluhm on the third sack, the latter getting home safe on a single by Meniece. McGraw brought in Sours with a single, but Meniece was tagged out in an effort to reach home.

Duluth stopped performing for a while, and Superior failed to do anything until the sixth inning, when Donovan got to third and the bases were full but no noble Roman could save them. The rest of the Duluth runs were made in the seventh, while Superior's lone run was also made in the seventh. After that the game was uneventful.

CRANKING UP THE AUTO CLUB

Broken Down Organization May Yet Be Made to "Go."

An effort will be made to have Duluth automobilists represented at the next national meeting of the American Automobile association, which will meet on the pier at Atlantic City Sept. 30 to Oct. 5, and to this end Dr. J. D. Park, a director of the Duluth Automobile club, is attempting resuscitation. The club has been in a state of coma almost ever since its formation some years ago—its engine "died" early in the game and it has been "stalled" ever since. The doctor is now trying to crank it up.

He says that there is considerable money in the treasury, and it is hoped that within a few days, when some others of the directors return to the city, to issue letters to all old members and other auto owners who are eligible for membership, urging them to meet a date still to be fixed, and get the movement started again. The doctor is in favor of using the money in the treasury for the improvement of roads in this vicinity, and to cut out expensive banquets, holding instead strictly business meetings. He is at present working to obtain the names of all in the city who are interested in the matter.

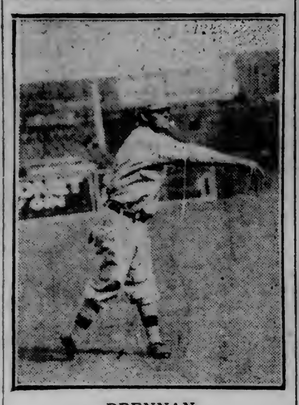

WANTS $25,000 FOR NEXT FIGHT

WOLGAST.

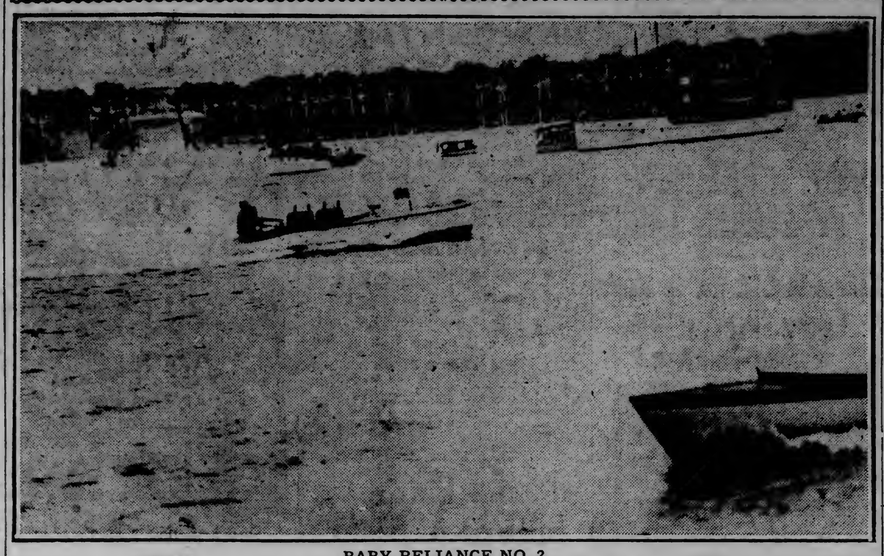

Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, wants $25,000 for a battle with Packey McFarland in New York. He says he will not fight for one cent less. Should this match not come off, it is likely that Wolgast's next fight will be with Joe Rivers. The question of referee is the bone of contention. Wolgast insists upon naming the third man in the ring, and has stated that he will not fight unless that man is chosen. These boys fought on July 4, but the result was not satisfactory.

Massachusetts Team Captures Sadler Match at Sea Girt By Wide Margin.

Rifle Range, Sea Girl, N. J., Sept. 4.—The Massachusetts staterifle team won the Sadler match, the feature of the day's competitions in the annual Sea Girt shooting tournament, scoring 1,701 out of a possible 2,000 points, against 1,652 for the Iowa team, which finished second. The District of Columbia team was third with 1,629; New Jersey fourth, 1,605; Maryland fifth, 2,593; United States marine corps sixth, 1,583, and Texas seventh, 1,559.

Rain fell steadily nearly all day, and under the circumstances some remarkable scores were made, especially by the winning team. There were several "possibles"—75 out of 75, or 15 successive bull's eyes on the long range. The only other event concluded was the Spencer 1,200-yard silhouette team match, won by the United States marine corps team, scoring four hits.

The Sadler match, under the international Palma trophy match conditions, was open to teams of eight men and from any foreign nation, the several branches of the regular service, and from the states and territories—one team from each. The distances were 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, each team member firing fifteen shots at each distance. First prize was the Sadler trophy, presented by the adjutant general of New Jersey, the other prizes being cash.

The Spencer silhouette team match was won by the marine corps team, each member of which received a gold medal. The members of the New York team, which finished second, with three hits, received silver medals. The District of Columbia team was third, with two hits. On the first count, the marine corps and New York tied with three hits each. On the shoot off the marine corps took the lead.

Owing to the rain, the owl match, scheduled for last night was postponed.

GREAT RACES AT THE STATE FAIR

Extra Heat Needed to Decide Between Rob Roy and Henry H.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4.—Although Rob Roy, owned by L. S. Champine, of Williston, N. D., in the first heat of the 2:13 pace, tied the world's record for that event, and lowered his own mark of 2:07¼, yet Henry H., owned by Charles Dean of Moline, Ill., beat him out in the sixth, an extra heat, and won first money. Rob Roy's time in the first heat and the record, was 2:05¼.

The 2:13 pace for what is known as the St. Paul purse of $3,000, best two out of five, was by far the best event of the day, Rob Roy winning the first two heats, closely crowded by Henry H. Warner Hall, who took third money, won the third heat, while Rob Roy dropped to second, Henry H. took the fourth and fifth, while Roy Roy dropped to fifth and fourth places, respectively. The tie for first then was run off by Henry H. and Rob Roy, the former winning easily, although the champion horse made a game fight during the first half.

Dazzle Patch, 2-year-old son of Dan Patch, world's champion pacer, said to be the fastest colt in the world, will attempt to lower his record of :59 in the half-mile today.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—Newton C. Dougherty, formerly superintendent of schools at Peoria, Ill., recently released from the Illinois penitentiary, has filed suit in the circuit court here to reclaim property which he declared he transferred under misapprehension to the school board of Peoria. He alleges the school board never proved its claim against him and that he is entitled to the property. The property is located in St. Louis.

WITH THE TENNIS PLAYERS

Kennedy Defeats Davis for Hartman Trophy—Results in the Longview Tourney.

Lauren Kennedy defeated N. F. Davis, last year's tennis champion, at the Boat club yesterday afternoon and thereby became this year's tennis champion in the singles.

By beating Davis, Kennedy takes possession of the Hartman trophy for the present season or until he is beaten next season, if he should be. He won it once before and if he wins it again next season it will become his personal property.

The play yesterday was frequently close and at times exciting. The fine weather brought out a large crowd to see the two men play. Each player took sudden spurts and at times the drives and returns were sensational.

Kennedy started by winning five straight games. Davis found himself and took the next six games. Kennedy then brought it to six all.

Kennedy finally took the set 10-8. He also took the last two sets 6 love.

AMERICAN IS CHAMPION

English Golfer, Harold Hilton, Drops Championship to Waldo of Brooklyn.

W. J. Travis Has No Trouble Beating Trans-Mississippi Champion Legg.

Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 4.—The amateur golf championship of America passed out of English hands here yesterday afternoon when Harold Hilton of the Royal Liverpool Golf club, who last year was premier golfer of the world, champion of England and America, lost on the thirty-fifth green to C. G. Waldo, Jr., of Brooklawn, Yale '12, two down and one to play.

The match went almost the full distance, but Hilton was outplayed from the beginning, and fought almost all day trying to cut down his opponent's lead. Hilton lost his advantage on the sixth green, and never was in front again.

Waldo took the next three holes in succession and was three up at the turn. The second nine holes of the morning was a hard struggle in a blazing sun, and finished with the Briton five down. Both showed the strain as they left the eighteenth hole at noon. "I wish it were over," said Waldo as he handed his putter to the caddy. Hilton walked off by himself in silence, waving away his friends. He smoked cigarettes nervously throughout the day.

The afternoon round developed into a nerve-racking spectacle. Hilton lost two of the first four holes until he was seven down at the twenty-second green. Then the Englishman pulled himself together and began to fight to get on even terms and win. He won the 23rd, halved the next, won the 25th, the 26th, and halved the 27th, turning back with his opponent's lead cut to four. But that was too heavy a handicap. Both golfers were shaken, but Hilton was the worse. Playing grimly, he held his opponent to halves until he could win the 30th. He won the 31st, lost the next and won the 33rd. That left him two down and three to go. He could not win another, try as he would. Waldo held him to halves and on the next to the last green Hilton missed a putt to win the hole and silently picked up Waldo's ball and handed it to him. No words were exchanged between the two men. Waldo grasped Hilton's hand, but his own shook with nervousness. Hilton smiled gamely and turned to his putter again deliberately. He made it easily and then tossed the club to his caddy and walked away. "I'm all in, I'm all in," said Waldo to those near him. "Gee, I wouldn't want this to do again."

Hilton, a stranger personally to most of those on the links, was almost alone as he walked slowly away. He mopped his face and eyes with his blue and red silk handkerchief and waved away those who would speak to him.

"The heat was too much for me," he said when he got near the club tents. One day I could stand, but not this."

Hilton was out at the first tee again in an hour, recovered from his fatigue.

A Great Match.

"I don't mind it to Hilton," were his words then. "I came over just to play a match and, by Jove, I certainly have had one. My opponent is a great golfer and I am glad to have met him. I don't mind the defeat a penny's worth."

Waldo at night said he was very tired. He is a young man of slight physique. He wears nose glasses all the time. He is state champion of Connecticut.

"Chick" Evans, Western champion, played a 34-hole match with A. W. Tillinghast of Philadelphia, winning 3 up and 2, apparently without exhausting efforts, finishing in a cheerful mood and was larking about the grounds for half an hour before he went for a shower.

He won the first hole and though his lead was only one or two holes at best, he was never headed.

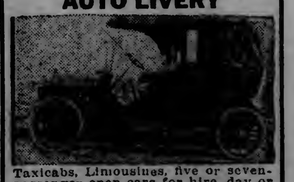

Tillinghast played a consistently strong game and kept Evans moving all the way, however. "It was a good, hard match, but uneventful," was the way Evans expressed it.

Local men are strongly represented among the survivors. Mason Phelps, Paul and Robert Hunter and Albert Seckel all are of championship metal and are strong match players, as is Warren K. Wood.

W. J. Travis, former American and British champion, played excellent rounds. He had a hard match with Trans-Mississippi Champion H. G. Legg of Minikahda, but the veteran had Legg safe all the way, winning in the thirty-fifth green 3 up.

Seckel had to play thirty-seven holes to beat C. W. Insles, one of last year's semi-finalists. Seckel showed his caliber by taking the last hole in one under par to win. Jerome Travers disposed of Sherill Herman; Norman Hinley of Edinburgh, Scotland, England's representative in the tournament, now that Hilton is out of it, won from R. C. Watson of Westbrook on the thirty-fourth green after a close match in which neither made scores to equal the best of the two days.

ON THE IRON RANGES

CLAIM LAWS ARE IGNORED

Scandinavian Temperance Lodges Threaten War on Law Breakers.

Eveleth Slot Machines Removed and Other Happenings Expected.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirty-seven slot machines have been ordered removed from the several saloons. The machines were all ordered out about three years ago, when a ban was put on slot machines in all the range towns, but they were silently installed again in Eveleth during the past few months, by whose authority no one seems to know. Complaint was made to Mayor Saari about the machines by a committee from the Scandinavian Temperance lodge composed of Christ Olson, Charles Hilston and Aner Erickson.

Hint at Lid Tilting.

The members of the committee declare that they have grounds for believing that some of the Eveleth saloon men also are violating the state law by keeping their places of business open on Sunday, and this, they say, they are determined also to have stopped. Mr. Olson, who is chairman of the law enforcement committee, says that first the mayor will be informed of the conditions as they find them, and then if he fails to enforce the law they will appeal to higher authorities. They say that this crusade will be extended to take in all range cities and towns. The Scandinavian Temperance societies are very strong on the Mesaba range, and the membership includes many influential citizens.

COURT SCORES FAST MOTORING

Judge Hughes Tells Guilty Automobilist Other People Have Rights.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Hamling entered a plea of not guilty in the district court to having violated the law prohibiting reckless driving of automobiles and paid a fine of $75 imposed by Judge Hughes. Under the law Hamling might have been fined $1,000 or sentenced to spend one year in prison. Hamling is a driver for the Laundryman of Chisholm.

In imposing sentence Judge Hughes administered a lecture intended for all drivers of automobiles, advising that pedestrians and occupants of other vehicles have rights on the highways which must be respected and that in his court no quarter would be shown violators. Hamling produced a lot of testimony to show that he was ordinarily a good citizen and Assistant County Attorney Edward L. Boyle made a recommendation for a light sentence.

SCHOOLS CROWDED.

Winton Has to Use Town Hall to Accommodate Pupils.

Winton, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools opened yesterday with the following teachers:

Winton school—F. W. Makros, sixth and eighth grades, Bowlus, Minn.; Effie Lindahl, fourth and fifth grades, Duluth; Ruth Prout, second and third grades, Ely; Honora Leader, primary and first grade, Superior.

Fall Lake—Miss Sias, upper grades, Duluth; Miss May Brown, lower grades, Ely.

Section Thirty—Miss Berg, Minneapolis; Miss Hanson, Winton.

Owing to the large increase of pupils in the Winton school, the primary department, being overcrowded, had to be transferred to the town hall, where new seats were installed and everything put in readiness for a school room. Miss Leader of Superior will take charge of this room.

This lack of room was expected by the school board and last fall they voted on the erection of a new building. Bids were advertised for, but the price of the contractors was altogether too high, and the school board not being able to reason with the contractors turned down all bids. The architect secured was also unsatisfactory and nothing was done until their last meeting, which was held last week, when it was practically decided that new bids would be advertised for in the very near future, and it is expected that the new building will be completed by Feb. 1.

ONLY THREE NEW TEACHERS THERE

The district is unique in that is contains seven organized villages with a total population of about 5,000 people. There are two high schools, one at Coleraine and one at Marble. A remarkable feature for a new district is that there were only three teachers of corps last year in the graded and high schools who did not return for this year. The three vacancies were caused by marriage.

The following is a complete list with the assignment of the positions:

J. A. Vandyke, superintendent; H. W. Cullison, secretary to the superintendent.

BLIND-PIGGER ADMITS GUILT

Reported at Virginia Others Accused Will Take Similar Action.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—((Special to The Herald.)—The warfare on the alleged blind-piggers in the Gilbert district which is being aired in district court here where thirteen cases were appealed from Judge Anderson's court at Gilbert took on a sensational turn today when John Skull, one of the appellants, changed his mind and decided to fight conviction no further. He pleaded guilty and court is expected to pass sentence this afternoon.

Attorneys McGilvery and Arnold for the others asked time to consult their clients and court adjourned until 1 o'clock this afternoon, when, if rumors current are to be credited, the twelve others will follow Skull's lead and abandon their appeals. In the lower court each of the thirteen accused were found guilty and fined $100 and costs by Judge Anderson.

A jury was secured yesterday afternoon and some evidence offered, Chief of Police Teller of Gilbert being the chief witness for the state.

Norton Is Prosecuting.

County Attorney John Norton is conducting the cases in person assisted by Assistant County Attorney Boyle. The accused all claim the beer and other contraband found in thirteen boarding houses belonged to the boarders. The direct and cross-examination brought out that beer has been delivered to the boarding houses at $2 per quarter barrel keg which contains 33 quarts.

After the blind-pig cases other criminal cases will be taken up. Unless there are some pleas of guilty the time taken with criminal cases at this term will be long. On account of one fight at the Fayal location at Eveleth in which four men are accused, four separate trials will be essential.

BEER TO BE SPILLED.

Lot of Amber Fluid to Be "Wasted" in Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under orders from Judge Hughes, the beer seized in the Gilbert campaign against alleged blind-piggers which is stored in the court house, will be dumped into local sewers as soon as the cases are disposed of. There are sixty kegs and about sixteen cases of the amber fluid that will be used in flushing the sewers. It is expected that the actual dumping of the liquid into the sewers will furnish a novel and pertinent example of law enforcement that the authorities hope will have effect on other law violators in this section.

BUILDING BIG HOTEL AT PRINCE ALBERT, SASK.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. M. The new hostelry will be called the Marquis and will be large and equipped with every convenience.

MAKING PROGRESS ON ELECTRIC LINE

Cars for Mesaba Range System Reported Arriving at Duluth.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported that some of the cars to be used on the Mesaba Range Electric railway, that is to connect the towns of the Mesaba range by trolley, have already arrived at Duluth, which adds to the expectation that the line will be in use by New Years.

Considerable steel has already been laid, including that on the main street here.

The line from Virginia to Mountain Iron is built nearly the entire distance. The grades for the greater portion of the entire length of the line from Hibbing to Gilbert has been built except in a few places, the most important of which is between Hibbing and Chisholm.

There is a stretch of over a mile about midway between the two towns that is just being started, but which is of easy construction and will be finished in a short time. The ties and rails are being distributed along the line and poles are being set for the trolley.

VIRGINIA HIRES DULUTH ATTORNEY

Council Confirms City Attorney's Action in Engaging Bert Fesler.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a preliminary step toward acquiring the plant of the Virginia Electric Power & Water company, the city council last night confirmed the appointment of Bert Fesler of Duluth as assistant to City Attorney D. D. Morgan in any proceeding that may be required in the proceedings. Mayor Murphy made the statement that he did not expect the company would accept the offer made by the city for the plant and that the city would have to be the aggressor in the negotiations. Some of the local attorneys and their friends have taken an aggressive stand against going to another city for counsel. One week ago the council authorized Mr. Morgan to make a selection of a man to assist him. Such a storm of protest arose that he stated any one the council would recommend as his assistant would be acceptable to him.

Boyan, speaking for the council advised Mr. Morgan that the selection was in his hands. Then he stated his appointment would be Bert Fesler of Duluth and he proceeded to explain that Mr. Fesler is specialist on municipal affairs and therefore better qualified to act than any one else whom he knew.

What Fesler Will Do.

It will be the duty of Mr. Fesler to outline the plans on which the city shall proceed in work of attempting to acquire the water and light plant. Mr. Morgan submitted a letter written to him as city attorney in which Mr. Fesler quoted his charges as $50 per day for court work and $25 per day for work other than in court. The appointment of Mr. Fesler by Mr. Morgan was approved by the council, President Boylan and Alderman Heritage dissenting.

Alderman Heritage as chairman of the finance committee, advocated paying the city attorney $75 per month over his regular salary of $110 per month, stating that he pays his own stenographer and office rent and this amounts to $76 per month, leaving him but $34 per month, with the city's business taking a large part of his time. Aldermen Harvey and McGhee, the other members of the committee did not sign this report and on motion of Mr. McGhee it was laid over for further consideration for one week.

The meeting of the council last night was almost wholly routine. The session was short and the attendance was small.

ITASCA COUNTY'S SCHOOL EXHIBIT

Much Time and Money Spent in Making Showing at the State Fair.

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Itasca county has a remarkable school exhibit at the state fair. A great amount of expense and work was expended upon it. The booth of artistic design has been built under the direction of Mr. Hoisinger of Grand Rapids. Mr. Jewel of Deer River and Miss Pope of Coleraine have assisted in arranging the exhibits. Earl Garinger of Marble and A. G. Bovay of Coleraine are assisting with the display.

The exhibit consists of the work of the pupils in the rural and graded and high schools of the county. There is writing furniture and turning by manual training schools; cooking, canned fruit and vegetables, and sewing and millinery, by the schools of domestic art and science; garden products from the school gardens; drawing both mechanical and free-hand, and a fine display of photographs of school activities in the district.

INCUBATOR BABY

"It is with great pleasure and pride that I herewith enclose a photo of my son 'Jack,' a genuine Mellin's Food baby. When I tell you that he was an incubator baby and that at the age of three months he weighed three and one half pounds and was so pitiable an object that even the doctor seemed to think the case hopeless, you can more readily appreciate the change. He could scarcely retain the lightest nourishment and was so weak, one could barely hear him cry. I tried him with Mellin's Food and the improvement was a wonder to everybody."

FIREMEN ORGANIZE NEW ASSOCIATION

Eastern Mesaba Firefighters to Have Tournament at Schley.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting held Tuesday evening the Eastern Mesaba Firemen's association was formed which will hold a tournament next summer at the Schley location, Gilbert. The following officers were elected for the temporary organization: President, J. J. Hurley; vice president, C. O. Welch; secretary, H. J. Cross; treasurer, Alfred Hoel.

The association has already given an entertainment and the proceeds have been placed to the credit of the tournament fund. It is planned to give an entertainment Sept. 23. It will be in the nature of a vaudeville by the members of the departments—Gilbert and Schley.

Plan Amusement.

The boys are practicing under the direction of Frank Bowman and promise a laughable evening, for when these boys start training they can do stunts. This will give the public a line on the merits of the teams as entertainers. If they make good, as some say they can, they may repeat the performance the next evening. The nature of the entertainment will be songs in various languages, readings, instrumental solos, step dances and a few firemen's tricks. The proceeds go to the tournament fund.

TAKE DOGS AND GUNS.

Illegal Hunters Are Arrested at Sand Lake.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police of Virginia and other range cities will assist the game wardens in protecting game.

The work has been commenced by Chief Ellis Walsh, who on advice that game was being shot along the Sand Lake road north of the city went out and arrested Ben Gentiloni, Dave Scalunis and Dominic Crusini. They had five partridges and forty rabbits, the latter, however, not being illegally shot as there is no law prohibiting the killing of rabbits. The three carried two shotguns and a combination shotgun and rifle. One of the men had a revolver and carried a knife in his sock. Members of the Virginia Gun club uphold the police. The guns of the men arrested, and three dogs were confiscated.

LAUDS COUNTY EXHIBIT.

Chisholm Physician Likes Showing at State Fair.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first Chisholmite to return from the state fair is Dr. A. W. Graham of the Rood hospital staff, who is back from a trip to Rochester and the Twin Cities. Dr. Graham dropped in at the fair one day and reports the fair a big show, and said that St. Louis county was not only foremost in exhibits, but was also foremost in location, holding a position near the main entrance. The St. Louis county exhibit, Mr. Graham says, is remarkable for its showing there, taking its place in the very front ranks in every article exhibited. He was particularly impressed with the wonderful agricultural exhibits sent from St. Louis county. Many Chisholm people are taking in the fair this week.

DISCUSS DREDGING EAST TWO RIVERS

Tower Commercial Club Also Considers Proposed City Market.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of dredging East Two Rivers was discussed at the last meeting of the Commercial club the secretary reading recent correspondence on the subject with Congressman C. B. Miller, State Senator Boyle, County Commissioner McMahon, and others in which all pledged their best efforts to assist.

The proposed city market was also discussed, its need being emphasized daily by local conditions, and the competition of nearby towns already provided with such an institution.

The question of arranging for club rooms that would also accommodate a band at rehearsal, was discussed, but it was deamed wise to postpone action until next meeting.

The matter of voting aid for advertising the agricultural possibilities of St. Louis county through the N. M. D. A. was also discussed and sentiment favorable to it was developed.

Desired Roads Finished.

The chief attention was directed to the fact that several stretches of road the club had decided to have built were now in process of construction and would afford inlets for people who have had entrance to the city only by long and difficult routes.

The matter of giving an entertainment or dinner under club auspices at an early day was also favorably considered.

The club now numbers nearly fifty paid members and is in a very flourishing condition.

The report showed the financing for the entertainment of the St. Louis County club well cared for and a vote of thanks was extended Dr. R. T. Burns and the members of his committee for the excellent manner in which the program was carried out. J. Naslund reported a neat sum added to the club's treasury on account of the Troubadous concert and dance, notwithstanding the heavy expense and unfavorable weather that prevailed.

HIBBING SCHOOLS ARE OVER-CROWDED

Until New Building Is Completed Facilities Will Be Quite Inadequate.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local schools of this district opened yesterday with a large enrollment, with the exception of the Glenn school and the high school. The Glenn school will not open for about thirty days yet. The high school opened for enrollment and classification this afternoon at 2, and class work will begin Thursday.

A condition of congestion was early forecasted and not until the new school building is completed is there apparent hope for relief. The Brooklyn schools are badly crowded and all the pupils above the fourth grade are being sent to Hibbing.

Send Pupils to Hibbing.

From Alice, the children above the sixth grade are being sent to Hibbing. At the Letonia school there are practically twice the number of pupils for which there are accommodations. The Harold choldren are being transported to the Mahoning school, and part of the Letonia children are going to Morton. The school board is having constructed across a muskeg swamp at Morton a sidewalk for the convenience of the pupils.

The teaching staff is practically complete. Supt. Blair will give out the enrollment and the names of the teaching staff, including a number of instructors new to the city, today.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Healthy.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

ENROLLMENT IS HEAVY

Over 10,000 Registered on Opening Day of School.

Normal School Enrollment Goes Beyond the 200 Mark.

It is believed that 12,000 students will attend the city schools this year. On the opening day more than 10,000 registered their names, as shown by reports from the schools and all of the schools have not yet made returns. The enrollment at the Central high school is between 1,100 and 1,200, and it is expected that the latter number will be reached today some time.

The normal school enrollment has gone beyond the 200 mark. President Bohannon said today, but more are expected today and tomorrow, so that the initial enrollment will not be completed for a day or two.

At the Central high school today a few more elected to take up the Scandinavian languages during their third year, but the demand for these studies has not been as heavy as was expected. It was believed that a number of pupils of Swedish or Norwegian parentage, accustomed to hearing the language of their race spoken, would take it up not only to learn its fine points, but in order to obtain standing easier than they could in taking up some other branch. It may be that later on, so the school authorities believe, more will decide to take up one or the other of these languages and make the class larger.

E. F. Geiger, director of manual training, is well pleased with the popularity which his branch of the work has attained. He said this morning that his classes will be greatly increased this year over any previous year, and there is such a growing demand for the manual training branches he expects to start afternoon and evening classes for high school pupils and others. Industrial work for girls is evidently more popular this year than heretofore, for many girls are enrolling for sewing and cooking classes.

The enrollment of the various schools which have reported is as follows:

Adams, 556; Longfellow, 491; Lowell, 156; Madison, 182; Stowe, 98; Gary, 23; Oneota, 105; Bryant, 590; Emerson, 366; Endion, 396; Ensign, 260; Fairmont, 385; Franklin, 644; Jackson, 401; Jefferson, 818; Lakeside, 311; Lincoln, 567; Monroe, 425; Nettleton, 366; Radisson, 63; Salter, 245; Washburn, 265; Washington, 505; Whittier, 130.

At the high school there are eight new members of the faculty. They are: Miss Dagny Knutson, teacher of first year English; Miss Ringsrud, algebra and geometry; Miss White, English; Miss Ina Wisner, English; Miss Capron, stenography; J. Lawson, manual training; N. Burke, physiography; and Mr. Olson, third year English.

The other members of the faculty are: Leonard E. Young, principal; Miss Florence B. Aiken, Cassius B. Avery, Walter H. Benson, Frank B. Carey, Miss Gertrude L. Carey, C. R. Carman, Miss Jessie O. Case, Miss Wilhelmina Case, Miss Carrie L. Castle, Miss Meroe Conlan, A. F. M. Custance, Walter S. Donat, Miss Florence Gaumnitz, E. P. Gibson, V. B. Ging, Miss Mary K. Goodhue, George Gregory, Orville Hickam, Dwight W. Hiestand, Miss Rita H. Kendall, Harry O'Brien, Miss Cecil M. Palmer, Miss Myra Patterson, T. F. Phillips, Miss Ethel Rockwood, Julien Romieux, Miss Sophie R. St. Clair, W. H. Schilling, Miss Ella J. Shields, Miss Addie M. Smith, D. C. Sprague, James F. Taylor, Miss Margaret Taylor, Miss Agnes E. Wells, Miss Grace A. Wright, G. A. Wyly, Miss Augusta G. Ziegler.

The five new members of the faculty of the normal are: Miss E. Nettie Harrington of the University of Michigan, teacher of the seventh and eighth grades of the training school; Miss Lucy Tomkins of Cornell, third and fourth grades; Miss May Bicken, of the teachers' college at Columbia university, first and second grades; Miss Lucy Hart of Wood's kindergarten school of Minneapolis, in charge of kindergarten work; and J. E. Butterworth, University of Iowa, psychology and education.

RESULTS OF BOOSTING

Campaign for Home Industries Is Having Its Effect.

Big Increase in Number of Cigar Makers Employed in City.

That boosting for a home industry helps the industry was proved this morning when after a personal canvass it was found that there are seventy-six cigarmakers employed in Duluth as against fifty-four thirty days ago.

It has come about through the efforts of a band of business men who got together about a month ago. Each one pledged himself to smoke only home-made cigars. He also promised to bring the matter to the attention of his friends.

That the campaign is going to be a success was shown this morning when it was found that the number of workers in the city has increased by twenty-two in thirty days.

Five years ago there were 300 cigarmakers in the city and when a census was taken a short time ago, there were but fifty-four.

The different manufacturing plants report that the demand for home-made cigars during the past thirty days has surprised them. Nearly every manager has increased his force of workers.

Those conducting the campaign state that they have only begun. "Our slogan is: 'every smoke a home-made smoke,'" said one of the men today as he pulled away at a clear Havana, made in Duluth.

BLISTER ON HEEL PROVED FATAL

Blood Poison Resulted, Causing Death of Russell Rosenblad.

Blood poisoning from a blister on the heel caused the death yesterday at St. Mary's hospital of Russell Rosenblad, the 15-year-old son of Charles Rosenblad of 705 East Fifth street.

The unfortunate boy was at the hospital but three days. When he was taken to the institution the physicians stated that there was small chance of recovery, the poison having spread too far through his system. Russell was a student in the public schools and was popular among his playmates. The body was taken to Crawford's undertaking establishment. The funeral took place this afternoon. Interment was made at Park Hill cemetery.

MOONEY WILL STAND TRIAL

Duluthian Will Leave This Month to Face Dynamiting Charge.

Fred G. Mooney, the Duluth man accused of conspiracy in the famous dynamiting plots, will leave the last of the present month for Indianapolis, where he expects to go on trial Oct. 1.

Mooney was arrested in Duluth last spring by United States Marshal Malory on an indictment returned at Indianapolis.

At that time Mooney appeared at Indianapolis, but the trial was postponed until October. He was released under bonds.

Mooney is a structural iron worker and has been busy at his trade all summer. He marched in the Labor day parade Monday.

His friends, it is understaad, have raised a defense fund for him. He stoutly maintains his innocence in regard to the whole matter. He is known in Duluth as thoroughly honest and a hard worker. His friends predict that "Fred" will be acquitted.

FORTY DEAD IN BURNING MINE

Explosions of Fire Damp Cause Catastrophe in France.

Lenz, France, Sept. 4.—At least forty coal miners are dead as the result of an explosion of firedamp yesterday afternoon in the Clarence pit near Bruay. Three of the rescuing party were among the killed and a number of the others were injured while trying to aid their entombed comrades. Further explosions occurred today and the entire pit is on fire.

Twenty-one bodies had been brought to the surface before the continued explosions caused the rescuing parties to abandon the attempt to reach the remote section of the pit in which many of the victims were working.

OHIOAN'S BODY IN LAKE AT CHICAGO

Identified as E. Earl Ward of Columbus—No Sign of Violence.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—The body of a man, believed to have been E. Earl Ward of Columbus, Ohio, was found floating in the lake off Jackson Park today. A small amount of money, a watch and jewelry were found on the body, which apparently had been in the water nearly a week.

Identification was made by papers which indicated that the man was the president of the E. E. Ward Teaming & Storage company of Columbus. No marks of violence were found.

BROTHERHOOD OF SAINT ANDREW IN SESSION.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Twelve hundred delegates attended the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew which opened today at the University of Chicago. QUESTIONING CANDIDATES Labor Federation Wants to Know Attitude on Labor Problems.

Asked to Give Their Opinion on Twelve Proposed Laws.

Through its secretary, William E. McEwen, the State Federation of Labor is today sending out a list of questions to every man running for the legislature this year in Minnesota.

The federation wants to know the attitude of the men on many questions pertaining to labor before the members give any one their support. Those who are favorable to laws which will help working conditions are to be given the hearty support of union men throughout the state.

The executive council of the State Federation will hold a meeting at St. Paul Sunday. At this meeting the committee may decide to change the place for the next convention from International Falls to St. Cloud, Minn. The convention, at its last session, decided upon International Falls, but the executive committee was given power to change the place if better inducements were received. St. Cloud has something to offer and a committee will wait upon the executive committee of the State Federation Sunday to present its claims.

Secretary William E. McEwen and S. S. McDonald are both members of the committee and will leave for St. Paul Saturday evening.

The points on which candidates for the legislature are being questioned are: Initiative and referendum, workingmen's compensation, minimum wage for women and children, eight-hour day for women, state insurance, payment of wages, anti-tuberculosis crusade, semi-monthly payday, boiler inspection, limiting powers of courts, amending eight-hour law and home industry.

RAILROADS

ROAD FILES ARTICLES.

New North Dakota System Complies With State Law.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The articles of incorporation of the Midland Continental railroad, which is to extend from Forbes across the state to Pembina, have been filed with the secretary of state. The line is now under construction, and the company had been organized and incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, but for some reason this company has, like some of the older roads, decided to incorporate in this state also.

The incorporators are: A. Duncombe, H. L. Duncombe, John Howden Fraser and L. C. Baker of Jamestown; J. K. George, H. S. Duncombe, C. P. Chamberlain, J. D. Small, E. H. Walker and A. H. Chapman, all of Chicago. The company has established headquarters at Jamestown.

CHIEF CLERK BURIED.

Old Employe of Great Northern Laid at Rest.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last rites were said at the home of his parents on Hastings avenue today for George T. Johnson, aged 35, chief clerk at the Great Northern railway shops, who died Monday afternoon at Bethsda hospital after a week's illness.

Mr. Johnson was employed by the Great Northern for sixteen years. He is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Frank Sullivan, Mrs. Fred Weimar and Miss Alice Johnson, and one brother, Ed W. Johnson.

TWELVE LOST IN BIG FIRE

Six Children of Wealthy Family Missing at Los Angeles.

Martial Law in Force at Ocean Park—Damage Is $1,750,000.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—Twelve persons, including one woman and the six children of S. J. Zardo, a wealthy summer resident, have been missing since the outbreak of the flames that destroyed the entire amusement section of Ocean park last night. Soldiers and police guarding the ruins today expressed the belief that all had lost their lives.

H. F. Locke, restaurant cashier, leaped to his death off the Frazier pier.

The town still is under martial law. Bayonet-studded lines of citizens, soldiery and police are protecting the immense piles of personal property thrown out of burning buildings last night.

Approximately 1,000 men are clearing railroad rights-of-way and streets.

Hemmed in by Flames.

Zardo became frantic today when told that his children and the woman who was acting as their nurse could not be found. He said the children and nurse were near the pier about the time the flames broke out. They have not been heard from since.

The five other persons missing were on the pier, hemmed in by the flames. Life guards say they saw at least twelve persons leap with Locke into the ocean. Only seven were rescued.

There was some looting during the night, but at daylight the fire zone was cleared. Estimates of losses were reduced today to $1,750,000.

Inadequate water power is blamed for the extent of the fire.

TO PRESERVE RAILROAD TIES.

Boston Advertiser: In many lines substitutes are being found for wood. The great buildings of the modern cities are so arranged as to need but little wood, when compared with the other material which goes into their construction. Steel cars are today the type which is likely to prevail. The time will come when wood will play a far smaller part in the construction of ordinary private houses than it did formerly or does now.

But there is one place where no substitute seems to be possible for wood, and that is the railway roadbed. It is true that both metal and concrete ties have been experimented with, to a certain extent, but it is also true that neither of these has attained the position of a satisfactory substitute.

This has created a distinct problem for the railroads. Ties become worn out and need to be replaced. Extra tracks, on lines where the traffic has increased, demand ties before they demand anything else. Formerly all that was necessary was for the engineer to make a requisition for so many ties for the department of construction. Oak and chestnut trees were to be had at a very reasonable figure. But that was before the price of lumber went skyward with the rest of the market. The railroad waked up to the fact that the supply of ties was short.

The situation was so critical that it resulted in instant action on the part of the roads. They were forced to go into forestry. Today many of the railroads have their reservations, where they are growing the sort of trees which they need for ties. But they are doing something else which is quite as important as the growing of trees. They have been making experiments in order to find out how the life of wood may be increased. Various preservative treatments have been adopted and the result has been that the life span of ties has been increased enormously.

The more expensive woods now can be used for as much as twenty-five years, if the preservative treatment accomplishes what is expected of it. The life of the less expensive varieties has been also increased. It is thought that the life of the railroad tie has been tripled by the various means of preservation which have been adopted.

WILL LAST THREE DAYS

Plans for "Made in Duluth" Exposition Growing More Elaborate.

Date of Home Products Dinner Is Changed to Oct. 31.

Duluth's home products dinner will be held at the Auditorium on Oct. 31. The date was changed from Sept. 17 to that mentioned, after a meeting of the Rotary club this morning.

It was found that the arrangements could not be made soon enough to make the affair as big as is planned in such a short time.

Instead of having but one day of Duluth exhibits, ending up with a dinner, it is now planned to call the fair an exposition, make it bigger than was at first planned, and have it open to the public for three days. The dates are Oct. 29, 30 and 31.

Every Duluth manufacturer will be represented at the exposition. Each will have a booth and each one will pay a small amount of rent for it. In this way the expense can be covered without charging admission.

Local architects have combined to plan the decorations and an artistic way of arranging the booths. They will have a meeting in a few days, after which their plans will be announced.

It is planned also to have lectures on the first two nights by agricultural experts at which time lantern slides of farming scenes and produce raised near Duluth will be shown. An orchestra will be engaged for the three nights.

On the last night the exposition will end up with the big "grown in Duluth" dinner.

THE PITFALLS OF PARIS.

New York Sun: Paris—If a striking example were needed to illustrate the folly of the American girls who leave comfortable homes under the delusion that an artistic career awaits them in Paris, the suicide of Margaret Cravens would supply it. Her fate should serve as a warning, if not to the girls at least to those morally responsible for them.

Volumes could be filled with tales of unhappiness, of misery, of death, if those of us who live in Paris and keep in touch with American student life were to relate what we know. The naive ambition of coming to Paris to live in Bohemian fashion seems to form for nine out of ten girls a sufficient basis on which to start an artistic career whether in music, in sculpture or in letters.

Margaret Cravens, had she remained in America, might have been a happy wife and mother. In Paris she was one of many young women who have striven for artistic success and failed. Her income spent on expensive music lessons which were of no use to her; unable to see a way out of her financial difficulties despite the strictest economy in living expenses, near starvation and living alone in a sixth floor flat in a house filled with coachmen and other tenants below her in social standing, Miss Cravens resorted to suicide as the only solution of an intricate situation.

Her death was planned deliberately. She made provision for her funeral expenses, for neither in life nor in death was she willing to be a burden to her friends.

Some years ago Miss Cravens, who had a great deal of artistic instinct and some talent, came to Paris with a view of becoming a professional pianist. She found her first home with a respectable Frenchwoman used to good society, who took her as a paying guest and really tried to protect her and make a home for her.

But the French pension keeper who is a conscientious woman rarely retains American girl students among her boarders, for she invariably endeavors to make them adopt French customs while in Paris. The French idea of protective surveillance is irksome to the American girl, who forgets that the small town or city from which she came is a very different place from Paris, which is a world metropolis full of the dangers a cosmopolitan center always presents.

The French hostess of a paying guest or pension keeper, if she is conscientious, is never popular with the American girl students. She will naturally discourage high priced lessons in music or painting unless she notes genuine talent. She has probably lived in an artistic atmosphere all her life and readily distinguishes the wheat from the chaff.

Mary or Lily or Gertrude, who was a remarkable product in her home circle, is often a hopeless mediocrity in Paris. Everyone has faults. The hostess of paying guests in France often sins by parsimoniousness in her table and her way of conducting her house, but if the American girl forgives such things, she never forgives what she considers restrictions upon her liberty or a lack of appreciation of her artistic possibilities.

In leaving her first safe home, Miss Cravens prepared the way for her financial difficulties, her artistic disappointments, her delusions culminating in a morbid desire for death as a supreme relief.

As has been said, the safe, conscientious pension keeper in France is never popular with the American girl, and this has led to the establishment of numbers of free and easy-going pensions or artistic schools all over Paris, into such houses the American would-be artists too often drift, an easy prey for the proprietors.

Such places, having outwardly the most respectable appearance, cause the ruin of scores of American girls. There is no surveillance over the girl student. She comes and goes alone, she visits places where no French girl would dream of being seen. She may smoke her cigarette and order her cocktail and tell risky stories, and the false artistic element surrounding her seemingly approves.

She will live in a room an American stable boy would refuse to occupy. Because there is a piano in it furnished free by a concern having relations with the mistress of the house, but for which the girl student pays a high price; because in one corner of the bare room there is a low bed disguised by a few old shawls and silks, and because some weird pictures hang on the dingy walls, she thinks she is living an artistic life and advancing toward success.

The longer she stays in such a house the less she realizes the pitfalls around her. She is encouraged to be artistic, to eat little—and this in the pension keeper's interest. She almost starves without knowing it, although such an authority as Rosenthal, the pianist, declared recently that a great artist needed as much good food and exercise as a well-trained athlete.

The meals served in such places to luckless American girls would cause a stampede in America if offered in any public establishment. The lowest category of meats and the worst class of vegetables disguised in sauces are offered to girls used at home to good food.

Paris has been favored in recent years with admirable American consuls—men who not only fill their official duties, but extend a protecting, helping hand to all Americans needing aid.

"What tales I could tell," said Mr. Gowdy, former consul general, on the day after the funeral of an American girl painter who was found starved to death in an attic in Paris, and who, inquiry proved, had been living on one egg, a 1-cent roll and a half a pint of milk a day for more than six months.

Properly to equip a girl for an artistic career requires just as much capital as to enter any other business. European parents know this, but Americans, in the majority of cases, are as ignorant as babes in the matter. They scrape a little money together, pack Mary or Jane off to Paris and then look in the music columns of the daily papers for reports of her success, or in the art notes of a description of her picture in the salon. It would be laughable if it were not so sad, so heart breaking, so desolate for the victims.

"Sally can take care of herself anywhere," says the mother proudly, but she would change her mind if she came to Paris and studied the experiences of other girls who have undertaken to take care of themselves here.

Once in a while an honest, sensible, unusually intelligent girl coming here alone does take care of herself, does submit to proper surveillance, does live rationally, which means that she lives after the custom in the country. But this kind of girl is the exception. Her success does not justify the risk for the others.

It is remarkable how few Americans of presumably good sense realize what a price artistic success represents for the average girl. If she has plenty of money she is exploited and pays royalty for everything she obtains. If she is poor she pays for her success a far heavier price. To deny this is to be willfully blind. Great artistic success may in the minds of some be considered compensation for what it has cost, but what of the failures who have paid the price? An artistic career is dangerous enough for a boy, but for a girl!

A beautiful young Southern girl came not long ago to Paris. A rare exception to the rule, she was accompanied by her mother. This estimable woman idealized the stage in Paris for which she destined her daughter.

The girl spoke beautiful French, had far more talent than the average candidate for artistic honors, went to work and did so well that she passed the difficult Conservatoire examination, was received, and was eligible for the Comedie Francaise.

The Societaires of the Comedie Francaise, however, realized that she had no notion of life behind the scenes and one of them went chivalrously to her mother and explained the life awaiting the girl. Both she and the sensible mother took the first boat home and never regretted it.

Girls who, like Miss Cravens, are unwilling to sacrifice self-respect become victims of despair in their inability to cope with the life before them. The notable cases come under the public eye. Oblivion hides the others.

But much can be done in warning candidates for artistic success against the folly of imagining that embarrassed finances, an unhealthful mode of life and disregard of appearances are stepping stones to a great career.

WHAT ALASKAN DOGS EAT.

Wide World Magazine: Dogs in Alaska, when on the trail, are fed once a day, after the day's work is done. They are never fed in the morning, for if they were they would be lazy all day, or, what is more probable, would vomit up their breakfast soon after they got on the trail. Dogs, to work well, must be well fed, and it is false economy to underfeed a dog. They are fed on a variety of foods, including rice, tallow, corn-meal, and fish. If rice or corn-meal forms a part of their food it must be cooked. Some men prefer to feed their dogs on bacon or fish, thus doing away with cooking. Cooked foods is cheaper and more fattening than raw feed, but the question as to whether dogs can work better on cooked or uncooked food is one that will never be settled so long as there are "mushers" to argue the question.

SUFFRAGIST RANKS SPLIT

Insurgent Faction Calls Rival Convention in Minneapolis.

Minnesota Will Have Independent Body of Women at Work.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Displeased with the result of the election in Ohio yesterday, in which suffrage was denied women, and believing that the Minnesota organization is not making sufficient effort to organize the counties of this state so that suffrage will win at the hands of the next legislature, an element of Minnesota suffragists has called an insurgent convention to be held at the city hall in Minneapolis at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Apparently a definite split has come in the ranks of the suffragists, and the convention to be held in Minneapolis while the big convention is on at the state fair grounds is taken as indication that it is wide. Mrs C. F. Lutz, Mrs Walter J. Sunborn, Miss Theresa Deyteu, Mrs. Alpha Boostrom and Dr. Anten Pine, all well known in the suffrage movement, signed the call.

Intend to Incorporate.

The first breach among the suffragists came last year, when a certain number withdrew. Nothing has been done to heal the breach, and into the new organization all the dissenting members will go. The association is to incorporate under the laws of Minnesota, appoint twenty directors and have nine vice presidents, one for each congressional district.

The new organization will not be associated with the national body, but will devote all its energies to organizing suffrage clubs in the counties of the state.

Commenting on the situation, Miss Peyton said:

"We deem it necessary to increase the number of organizations so that we may reach all the people of the state, and not find ourselves in the predicament of Ohio—totally unprepared when it comes to the actual issue. Our party—which is the fourth in the state—will make a specialty of organizing clubs."

It was denied that ill-feeling results from the break, but some members of the association admit it exists.

SENTENCES FOR THREE

Three men, charged with law violation, pleaded guilty and were sentenced by Judge Cant in district court today.

Norman C. Lackie, saloonkeeper, admitted that he had sold Gus Sharloe, an Indian, a glass of beer and paid a fine of $50 and costs, imposed by the court.

Carrol Tyson, a cripple, received a suspended sentence for failing to support a wife and four children. Tyson has both feet cut off. He admitted that he deserted his family early last month.

Frank Vandergriff pleaded to stealing $50 from Frank Carlson of Proctor and was sentenced to the state reformatory.

NORTH DAKOTA WARM.

Tuesday Was the Hottest Day Since Last June.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—Hot, drying winds which worked wonders in grain shocks held sway over North Dakota yesterday, and have improved materially the outlook for successful handling of the state's big crop. The high temperature reached yesterday was 89 deg., being the warmest day since late in June. There are only five September days on record in fifteen years that have been hotter.

Grain has dried out wonderfully, and farmers are back in the fields, while thrashing operations are in full swing.

CONVICT IS SHOT SEEKING ESCAPE

Sensational Break for Liberty Made By Joliet Prisoner.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 4.—Frank Tzurkalski, a life-term convict sentenced in Chicago for murder, made a futile attempt to escape today. He was made the target for many shots from prison guards on the penitentiary walls a quarter of a mile away and was captured bleeding and exhausted after a half-mile chase.

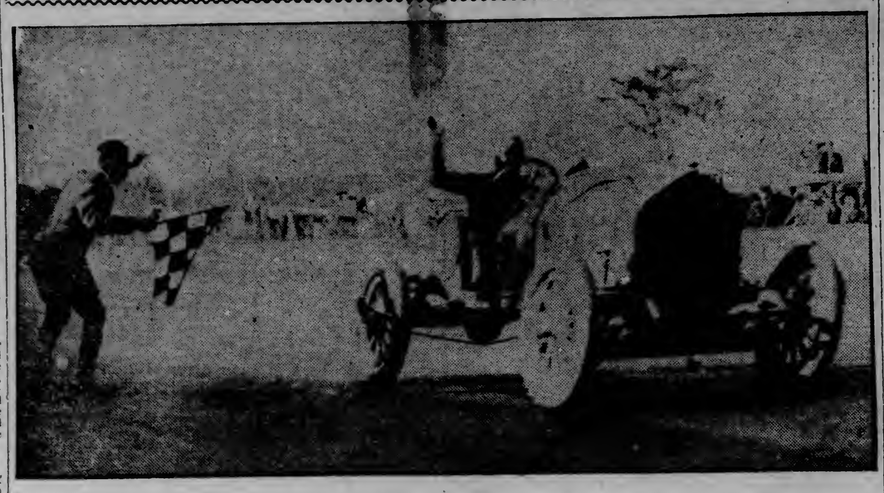

His dash for liberty was made at the entrance to the stone quarry, to which he and 100 other convicts were being taken. As the prisoners filed into the enclosure Tzurkalski broke away and ran down the street. The guards on the walls opened fire, while the officers in charge of the quarry gang pursued him. Street cars and automobiles were deserted while the chase was on and pedestrians hurried to shelter from the bullets.

SEE-EYE LEAGUE WILL BE ENLARGED NEXT YEAR

Directors Vote to Continue With Addition of Two Clubs.

President Blume Declines Re-election—All Clubs Lost Money.

The See-Eye league will live.

At the meeting held today at the Spalding hotel, league officials decided to pay their protection money to the National association, which indicates that the league will operate another year at least.

In spite of the fact that it has been a losing proposition this year, the officials of the league are enthusiastically for another year of the same class of baseball, but with two more teams.

It was decided that four clubs are not enough to stimulate interest, and that at least six are needed. With four cities wanting admission, it is simply a proposition of picking the two which look best.

H. A. Blume presided at the meeting today. He was complimented in an enthusiastic speech by M. Stanchfield of Grand Forks on the way he had operated the league. The Dakota man nominated him to succeed himself as president, but Mr. Blume flatly refused to serve another term. The election of a president was one of the important matters left for afternoon discussion.

It was reported that there is about $800 with the league treasurer for division among the clubs. This is the amount which has accumulated when each club paid to the treasurer 10 per cent of the receipts of each game. Out of this fund came the general expenses and payment of umpires.

Each club got $161 out of the Labor day pool. On holidays the clubs pool the receipts and it is later divided.

A committee will not go to Minneapolis tomorrow for the reason that Lennon and Cantillon are out of the city. Later efforts will be made to invade the Twin Cities. The matter has by no means been given up.

Frank Taylor represents Winnipeg, Fort William and Port Arthur. The towns at the Canadian head of the lakes are anxious to come into the league, but they are not looked on with favor because of the distance and the expense of sending the teams to and from these points. The boats are not considered reliable enough for the transportation of ball players who have to be at a certain place at a certain time.

Ted Finch of Virginia called over the long distance telephone that a committee could not be sent down from Virginia, but that he was authorized to state that Virginia is ready to enter the league provided there are six clubs next year. Fargo was unrepresented, but that city is said to be anxious to cast its fortunes with the league.

While all the clubs reported a shortage, Winnipeg is perhaps hardest hit. It is reported that the club is some $4,000 minus an even break. This is in site of popular subscription and large attendance.

Grand Forks fared best of all. The club broke nearly even, being but slightly under after the last game. The amount of the Duluth club's deficit was not made known.

Those in attendance at the meeting were: Dr. J. A. McCuen and H. A. Blume, Duluth; Frank Taylor, Winnipeg; William Sommer, Superior, and M. Stanchfield, Grand Forks.

GOLFERS RESUME PLAY AT CHICAGO

Chicago Golf club, Sept. 4.—The golfers started later on the morning round. The day opened hot with a slight haze.

C. G. Waldo, Jr., of Brooklawn, the young player, who yesterday put Hilliton out, was one of the first to appear at the scoring marquee. He looked fresh and said he had rested well. Hilton strolled ont from his cottage soon after his youthful conqueror was off. Hilton was in white flannels and carried a walking stick instead of a golf club. He will stay on to play off his tie for low medal score with "Chick" Evans as soon as Evans is eliminated or has won the championship.

Mason Phelps of Midlothian and Howard Weber of Inverness, were the first pair up at 10 o'clock. Travers and Travis followed, both getting good drives. The hot weather suits Travis and he started in excellent form. Waldo was next. He got a perfect long drive down the center. Paul Hunter hooked his drive into the rough.

The regular classes started this morning and will continue from now on.

SUPERIOR

CARLSON IS LIKELY WINNER

Will Probably Be Nominated for Sheriff—Second Choice Used.

Gust Carlson is in the lead for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Douglas county. The second choice votes will determine the winner, but Carlson's lead in first choice votes and the strength of his candidacy generally, lead his friends to believe that he will receive the nomination when the returns are canvassed.

In the city of Superior, Whereatt leads Carlson by a vote of 374 to 366. In the country districts Carlson leads, however. The second choice provision of the law was used quite extensively in the city but very sparingly in the country. There were six candidates.

The other close fight was for the Republican nomination for coroner with three candidates. Downs is apparently the nominee.

Thomas McLean was nominated by the Democrats for sheriff over B. N. Paddock.

Assemblyman Ray J. Nye was renominated. Charles Wickstrom defeated George Marley for the Republican nomination for clerk of court.

Karel led Schmitz in the Democratic vote for governor in the city.

WILL BE WITNESS IN DULUTH SLAVERY CASE.

Webster, it is claimed, brought the young girl to Superior for immoral purposes.

WILL BUILD 1,000 MILES OF ROADS

Highway Commission Has Big Plans for the Coming Year.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — One thousand miles of permanent new highway will be started by next spring under the provision of the Elwell law, according to J. H. Mullen, assistant highway engineer. This estimate is based on what already has been started and the interest shown by visitors at the exhibit of the highway commission at the state fair.

Consummation of this amount of work will depend in large part upon the adoption of the 1 mill tax amendment at the election this fall. At present the commission has an income of $340,000 a year to invest in roads, the county and property paying half and the state half. This is under a quarter-mill tax. The 1 mill tax, if adopted, will greatly increase the fund and make many more highways possible.

MISSOURI TO SEE COMPLETE TICKET

Progressive Convention at St. Louis Will Name Many Candidates.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—Less than half the accredited delegates were present today when the second session of the Missouri state Progressives began, after more than an hour's delay. Pending the report of the platform and other committees, routine work was done.

Telegrams of congratulation were sent to Rev. Fraser Metzger, the Progressive gubernatorial candidate in Vermont, and to Col. Roosevelt for the showing made in the Vermont election.

The committee on rules reported that candidates for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, warehouse and railroad commissioner, three supreme court justices, three appellate judges and fifteen congressional nominees will be named.

MAY BE NO MOOSE TICKET IN IOWA

State Convention Meets With Opposition to Plan Very Strong.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 4.—The Progressive state convention was called to order at 11:20 o'clock today by Temporary Chairman F. B. Miller of Cedar Falls, who then began his speech. At the mention of Col. Roosevelt's name there was loud applause.

Discussion of prospective candidates for state offices occupied the delegates' time this morning. Opposition to the third party ticket in Iowa still was very evident prior to the opening of the convention and those Progressives who steadfastedly have opposed the movement from the beginning were predicting that the uninstructed delegates would be in control and that a state ticket would not be nominated.

Conferences between Medill McCormick, vice chairman of the Progressive national committee, and Iowa third party leaders were held last night and early today, and although several names have been mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination it was stated that no candidate had yet been agreed upon.

Down to Personalities.

Opinions were aired and personalities exchanged at a meeting of more than 200 Progressives which continued until after midnight but no action was taken. A majority of those present favored the third ticket and those opposed to it had difficulty in making themselves heard and were frequently interrupted.

District caucuses were to be held before the convention was called to order and it was planned that all business of the convention would be over before the arrival late this afternoon of Col. Roosevelt, who will address the meeting.

CHAUFFEURS MUST SLOW DOWN WHEN PASSING CAR

"In approaching or passing a car of a street railway which has been stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, the operator of every motor vehicle shall slow down, and if necessary for the safety of the public, he shall bring said vehicle to a full stop not less than ten feet from said street car."—Minnesota statutes.

Automobile chauffeurs, the police and the public in general, according to Judge J. D. Ensign of the district court, are not familiar with that section of the state law which makes it a misdemeanor for an automobile to be driven through a crowd which is waiting on a public crossing for a street car.

Judge Ensign said today that he had called Chief Troyer's attention to the law. A strict enforcement of this clause, it is thought, would prevent many accidents which could otherwise be avoided.

INCAS STRONG-ARMED

By Man Who Could Neither Read Nor Write.

A country where gold was valued for its beauty only and where precious stones were so plentiful that they could be picked up in the streets and used as a slungshot to hurl at birds!

It is no wonder that such stories of the wealth of the Incas of Peru led Francisco Pizarro and his band of followers to endure untold hardships that they might possess some of this fabulous treasure, says the Kansas City Times. But their success was due more to their treachery and brutality than to stalwart bravery.

The Incas believed that they were descended from sons and daughters of the sun who had founded Cuzco, the capital of the Incas. Here was erected a vast "Temple of the Sun," and a great golden effigy of the sun, consisting of a central face of burnished gold with numerous blazing rays radiating to the roof. It was solid gold, studded with gems, forming a beautiful apparition of the deity from whom the Incas descended.

Boasting this celestial origin, the Inca Capac, or great and powerful lord, considered himself vastly superior to the common people. His word was law. All the great treasures were gathered for him. The people owning nothing, they only served their master. His subjects approached the great Inca with burdens on their shoulders as a token of submission. About the time that Pizarro arrived on the coast of Peru, there had been a war between Huascar Sapac, a son of the former Inca, and Atahualipa, an illegitimate son. Huascar was the son of the former Inca's own wife, who was also his sister, while Atahualipa was the son of another wife. But, according to the Incas, a man's sister could be his only legitimate wife.

Atahualipa had conquered his half-brother and held him prisoner in Cuzco, while he spent his time in luxury at the famous baths and springs near Cassamarca. So Pizarro arrived on the scene at an opportune time, when there was dissatisfaction among the subjects of the conquered Inca. When Pizarro and his followers finally crossed the snow-covered mountains that surrounded Cassamarca, they saw the great Inca living in gorgeous splendor about three miles from the town. His followers and many members of his harem were gathered around him.

Atahualipa had received word of the coming of the strange white men, and he ordered that the town of Cassamarca, with its ten thousand inhabitants, be deserted, that the strangers might find a place to rest after their arduous trip.

The strangers marveled at this quiet and deserted city, but quickly took possession of the large temples, and prepared against any attack from the enemy, whom they could see in the distance. Pizarro sent his brother and a number of other soldiers to the camp of Atahualipa, to announce their arrival, and to ask his pleasure. The Inca received them hospitably enough, but informed them, as that was a feast day, he would visit their chief the next day.

Pizarro suspected treachery and that night they made their plans. The following day they awaited anxiously while the haughty Inca made his leisurely preparations to visit them. At last the cavalcade started. Servants walked in front and swept the road their master was to travel over. He himself was borne in a great golden chair on the shoulders of his followers.

They arrived at the temple in which the Spaniards were awaiting them at sundown. The Indians crowded into the courtyard. There were thousands of them.

The great Inca sat in his golden chair with his rich robes covered with jewels and asked to see the leader of the strangers who had come into his domains. The hands of the soldiers itched to tear these jewels from him, but they bided their time. Atahualipa was told that the strangers came from a land whose sovereign was greater even than he. Their religion, they said, was the only one. He must acknowledge his allegiance to this sovereign and adopt their religion.

Atahualipa smiled. He was satisfied with his religion; why should he adopt another? And, besides, what proof had they that theirs was the only one? A Bible was brought to him. The Inca glanced at it and tossed it aside. That was what the Spaniards were waiting for. The Inca had defamed the sacred book and must be punished. They swooped down upon the startled Peruvians and murdered the great majority of them. Pizarro cut his way to the great golden throne which was surrounded by Peruvian nobles who were attempting to protect their master. The Spaniard grasped the Inca by the arm and dragged him away prisoner. The Indians who had not fallen fled in a panic.

With their captive king, the Spaniards went back into the temple. The Inca noticed how greedily they fought for the gold that was left behind. He offered to fill the room in which he was imprisoned with gold as high as he could reach if they would release him. Pizarro's eyes sparkled as he listened, and Atahualipa was given three months to collect this vast treasure. Envoys were sent to Cuzco for the treasure. The great Inca had demanded gold and it was not denied.

Then a squad of soldiers was sent to Cuzco, as tidings had been brought of trickery on the part of the Incas. The soldiers were received hospitably, for Atahualipa had demanded it. He desired to prove that he was keeping his word. The soldiers pillaged the temples, ransacked public buildings, defiled the vestal virgins. Some of the priests fled with great stores of treasures which they hid. The natives said nothing; they were keeping their faith. The plunderers returned with great masses of golden plate, and Atahualipa's heart was grieved when he saw how the temples had been plundered, but he said nothing. Finally the last of his ransom, which amounted to more than $15,000,000 had been brought.

But the greedy soldiers were not satisfied. They demanded the Inca's life. Pizarro demurred, but his followers threatened mutiny. Finally the Inca was brought before him and his generals for trial. He was led before a party leaders were held last night and early today, and although several names have been mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination it was stated that no candidate had yet been agreed upon.

CAKE MAKING.

Lily Haxworth Wallace in the National Food Magazine: In cake making, perhaps even more than in any other branch of cookery, special attention must be paid not only to exact measurements, but to correct methods of manipulation.

Flour, pulverized sugar and similar ingredients must all be sifted once before measuring, as they are liable to "pack" in the sack or barrel in which they are kept. Soda, spices and baking powder should be stirred lightly and mixed before measuring for the same reason.

The ingredients used for cake making should always be the best obtainable; best tub butter, fresh eggs, fine granulated sugar and preferably, pastry flour, if perfect results are to be obtained. Flours vary in thickening qualities, therefore the exact amount of liquid cannot always be stated.

There are three methods of mixing: stirring, beating, cutting or folding.

In stirring, the spoon is not lifted from the bowl, and the motion may be described as a circular one.

In beating, the object desired is to get all the air possible into the mixture; the faster we beat the more air will be incorporated in the batter and the cake in consequence, will be lighter; but care must be taken that after a cake is beaten, no stirring motion is allowed, as this will undo the good already accomplished.

The term "folding" applies more especially to the mixing and blending of the whites of stiffly beaten eggs which are added just before putting the cake batter in the pans. The motion is that of lifting the batter from the bottom of the bowl, folding it over the beaten whites, mixing them in and continuing the process till the whites of eggs are no longer seen on top of the batter. The whole process must be performed with great care to avoid destroying the lightness of the air cells in either batter or eggs.

In beating butter and sugar to a cream never warm them nor the bowl, for if the warming is continued a little too long both flavor and texture of the cake will suffer. If the butter is very hard and it is not convenient to leave it in a warm kitchen to soften slowly, a tablespoonful of boiling water may be added to the butter and sugar in the bowl to soften the butter just enough to make it cream readily.

If whites and yolks of eggs are separated, add the whites, well beaten, just before placing the cake in pans. This method makes a lighter, fluffier cake, but one which will become dry sooner than if the yolks and whites are beaten together.

Fruit should be washed and thoroughly dried before added to cake.

Most cake requires a moderately hot oven, but should not be baked too quickly at first. As soon as the cake has risen well, the heat may be increased a little, to give a good crust. Cake is done as soon as it shrinks a little from the sides of the pan. Another test is to press the center of the cake with the finger and if firm to the touch it is ready to come out of the oven. Testing with a straw is also a safe rule. If the straw, after having been pressed well into the center of the cake, comes out clean, the cake is done. If sticky, bake a little longer.

CLEVERNESS OF ANIMALS.

"Cats seem to know what dogs they can frighten and drive off, as well as those from which they would do well to steer clear," says a writer in St. Nicholas. "I have often seen a pet cat of ours drive a big dog away from her dish on the back porch, causing him to set up such a howl that one might suppose a catamount were after him; and again I have seen a fox terrier send the same cat flying up a tree as fast as she could climb it, without any questioning as to whether it were best to go or not.

"Nearly every one has noticed the remarkable knowing quality developed in all shepherd dogs. According to my own personal observation these dogs help to keep the herds in the road and drive them in the right direction; they know their master's sheep and cattle; they can separate one herd from another; they can prevent their master's sheep from mingling with his neighbor's—especially when the flock comes to a break in the wall or fence or hedge through which the sheep seem to have an almost irresistible tendency to pass—and on account of their great intelligence shepherd dogs are an almost indispensable aid to all those who have to manage sheep or cattle.

"The cattledogs of Cuba are but little less intelligent in their management of these animals as they are landed from the live stock vessels in some of the ports of that country. Two dogs swim beside each steer, for each steer is thrown into the water to find its own way ashore, and these dogs guide it by the ears until the animal's feet touch bottom, when they immediately let go and return to the ship to assist another steer in reaching land in the same manner.

"Darwin describes a trick played on a monkey to show its intelligence. Lumps of sugar were wrapped in paper were first given to him. Then for sugar a live wasp was substituted, but after meeting with an unpleasant experience from the wasp the monkey put the next package to his ear to learn if it might be safely opened. This action showed that the monkey had memory and considerable wisdom and had discovered that a wasp buzzes when wrapped in paper.

"The elephant looks stupid enough, but his intelligence is developed to a marked degree. Dr. Romanes tells several interesting stories showing the almost human instinct of these animals. A man was one day feeding a tame elephant with potatoes which the elephant took from his hand. A small round potato fell on the ground just out of reach.

"After several unsuccessful attempts to get it the animal blew so strong a blast of breath against it that it was dashed against a well, from which it rebounded so far that he easily reached it. It is said that an elephant will often blow just beyond small objects out of reach so that the reflected current of air will drive them toward him.

"Dr. Romanes repeats the story of an elephant that was chained to a tree near a little oven in which his driver had just baked some rice cakes. When the driver went away, leaving his cakes to cool, the elephant unfastened the chain from his leg, uncovered the oven, opened it, ate the cakes, and covered the oven with earth and stones as he had found it. He then returned to his place, and wound the chain about his leg as it was before, although he could not fasten it. The driver, on his return, found the elephant with his back toward the oven, and looking innocent, but the cakes had completely disappeared."

Crowded conditions in public schools are not confined to American cities. In upper Austria 110 teachers in all-day schools have 80 to 90 pupils, fifty-one teachers have 90 to 100 pupils, and nineteen teachers have more than 100 pupils under their charge, according to information received at the United States bureau of education.

DULUTH DAY AT THE FAIR

Ideal Weather Favors Big Turnout—Many From the North.

State Exposition Brings Praise From Visitor From the East.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another ideal day greeted the state fair visitors today and Duluth day promised to be one of the biggest of the week in point of attendance.

Station Superintendent Joseph Strawhorn estimated that the incoming trains bore more than 35,000 passengers, exposition bound, on Tuesday, and that the total of today will approximate 40,000.

Although the day was set aside in honor of the Zenith City, it is in reality a day for all the northern part of the state and multiplied thousands from that section swelled the crowds.

The aviators declared their intention of going up today in spite of the wind and the program of track events included the appearance of Minor Heir and George Gano in an exhibition race and Dazzle Patch in a race against time.

Gebauer Talks to Women.

Among the features of the fair is the women's institute. At 2 p. m. today Rev. George R. Gebauer of Duluth addressed the women on woman's suffrage.

E. L. Matson, treasurer at the state fair, has to handle a vast amount of cash every day of the fair. The total amount taken in was $50,000 Monday, $40,000 from gate admission and $10,000 from the grandstand. This is exclusive of sums turned in from other sources.

Just how this money is handled Mr. Matson is loath to describe. In a general way, the turnstiles are emptied by a representative of the treasurer's office and conveyed under guard by at least two special officers to the office of the treasurer in the administration building. Rounds are made at stated intervals during the day and evening. Some of this money is sent to the bank, but the 50-cent pieces and the quarters are returned to the gates for use in making change.

"We educated abot 80,000 people yesterday," said Mr. Matson, "to the cash idea at the admission gates. By the end of the week there will be little trouble."

Ten Bands Playing.

Ten good bands are dispensing music at the fair this week.

John C. Weber's band of Cincinnati which gave the sacred concert last Sunday afternoon, plays each day from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. on the plaza music stand; from 1 to 2:30 p. m. at the grandstand, and from 8 to 10 p. m. at the horse show and livestock pavilion.

The Minnesota State band entertains the grandstand audience from 2 to 5 p. m. each day and in the evening from 7:30 to 10:30.

The other bands which are taking part in the musical program on different parts of the grounds are the First Infantry band, M. N. G., Minneapolis; Detroit band, Detroit, Minn.; Wheaton band, Wheaton, Minn.; Luverne band, Luverne, Minn.; Miss Hoge's orchestra, St. Paul; Kalkbrenner's orchestra, Lake City, Minn.; Longfellow's orchestra, St. Paul, and the Reis Shows' band, Chicago, which plays morning, afternoon and evening at the lagoon.

Leading Dairy State.

That Minnesota, through its rapidly developing dairy activity is destined to become the foremost butter producing state, is the opinion of Gus Ludwig, Jersey City, N. J., who is attending the fair.

"In spite of the pre-eminence of Iowa as a dairy state and the claims of Wisconsin, Minnesota is at present a dangerous rival, and without doubt will surpass its neighboring commonwealths in a few years," he said.

"From the standpoint of quality I believe that Minnesota is already in the front rank. Buyers in the East prefer Minnesota butter, and the product commands higher prices than that of any other district. The influx of Minnesota butter to Atlantic coast markets has greatly increased during the last few years."

The present fair is pronounced one of the most complete and elaborate ever held in Minnesota and a larger number of special features are shown than ever before.

Women Complain.

There is some dissatisfaction in the woman's building because, it is charged, there are so many fakers in the building. The women say state departments and organizations working for the development of the state were refused space and it was then sold to venders of imitation diamonds, cheap jewelry and refreshments. Some of the best spaces in the woman's building are given over to demonstrators of vegetable cutters, sewing machine needles, 25-cent "diamonds" and kindred lines.

"A federation was refused space inside the woman's building," said a member of the organization, "yet it has been allotted to things which are of no earthly use to men or women; to exhibits which are only for the personal profit of their owners. Our best school exhibits and the displays of counties—in which every state visitor is interested—are handicapped because the aisle space in front of them is taken up by counters of cheap souvenirs. These center tables should be abolished.

Too Many Fakers.

"Why should our state grain inspecting and weighing departments have to take a small, inconvenient, crowded space, when they are the most important things to the farmer, for whom the state fair is supposed to be given, when all the best spaces are given to lunch counters, lemonade stands and 'fakers' of all sorts? These things should be moved out into a building of their own, and the women allowed to come in from the outside and exhibit in their own building."

Supt. Crickmore of the privilege department has started "cleaning house" on the "Pike." His first job was to order closed an "Egyptian moving picture show" until it had rid itself of a "white slave" picture that had caused several complaints. Other complaints will be looked into.

The managers of the show say that the Federation of Women's Clubs and Mayor Keller had approved of the picture. Mr. Crickmore said he saw nothing objectionable in it himself, but that the "barkers" were making too much of it.

Accident to Motorcyclist.

The only accident yesterday occurred when Relief Johnson, 19 years old, of Lafayette, Ind., was thrown ten feet in the air and painfully injured when the front tire of a motorcycle he was riding near the race track at the state fair grounds burst. Johnson was riding on the north road of the race track about twenty-five miles an hour. A tire blew out and the machine made a complete somersault, and threw Johnson to the ground. Bystanders picked him up and he was rushed to the emergency hospital in an automobile. Dr. Ada E. Talbot of Minneapolis, in attendance at the hospital, said there is possibility of concussion of the brain.

QUEER BEAST NOW IN THE NEW YORK ZOO

PYGMY HIPPOPOTAMUS.

The Pygmy Hippopotamus has been almost unknown and as mythical as the queer beasts in the visions of St. John the Divine. The only animals of this species in the United States arrived in New York last month and are the property of the New York Zoological society, where they are on exhibition. This pair of pygmy hippos were obtained by Hans Schonburgh in Liberia, after meeting and overcoming tremendous difficulties. The pygmy hippo is characterized first of all by its midget size, which in the adult animal is about equal to that of a 12-month-old baby hippo of the larger species. Its face is relatively smaller than that of the large species, but its tail is about twice as long. The color of the pygmy is a slaty black on the back; sides of a greenish slaty gray and under parts grayish white. The cost of the pair was $12,000.

MARINE NEWS

ALONG THE WATER FRONT

Vessel Owners Have No Complaint on the Tourist Business.

Bad Weather Alone Prevented New Records Being Made.

Passenger or tourist business has commenced to fall away, although considerable business is expected during September, but from this time on the boats will be engaged chiefly in the package freight business.

The tourist business reached its height during August, several thousands of people taking the trip from Duluth or visiting the city from the East by the way of the lakes.

Had the weather during the season been more favorable vessel agents claim that the present season would have been the heaviest in history and that a new record would have been made. As it was the business was very heavy and the agents state that they have no kick coming.

The business always becomes irregular about Sept. 1 each year. There are a few tourists during the first half of September, but the business usually ends rather abruptly during the latter part of the month.

Boats are still taking passengers as they book passage, but from this time on they will have to look to package freight for their chief revenue and from present indications they will be busy caring for that the remainder of the season.

Collision

News reached here today of the collision of the steamer William H. Rogers and Standard Oil barge No. 96. The accident happened near Whitefish point. The Rogers was upbound and the barge downbound. The Rogers' starboard bow is smashed in from below the water line to her top rail. Details as to how the accident happened are lacking, but it is stated that it was during a dense fog and while both boats were going under check. The barge was being towed by the tug Security. The Rogers turned about after the accident and went to the Soo for temporary repairs. Her forepeak is said to be full of water. The barge sustained but little damage, it is stated.

The delay caused by Labor day was still noticeable in the Duluth-Superior harbor this morning. But few boats are coming in or going out. Yesterday was the lightest day in years.

During the past twenty-four hours at least fifteen cargoes of coal have been received and at present it looks as though the shippers will make up for lost time and get plenty of the commodity here by water. The docks are working faster and the boats are not being delayed a great deal at the leading places.

Charters are being made every day for grain. Brokers were trying for spot tonnage this morning, but there was little available. Most of the boats will not be ready for grain until the middle of the month, being tied up under other contracts.

INCREASED SHIPMENTS

Ore Figures for August Far Ahead of Same Month Last Year.

Shipments of ore by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern up to Aug. 31 are about 2,000,000 tons ahead of the corresponding period last year.

Up to Aug. 31 last year, 4,370,115 tons had been shipped. Up to the same time this year 6,076,452 tons were sent down the lakes.

In August a year ago 1,211,565 tons were shipped as against 1,690,650 the past month.

The figures were announced from President McGonagle's office this morning.

NEW RECORD AT GREAT NORTHERN DOCKS.

Yesterday the Great Northern docks at Allouez made a new record for one day's loading. Eighteen boats were loaded with a total of 147,000 gross tons of ore in twenty-four hours. The average cargo consisted of 8,166 tons.

The Great Northern has shipped more ore this year than any other ore dock on the lakes. The estimated total is close to 14,000,000 tons.

HARBOR RIDE AND LUNCHEON

Arrangements for Entertainment of Railway Agents Sunday.

Arrangements are being made for the entertainment of members of the National Association of Railway Agents, who will be in Duluth Sunday. They are traveling in a special train en route to the Pacific coast, where their annual convention will be held next week.

The special train will arrive in Duluth at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and will remain until 6:30 in the evening. In the morning the visitors will be taken for a ride up the river and around the harbor. They will be entertained at lunch at the Commercial club at noon, and in the afternoon will be taken in charge by local railroad men.

The railroad men of the passenger department visited Duluth last year, and the city obtained some wholesome advertising from the favorable impression received by the visitors. The freight men who are coming Sunday will be entertained in the same royal style as were the passenger men, and they are expected to carry away some pleasant impressions of the Zenith City.

THE REFORM OF A SNOB.

Written by the Girl for the Ladies' Home Journal: It was at the beginning of summer after my first year spent in one of the best girls' schools in the East that I, a Western girl, was overwhelmed by the fact that, according to the views of the girls with whom I had associated during the past nine months, my home and my parents and my brother were verey "ordinary," and to be "ordinary" or "common" was disastrous indeed!

It came to me first when I stopped on the landing on my way downstairs and looked into our living room below. On the floor were rugs of no particular colors and no particular designs; a hideous ornamental mantel surmounted the big fire place; chairs of nearly every description, from clumsy monstrosities to my mother's mahogany rocker, were scattered about; and, worst of all, some of my first attempts at painting, all in gorgeous gilt frames, hung upon the walls, one of them portraying a broken-backed robin balancing himself upon a barley stalk.

Then I thought of the soft toned rugs and the subdued lights of the reception hall in Jane's home. Jane was my roommate at school, and I had visited her during the Easter vacation; and I remembered what she once said when we were on our way downstairs: "Mother doesn't like this hall at all, and she has engaged N— of New York to redecorate it this spring." What would she think of our hall?

The shortcomings of my home did not annoy me so much, nor cause me so many bitter moments, however, as did my family's utter disregard of the little niceties of good breeding. You see, my father was a retired farmer, who still retained a lively interest in everything concerning the farms. Often in the summer he would "lend a hand" in the hay field if help were scarce; and he would come home in the evening hot, dusty and perspiring, but happy, and sit down to supper in his shirtsleeves, his collar having been ripped off to affard him greater comfort. This had always passed my notice before, but my new code required a coat at the dining table. Father, moreover, was inclined toward shortness, so he often arranged his napkin under his chin; and, if convenient, he occasionally drank his tea or coffee with his spoon sticking up in the cup.

We had a servant girl only occasionally, so my mother and I were busy with the housework a great deal of the time. I did my part of the work cheerfully enough, but I never saw my mother standing over a hot stove until her face was crimson but that I was filled with resentment; I am sure I sould glady have done twice the work for the pleasure of seeing her sweep into the dining room in a trailing dinner gown. Had we been in straitened circumstances I believe I should not have been so critical; but my father could have bought out, twice over, the fathers of many of the girls who lived in homes that supported tw oservants at least and a coachman besides.

My brother, who was several years my senior, had been given the same opportunity of going away to school that I had, but he had chosen business instead—that of a hardware dealer. It was a bitter thought to me that my big, honest, kind-hearted brother would be made sport of very likely by my new girl friends. He did not manicure his nails, he was not a "Frat" man, and he did not so much as own a dress suit. Table manners? Well—at dinner one day I chanced to see him cutting up his lettuce with his knife! Had not a girl who had entered school a few weeks late been caught doing that same thing, and was she not avoided thereafter as being undesirable?

This state of affairs went on throughout that summer and the summer following, summers that were strange mixtures of gayety and happiness, resentment and despondency. There would be days at a time when I entertained the large minded idea of "What do I care?" Then at supper time father would cool his tea by pouring it into the saucer, or mother would say "ain't," and I would decide that I did care very much after all.

When I was away at school the thing that annoyed me most was the sneaking feeling that I was a hypocrite, and was untrue to those at home. Of course, my friends knew I lived in a country place; and they knew my family—even down to old Caesar, the dog—from the photographs of all of them framed and hung on the wall in our room; but it rankled within me that, although I had visited several of my best friends in their homes, and always spent every Easter vacation with Jane in Philadelphia, I had never asked one of the girls to visit me.

It was just before the Easter vacation of my third year that I fought my fight to a finish. Half a dozen of us were having a chafing dish supper in our room, and before we separated for the night we grew sentimental over the fact that we had only one year more of school life together; and we vowed eternal affection for one another.

After the lights were out and we were in our cots I was too miserable and unhappy to go to sleep. Over and over again I would think: "Not one of the girls knows me as I really am." I knew all my best friends in their homes as well as at school, but they knew me only up to a certain point. I grew hot and cold by turns in spurring myself to the decision that my best three friends must visit me before the beginning of our last year. They might consider me common, provincial—even ill-bred, although that I knew I was not; but I must know how the real "I" stood with them, even though it cost mo their friendship and my place in the school. At once I slipped out of bed and scribbled a note to father and mother, begging their permission to ask my riends to visit me. Then I dropped the letter down the mail chute to protect myself against reconsidering.

After a week of anxiety and worry mother's letter came, and with it a jolly note to all four of us from father. I showed the letters to the girls immediately and they accepted at once. I assured them that they might find time heavy on their hands, and that, socially, our little town could offer them nothing; but I should have choked rather than have said: "My mother is not fashionable, but you will love her," or "My father is just a plain kind of a father, but I know you will like him."

Well, the girls came and they had not been with us a day before a sense of peace enveloped me—such absolute peace as I had not known for three years; and with its coming criticism and bitterness disappeared.

We had a splendid time all summer long. Father put up a tent near the little lake on one of our farms, and, with three or four more friends of mine from town, we camped there for a week, sewing and singing and romping. The woman whom mother had engaged to assist with the housework was very slow, but the girls helped to wipe dishes and to dust; and Jane could make the most delicious desserts.

I scarcely know to what to attribute my popularity at school that last year; perhaps to a clear conscience and a feeling that "All's right with the world."

WHEAT GAINS A FRACTION

Wet Weather Over the Northwest Produces Reactionary Movement.

Flaxseed Goes Slightly Higher But the Market Is Still Waiting.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 4.—There was some reaction on the markets of North America today from the slump that wheat took yesterday, and this reaction was aided by wet weather conditions over the American Northwest and north of it. Duluth September wheat today closed ¾c higher. Cash wheat closed at the September price. Oats closed ¼c up, durum and rye unchanged and barley 2c lower to 3c higher. Duluth September flaxseed closed 2c higher, October ¼c higher and November and December unchanged.

Wheat on the markets of this continent today showed a disposition to react from yesterday's slump, but, up to noon today, only a very small fraction of the decline of the last session had been wiped out. The upward tendency, such as it was, was encouraged by rainy weather conditions through Northern Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and the southern part of Western Canada. Bradstreet's report showed a decrease of 1,500,000 bu in the visible wheat supply of the world, but that influence, which was not potent, was more than counteracted on the North American markets by the large primary receipts of this country, which were about 50 per cent larger than those of the corresponding day of last year.

Duluth September wheat, which closed yesterday at 90¾c bid, opened today at 90¾c bid and at noon was selling at 90¾c. There were higher quotations also at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Wheat on the Liverpool market closed ¼d higher to ½d lower. The bullish influences on that market consisted of the strength at Paris, due to heavy rains in France, and to an improved demand for American and Canadian parcels. On the other hand the market was bearishly affected by improved weather in the United Kingdom, larger and cheaper Canadian offers, cargoes more freely offered and Russian offers pressed for sale.

Flax Slightly Up.

The wet and cloudy weather through the Northwest had a slightly bullish effect on the Duluth flaxseed market today. It was rather a lifeless market, however, everybody being disposed to wait and to trade for the present as little as possible. At noon Duluth September flaxseed was 1c higher, October ¼c higher and November and December unchanged. Winnipeg October flax at noon today was unchanged at $1.61 asked, or 8c under Duluth October. Buenos Ayres October last night closed 2c lower at $1.65⅛. London September and October today closed unchanged at $2.10⅞.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Inclined to Rally on News of Rains.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Rain northwest, counted upon by some traders as likely to check the heavy arrivals at primary markets, tended today to rally wheat. There was also strength due to heavy rains in France. Sellers, however, were courageous on account of the world's wheat yield for the season being the second largest ever known. Prices opened a shade to ⅝c higher. December started at 92⅛c to 92¼c, a gain of ⅛c to ¼c, and reacted to 92c.

After a little further backset, car shortage southwest led to a fresh upturn. The close was firm, with December ⅝c net higher at 92⅜c.

Generally favorable weather and improving crop prospects eased corn. December in the opening trades was unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower at 54⅛@54⅜c to 54¾c and seemed inclined to keep within that range.

Subsequently lightness of offerings lifted the market. The close was strong at 55⅜c for December, a net gain of ⅝c.

Oats displayed firmness on account of continued showers. December started the same as last night at 32¼c and rose to 32⅜c.

Stocks of provisions turned out to be less than expected, and helped to steady prices. First sales varied from 2½@5c off to 5c advance, with January $19.32½ to $19.35 for pork, $10.95 for lard and $10.37½ for ribs.

PRICES ARE UNCHANGED

Stocks Start With Downward Tendency, But Soon Regain Losses.

Relaxation of Money Rates In Last Hour Causes Improvement.

New York, Sept. 4.—Stocks showed an inclination today to recover from yesterday's general weakness, regaining in some instances about half of their losses. Dealings in the first hour were fairly large, but they probably represented little more than a skirmish between the opposing forces, in which the shorts were partly driven to cover. Various interpretations were placed upon the Vermont and Ohio elections.

Call money opened at 3¾ per cent, with a further hardening of time loans for practically all dates. Bonds were easy.

Prices tenden downwards again at the opening of today's stock market, with weakness most pronounced in New York Central, American Sugar, American Tobacco and Canadian Pacific. One of the foremost tobacco subsidiaries declined almost 5 points. The only notable exceptions to the general declines were Anaconda and Mercantile Marine preferred, which showed fractional gains.

Sentiment improved and an increased demand for stocks lifted Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading, Steel and the coppers ⅛ to 1 point above yesterday's closing.

The market closed steady. Some improvement was noted with the relaxation of money rates in the last hour, especially in representative issues. Final prices, however, were not essentially changed from the previous day.

ROOSEVELT ASSAILS WOODROW WILSON IN STATE FAIR SPEECH

Talks to Thousands at Minnesota Exposition Grounds.

Hundreds of Party Workers Meet Candidate at St. Paul.

"I'm Afraid of the Big Bull Moose" Sings Girl as Crowd Waits.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bull Moose has invaded St. Paul today in great numbers. The occasion was the arrival this morning of Col. Roosevelt, who delivered an address at the Minnesota state fair today. The former president and his party arrived in two private cars attached to the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train at 7:30 this morning, coming through from Des Moines, where he addressed the Progressive state convention yesterday.

A reception committee of nearly 200 greeted the colonel when he reached the Union station, and he was escorted to a local hotel where breakfast was served. A platoon of police and an escort of Spanish war veterans headed a long procession of automobiles containing the visitors and reception committee, from the railway station to the hotel.

Held Informal Reception.

Following the breakfast an informal reception was held at the hotel, after which Col. Roosevelt held a lengthy conference with the Progressive state central committee. The situation in Minnesota was thoroughly gone over.

Several hundred leaders of the new party and followers of Col. Roosevelt arrived in St Paul last night and this morning, every county in the state being represented, besides many coming from Wisconsin and even South Dakota.

"Afraid of the Big Bull Mooxe."

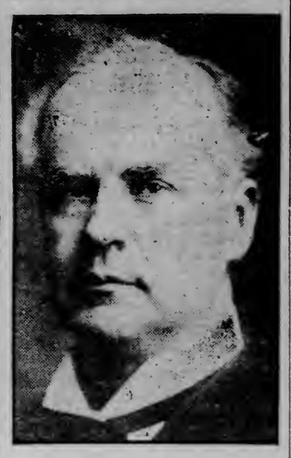

A huge crowd gathered around a platform erected under the trees on the fair grounds to hear Col. Roosevelt. While the people were waiting for the colonel, a girl in blue mounted the platform and sang:

"I'm Afraid, I'm Afraid."

"Who's afraid?" the men in the band

AGAIN SECOND ON PROHIBITION TICKET

AARON S. WATKINS.

Aaron Sherman Watkins, Prohibition candidate for vice president, is both a lawyer and a minister. He was admitted to the bar in 1889. In 1893 he entered the ministry and served as pastor at Continental, Ottawa, Edgerton, Delta and North Baltimore, Ohio. He was twice Prohibition candidate for governor of Ohio.

CONTRASTS THE PARTIES

Watkins Accepts Prohibition Nomination for Vice Presidency.

Ada., Ohio, Sept. 5.—In this, his home city and the seat of Ohio Northern university, with which he was so long connected, Aaron S. Watkins was today notified of his nomination for the vice presidency by the national convention of the Prohibition party. Many Prohibition party leaders from various parts of the United States were present. In his speech of acceptance, Mr. Watkins said:

"I am happy to accept at the hands of the greatest party on earth the honor it has recently bestowed upon me in choosing me to represent the party in the campaign of 1912 as its candidate for vice president. For the first time in our history candidates have been re-nominated on the national ticket. I trust that ample reasons existed in the minds of the delegates urging them to this action and hope that Mr. Chafin and I as candidates shall so conduct ourselves in the campaign that none of those who compose that great body at Atlantic City will ever regret their choice.

ADVISES GOPHER THIRD PARTY, TOO

Roosevelt Reserves Final Decision After More Consideration.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a conference of Progressive Republicans with Col. Roosevelt today, just before Mr. Roosevelt went to the fair grounds.

The following members of the committee of fifty were selected to tell Col. Roosevelt the political conditions in each district: First district, H. W. Libby, Winona; Second, C. W. Gilmore, Pipestone; Third, J. S. Applegate, Cannon Falls; Fourth, A. R. Wilkinson, Lake Elmo; Fifth, Linton B. Swift and P. V. Collins, Minneapolis; Sixth, A. M. Wells, Sauk Center; Seventh, A. V. Rieke, Fairfax; Eighth, O. J. Larson, Duluth; Ninth, George Hope, Crookston.

An attempt to sound the sentiment of the committee on the gubernatorial situation through a straw vote was throttled by A. M. Wells of Sauk Center, who made a motion that only national officers be considered.

While advising strongly that a complete third ticket be put in the field, Roosevelt decided to reserve his final decision upon what attitude the Minnesota Progressives shall take until after the luncheon in Minneapolis this afternoon.

Following the informal reception in St. Paul after breakfast, the colonel went to his rooms and there conferred privately with a number of the Progressive leaders. H. T. Halbert voiced the general attitude of the Progressives for Roosevelt and told him of the conditions in Minnesota.

Roosevelt said if the organization could be taken over at the primaries, he would not advise any interference with the Republican primaries, but he desires to go over the situation thoroughly.

Compulsory Peace Opposed.

Newport, Eng., Sept. 5.—Compulsory arbitration of trade disputes is strongly opposed by British trade unionists, who today at the trades union congress cast an overwhelming vote against the adoption of the principle.

Nearly 2,000,000 members of trade unions are represented by the 500 delegates attending the congress, which began its sessions Sept. 2.

HOLDS PACKER IS RESPONSIBLE

New York, Sept. 5.—In overruling a demurrer interposed by Armour & Co., in a damage suit brought by Sophia Kelterer, who alleged that she had been poisoned by infected pork prepared by the defendant, Judge Noyes, in the United States district court, today ruled that the packer, not the middleman or retailer, is responsible.

"The producer should be held responsible for the result of negligent acts which he readily can forsee," said the court. "The iron manufacturer who fails to inspect a piece of iron cannot forsee that it will be used in a boiler and cause a ship to sink. But the meat packer who fails to inspect his products for poisonous parasites or ingredients knows that poison will poison, and that the persons to be poisoned through his neglect will be those who eat his products, and no one else."

Armour & Co., contended that a manufacturer who deals with the middleman and not directly with the consumer owes the latter no duty whatever, except the duty of refraining from knowingly and wilfully inflicting injury.

FATE DOGS HIS RICH CLIENTS

New York, Sept. 5.—Consular representatives of two foreign nations interested themselves today in the case of Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer against whom the Austrian consulate started proceedings yesterday to have him removed as executor of the will of Mrs. Rosa Szabo, a widow. She was drowned not long ago in Greenwood lake, Orange county, while in company with Gibson in a rowboat. She left an estate of about $10,000.

According to John J. Broderick, the acting consul general for Great Britain, Mr. Gibson was counsel and adviser for John Rice O'Neill, a British subject, who disappeared more than a year ago, after winning a $10,000 damage suit from a railroad company for loss of a leg. The British consulate made efforts several months ago to trace O'Neill, but without avail.

In 1906 Gibson was counsel for Mrs. Alice Kinnan, who was killed in her home in the Bronx. The murder was never solved. On the recommendation of the coroner's jury, Gibson was held in $25,000 bail pending investigation of the case, but he was released on a habeas corpus writ and the matter was dropped. He subsequently brought suit for false arrest.

ON ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

John Lind and A. C. Weiss Chosen to Represent Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Lind of Minneapolis and A. C. Weiss of Duluth have been appointed members of the national advisory committee of the Democratic party.

The information is received in a telegram received today from William G. McAdoo of New York.

Mr. Lind, who has been in Europe, expects to take an active part in the campaign for Woodrow Wilson in Minnesota this year. Mr. Weiss was chairman of the Minnesota delegation at Baltimore and has been an ardent Wilson supporter all through the campaign.

TRAIN BANDIT MAY NOT LIVE

Southern Robber Says He Is Howard Edwards of Florida.

Skull Fractured By Engineer After He Robbed Mail and Passengers.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 5.—Suffering from a fractured skill, the bandit who, single-handed, robbed the New York limited train on the Louisville & Nashville railroad twelve miles east of New Orleans last night, later to be felled by the locomotive driver, was brought to New Orleans this morning and placed in the Charity hospital.

The bandit said his name was Howard E. Edwards and that his family lived in Jupiter, Fla. He gave the police information which is expected to lead to the early capture of three other members of a gang that is believed to have been responsible for a series of sensational train robberies in this section.

Edwards is in a precarious condition and attendants at the hospital declared it doubtful whether he would recover from his injuries.

Hit Him With Torch.

After Edwards had completed a round of the coaches he went forward to the engine. Caught off his guard for an instant, he was hit by Engineer Baer, who wielded a heavy brass torch. The bandit dropped, unconscious.

Edwards first crawled aboard the engine not far from New Orleans and covered Engineer Baer and the fireman with two revolvers. He carried a small valise in which he had dynamite and nitroglycerin. The train was Macon, Ga., Sept. 5.—Aftetr F. M. Beck of Macon had instituted suit for divorce, he discovered that his proceedings were twelve years behind time. Officers who sought to serve papers on the former Mrs. Beck in Graves county, Ky., found she had obtained a divorce a dozen years ago. She is secretary to one of members of the Kentucky health board.

GARFORD THE OHIO LEADER

Elyria Man Nominated for Governor By Bull Moose Party.

Old Parties Are Accused of Harping on Dead Issues.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 5.—Arthur L. Garford of Elyria was nominated governor of Ohio today by the Progressive state convention in session here. Garford's nomination was made by acclamation, no other name being presented.

Mr. Garford is a manufacturer. He was a candidate for nomination in the Republican convention on July 2, but was defeated by Judge E. B. Dillon of Columbus, who later resigned.

Governor Johnson of California addressed the delegates.

Political bosses and machines, crooked business and unenforced legislation are condemned in the platform.

"Issue of Bygone Age."

Theodore Roosevelt and Governor Hiram Johnson were indorsed and the Republican and Democratic parties charged with "seeking to fasten the attention of the people on the issue of a bygone age."

Prohibition of child labor, the minimum wage of working women, prohibition of night work for women, an eight-hour day for women, an eight-hour day in continuous twenty-four hour industries, civil service for appointive state positions, the prevention of industrial accidents, aid in the establishment of schools for industrial education, are favored by the platform.

Municipal home rule, the short ballot and a non-partisan judicial ballot were praised.

John L. Sullivan, Republican candidate for secretary of state was nominated by the Progressives for the same office. He at once resigned as the Republican nominee.

L. J. Tabor of Belmont was nominated for lieutenant governor.

REVENUE SERVICE IS LIFE SAVER

Capt. Jacobs Makes Report at Deep Waterways Meeting.

New London, Conn., Sept. 5.—The delegates to the Atlantic Deep Waterways convention today listened to addresses by Capt. W. V. E. Jacobs, commander of the revenue cutter Itasca; Gen. Hugh Bancroft, who spoke on "Boston's Port Developments," and Finley Acker, president of the Philadelphia chamber of commerce, whose subject was "Transportation and Its Effect on the Cost of Living."

Capt. Jacobs said in the last year 992 vessels were reported for violations, involving penalties of $851,624. In 1910 and 1911, 547 lives actually were saved by the service, 4,150 persons in distress were taken aboard cutters, 862 vessels in distress were assisted, whose cargoes were worth $72,999,636.

PROMISES SENSATION

Hayes Says He Can Make Waldo Resign and Stir Up Mayor's Office.

Special Panel for Becker's Trial Granted By Justice Goff.

New York, Sept. 5.—Justice Goff today granted a motion for the summoning of 250 talesmen from which will be selected a jury to try Police Lieut. Becker, beginning Sept. 12. One hundred is the usual number of talesmen summoned, but because of the widespread public interest in the Rosenthal case, great difficulty in obtaining a jury is predicted, and for this reason the district attorney wants an extra large panel.

Mr. Whitman is in town after his conference of yesterday with Governor Dix and during the day will probably have another talk with Thomas D. Thacher, counsel for Cornelius G. Hayes, the demoted police inspector. It is now definitely established that Hayes' chief reason in going to Mr. Whitman was to forestall any action against him by the grand jury pending his departmental trial on charges of making false statements relative to Commissioner Waldo's attitude toward disreputable resorts.

"Make Waldo Resign."

The former inspector is quoted today as having said to the district attorney:

"Let me alone until I'm through with my police troubles. It's certain that I'll be broke. Waldo can't do anything else. But if I'm put on the stand I'll tell a story that will cause Waldo to resign his job instantly. Yes, and it will go further and cause a

BANDIT HOLDS UP TRAIN IN KANSAS

Gets Only $20 and Escapes Into Nearby Cornfield.

Osage City, Kan., Sept. 5.—A masked man boarded a Missouri Pacific passenger train here early today, held up the conductor, the ticket auditor, six men in the smoker, and after obtaining only $20 for his pains, jumped off the train when it stopped at a water tank, and escaped into a cornfield.

GUN KICKS MAN INTO RIVER IN WISCONSIN AND HE LOSES LIFE.

Bullion, Wis., Sept. 5.—Arthur Benscne, manager of the Norel, Zeman & Stangel Hardware company of Manitowoc, drowned in the Manitowoc river near here, when the kick of the gun he discharged while standing up in a canoe, knocked him into the water.

WATER IMPRISONS THREE MEN IN MINE NEAR BIWABIK, MINN.

Terrific Downpour of Rain Floods Ruddy and Other Workings.

One Victim May Be Dead—Pumps Are Working Full Blast.

Considerable Damage Done in Cities By Heavy Rainfall.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A rainfall approaching a cloudburst prevailed from 7 to 10 o'clock last night in this region, accompanied by some hail. Considerable damage to mining and city property resulted.

Three men were caught underground in the Ruddy mine, about half a mile from town, and it is feared one has perished, as he was in the lowest level. The other two were in a higher level and are probably safe. The big pumps were started to capacity this morning and are taking water from the mine at the rate of about 1,200 gallons a minute. It is hoped to have the mine unwatered tonight and then the fate of the three men will be known.

Caught in Bottom.

Ulo Uniagizeo, a Montenegrin, was caught in the bottom of the mine when the flood came and was probably drowned.

Seranini Dominico and Mike Sereno, two Italians, who were caught in a sub-level about eighty feet from the surface, are believed to be safe, unless they blasted just before the flood came, in which event they were probably asphyxiated. The Montenegrin is single. The other two are married and Sereno has seven children.

The Ruddy mine belongs to the Ruddy Mining company and is in a low piece of ground, a regular swamp and the water fairly poured into the shaft. The mine was in a regular lake when daylight broke today. About fifty men were working but all escaped except the three mentioned.

The pumps were interfered with by quicksand and not until 9 o'clock this morning were they able to resume. Relatives and friends of the imprisoned men spent most of the night near the Ruddy shaft.

The Monica mine of the Republic Iron & Steel company, was also troubled by water, a large amount of which entered the property, but all of the men got out.

The storm, which was the worst ever seen in this section, did much damage about town to sidewalks and other street improvements. Crops in this locality were more or less damaged by hail.

RELIGION MAY BLOCK HIS POLITICAL CAREER

W. A. PRENDERGAST,
Comptroller of the City of New York and Proposed Progressive Candidate for Governor.

RELIGION IN PARTY FIGHT

Progressives of New York Undecided as to Head of Ticket.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The opening session of the Progressive state convention today found the framework of party organization already constructed and the delegates ready for the consideration of a state ticket.

None of the candidates for the head of the ticket is making an active canvass, and the 1,500 delegates are confronted with a problem which seems likely to lead to a spirited contest on the convention floor.

Comptroller William A. Prendergast of New York told his friends this morning he would do nothing to get the nomination. If it came to him unsolicited, he said, he would accept it, but he felt that the delegates should make their selection without influences of any sort.

Hotchkiss Denies Ambition.

State Chairman Hotchkiss again declared he was not to be considered as a candidate, but many up-state delegates insistently were for him.

Bainbridge Colby of New York was

BOY RIDING WITH GIRL IS SHOT

Chicago, Sept. 5.—With a girl perched on the rear of his motorcycle, Roy Winkleman, 17 years old, started on a spin through the West side parks early today. They had been riding only a short time when three men, stepping from behind a thicket, commanded Winkleman to stop. He attempted to speed away, when one of the trio shot him in the back. He fell to the pavement, probably fatally wounded. His companion, Miss Nellie Burnett, escaped injury.

Park policemen caught the bandits after a chase during which several shots were fired.

DULUTH DAY MAY HOLD WEEK RECORD

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The constant streams of state fair visitors that poured from extra sections of the exposition special trains at the Union station today were not less in numbers than the record-breaking throngs of yesterday.

Somewhat in variance with the usual transportation conditions during fair week, it is estimated by the station officials that yesterday will prove to be the biggest day in point of state and Northwest attendance. More than 40,000 people passed the gates, headed for the fair grounds.

Station Supt. Joseph Strawhorn said that the total today will equal that of Wednesday, but that the throngs homeward bound will decrease the day's average attendance at the state exhibit. Employes of the station are experiencing the biggest week in the history of local transportation. The good nature of the crowds has proved the biggest aid in handling the traffic.

HIGHER BARLEY RATE SUSPENDED

Washington, Sept. 5.—The interstate commerce commission has renewed two important suspensions of freight rate increases, originally made last May. An increase of about 100 per cent in westbound rates in tin plate and sheet metal, suspended from May 7 to Sept. 7, has been further suspended to Jan. 4, and an increase of 3 cents per 100 pounds in eastbound rates on barley, which would become effective Sept. 9, has been further suspended to Jan. 7.

TAFT ON WAY BACK TO SUMMER HOME

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Taft left for New York at 10 a. m. on his way to New London and Beverly. His lame ankle was still troubling him and he was wheeled to his automobile from the White House door. He walked, however, the few steps from his motor car to his train at the station. Mr. Taft is due in New York late today to board the yacht Mayflower.

Every preparation had been made by White House and railroad officials to make the president's trip as easy as possible. He had breakfast in his own room in the White House, was wheeled out to the elevator and from the elevator to a waiting automobile. Officials at the union station had placed the president's private car on a level with an adjacent street and he needed to make only a few steps to get aboard.

There was some talk today that the president might not stop at New London tomorrow to address the Atlantic Deeper Waterway association, but he left with the intention of making the speech. If he is persuaded not to get off the Mayflower in New London he probably will sail straight for Beverly from New York.

SECOND CHOICE MAY DECIDE VOTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5.—It may require the official count to decide the outcome of two or three of the contests of the Wisconsin primary election of Tuesday.

Belated returns received today make material changes in the race between Henry Krumrey and Henry Johnson, Republicans for the nomination for state treasurer, and Doherty and Kading are almost even in the Democratic attorney generalship contest.

The second choice vote in the four-cornered contest will figure largely in the Republican outcome of the Tenth congressional district. Frear and Gilbertson figures are so close that second choice votes taken from Ingram and Twesme may nominate either one.

AT WORK AGAIN IN MICHIGAN PRISON

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 5.—All of the inmates of the Michigan state prison, with the exception of those alleged to have taken prominent parts in Tuesday's revolt, were put to work today. Previous to resuming operations, the wreckage due to the outbreak was cleaned up and about all that remains as evidence of the devastation wrought are thousands of shattered windows.

National guard troops still were circled about the prison today and indications are the soldiers probably will remain all week.

CUPID RACES WITH COURT AND LOSES DAY'S CONTEST

Nine Marriage Licenses and Ten Divorce Decrees Granted.

Court Hears Many Tales of Storms on Sea of Matrimony.

The divorce court and the marriage license counter at the court house were vying with each other this morning.

In the race, the divorce court got a shade the better of it, undoing ten matrimonial tangles. The marriage license department was close behind with nine new marriages.

With the opening of the September term of district court yesterday, the divorce mill has started grinding. One case was disposed of yesterday afternoon and eleven were taken up this morning, decrees being granted in all but one case.

Judge Dancer wasn't quite satisfied with the tale of woe told by one Mrs. Stacey Moore, a colored woman, who accused her spouse, Elmer W. Moore, of eloping with her money and jewelry two years ago, later returning only to abuse her, she says. The court withheld judgment and has taken the case under advisement. Divorces were granted in ten other cases.

An unusual tale of cruelty was related by Fanny Lintula, 26, who lives at Virginia and who wanted a separation from Elias Lintula, 34. She claimed that he whipped her on several occasions with leather thongs inflicting cruel injuries and that besides unjustly accusing her of infidelity, he threatened to shoot and kill her. This was in the fall of 1908, she claimed. They were married in October, 1907, and are parents of one child, a girl of 4, the custody of whom was awarded to the mother. The case was heard before Judge Dancer.

Maria Brusso, 18, secured a divorce in Judge Dancer's court from Peter Brusso, 21, on the grounds of desertion. She was given the custody of their 14-months-old child and Brusso was ordered to pay her $10 a month alimony for ten years or until she remarries. They were married Nov. 2, 1910, at Virginia. She claims that he left her two months after the wedding.

Stella Mehalick married when a girl of 15, twenty years ago. She told Judge Dancer that her husband, Joseph Mehalick had drunk for several years and had grown abusive. Last March she had him arrested for assault. He was put under a peace bond but she says that it didn't help. She lives at Maple Grove. Mrs. Mehalick told the court that she was married after having known her husband but two weeks. She was awarded the custody of their two children.

Cruelty and desertion are the grounds upon which Luella Fischer, 22, sued and was granted a divorce from Louis Fischer, 25, to whom she was married in this city on June 11, 1907. The decree was granted by Judge Ensign. He also awarded her the custody of their one child, a girl of 4.

Clara Myers, 37, secured a divorce in Judge Dancer's court from Elbert Myers, 39, who she claims deserted her in 1907. They were married at Baraga, Mich., in 1895 and have three children, who will remain with the mother.

Ada Schoonover, 30, declared before Judge Ensign that she was afraid of John W. Schoonover, 43, her husband, and after reciting several instances of cruelty was given a separation. The court awarded her the custody of the three children. She lives at West Duluth.

Hulda Sakaris, 35, was given a separation from Frank Sakaris, 34, a bartender, formerly employed at Hibbing. Desertion was the grounds. The court allowed the woman to resume her maiden name, Hulda Hegg.

Because her husband is serving seven years for forgery in the Minnesota state penitentiary, Josephine Schuhe, 39, was granted a divorce by Judge Ensign from James J. Schuhe, 39, and allowed to resume the name of Josephine Casey. Her husband was sentenced in July, 1908.

Judge Dancer granted Margaret A. Montgomery, 55, a legal separation from George H. Montgomery, 67, who she claims deserted her fifteen years ago.

Fred Rohrer, 5102 Polk street, West Duluth, testified in Judge Ensign's court that his wife, Dora E. Rohrer had had illicit intercourse with one Charles Hoem, a boarder at his home, and was given a divorce on the grounds of adultery. The woman did not appear against him. She is now at Smith Center, Kan.

stopped, and with the engineer and fireman preceding him at the point of a revolver. Edwards rifled the mail car of all registered mail and then relieved the male passengers in five Pullmans and a club car of their valuables. He did not offer to molest women. He secured almost $1,000 in cash, then marched the engineer and fireman back to the engine and ordered them to proceed.

After going about twenty-five miles, Engineer Baer caught Edwards off his guard and struck him a terrific blow on the head with a brass torch, fracturing the base of the skull.

Fired One Shot.

Edwards fired one shot as he fell. It went wild. Engineer Baer proceeded to rain blows with the torch until the bandit became unconscious.

When the train reached Bay St. Louis, Miss., the robber was taken off and placed in charge of the railroad surgeon until police officers and detectives from New Orleans arrived there in a special train. Although Edwards was unconscious at intervals throughout the night, he gave the police valuable information concerning his alleged partners.

Edwards is 5 feet, 6 inches in height and weighs 130 pounds. He appears to be about 30 years of age.

Supt. Marshall of the New Orleans division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, who was a passenger aboard the train, said that only one man on the train had a revolver, but he could not use it because the robber kept the trainmen in front of him when he passed through the cars.

Snow in Nevada.

Carson City, Nev., Sept. 5.—Snow fell in the mountains west of here yesterday covering the range to a depth of several inches. This is the earliest snowfall in twenty-five years.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Progressives Have Weapon With Which to Defeat Republican Machine—Extent to Which Second Choice Is Used Will Determine Result —Gumshoe Campaign in St. Louis County.

Progressives Have Weapon.

If Governor Eberhart is renominated at the primary election Sept. 17, the Progressives of the state will be responsible.

The Progressive voters have a weapon in the second choice, with which to defeat the machine.

If the Progressive candidates for governor would quit squabbling between themselves and would join forces against Eberhart, his defeat and that of the machine would be accomplished.

Gordon, Young and Lee stand for one principle. Eberhart stands for another. If Gordon, Young and Lee would get out and campaign for the principle, with the personal equation subdued, they would get farther than by their present plan of campaigning. There is too much "Each man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," about the campaign of the Progressive candidates.

The extent to which the second choice will be used will determine the nomination. If a substantial percentage of the voters makes use of the second choice, Eberhart and the machine will be beaten. There is little question but that the majority of the voters of the state are against the governor and the powers behind him. Gordon, Young and Lee will have a majority of the first-choice votes among them. If few second-choice votes develop in the elimination, Eberhart may be pulled through.

The Smith-Eberhart press is belittling the second choice and urging voters to disregard it. They are endeavoring to start a bandwagon movement for Eberhart, and in their figures are assuming that the second choice will not be used to any great extent.

Those who fail to count the second choice as a potent factor in the present situation are making a sad mistake of judgment.

The so-called Mary Ann law was used for the first time in Wisconsin this week. In Douglas county there were six candidates for sheriff. No candidate had a majority of first-choice votes, and the second choice determined the result. About 25 per cent of the voters used the second choice.

That was a personal contest. Nearly every voter knew nearly all of the candidates personally. Each wanted to see his man elected, and if his man were defeated he didn't care much who got the office. In a personal contest of that kind, few men have a second choice. Yet 25 percent of the voters used the second choice provision of the law.

In Minnesota the contest on the governorship is not a personal one. On one side the old state machine, with all the powers of money and organization, is lined up against progressive sentiment. The state machine has concentrated its forces on Eberhart and is endeavoring to pull him through. The progressive sentiment is represented by Gordon, Young and Lee. The general sentiment is anti-Eberhart. It isn't reasonable to suppose that any man who wants to see the machine defeated is going to throw away half of his chance to defeat it. A large body of voters in this state don't care whether Gordon, Young or Lee is the man, so long as Eberhart and the machine are defeated. Most voters have a preference among the three candidates, but it isn't strong enough to engender personal bitterness against the other progressive candidates. If the man whom they hold as first choice is defeated, they would rather see one of the other progressive candidates nominated than to see Eberhart and the machine triumph.

The principle is involved. Every voter has a first and second choice vote to cast in support of the principle. The voters can be depended upon to use intelligence and exercise every privilege given to them to assist in the destruction of the machine.

The second choice will determine the nomination. Unless all signs fail and the voters show a stupidity of which they have never before been accused, a majority of those who vote at the primary will cast a second choice vote and in that case Eberhart will be defeated.

L. A. Smith Visits Duluth.

Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office he now holds by appointment, is in Duluth attending district court. Mr. Smith says that he is making no campaign for the office, but his friends are taking care of his cause. He has been so busy answering queries on the new primary law and the corrupt practices act that he really hasn't had time for a campaign. He is opposed for the nomination by Thomas Fraser of Rochester.

Working for Burnquist.

Alumni of Carleton college are interesting themselves in the campaign of J. A. A. Burnquist of St. Paul for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Charles N. Orr of St. Paul, who served in the last legislature, is especially active in Mr. Burnquist's behalf. He is sending out letters to all Carleton alumni in the state urging them to activity.

"Billy" Williams Active.

William H. Williams, familiarly known as "Billy" Williams, former state labor commissioner, has bobbed up in politics again. Mr. Williams, it will be remembered, was manager of Champ Clark's campaign in Minnesota last spring. After Mr. Williams had made loud claims Woodrow Wilson swept the state. Mr. Williams subsided, but he is of the kind to whom political inactivity is galling. He is now campaign manager for Charles W. Bibb, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer. Mr. Williams is a likable sort, is a bundle of activity and knows the game, so Mr. Bibb has made a good selection.

Gumshoe Campaign.

The St. Louis county primary campaign is of the gumshoe variety and will continue so. Candidates and their friends are to be met everywhere, but they are not speaking above a whisper. Now and then the voter is reminded by some candidate that there is a primary election coming, but the most persistent reminders are the campaign cards posted at every conceivable place. The registration of 3,600 on the first day in the city indicates that the primary vote will be heavy, but nobody can forecast the result. The voters aren't talking.

Falk Campaign Halted.

Martin F. Falk, who has been quiet since he announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, has awakened. He is campaigning at the state fair, getting much voluntary and some involuntary publicity.

Mr. Falk ran afoul of the state fair authorities yesterday. He was distributing campaign literature, when a policeman intercepted him and took him before Vice President Ell L. Warner of the fair board. Mr. Warner informed Falk that if he wanted to distribute literature, he would have to pay a concession and put up a tent or stand. Mr. Falk demurred, but finally hunted up the superintendent of concessions.

GEORGE D. McCARTHY.

a receptive candidate, and he, too, declined to engineer any effort.

When George W. Perkins arrived today many of the delegates believed he would bring some message from Col. Roosevelt as to the makeup of the party slate.

The delegates expected to adopt a platform today, nominate candidates tomorrow.

"Politically Inexpedient."

The problem of finding a candidate for governor became more difficult as the day advanced. State Chairman Hotchkiss and Comptroller Prendergast discussed Mr. Prendergast's availability and Mr. Hotchkiss is reported to have told Mr. Prendergast it would be "politically inexpedient" for the comptroller to accept the nomination.

Many delegates, Hotchkiss is said to have told the comptroller, had said to him that because of Prendergast's attitude on certain church matters, which had come before him in an official way in New York, his strength as a candidate in many quarters would be impaired.

Some of Prendergast's friends declared Hotchkiss was quietly paving the way to bring about his own nomination for governor, notwithstanding his reported assertions that he must not be considered as a candidate.

Opposition to Prendergast.

The opposition on the part of certain delegates to Mr. Prendergast's candidacy is said to be founded on religious lines because of the comptroller's conduct of the charity bureau in his office.

Chairman Hotchkiss, when he learned of the reports that are being circulated concerning his talk with Mr. Prendergast, said it was "nothing more than an effort on the part of the trouble-makers to disturb our friendly relations."

"I hope Mr. Prendergast will be the choice of the convention as the head of the ticket," he added, "and I am working with that end in view."

Chairman Hotchkiss reiterated his announced determination not to permit his name to be presented to the convention as a gubernatorial candidate.

Herbert E. Cook, dean of St. Lawrence university, returned today from Canton following a conference with the trustees of that institution, and told Mr. Hotchkiss that he would permit his name to go before the convention as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Chairman Hotchkiss said there were from three to ten candidates for every place on the ticket, and that the convention would virtually resolve itself into an old-fashioned town meeting.

CANTRASTS THE PARTIES

chosen for this important position, but it is an honor to be chosen by such a convention. It was the greatest convention held in 1912. Other conventions have met merely to struggle over the choice of a man and in the awful bitterness engendered and the disgraceful struggle that ensued issues were hurled out of sight. The convention of the Prohibition party, on the other hand, acted with perfect unanimity.

"Most of the presidential candidates this year are running counter to their previous record or to the history and declarations of their parties. One imagines himself to be the only ideal and genuine progressive; and yet, with his rash declarations, coarse language, and pugilistic manner, he has seriously retarded the cause of real progressive political reform. With the voice of a boss, he drives toward reforms which he could not even discover in the days when they needed a friend; but now, after the battle has been largely fought, and the victory is coming in sight, he shouts so lond that the real progressives are not heard.

The Re-Nominee.

"Another candidate confesses great concern for the stability and dignity of the country and party, but by his bulldog pertinacity in insisting on a renomination that the people did not want to bestow, he has endangered the party and seriously disturbed the country. In the name of peace, he has joined in an unseemly scramble for office. He has been provoked by an unfair competitor into an undignified campaign and has contributed much toward making politics a huge joke instead of a sacred trust.

"Another candidate poses as a progressive, but represents the party that for a half century was the great reactionary force in American politics, and when placed in power, had been negative so long, that it did not know how to be positive.

Square Deal Vs. Old De'il.

"All these three parties profess to labor in the interest of the people, but ignore the question that the people are most anxious to have settled. They are very zealous to conserve the mineral resources of our land, but they are utterly indifferent to the wholesale wreck of public health, happiness, character and life. Much is said about the Square Deal, and throngs of women and children plead for justice in vain, because the square deal has been forgotten and the Old De'il is abroad in the land with the government stamp of approval upon him.

"As in all our former history, we stand this year at the front, still urging the reforms that other parties have borrowed from our platforms in the past, and still waving the flag of sober manhood, emancipated womanhood, and happy childhood, to be secured through the great reform of prohibition.

"We still insist that this reform must be secured by the ordinary, established method of American government, a political party. Every great reform in our history has been first a party question, and every effort to keep it out of party has only hindered and delayed its final settlement.

The Non-Partisan See-Saw.

"The so-called non-partisan method is in reality nothing but an alteration of efforts to compel first one party and then another to do what is in the nature of the case impossible.

"The people in larger numbers than ever before are convinced of the inefficiency of these compromise, hit-or-miss methods, and are listening to us not merely with polite attention, but with profound respect."

PROMISES SENSATION

sensation in the mayor's office. I want to be free from any handicap that the grand jury might put on me."

Commissioner Waldo said that he had nothing to fear from Hayes, and added that the former inspector would have ample opportunity to talk all he wanted to at his trial, which will be held at police headquarters tomorrow.

May Face New Charges.

Rhinelander Waldo, New York's commissioner of police, incensed by the statements attributed to Hayes, that Hayes would air departmental scandal and cause Waldo to resign, issued a drastic order today commanding Hayes to report at headquarters at once and state in writing whether he did or did not threaten the commissioner." This further involves the police situation in that Hayes, already accused of making false statements involving the commissioner, may now be tried on further charges.

chorused.

The girl in blue warbled:

"I'm afraid of the big bull moose," and the crowd shouted.

Col. Roosevelt reached the fair grounds at 11 o'clock and received an uproarious welcome. The crowd was in the platform, which had been growing steadily since an hour earlier, numbered thousands, and only a part of the people could get near enough to the colonel to hear him.

Col. Roosevelt assailed the nomination of Woodrow Wilson at the Baltimore convention as the work of the Democratic bosses.

In his campaign for the Republican nomination, Col. Roosevelt said, "the bosses" were dethroned one after another in states in which there were direct presidential primaries.

"We beat Franklin Murphy in New Jersey; Senator Penrose in Pennsylvania, and Senator Lorimer in Illinois," he said. "But no Democratic boss was beaten in his own state.

Primaries for Clark.

"In most of the Democratic primaries the vote has been against Mr. Wilson. In most cases they were carried by Mr. Clark. In no case in the primary vote before the convention was a Democratic boss beaten in his own state. The bosses of the Democratic party were enthroned in power by the result of the Baltimore convention. The fundamental differences between the Democratic and the Republican bosses was that the Republican bosses knew that our triumph in the Chicago convention meant their death knell, and in the Baltimore convention it was the bosses themselves who arranged the outcome because it perpetuated their rule.

"The nomination of Mr. Wilson was arranged by Mr. Taggart of Indiana, Mr. Sullivan of Illinois, with Mr. Murphy of New York finally joining in."

Denounced Reciprocity.

Col. Roosevelt denounced the Canadian reciprocity act as "a jug-handled arrangement under which the farmer paid the freight."

Col. Roosevelt replied to Governor Wilson's speech on the tariff in New York yesterday, saying:

"If the tariff plank of the Democrats is not telling the truth, of course I need not discuss it with them; if it is telling the truth and should be put into effect, it would plunge this country into a period of commercial disaster such as we have not seen in our lifetime."

At the close of his speech at the fair grounds, Col. Roosevelt was escorted to a Minneapolis hotel, where luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. This was followed by an automobile tour of the city.

The colonel will leave at 10:30 tonight for Grand Forks, N. D.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

USE DARROW TRIAL EVIDENCE

Government Wants It for Dynamite Cases in Indianapolis.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—Some of the evidence in the trial of Clarence S. Darrow for jury bribery which resulted in Darrow's acquittal, may be used in the government's dynamite conspiracy cases in Indianapolis.

Tis became known today through instructions from Attorney General Wickersham to James Gaynor, secret service agent, to have prepared certain extracts from the record of the Darrow trial.

It is believed here the government particularly desires a transcript of the testimony of Anton Johannsen, San Francisco labor leader, who referred on the stand to several of the Indianapolis defendants.

KILLED HIM TO PROTECT WIFE

Defense in Ohio Murder Case Outlined—Widow Is Prisoner.

East Liverpool, Ohio, Sept. 5.—That Richard Burrows, paving contractor, whose body was found hidden in a barn near here Tuesday morning, was slain in his home Monday evening by John Cobourne, an employe, to protect Mrs. Burrows, will be the defense of Cobourne and Mrs. Burrows.

They were arrested last night near Williamsport, Ohio, and will be arraigned to plead to charges of first degree murder.

A report that Mrs. Burrows had confessed to the murder of her husband is untrue. According to Ben L. Bennett, who has been retained as attorney for the defense, Cobourne, who boarded with the Burrows, went there Monday evening to find Burrows and his wife quarreling. Burrows, it is said, threw his wife on the floor and was choking her when Cobourne, fearing Mrs. Burrows would be killed, threw a flatiron at Burrows.

Cobourne's story is that the iron struck Burrows on the head and stunned him, but that Burrows recovered and drew his revolver. Cobourne grabbed his own revolver and fired several times at Burrows, killing him. The body then was hidden.

BOWBELLS KEEPS SEAT OF COUNTY

Lignite's Moving Ballot Place Illegally Costs Place That Honor.

Bowbells, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bowbells will retain the honor of being county seat of Burke county despite the fact that it did not have a majority of all the votes that were cast on the question of locating the seat of government nearly two years ago. Because Lignite, Bowbells' chief opposing city, received the votes by which it was given the majority in precincts where the election officials had moved the polling places from the locations fixed by the board of commissioners, that place loses out in the long fight which has just been concluded in the supreme court.

Ballots Were Thrown Out.

Judge Templeton of Grand Forks made the original decision on the question of the county seat location. By his orders, the votes cast in those precincts where the polling places had been removed without the authority of the county commissioners, were thrown out, and that order is now affirmed by the supreme court.

The supreme court holds that it was the duty of the Lignite contenders to show that the removal of the polling places had taken place in good faith, and with no attempt at injuring the interests of any one. This feature, so the court says, was not shown, and hence the mistake in mowing the polling places has cost Lignite the county seat honors.

DEMOCRACY TO THE FRONT

Great Year for Party in State and Nation, Says Judge Willis.

Battle Scarred Opponents of Populist Doctrines Now Fighting for Them.

"My, I'm delighted. This is my year you know," said Judge John W. Willis of St. Paul when asked at the Spalding this morning his opinion of the present political situation.

"A man doesn't have to take many chances to predict the election of Governor Wilson," Judge Willis continued. "Then the Democrats of the state are peculiarly fortunate in having a man like P. M. Ringdal consent to enter the race for governor. I have known Mr. Ringdal for many years. I know that his heart is right. He is of the Abraham Lincoln type of men. By that I mean that he has the same rugged honesty, the same fidelity of purpose, the same sympathy for the common people. Minnesota would be indeed fortunate if he were elected governor of the state.

"There is another phase of the present political situation that appeals to me. I have always been a free-trader. I have never lowered the banner and I do not lower it now. The trend of present thought is towards free trade. I was glad to see that Governor Wilson accepted the Democratic platform without flinching. He declared that the tariff should be materially lowered and that is in entire accord with my views. I don't see the necessity for any tariff, but while there is to be one it should be a tariff for revenue only."

Judge Willis is accompanied by Mrs. Willis and Dr. Alfred Wharton, Mrs. Willis' father. Dr. Wharton's health is not of the best and he is resting here. Dr. Wharton has had an interesting career. He is 77 years old and has lived in St. Paul since 1867. He was in the old Sixth Minnesota regiment during the Indian outbreaks and served with Gen. Sibley. During the Civil war he also served with the Sixth Minnesota, until forced to drop out on account of illness.

Judge Willis has been a prominent figure in Minnesota for many years. He was on the Ramsey county district bench at the time of the Populist movement and was not openly active, but in newspaper interviews and banquet speeches, he advocated the principles that are now warmly espoused by men of all political beliefs.

"I only wish that Ignatius Donnelly, Gen. Weaver, S. M. Owen, and others had lived to see this day when men bearing scars obtained in fighting the initiative and referendum are out on the stump advocating those measures," he said. "I had many conferences with Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Owen when we discussed the coming of this day when the doctrines that we advocated would be accepted by people generally. The revival of sentiment for the return of the government to the people is here and the Populist party is vindicated."

Judge Willis regards the career of Robert M. La Follette as one of the saddest stories in politics of the present day.

"Senator La Follette built up the progressive movement in the Republican party," he said. "He initiated reforms in Wisconsin that are known and praised all over the world. When the time came for him to reap the harvest, Theodore Roosevelt stepped to the center of the stage and declared 'I am the man to lead the progressive cause,' and Senator La Follette was shunted aside."

Judge Willis is well known in Duluth and has a warm admiration for the city. He expects to remain for a few days, resting and meeting old friends.

NORTH DAKOTANS LEAVE IT TO TEDDY

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Sweet of Fargo is the choice for Bull Moose candidate for governor, should it be decided to put a third ticket in the field. The matter of a ticket will be left entirely to Col. Roosevelt's wishes. In many states he has advocated a third ticket, but because Hanna, the Republican nominee, was his original booster in North Dakota, he may not urge a new ticket here, it is said.

Dorr H. Carroll, state chairman, announced today there was a division of sentiment among the Bull Moosers of the state over the ticket, and now Roosevelt's wishes would govern.

NORTH DAKOTAN IS KILLED WITH BRICK.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 15.—As the result of a quarrel Frank Pedrick, a farmer living near Cuyaga, N. D., was killed and his slayer, a stranger, is a fugitive from justice. It is alleged Pedrick was pounded to death with a brick.

GETS STORIES OF TRAFFIC IN GIRLS

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Humane Officer Blante says his white slave investigation is widening, and from information given him by two girls at Harvey he will be able to cause the arrest and conviction of men in Fargo and Moorhead engaged in white slavery, especially during the presence of thousands of transient harvest hands in the state.

Florence Smith, a 17-year-old girl, this morning gave damaging evidence against W. R. Johnson and A. C. Jackson, said to be men engaged in white slave traffic. Other young girls are to be questioned. Johnson has a wife at Staples, Minn., and Jackson is married and lives at Isabel, S. D.

Helen Reitan, the youngest victim, was formerly from Twin Valley, Minn. She claims the men beat her to compel her to turn over money given her by men brought to her room by Johnson and Jackson.

Violet Jackson claims two men threatened her with revolvers to get money from her. Restauranter Johnson, at whose front street place men held orgies, has disappeared.

ENROLLMENT IS GROWING

With returns from only three small schools missing, the enrollment amounted to 11,754 in Duluth graded schools and the Central high school, as reported by the principals of the various buildings up to last night.

Today and tomorrow are considered sure to increase this enrollment by several hundred, so that by the close of the first week of school the enrollment will have reached 12,000 pupils. No record was kept of the first few days of enrollment for last year, but at the end of the first month of school the total enrollment last year was 12,506, not so very much ahead of the enrollment up to yesterday, and this year's, Supt. Denfeld believes, will be fully as large or perhaps larger than that of last year on Oct. 1. The variation in increases and decreases between last year, it is believed, is a good indication of the development of the portions of the city represented in the school figures.

The interest in the industrial department of the schools continues to show a strong growth, as day follows day, but the interest expected in the study of Scandinavian languages is not encouraging. Less than ten have indicated a desire to take up these studies, and as Supt. Denfeld has announced that there must be a class of at least fifteen before a teacher will be provided, it appears that this class will not be established until somewhat later in the year.

Following is a table showing the enrollment of the various schools up to last night, compared with the enrollment up to Oct. 1, 1911:

MONTANA EDITOR IS BOOMED FOR GOVERNOR.

Great Falls, Mont., Sept. 5.—The Republican state convention is in session here to nominate a state ticket. It is expected that E. H. Cooney, editor of the Great Falls Leader, will be nominated for governor without opposition, and that Associate Justice Henry C. Smith will be nominated for United States senator.

H. I. Wilson of Billings has been selected for temporary chairman.

SCIENTIST GETS PREACHERS GOING

London, Sept. 5.—Prof. Schaefer's declaration that life can be created by chemical action has created widespread discussion and controversy among scientists and laymen.

Newspapers throughout the country comment on the theory of the president of the British association, surmising it will prove a topic of bitter argument. They compare it with the epoch-making theories of Charles Darwin and Thomas Huxley on the evolution of man.

Many ministers of religion already have given interviews in which they attack the idea that life has a beginning merely from the action of chemical elements.

TAFT'S COUSIN HAS $840 JOB

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Harry Derward Taft, cousin of President Taft, who was prevented from continuing as an employe in the United States customs service because of civil service regulations which barred him from a permanent position, was today reinstated in the mailing department of the Chicago postoffice, where he worked before entering the customs service.

The young man did not tell the postal officials he was related to the president.

"Of course I am proud that I am related to the president, but I never have sought his aid in any way," said Mailing Clerk Taft.

In the customs department Harry Taft was paid $840 a year, and his present wage approximately is that amount.

SUE SOUTHERN PACIFIC AGAIN

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—Another government suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad company for the recovery of 2,000 acres of mineral land in Kern county probably will be begun here soon. The land is valued at approximately $5,000,000.

Millis N. Millis, special attorney in charge of other actions pending against the company for the recovery of oil lands, has returned from Washington with authorization by Attorney General Wickersham to bring a new action.

PROBE FRAUD IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Post-election Charges Include Tillman's Nomination for the Senate.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 5.—Fraud charges in connection with the South Carolina Democratic primary election of Aug. 27 will be rigidly probed by a special committee of seven appointed upon the authority of a resolution adopted by the executive committee.

Governor Cole L. Blease, on the face of the returns, was renominated by about 3,000 majority over his two opponents, the total vote being about 140,000.

The committee met to canvass the returns and investigate charges of fraud made by Ira B. Jones, candidate for governor. John T. Duncan, another candidate for governor, also filed a protest.

The protests of W. Jasper Talbot and N. B. Dial, candidates for the United States senate, against the nomination of Senator B. R. Tillman, on the ground that he failed to file his campaign account as provided by law, were passed until the next meeting. The sub-committee will begin the work of investigation at an early date.

RADFORD HUNTING IN TRENTON RIVER REGION.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 5.—Harry Radford, the American explorer, who left Edmonton, Alta., three years ago for the North country, reached Trenton river last winter and has been hunting there this summer, according to word just received by the Hudson Bay company from its commissioner in the Far North. News of his arrival at the bay across the barren lands was the first that had been heard from Radford in more than a year.

Radford says that there are more than 350 wild buffalo in the Slave lake district. He says they are well protected, and there is every reason to believe they will multiply rapidly. The Indians, he says, guard the animals and will not allow one of them to be shot.

WEST END BUILDING ACTIVITY

New Residences and Business Blocks Are in Course of Construction.

Fairbanks' division is going through a most prosperous growth at the present time.

The division, which extends from Fifth street to Eighth street and from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-eighth avenues west, is being dotted with residences. Last week foundations were laid for five new dwellings, while a similar number is being built this week. Water, sewer and gas pipes have all been laid.

The division was purchased last fall by several West end business men from Former Vice President Charles Fairbanks through his local realty agents. The land was platted last spring and divided into lots. The buyers of the property formed a company and are now building these houses for working men, who pay by annual installments. About twelve houses have already been sold in this way.

The Mohaupt building at 2022-24 West Superior street is rapidly nearing completion. The building is two stories high, with a frontage of sixty feet, extending back to Michigan street. The structure will cost $20,000 and is being erected by A. H. Burg & Co. The first floor will be occupied the first of October by the Mohaupt Brothers' Ten Cent store. The second floor will be arranged for offices and flats.

Work was started two weeks ago on a new factory at 2115-17 West Michigan street. Workmen are excavating for a foundation, and work on the superstructure is expected to start the latter part of this month. The structure will cost $12,000 and will be occupied by Winkler & Winkler, candy manufacturers. The building will be of brick and will be three stories high. The entire structure will be fireproof and will have a frontage of 50 feet with a depth of 70 feet to the alley. A freight elevator will be included in the construction of the building.

* * *

The Orpheus Singing society is now selling stock in its campaign to secure sufficient funds to erect its proposed club building at Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, opposite Lincoln park. The society recently incorporated with the secretary of state, and $15,000 worth of stock is being sold in behalf of the building fund. The new building will be erected next spring, if the present plans of the society materialize.

* * *

Another building now being planned for the West end and for which a subscription campaign is being conducted is the Scandinavian Fraternity house and social center. The building will cost $100,000 and is to be built similar to the Duluth Y. M. C. A. The structure will be three stories high, with a gymnasium, theater, lodge rooms, offices and stores. Vasa Order No. 170, Swedish United Sons, is at the head of the campaign for funds.

Although the Adams Athletic association has given up its club building plans for the present, it is probable that the members will again take up the matter next spring. It was originally planned to erect a structure at a cost of $25,000.

RENEWS ATTACK ON GOVERNOR

William E. Lee Repeats the Charge That Breweries Are in Control.

Renewing his claim that the brewery interests are behind the campaign for Governor Eberhart and that the present administration is extravagant and careless with the public funds, William E. Lee, candidate for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket, addressed a crowd of over 500 voters last evening at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

Mr. Lee read a number of reports during his address last evening, in which he showed how the present administration has been wasting the public money and how the necessary improvements have been disregarded during the past few years. The state officials, he said, are spending money for things that are not at all necessary for the welfare of the state, while many worthy institutions go unassisted.

The breweries, said Mr. Lee, are responsible for a large part of the existing evil.

GIRL KNOCKED DOWN BY BICYCLE RIDER.

Riding a bicycle on the sidewalk was the cause of a serious accident yesterday afternoon when Dorothy Tessman, 7 years old, was run down by Arthur Hegdahl near Twentieth avenue west and Third street. The little girl sustained several cuts about the head and is now confined to her home under a doctor's care.

The accident happened shortly after school was out yesterday afternoon and Dorothy and several of her companions were on their way home from school. Hegdahl rang his bell when but a few feet from the children, frightening them so that the Tessman girl jumped directly in front of the bicycle. The little girl was knocked to the sidewalk and when picked up was bleeding about the head.

Dr. A. J. Braden, who happened to be near the scene of the accident, ordered Hegdahl to stop and with the latter's aid took the injured girl to his office. The child was later taken to her home at 2009 West Third street. The little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Tessman.

Hegdahl gave his age as 18 years and his address as 25 North Sixty-second avenue west.

STOPPED BY THE TURKS

Duluthians Have Exciting Experience Going Through the Dardanelles.

American Vessel Forced to Stop By Shot From Fort.

Miss Gertrude L. Carey and her niece, Miss Gertrude Barnes, both of Duluth were aboard a yacht flying the American flag which was fired upon by a Turkish fort in the Dardanelles early last month, according to reports brought to Boston by passengers on the steamer Manitou from Antwerp.

The Duluthians stated that no official report was made of the occurrence to the American consul at the time, as the members of the party did not wish to take any chance of being delayed.

The yacht was one charted by a tourist agency and was bound from Athens to Constantinople. When but a comparatively short distance from the latter city a fort fired twice across the bows of the vessel. In answer the vessel ran up the American flag.

Despite the display of colors another shot was dropped within a few yards of the yacht. She hove to and officers from the fort came aboard. They made an examination of her. They allowed her to proceed after placing a Turkish officer and pilot aboard.

It is asserted that the matter will be taken up with federal officials at Washington.

Miss Carey telegraphed her mother, Mrs. Harriet Carey of 5131 London road, that she and Miss Barnes expect to reach home Sunday. Mrs. Carey and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Barnes have left for the East to meet their daughters. Miss Carey is art instructor at the Central high school. Accompanied by her niece she has been touring Europe, visiting the principal places of interest in the countries of the old world.

OPERATORS MAY STRIKE ON CANADIAN PACIFIC.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 5.—The telegraph operators employed by the Canadian Pacific railway in the Western provinces have been voting all this week on the question whether they will accept a 10 per cent increase in wages or go on strike. The vote is being taken by wire. Union officials say that so far the vote is almost unanimous for a 15 per cent raise or declare a strike on Saturday. The balloting will be finished by Friday night.

"HAIR THAT GIVES FATHER TIME THE LAUGH"

We are just about as old as we LOOK

People judge us, by the way we LOOK. The man or woman with grey hair is beginning to get in the "Old Timer's Class." This Twentieth Century does NOT want GREY hairs—it wants the energy of Youth. The big things are being done by the YOUNGER generation.

There's a sort of "Has Been" look about those "Grey Hairs." There is always one to criticise and smile scornfully.

Father Time is a stern disciplinarian. Get the best of him. Give him the laugh. Do not be a "Has Been." It's unnecessary. Use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH

PINE COUNTY CORN BEATS ALL OTHERS

G. B. Wells Carries Off Grand Sweepstakes at Minnesota State Fair.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pine county forges to the front in the grain awards made at the Minnesota state fair here by G. B. Wells of that county carrying off some highly prized honors in corn, wheat, barley and oats. Last year Mr. Wells's exhibit of yellow corn at the fair won a premium which was contested by J. W. Beckman of Cokato, another corn exhibitor. This year, however, there is no doubt about the Pine county man getting away with the coveted honor.

MILL CITY POLICE CLASH WITH CROWD

Clubs Used Dispersing Throng at Socialist Meeting That Blocked Street.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 5.—Answering a riot call, twenty-five police and plain-clothes men, headed by Capt. George Reviere, assistant superintendent of police, last night clashed in battle with a mob of approximately 500 attending a Socialist street meeting and as a result ten members of the crowd were taken to jail and scores are probably suffering from sore heads. Socialist leaders attempted to get the crowd to disperse before the clash with the police.

The trouble came as a result of an order issued early in the week that all street meetings must be held within a certain district, because of state fair traffic, thus prohibiting gatherings at Fourth street and Nicollet, where Socialist meetings usually are held.

Would Not Disperse.

On both Monday and Tuesday nights some trouble was had by the police in dispersing the crowds there, but last night when at first a patrolman, and then a policeman and Capt. Reviere attempted to disperse the crowd, which was listening to a woman speaker, they were disregarded. The woman ceased speaking and urged the crowd to follow her to a corner a short distance away, which was within the district.

Meeting with failure to disperse the crowd, Capt. Reviere sent in a riot call and then at the head of the police with drawn clubs, again and again charged the crowd, the battle lasting almost three-quarters of an hour. The seven who were arrested on the charge of refusing to move on when ordered, furnished bail of $15 each, and were released, to appear in court today.

After being released Walker returned to the store and resumed his duties.

Walker's arrest caused quite a sensation in St. Paul, as he has been organist of his church for the last eight years. When Well-Known Duluth People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Duluth the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every sufferer of kidney backache, every man, woman or child with kidney trouble will do well to read the following:

J. E. Watts, 918 Tenth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I gladly verify the public statement I gave in 1908, regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. I had an attack of backache and lameness in my loins which obliged me to stop work. There was so much pain in my kidneys that I could not bend over and I was so stiff that the least movement made me miserable. I tried different remedies but nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted like a charm, and it would have been impossible for me to have obtained better results. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and they have helped me when I have taken them."

Valuable Discovery In Complexion Beautifier

(From The Home Maker.)

Because of its peculiar power of absorption, also because it serves every emollient purpose, ordinary mercolized wax is perhaps the most valuable complexion beautifier discovered within recent years. If one uses this she needs no toilet cream. Some use powder afterward, but this is not necessary and is inadvisable particularly when one perspires freely. This rule for applying mercolized wax has been found very satisfactory: Wash the face with warm water, drying lightly. Before thoroughly dry, anoint the face and neck with the wax, but don't rub it in. The favorite way is to use before retiring, allowing it to remain on all night and washing it off in the morning with warm water. All druggists have this wax in original one-ounce packages.

For the removal of a wrinkled or flabby condition there's nothing better than to bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Beneficial results are quickly noticeable.

GIRL PROBLEM.

Detention Home Helping Solve It, Says St. Paul Worker.

"Our detention home for girls which has recently been established," said Miss Emily Dobbin of St. Paul, prominent worker in social and civic reform circles there, "has proven a big success and has done more to illustrate the fact that girl delinquents need attention as much as boy delinquents and that our city has a 'girl problem' which it must solve. Social center work should be civic work and should be as much the work of the citizens as the public school or the public library."

Miss Dobbin was the guest of honor at a delightful luncheon of twenty covers yesterday noon at the Commercial club given by Mrs. Agnes L. Atwood, whose guest she is for a few days. Between the courses she told of the founding and running of the St. Paul detention home and answered inquiries of the other guests on social work and its different phases.

"We in St. Paul feel," she said, "that your dance hall ordinance here is ideal and we are holding it up as our model for a similar ordinance which we hope to have passed there. The ordinance has also been highly commended by eminent workers at Chicago this summer where I have been studying under Dr. Graham Taylor of the Chicago commons and they especially commend your stand in placing the age at which young girls may go in the dance halls at 21 years."

Miss Doobin spoke interestingly of other topics and today has been investigating conditions somewhat in Duluth.

DULUTH YOUNG WOMAN WILL BE HEARD IN LIGHT OPERA HERE

RENA VIVIENNE.

Rena Vivienne, Duluth's own prima donna, is coming to Duluth in light opera. She is singing the role of Nadina with "The Chocolate Soldier," to be heard here Sept. 23 and 24.

Duluthians never had a chance to hear Rena Vivienne, known here as Rena Smith, in opera, and they will welcome this chance to hear her in this attractive operatic role.

Miss Smith sang the role of Nadina the season before last in all of the large Eastern cities and last season she was in New York doing concert, oratorio and recital work, as well as some phonograph work.

She won the highest fame as one of the singers of the role of Madame Butterfly, during the first year of its production and was to have sung the role here, but was prevented on account of illness.

Miss Smith writes to friends that she is happy in the thought of coming to Duluth in a "real, live operatic role."

"The Chocolate Soldier" company will open its season in the East next week and after its Duluth engagement will go on to the Pacific coast, where they will play during most of the coming season.

Miss Smith has not been in Duluth for two years. She and her mother, who travels with her, spent a month here in the summer of 1910, but she has not been home since.

Gorby-Heiam.

Two popular young people were united in marriage last evening, when Miss Lucile Gorby, daughter of Mrs. Rosa B. Gorby, 521 East Fourth street, became the bride of Oscar C. Heiam. The event was a pretty affair at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. M. Rickard of 211 North Twenty-seventh avenue west.

The service was read at 7:30 by Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Dora Williams for the entrance of the bridal party, led by Misses Drusilla Manson and Agnes Heiam, who stretched the ribbons marking an aisle for the bride, to the improvised altar of palms with a canopy of ferns and white asters. The bridegroom, attended by C. Pierce, his best man, and Rev. McGaughey awaited the party there.

The maid of honor was Miss Gertrude Robinson, who wore a pretty gown of pink messaline with an overdrape of chiffon trimmed with shadow lace, and she carried pink Killarney roses.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white satin made with an overdress of embroidered crepe de chine with pearl trimmings, and her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Gorby wore a gown of blue silk poplin.

The decorations in the living room where the ceremony was performed, were carried out in pink and white, sweet peas and ferns being used except in the canopy, which was green and white. In the dining room golden glow was artistically arranged, and in the den the color scheme of red and green was carried out with mountain ash berries.

Assisting Mrs. Rickard in receiving the guests was Miss Katherine Heiam, a sister of the bridegroom, and in the dining room were Miss Verna Willard, Miss Maude Manson, Miss Edith Seekins, Miss Genevieve Heiam and Miss Helen Wharton.

Mrs. John Manson, Mrs. J. A. Wharton and Miss Mary Devaney assisted in the other rooms.

Before throwing her bouquet the bride separated it into three parts and gave part to her mother and Mrs. Heiam. The third part was caught by Miss Genevieve Heiam.

Mr. and Mrs. Heiam left for a wedding trip for a fortnight and will be at home to their friends after Oct. 1 at 521 East Fourth street.

STATE SUFFRAGE CONVENTION

Workers for Votes for Women in Session at the State Fair.

Woman's day at the state fair today was one of the big events of the week. The club women of the state, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Minnesota—suffragists were active in making the day interesting.

The Minnesota Women's State Suffrage association has been carrying on an active campaign since the first of the week at the fair grounds for their cause and meetings twice a day have been held at the suffrage tent which has been under the charge of a different organization each day. The Duluth delegates had charge of the tent yesterday, Duluth day and today with the opening of the State Suffrage association convention the interest has been doubled.

The suffrage parade to the fair started at 1:30 today and the afternoon will be given up to speechmaking, distributing literature, an endeavor to gather recruits and advertising the principles of the association.

Mrs. A. T. Hall of St. Paul, chairman of the state association presided at the opening meeting of the convention this morning she and other officers and chairmen of committees giving their reports.

Tomorrow morning state officers will be elected and Mrs. Hall has announced her candidacy for re-election.

Mary McFadden has had charge of the daily programs for the suffrage cause at the fair and among the Duluth speakers were Dr. Mary McCoy, president of the Duluth association and Rev. G. R. Gebauer of this city, who spoke yesterday afternoon.

"Instead of asking for the votes of male fair visitors for equal suffrage," states the Minneapolis Journal, "the members of the Minnesota Woman's Suffrage association are contenting themselves with ascertaining how the men are likely to vote and few men who pass the headquarters of Institute hall, where there are two meetings daily, escape without giving the women a good idea of their attitude toward 'votes for women.' Pamphlets and other literature are distributed at the headquarters in the tent opposite the Pioneers' building. In the three days' campaign the women say they have talked with enough men to feel encouraged as to the outcome in Minnesota.

"All the meetings in Institute hall have been attended by a large percentage of men and many men went there late yesterday to hear the address of John Mitchell, who has long been on record for woman's suffrage.

"'The woman owns property, pays taxes, can sue and be sued, but she has no political rights to protect the civil rights that were given to her just as reluctantly as the vote is to be given to her,' said Mr. Mitchell. 'She must have the vote for her own protection and she is going to have it. There is not a single argument against her having the vote.'"

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The lobby of the Lyceum theater was well filled this morning when the advance sale of seats for "Bought and Paid For" was opened, and as was predicted, the sale was very heavy for this famous Broadhurst play which William A. Brady, Ltd., will offer to the Duluth theater patrons all next week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. 'Bought and Paid For" brings out none of the melodrama sounded in the title. It is a plain, human story of marriage, and of the girl, Virginia, who believes she has sold herself to a different sort of a man than the one she anticipated. The New York cast, which contains such noted players as Diva Marolda, Josephine Drake, Gertrude Rudd, George MacQuarrie, Hobert Cavanaugh, Adrian Rossley, Arthur Wood and others, all of whom have been playing in the Playhouse, New York, will be seen here.

Frank Morrell, the minstrel, and Billy Weston, both of whom are appearing on this week's Orpheum bill, were swapping reminiscences last evening in the Orpheum green room. Mr. Weston formerly managed a string of vaudeville theaters on the coast, later selling them to the Pantagas circuit.

"Do you remember the time I did nine shows a day for you?" said Morrell.

"I do," said Weston, "and I remember how we had to pull you out of bed for every performance."

The roar of laughter from Morrell was explained to the other performers by Weston as follows: "Frank followed one of those tear-starting acts where a little girl dies in bed and goes to heaven," he said. "As soon as he would finish one performance, he was so tired he would fall back on this bed, and when we wanted to use it for the next show he would be sound asleep. Once the bed was pushed on to the stage with Frank in it, and he had to crawl out under the back curtain after the act started. When this big, black-faced minstrel crawled out of little Eva's bed it nearly broke up the show."

STAPLES SCHOOLS WELL ATTENDED

Staples, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—School opened on Tuesday with an attendance of about 900.

The teachers are as follows: North side high school—Charles Egenton, superintendent; Elizabeth C. Wolfe, principal; Rachel S. Harris, English; Ebbie M. Hutchinson, mathematics; Madge Ytheuls, German and history; Roy H. Gould, manual training. Grade teachers: Maud Kavanagh, eighth; Mamie Cosgrove, seventh; Norah Smith, sixth; Mattie Bemnet, fifth; Blanche Twitchell, fourth; Helen Hamp, third; Ruth Hillard, second; Edna Swindaman, first.

Lincoln school, South side—Christine Nilson, principal and normal instructor; Theresa Kraemer, eighth and seventh; Leah Credicott, sixth; Olga Carlson, fifth; Florence Schrader, fourth; Winifred Goodrich, third; Dagmar Christenson, second; Jessie Dudrey, first.

Manual Training Popular.

Manual training has been established in the schools here this year, and is a great improvement. A large room has been fitted up for this purpose, containing twelve benches and a good supply of tools. Only the boys are taking up the work as there is such a demand for that grade of work that they cannot accommodate more. They expect good results from this study as it is a practical appliance. Last year, sewing was introduced into the grades, with good results. The attendance at school is increasing so much that the city is contemplating on building a new North side school house. The lot next to the old building has been purchased the past year for this purpose.

The high school boys are already forming their football team with D. H. Gould as coach. Games are being scheduled with the neighboring cities and towns for the following year. They expect to form a good basket ball team also, later on, the last year's team having been a good success.

OBSERVATIONS

Character the Only Mark of the True Gentleman.

Someone propounds the question, "What constitutes a true gentleman?"

The answer that springs to your lips will, of course, differ materially from the definition which is accepted by our cousins on the other side of the Atlantic. With us the term relates to character and worth; with them it is applied to men of social standing and independent means.

An American gentleman is a man of superior qualities; an English gentleman is a man of high birth or much money. The latter may or may not have the superior qualities. These are secondary.

"As gentle as a woman and as manly as a man" seems the most concise and comprehensive definition that has ever been given. We like gentleness in men as well as in women, but with it they must be manly, for the effeminate man is next to intolerable.

Bishop Doane has enumerated the characteristics as follows: "A gentleman is but a gentle man, no more, no less; a diamond polished that was a diamond in the rough; a gentleman is gentle; a gentleman is modest; a gentleman is courteous; he is slow to take offense; he never gives it; he is generous; he is slow to surmise evil, as being one who never thinks it; a gentleman goes armed only in consciousness of right; a gentleman subjects his appetite; a gentleman refines his tastes; a gentleman controls his feelings; and, finally, a gentleman deems every other better than himself."

The title of gentleman cannot be monopolized by the well-mannered man—the one who has a thorough knowledge of social etiquette, who knows how to conduct himself in a drawing room and what to wear at any hour of the day to conform to the latest ruling of fashion.

These things are but the result of usage and education and there are good, honest, brave, noble and kind men who know little of them, yet who, because of their native qualities of mind and heart, represent the highest type of manhood. They are men of fine instincts, and as they grow in experience they may add culture and refinement. However, these do not increase their genuine worth in the slightest degree.

Some of the world's arch villains and most vicious men have been called gentlemen solely because their manners and dress were correct.

The conventionalities and social forms of manners and dress are acquisitions that please most of us, but they are things apart from character. Character alone should and does make the true gentleman.

MAKING IT UNANIMOUS.

Mr. Roosevelt says that all the reactionaries of both parties are turning to Wilson.

As Wilson already had most of the progressives of both parties, except a few honest and earnest but deluded Republicans who have followed Roosevelt into his own particular and personal party, this pretty near makes it unanimous.

Rubbing It In.

Fate never uses any judgment about when to let up on a man. It went and sprung the gout on President Taft the very day after the Vermont election.

OUR HAT'S OFF TO DARBY.

Darby O'Brien and his Duluth baseball club have done well by Duluth this season, much better than Duluth has deserved. They played good, clean, snappy ball, with only a few soft spots such as come to the best organized teams. They got away with the persimmons and the pennant.

This in spite of poor encouragement from those whose attendance upon the local games would have made it easier and more pleasant.

We hope for about the same kind of a team next year, but with much heartier encouragement from the fans.

Pretty Good Interest.

The only 1804 dollar in the world is said to be valued at $3,600. But when you notice that that's a little less than $2 a year it doesn't sound so wonderful.

REGISTER TUESDAY.

Tuesday's registration in Duluth for the primary election was remarkably large, considering the fact that the proposition is new and that hitherto no registration for the primary has been necessary.

Nearly four thousand voters visited the polling places and made themselves eligible to vote both at the primary and the general elections.

But there must be eleven or twelve thousand more Duluth voters who did not register, and who therefore are not yet eligible to vote.

Those who did not register Tuesday should do so next Tuesday—their last chance before the primaries.

By doing so they will have it out of the way, and can vote at both the primary and general elections without further ceremony.

By failing to do so they will either bar themselves from the primary, leaving themselves the necessity of registering later anyway if they wish to vote in November, or they will subject themselves to the annoyance of a complicated proceeding on primary election day, when the voter who has not registered can vote only if he submits an affidavit testifying to his residence, supported by the testimony of two residents of the precinct.

It will be much simpler and easier to go to your polling place Tuesday and register.

He Has the Fever.

Not satisfied with investigating campaign funds in this country, Senator Fall is looking into the funds for the Mexican revolutionary campaigns.

MORE LIGHT FROM LAWRENCE.

William M. Wood, head of the wool trust, has pleaded not guilty to the charge that he was responsible for the "planting" of dynamite during the Lawrence woolen mill strike for the purpose of discrediting the strikers and their leaders.

It is to be hoped that he can substantiate his plea. It isn't pleasant to think that an American citizen who draws a hundred thousand dollars a year as the manager of an industry that touches all the people closely would stoop to a plot so vile and despicable as that of which he is accused.

What evidence the state may have to connect Mr. Wood personally with this outrage we do not know. The trial will disclose it.

But that such an outrage was committed by somebody, and that nobody but the mill owners of Lawrence would have any motive for committing it, seems quite beyond doubt.

The Springfield Republican, whose testimony is absolutely reliable, points out three ugly facts in connection with the case.

The first fact is that it has been established that neither the strikers nor their leaders had anything to do with the placing of the dynamite which was discovered during the strike. The persons arrested in connection with the affair last winter have been released by the courts.

The second fact is that John J. Breen, a Lawrence undertaker and member of the school board, was convicted of placing the dynamite in the homes of strikers so as to cast suspicion on them. He was fined $500. Breen had no connection with the strikers, and it was plain that he was somebody's tool in a dastardly performance. "The light punishment he received from the court," says the Springfield Republican, "and the hushing up of the affair seemed scandalous to many observers, but the case did not then get the public attention it deserved."

The third fact is that Ernest A. Pitman of Andover, a wealthy contractor who built the new Wood mills in Lawrence, admitted that he secured dynamite from a quarryman in East Milton last January. Recently, following an interview with the district attorney and a summons to testify before the grand jury, Pitman committed suicide.

Wood, the responsible head of the Lawrence woolen industry and the man who formed the wool trust, has been indicted for conspiracy, and he is charged with having been instrumental in procuring this outrage.

He is entitled to the privilege which the meanest of his workers may claim—that of being considered innocent until he is proved to be guilty.

But the facts appear to be that dynamite was found, that it was evidently placed in order to create the impression that the strikers were going to use it to destroy the mills, that a man unassociated with the strikers was convicted of placing it and let off with a light fine, that another man who was associated with the mill owners admitted having provided the dynamite and then committed suicide rather than go before the grand jury.

It is an ugly case, and justice will not be done unless everybody connected with the conspiracy is given the highest punishment the law allows.

If Wood is convicted he should be punished as severely as one of his employes would have been had he been convicted of dynamiting.

Made a Noise Like It.

But maybe after all that rumpus in the Michigan penitentiary was only an adjourned session of the Michigan Republican convention.

LOOK TO YOUR OWN HOUSE.

You've heard about people living in glass houses and throwing stones at other people's houses?

We are reminded of the old saying by the recent discovery that some of the Bull Moose support inhabits very fragile glass houses.

For instance, Col. Roosevelt and his supporter and financier Mr. Perkins are very earnest in their interest in the cause of labor.

"Hours are excessve," said the Colonel at the Chicago convention, "if they fail to afford the worker sufficient time to recuperate and return to his work thoroughly refreshed."

George W. Perkins is actively enlisted in this cause of bringing about conditions under which the worker shall have "sufficient time to recuperate and return to his work thoroughly refreshed."

George W. Perkins is a big man in the Harvester trust. The Harvester trust owns a twine mill at Auburn, N. Y. The New York state factory investigating committee has been looking into conditions there. What it found may be illustrated by the case of Mary Previ. Mary works ten hours a day in the Auburn twine plant of Mr. Perkins's Harvester trust, one of the Roosevelt pet trusts. She gets for her sixty-hours' weekly labor the munificent sum of seven dollars.

Testifying before the committee she told about lunch hours:

Question—Do you eat your lunch in the lunch room, or do you take it just where you are?
Answer—Go home to lunch.
Question—How do you go home and back in fifteen minutes?
Answer—I live only five minutes—I am home.
Question—How long does it take you to eat?
Answer—Five minutes.

Fifteen minutes for lunch, whether you bring it with you, take it in a lunch room, or go home for it!

What about affording the worker "sufficient time to recuperate and return to his work thoroughly refreshed?"

Still, there is one very fortunate thing about it.

Colonel Roosevelt's Mr. Perkins's Harvester trust only pays her seven dollars a week, so she doesn't need much time to eat the lunches she is able to afford.

That Eternal Fitness.

After all, Holland would seem to be the most appropriate place to discuss anything relating to a canal.

TRUE, BUT NOT ORIGINAL.

Speaking at Hartford, Col. Roosevelt said that the people ought to get more good out of the school plant than they are getting. The school houses "should be thrown open to all citizens for the purpose of public meetings, especially political meetings."

True enough. The public isn't getting its money's worth out of the school plant when it is idle so much of the time. Any public use of the school buildings that doesn't interfere with school business is legitimate.

They say that politics is too rude and coarse for introduction into the school buildings, but that's an awfully poor argument. If politics is that bad it ought to be taken into some nice clean atmosphere like that of the school houses and tidied up. Public business roots in politics, and the plant will grow on what the soil feeds it. There is no real reason why public school buildings that are idle nights should not be put to any uses that serve the public good.

The Colonel is right, and so was Governor Wilson when he said substantially the same thing a week before the Colonel's Hartford talk.

Evolution.

In some states Roosevelt will be named on the ballots under the sign of the elephant. In others under that of the bull moose. If that kind of a mixture doesn't result in a dik-dik it is at least likely to bring on a general attack of the willies.

PUZZLE.

Senator Cummins of Iowa says he is for Roosevelt, but against the third party.

But Roosevelt IS the third party, and if Cummins votes for him he votes for the third party.

Yet he is against the third party, and since Roosevelt is the third party he must be against Roosevelt. Still, he is going to vote for Roosevelt, who IS the third—

Maybe it's all clear to Cummins. Others may find it difficult.

Developing Class.

A Missouri man died the other day from internal injuries received while playing golf. Present indications are that golf is going to outrank automobile racing this year as a deadly pursuit.

A BANDIT AND A REAL MAN.

Our idea of no proper trade to follow is that of train bandit.

Yesterday a lone bandit held up a northbound express on the Louisville & Nashville road, in the swamps near New Orleans. He looted the mail car, went through five sleepers and a club car, relieving everybody in sight of whatever valuables he had, and then stepped off the train, laden with the booty of a most successful raid.

And then Engineer Baer hit him over the head with with a brass torch, just as he was starting off with his plunder, and he sank to the ground unconscious. All the spoil was retaken, and the robber is in a hospital, where he is likely to die. His tremendous success vanished in a flash.

And, by the way, was that man Baer, who put the finishing touch on this sensational episode, the only real man on the train?

Col. Roosevelt says the Progressive platform doesn't tell what he would do if he were elected. Inasmuch as the men who drafted the platform are only human, it was not to be expected that it would.

A SHAM ARMAGEDDON

By SAVOYARD.

Once when some "Christian soldiers" were shouting "Onward" in the British commons and turning politics into hypocrisy, Disraeli remarked to a friend, "And this is Armageddon! Let's go to lunch." Of that set "Dizzy" said in the house, "their means consist of enormous lying, inexhaustible boasting, and intense selfishness." So there was nothing new under the sun when Teddy led his "Christian soldiers" in another Armageddon at Chicago some weeks ago. Battles of Armageddon are becoming as frequent in politics as marathon runs in athletics, and such Armageddons deal as serious injury to the public morals as the marathons visit damage to the physical constitution.

The Washington Times, the property of Frank Munsey, reputed the largest individual stockholder in the Steel trust, is one of the "Christian soldiers," crimson with the gore of Teddy's Armageddon, and it is very much distressed over the tariff views of Governor Wilson. It can see no difference in what that gentleman thinks on the subject and President Taft's preachments in his veto of the wool bill. It quotes the following from Governor Wilson's letter of acceptance:

"We do not ignore the fact that the business of a country like ours is exceedingly sensitive to changes in legislation of this kind. It has been built up, ill-advisedly, upon tariff schedules written in the way I have indicated, and its foundations must not be too radically or too suddenly disturbed. When we act we should act with caution and prudence, like men who know what they are about, and not like those in love with a theory."

And there the Christian soldier paused. Why did he pause? Because here is what Governor Wilson said in the same paragraph and immediately following what the Times quoted:

"It is obvious that the changes we make should be made only at a rate and in such a way as will least interfere with the normal and healthful course of commerce and manufacture. But we shall not on that account act with timidity, as if we did not know our own minds, for we are certain of our ground and of our object. There should be an immediate revision, and it should be downward, unhesitatingly and steadily downward."

And that is the way Christian soldiers fight Armageddons in Bull Moose armies. It is disreputable; it is indecent; it is immoral. Here attempt is made to class Governor Wilson as a standpatter on the tariff question. It is an appeal to ignorance and prejudice, for all intelligent men know that Woodrow Wilson seeks to eliminate every purely protective feature of the tariff.

The Democratic party insists that the tariff is the paramount issue of the campaign of 1912. The American people demand that it shall be the paramount. Wilson holds protection to be a cancer on the body politic, but he fears to cut it at once, so deeply seated is the disease. His purpose is to remove it, but the work is to be done gradually, yet surely and completely.

Now let us see what the comander-in-chief at Armageddon thinks about it. Here is the first sentence in his platform as it relates to the subject:

"We believe in a protective tariff which shall equalize conditions of competition between the United States and foreign countries, both for the farmer and the manufacturer, and which shall maintain for labor an adequate standard of living."

How is he going to "protect" a farmer growing cotton or corn? The greatest measure of advantage a revenue measure can purvey for that sort of farmer, the cotton grower or the grain grower, is absolute free trade with all the world. You may put a tariff of $50 a bale on cotton, or $5 a bushel on corn, and it will yield no "protection" to the farmer. He is the man who pays the protection. He gets none himself. And it is simply stupid to talk about equalizing conditions of competition between the United States and foreign countries.

So the Bull Moose party is for protection. It believes it a good thing, but they say we have too much of this good thing and it must be curtailed, and who is to emasculate it? Congress, on whom the constitution lays the job? No, Teddy says congress is not fit to make a tariff and he would establish "a non-partisan commission" to fix it.

He gives that "non-partisan" layout a roving commission to go up and down the earth in search of a scientific tariff. How long, think you, will it take them to find it? The babe is at the mother's breast who will be a voter before that commission gets ready to report. All those years the present tariff would maintain. Roosevelt was president from September, 1901, till March, 1909, and though he was the most garrulous president we ever had, saying more words, perhaps, than all his predecessors in that office together, yet his lips never fashioned the word tariff while he was in position to exercise influence in the reform of it.

Here is what he says now:

"We demand tariff revision because the present tariff is unjust to the people of the United States. Fair dealing toward the people requires an immediate downward revision of those schedules wherein duties are shown to be unjust or excessive."

How is he going to get immediate downward revision, or any other revision, if that commission has to do the work? It will take months to agree on the composition of the commission, and then it will take years for the commission to find out what a scientific tariff is.

If the present tariff is unjust to the people, as Teddy says it is, it was equally unjust every day Roosevelt was president, for a search warrant would discover no material difference between the Payne-Aldrich monstrosity and the Dingley-Aldrich iniquity. Why didn't Roosevelt make a slight attempt to reform the thing when he could have done it It was loaded; that is why. Armageddon was there. Why didn't he fight? The tariff yielded fat with which the "party of great moral ideas" bought elections. That's the reason, and if he gets in the White House again there will be no reform of the tariff except a sham reform.

Talk about a protectionist "reforming" the tariff! Would you set the wolf to herd the sheep? How will they ever agree upon the quantum of protection? Mississippi and Massachusetts will not agree. The Dakotas and Connecticut will never agree. Kansas and Rhode Island will never agree. Alaska and Pennsylvania will never agree.

And let me tell you—as long as our tariffs are poisoned with protection, the beneficiaries of protection will buy seats in both houses for their henchmen, for as long as a party puts protection in a tariff, the fat will be fried out of its beneficiaries to corrupt the electorate.

Teddy's tariff planks are shams.

"RUBBING IT IN."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Isn't it rather unfair that a man who cannot afford an automobile himself should be forced to pay an extra sum for paving in front of his house in order that automobiles may use the street for speeding?

I have a home on a street that is strictly a residential street and will never be anything else in this generation at least. We have been planning to pave it, and all we want is a slightly pavement that will be serviceable enough for the few delivery wagons that will pass over it. For all practical purposes a sixteen-foot road would be ample, and the rest of the street could be parked. This would be wide enough for two automobiles to pass each other in safety, unless they were speeding, but we are told that we must put down a twenty-foot pavement at least, as that is the narrowest that is considered practical by the city engineer. Why should we be forced to pay for that extra four feet that we don't want, and don't need? I can't afford the luxury of an automobile myself, but am forced to pay for the convenience of those who can.

HILLSIDER.

Duluth, Sept. 4.

A Quaker's Rules of Conversation.

William Penn: Avoid company where it is not profitable or necessary, and in those occasions speak little, and last. Silence is wisdom, where speaking is folly, and always safe.

Some are so foolish as to interrupt and anticipate those that speak, instead of hearing and thinking before they answer; which is uncivil as well as silly.

If thou thinkest twice before thou speakest once, thou wilt speak twice the better for it.

Better say nothing than not to the purpose. And to speak pertinently, consider both what is fit, and when it is fit to speak.

In all debates, let truth be thy aim, not victory, or an unjust interest: And endeavor to gain rather than to expose thy antagonist.

Give no advantage in argument, nor lose any that is offered. This is a benefit which arises from temper.

Don't use thyself to dispute against thine own judgment, to show wit, lest it prepare thee to be indifferent about what is right: Nor against another man, to vex him, or for mere trial of skill; since to inform, or to be informed, ought to be the end of all conferences.

She Was Not so Stout.

New York American: A Chicago man in London was invited to a ball where everybody except himself talked with an exceedingly broad a, as in Boston, and, of course, as everybody does in London. The accent was puzzling to his Chicago ears, but the guest did his best.

He danced a waltz with the wife of his host. The lady spoke with an especially broad accept, and she ran somewhat to flesh. When they had finished the round of the floor she was panting in a repressed and well-bred way.

"Shall we try another whirl?" inquired the Chicago man, eagerly.

"Not now," she smiled, "I'm so dawnced out."

"Not by a long shot," said the Westerner with emphasis. "You're far from being darned stout. In fact, you've about the neatest figure of any little girl I've seen yet in London."

Battling Bob.

Harper's Weekly: Mr. Taft having run off with Mr. Roosevelt's nomination, Mr. Roosevelt has run off with Mr. La Follette's, and the sad part of it all is that it is now too late for Mr. La Follette to break in anywhere and land somebody else's.

Manners Are as a Varnish

Ralph Waldo Emerson: Life expresses. A statute has no tongue, and needs none. Good tableaux do not need declamation. Nature tells every secret once. Yes, but in man she tells it all the time by form, attitude, gesture, mien, face and parts of the face, and by the whole action of the machine. The visible carriage, or action of the individual, as resulting from his organization and his will combined, we call manners. What are they but thought entering the hands and feet, controlling the movements of the body, the speech and the behavior? Manners are the happy ways of doing things; each one a stroke of genius or of love—now repeated and hardened into usage. They form at last a rich varnish, with which the routine of life is washed and its details adorned. If they are superficial, so are the few drops which give such a depth to the morning meadows. Manners are very communicable; men catch them from each other. Genius invents fine manners, which the baron and baroness copy very fast, and, by the advantage of a palace, betters the instruction. They stereotype the lesson they have learned into a mode.

The Soul of Her.

I went down, one morning,
To my garden fair,
A woman, old and haggard,
Was resting there.

I gathered my skirts about me,
And held my head so high;
In the light of that perfect morning,
I proudly passed her by.

And down where the perfumed roses
Bowed to the morning sun,
There suddenly stood beside me
A Shining One.

He led me back to the pathway,
And lo! beside a tree
He placed a wide, deep mirror
And bade me look and see.

I saw a wonderful vision,
Pink cheeks and golden hair.
I though that never on this earth
Could be a thing so fair.

"Who is it?" I asked the Stranger.
He bowed his stately head
Toward the woman I had scorned.
"'Tis the soul of her," He said.

Then I saw in the same deep mirror,
How crooked and warped my soul.
My boasted deeds were a heap of dross
And hers were shining gold.

And now, when the morning hours
Flit by on golden wings,
I shall look beneath the surface
For the soul of things.

Moral: Vote For Wilson.

George Harvey in the North American Review: Wilson will probably be elected. If he carries New York he cannot be beaten.

Neither Taft nor Roosevelt can win.

A vote for Taft is a vote for Sherman.

A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Sherman.

A vote for Wilson is a vote for Wilson.

The horse is locked up and Mr. Sharp has served notice that he must be called for and damages paid. Several weeks ago the poundmaster impounded Mr. Sharp's horse while it was at large, and Mr. Sharp, who had to pay to get the animal back, thinks his chance has arrived to get even.

MINNESOTA FOR WILSON

The Weeklies Also.

Cuyuna Miner: A careful perusal of the leading daily newspapers of the country clearly indicates that Woodrow Wilson will occupy the presidential chair after March fourth, nineteen hundred thirteen.

For Wilson.

Detroit Herald: The editor announces his support of Governor Wilson for president, said support being resultant from the fact that Governor Wilson represents a platform presenting the live issues of the day in a manner entirely in accordance with our viewpoint, and that Governor Wilson is the right sort of a progressive to meet the present unique political situation—clean, vigorous and unaffiliated with the trusts.

There is a new political era beginning. High politics has in the past been controlled by high finance. This was comparatively easy in the old days and under the old order. But the old order is changing and politics is coming into the hands of the people, and Governor Wilson stands for what the people want.

Has Good Record.

St. Peter Herald. As governor of New Jersey Woodrow Wilson lost no opportunity to assist in bringing about the adoption of reforms that he had advocated in his campaign addresses. He is consistent, and he will continue steadfast in his support of the issues he is advocating now. The feeling grows that Governor Wilson may safely be entrusted with the great office for which he has been nominated.

Carrying Out the Metaphor.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: The paragraphers couldn't refrain from commenting on the fact that Governor Wilson was "at sea" when he wrote his speech of acceptance. Anyway, he struck the right tack, touched all the points of interest and will sail in an easy winner.

Entitled to Support.

Belgrade Tribune: The pure character, his profound learning and patriotic devotion to his country entitles Woodrow Wilson the earnest and ardent support of every good citizen.

Election Conceded.

Fairmont Sentinel: While Taft and Teddy are scratching each other's eyes out the tide is setting strongly towards Woodrow Wilson the country over. The Democratic candidate is conducting himself with rare tact and dignity. He greets everybody cordially and unlike his opponents is not slopping over in his talks with reporters and visitors. He is daily growing in the estimation of the public and even his opponents treat him with courtesy and consideration. His election is conceded in advance by shrewd men of all parties.

Next President.

Winona Independent: Congress has adjourned after several futile attempts to enact legislation that would be of special benefit to the country. At every point, however, they were balked by the veto of President Taft, who stands as the representative in chief of the predatory powers. But he won't stand there after the fourth of next March, nor will any one else. Woodrow Wilson will be our next president and congress will be Democratic.

Wilson Sentiment Increasing.

St. Peter Herald: Wilson sentiment increases. He stands for the people, and the people know it.

Some Famous Irish Bulls

W. R. Le Fanu's "Seventy Years of Irish Life."

Of Irish bulls there is no end. Some have become household words, as, for example, Sir Boyle Roche's "A man couldn't be in two places at once barring he was a bird." There are others of his not so well known.

In the Irish house of commons in 1795, in a debate on the leather tax, the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir John Parnell, observed that in the prosecution of the present war every man ought to be ready to give his last guinea to protect the remainder."

Mr. Vandeleur said that "however that might be, a tax on leather would press heavily on the barefooted peasantry of Ireland." To which Sir Boyle Roche replied that this could be easily removed by making the under leathers of wood.

In speaking in favor of the Union he said that one of its effects would be "that the barren hills would become fertile valleys."

In another debate he said:

"I boldly answer in the affirmative. No!"

I am not sure whether it was he who in one of his speeches said:

"You should refrain from throwing open the flood gates of democracy lest you should pave the way for a general conflagration."

Tom Moore used to tell a story that when he was staying, as a boy, with an uncle at Sandymount, as they walked into Dublin early one morning they found a dead highwayman lying on the road who had evidently been shot in the night by some one whom he had attacked. There was a small bullet hole in his right temple. An old woman was looking at him.

"Gentlemen," said she, "isn't it the blessing of God it didn't hit him in the eye?"

In the coffee room at a hotel in Dublin an Irish gentleman said to a friend who was breakfasting with him:

"I'm sure that is my old college friend, West, at that table over there."

"Then why don't you go over and speak to him?" said his friend.

"I'm afraid to," said the other, "for he is so very shy that he would feel quite awkward if it wasn't he."

About seventy years ago the grand jury of the county of Tipperary passed the following resolutions:

"First—That a new courthouse shall be built.

"Second—That the materials of the old courthouse be used in building the new courthouse.

"Third—That the old courthouse shall not be taken down till the new courthouse is finished."

It was a Scotchman—Prof. Wilkie, I believe, who said to a boy he met:

"I was sorry to hear that there was fever in your family last spring. Was it you or your brother that died of it?"

"It was me, sir," said the boy.

A barrister defending a prisoner in Limerick said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, think of his poor mother—his only mother."

The following was told me many years ago. Some young fellows in the navy shaved the head of a brother officer, an Irishman, when he was drunk, and put him to bed. He had previously given orders that he was to be called at 5 o'clock in the morning, and was accordingly called at that hour. When he looked in the glass and saw an appearance so unlike what he expected, "Hang me," said he, "if they haven't called the wrong man!"

Traitors to the Cause

New York Evening Post: Not even the chief Bull Moose can whistle away the seriousness of the opposition of Louis D. Brandeis to his election. Like Charles R. Crane, Mr. Brandeis has stood in the forefront of Progressives. It was he who brought out the truth of the Ballinger business; it was he who by his unpaid labors won the great Illinois case upholding the shortening of the hours of women's labor by act of legislature. These are but a few of the splendid services of one who, above all else, is an apostle of social justice. Yet Mr. Brandeis thus expresses his views today:

I am extremely sorry to see that so many good men who are seeking only the best things have been misled into following the new party when in Governor Wilson's candidacy they are confronted with an opportunity such as they have never had before in this country. They can follow a candidate who is absolutely free, who stands for the things that mean industrial liberty, who has no obligations, and has made no promises, except the promise he has made all his life to do the best he can for the community. We have a wonderful opportunity before us to put Governor Wilson in office, and give him the opportunity of using his fine character and great attainments for the advantage of all.

Then there is Dr. Wiley. He, too, is guilty of real treachery to the Oyster Bay Progressive in these words:

I am strong for Governor Wilson. Col. Roosevelt is supported by many worthy people, misguided, I believe, who are following him like an ignis fatuus, who think he is the only real progressive. I believe in being progressive in principle, and not limiting my progressiveness to a single man. Roosevelt is being backed by interests that are not friendly to real reform, and who are the real opponents of progressive principles. I cannot tolerate any such alliance.

For that he ought to be drawn and quartered, of course. But somehow it strikes us that even such a drastic procedure would not prevent the steady drift to Wilson of real Republican Progressives—both in and out of the Republican Progressive Wilson League.

A Too Ominous Beginning.

He—If a girl had the nerve to propose to me I wouldn't dare marry her.

THE WILSON CAMPAIGN FUND

A PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN FUND FOR A PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT

SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED AT THE HERALD OFFICE, DULUTH

The addition of $65, contributed in $5 and $10 amounts, brings the Wilson campaign fund of The Herald to $547 today.

Eight Democratic aldermen of the city of Duluth sent in contributions aggregating $60, and accompanied them by expressions of allegiance to Woodrow Wilson and hope that he would be elected. City Treasurer Fred J. Voss also sent $5.

The fund is now growing, and if the Progressives living in the territory reached by The Herald continue to contribute as they have in the last few days, the fund will reach a size more nearly proportionate to the extent of Progressive sentiment in this district.

The territory in which The Herald is read is truly Progressive. Wilson delegates represented Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota in the Democratic national convention at Baltimore. The support given Wilson by the Democrats of the Northwest brought about his nomination.

The Progressives of the nation are determined that Wilson shall be elected president of the United States. They have gone into the fight with enthusiasm and determination, and the growth of Wilson sentiment all over the country is evidence that they will succeed.

A campaign fund is necessary, however. No movement such as the Progressive movement as championed by the Democratic party can continue without constant effort on the part of those working in the cause. The legitimate needs of a political campaign are many and the Democratic national committee needs money for its work.

Every man who believes in true representative government and will support Woodrow Wilson in the campaign this year should contribute to the Wilson campaign fund.

Governor Wilson can look to no corporations for the funds with which to conduct his campaign. He has taken up his stand with the people of the nation, and the corporate interests have no sympathy with his cause. They will throw their influence against him, and he must look to the people for the support with which to withstand the onslaught.

Every dollar contributed to the Wilson campaign fund will be appreciated by the Democratic national committee. No amount is too small to be received with appreciation. Governor Wilson will be elected this year by the votes of the common people, and the dollars of the common people will finance his campaign.

Progressives should contribute to the fund immediately. The campaign is on and money is needed for the work.

Every contribution will be acknowledged by publication in The Herald, and the contributors will receive handsomely engraved receipts, suitable for framing, from the Democratic national committee.

Contributions should be mailed to Wilson Campaign Fund, Herald Office, Duluth, Minn.

ELECTROTYPERS PLAN ARBITRATION BOARDS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The International Association of Electrotypers in convention here decided on a policy of arbitration of labor troubles through national committees in order to avert possible strikes and unpleasant friction between workmen and employers.

The association decided to submit a plan to the International Stereotypers' union whereby an arbitration committee of the electrotypers would act in conjunction with a committee of the unions as mediators in all cases of difficulty.

The organization, which has been inactive for five years, effected a reorganization and elected the following officers:

William F. Scott, Boston, president; F. H. Clark, Cleveland, vice president; Paul J. Wilhelm, Buffalo, secretary; and Charles S. Partridge, Chicago, treasurer.

Woodrow Wilson Tells Immigration Views in New York.

Also Addresses Workingmen on Tariff—Condemns the "Experts."

New York, Sept. 5.—Governor Woodrow Wilson spoke for the first time last night in New York city as the Democratic nominee for the presidency. His first political address in the metropolis was delivered at the "dollar dinner" of the Woodrow Wilson Workingmen's league. Before going to dinner he met two-score editors of foreign language newspapers at the National Arts club and talked immigration to them.

"If we can hit upon a standard which admits every voluntary immigrant," he said, "and excludes those who have not come of their own notion, with their own purpose of making a home and a career for themselves, but have been induced by steamship companies or others to come in order to pay the passage money, then we will have what we will all agree upon as Americans.

"For I am not speaking to you in a foreign country. I am speaking to you as also Americans with myself, and just as much American as myself, and if we all take the American point of view, namely, that we want American life kept to its standards, and that the only standards of American life shall be the standards of restriction, then we are all upon a common ground, not of those who criticize immigration, but of those who declare themselves Americans.

Ideal to Hold To.

"I am not saying that I am wise enough out of hand to frame the legislation that will meet this ideal. I am only saying that that is the ideal, and that is what we ought to hold ourselves to.

"Now, strange as it may seem to some gentlemen who have criticized me, the only blunder I have made, the only practical blunder I have made in my interest in a liberal policy with regard to immigration, is that I go into the wrong society to encourage it. So that it was an indiscretion of judgment and not an indiscretion of purpose, for my interest in immigration is to see that the immigrant is properly informed, is properly safeguarded against imposition of every kind, whether by the government or anybody else, and is directed to the place where he can attain the objects he comes for with the greatest advantage to himself. That, to my mind, is the solution of the immigration question.

Results of No Restriction.

"Of course, if the immigrants are to be allowed to come in unrestricted hosts and to stop at the ports where they enter and there compete in an over-supplied labor market, there is going to be unhappiness; there is going to be deterioration; there is going to be everything that will be detrimental to the community as well as detrimental to the immigrant. And therefore it is to the interest of the government that the government itself should supply, or at any rate encourage, the instrumentalities which will prevent that very thing.

"Multiplying the ports of entry for that purpose, for example, will ease and facilitate and guide the process of distribution and will, above all things, also supply the sympathetic information which is the only welcome that is acceptable to those who come."

Talks to Workingmen.

At the workingmen's dinner Governor Wilson said:

"One of the reasons why I am opposed to an exaggerated protective policy is that it is a choosing beforehand to be provincial and to have as little to do with the rest of the world as possible.

"I hear a great deal said nowadays about the danger of free trade. There are circumstances in this country which render it absolutely impossible in our time, I dare say, that we should have free trade. We have so divided the sphere of taxation, both by principle and by practice, between the federal and the state governments, that direct taxation is almost exclusively reserved for the state governments and indirect taxation is the chief resource of the federal government, and the indirect taxes which we would not pay if we knew we were paying them are chiefly paid at the custom houses."

The governor reiterated his position in regard to a federal commission to regulate monopolies. He said there was no body of men who knew enough to tell the country what the processes of industry should be.

No Tariff Experts.

"I have heard men speak of experts on the tariff," continued the governor. "Well, I have lived among so-called economic experts all my life, and I know that anybody who pretends to be an expert on the tariff is a fake. Because to claim to be an expert on the tariff is to claim to know the whole business of the United States, and I know that nobody knows enough to know that. I have met men who thought they knew it, and then I have met men who thought they knew a great many things that were not so."

NEW ROAD FOR MOTORISTS

Old Route Through the Steel Plant Is Now Closed.

Autoists going to the Spirit lake branch of the boat club will henceforth be obliged to use the new road which has just been completed by the Minnesota Steel company. It is reported to be rather soft in places, especially after rains, owing to its newness. The steel company has finished the new road in connection with Gary avenue, just above the steel plant and about a mile this side of New Duluth, to the St. Louis river at the entrance to the grounds of the branch boat club. The steel company has a dock at the foot of the new road and the private auto road of the club branches into the grounds at this point. Pending the completion of the new road autoists have been allowed to cross the grounds of the steel company, using the Dixon street entrance. The entrance will be closed after today and the new road used.

ARREST MADE IN THE WEST HAMMOND FIGHT.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Frankie Ford, for whom the police have been searching in connection with the recent death of John Messmaker in a disorderly house in West Hammond, Ill., was arrested last night in New York city as the Democratic nominee for the presidency. His first political address in the metropolis was delivered at the "dollar dinner" of the Woodrow Wilson Workingmen's league. Before going to dinner he met two-score editors of foreign language newspapers at the National Arts club and talked immigration to them.

One of the most important witnesses in the Messmaker case died several days ago. He was Robert Clayton, a cab driver, who is said to have driven Messmaker and three companions to the resort where he died Aug. 13.

Clayton's death, which occurred in a Hammond hospital, is being investigated by the authorities.

DOG COMMITS SUICIDE AFTER MASTER LEAVES.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Despondent because of continued absence of his master, Tigo, a valuable bulldog owned by Samuel Schweighs, committed suicide by hanging itself between the bars of a hay bin, according to a report made to the police.

Schweighs went to Kenosha, Wis., some time ago, leaving the dog in charge of James Duggan, caretaker of the Schweighs home. Duggan declared that the dog refused to eat and became despondent shortly after its master left the city. He reported to the police that the dog committed suicide.

BOY BURNS HOUSES BECAUSE OF GRUDGE.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 5.—Because he had a grudge against Timothy Stevens, one of the directors of the school board, Charles Hannibal, aged 28 years, living in Cartwright township, it is alleged made a confession to having set fire to the Harrison school. He also confessed to having started nine other fires because of grudges during the last five years, according to information received at the office of the state fire marshal.

The Harrison school was destroyed by fire early Monday morning of this week.

POLICE RELIEVE AGED WOMAN'S ANXIETY.

Mrs. Pauline Cornell, 76 years of age, went to the headquarters police station last night in search of her grandson, George Cornell, a helper in the Northern Pacific roundhouse. He is employed nights. He did not return yesterday and by evening the aged woman became so worried that she set out to look for him. The police learned that he had been injured in an accident Tuesday night and was taken to the railroad hospital at Brainerd. For some reason his grandmother had not been informed of the accident. She was relieved to learn that he was not dangerously hurt.

FRIENDLY SUIT OVER BALLOTS IN NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 5.—A conference between Manager Corrick of the state Progressive campaign and his committee and Attorney General Martin resulted in an agreement to institute a friendly suit soon to establish the right of the Progressives to an independent place on the ticket with the right of a party circle. The petitions for the two Progressive electors who are not already on the ticket will be filed with the secretary of state within a day or two, Mr. Corrick announced.

BLACK HAND AFTER JOHN D. EMPLOYE.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 5.—An alleged Black Hand agent, who tried to obtain $500 from Joseph Drago, one of John D. Rockefeller's employes, at the point of a revolver, is being sought by the deputy sheriffs in Westchester county. He was shot in the leg in a fight with the man whom he tried to blackmail and when surrounded by a mob held them at bay with his revolver while he escaped.

Drago, besides working on the Rockefeller estate, is proprietor of a fruit store here. The blackmailing attempt occurred near his business place. He told the police that he did not know the man who demanded the $500. The affair is believed to be a sequel to the troubles among employes on the oil magnate's estate which have caused a strong guard to be posted about the property.

TAFT IN WHEEL CHAIR.

Addresses International Chemists at the White House.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The president of the United States greeted from a wheeled chair delegates to the eighth International Congress of Applied Chemistry.

The principal event of the day was a garden party on the White House grounds in honor of delegates from foreign nations. There President Taft, disabled on account of a sprained ankle and a slight attack of gout, welcomed his guests. Late in the afternoon the president spoke briefly to the delegates in the East room of the White House. Later he was wheeled to the lawn, where he shook hands with the visitors, apologized because he could not rise and greet them.

Owing to his injured ankle the president was unable to address the delegates in Continental hall earlier in the day as he had planned to do.

Sir William Ramsay of England; Dr. Jokichiro Emorio of Japan, Professor Walden of Russia, Commanditori Ciamicon of Italy, Dr. Samuel Eyade of Norway and other scientists made brief addresses.

SAVES TWO SONS BUT DROWNS WITH THIRD.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 5.—After rescuing two of his sons, Harry and Howard, Clayton Smith, aged 41, a railroad clerk of this city, was drowned here while attempting to save his third son, aged 10 years.

The father was fishing in the Ohio river, while his sons were bathing. The latter got beyond their depth and called for help, but the task of saving all three proved too much and the bodies of the father and son were found two hours later clasped in each other's arms.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

"You shouldn't wear your heart on your sleeve," said Judge Windom to Frances Ocken when she appeared this morning to answer a charge of disorderly conduct.

The court informed the young woman that thus displaying the affections, particularly on the part of the gentler sex toward masculinity, is liable to get one into trouble.

Frances appreciated the veracity of the statement. "I guess I have found that out already," she said when the court informed her that she could go, sentence being suspended.

It appears that she has been with a young man who has been stopping at the same boarding house at 219 Fifth avenue west. She had evidently been led to believe that he had a deep regard for her, if not a stronger feeling.

She reciprocated the sentiments which he caused her to think he had for her. She felt quite badly about it when love's young dream was shattered. Fickle man was not true and turned his attentions toward another young woman who appeared on the scene.

Last night she determined to see him and reach a definite understanding. In the strength of her determination she rapped at his door. So cold had he become that he refused to even grant her the hearing which she requested and slammed the door in her face, turning the key. This angered her and in the heat of sudden passion she drove her foot against the thin panel of the door, smashing it.

As the last splinters dropped to the floor the landlady appeared on the scene. She was also angry and caused the arrest of the young woman who had been so rudely rebuffed by her erstwhile lover. A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against her. The court thought that although she had been hasty she had done nothing serious and ordered her release.

A real baseball game will be played at Athletic park next Saturday afternoon. The Duluth firemen will clash with the battlers of the fire demon from across the bay. A hot contest is anticipated. The proceeds will be turned over to the Children's home. The advance sale of tickets insures a comfortable sum for the institution.

James F. Walsh, well-known capitalist, was arraigned in court this morning on a warrant sworn out by E. J. Whalen, charging him with operating his automobile in violation of the ordinance. It is reported that he neglected to take out a wheelage tax license. The case was continued for a week, as Mr. Walsh stated that he wished to familiarize himself with the requirements of the ordinance.

Peter Donsett would have done better to have had a good memory when he was brought into police court this morning on a charge of second offense drunkenness. He admitted that he had been drunk, but at first could not remember that he had ever been arrested before. When he had rubbed away some of the cobwebs which seemed to have been clogging his think wheels and said he had been in before, the judge handed him $10 and costs or ten days.

"I take one peach and he slam me in the eye; I take another peach and he slam me in the other eye; I take a small grape and he try to soak me 50 cents for it."

Such was the tale of woe of Frank Zimmerman, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for this afternoon.

George Cuscietta, who was presiding over the fruit stand when Frank appeared, was arraigned at the same time. He admitted that he had been disorderly and disposition of the case was continued until Frank's case shall have been thrashed out.

George alleges that Frank and his partner refused to pay for a bunch of grapes to which Frank helped himself, and that he struck him when he took the peaches, not knowing of any other way to effectually stop the depredations.

Frank Campbell and John Sink were arrested yesterday afternoon on charges of trespass. The police reported that they were sweeping wheat. Each got $10 or ten days days.

Sigmund Zalk paid a fine of $5.50 in police court yesterday afternoon on pleading guilty to assault. His arrest was caused by Mrs. Mary Severson, who claimed that he had used one of her children roughly. Zalk stated that he had only acted to protect his own offspring.

Charles Tummelin, proprietor of a boarding house near Sixth avenue west and First street, believed that possession of a government license entitled him to privileges of selling liquor to all who applied. His misbelief proved expensive. He was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of selling liquor without a license after evidence had been secured against him by two persons in the employ of the police department. He admitted the allegation and was fined $100, which was paid this morning.

The balance of the fine of Nellie Carrington, the alleged deaf mute who was arrested some weeks ago on a charge of peddling without a license, was paid this morning. She was released from the county jail, where she had served nearly half of the three months' sentence. Friends today paid the $59 still due. The court informed the woman that she would get off lightly if she could produce any reputable witness to testify that she was telling the truth relative to her claimed double affliction. Some witnesses did appear but the police stated that one of them, at least, had a decidedly bad record. They asserted that he is known as a former gambler and dive-keeper and his appearance did the woman's case no harm than good. She said that she was so ashamed of her predicament that she would not write to her folks for fear they would learn of it.

FIGHTING FOR IRON LANDS

In district court before Judges Cant and Dibell, final arguments are being made today in the lawsuit brought by the state to establish certain mining rights in Long Year lake near Chisholm over the claims of the White Iron Lake Mining company and the fee holders.

Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith and C. Louis Weeks of St. Paul are appearing on behalf of the state and Oscar Mitchell of Duluth, John Brennan and F. L. Doyle of Fond du Lac, Wis., are representing the mining interests. The testimony was taken some time ago and briefs have been submitted. Final arguments will be put in today and the case will be submitted.

The action is one brought by the state for an injunction and an accounting. The defendants are Eliza Korrer and Annie L. Korrer, fee owners of lot 5, section 21, township 58-21, the White Iron Lake Mining company and Euclid Iron Mining company, operators.

Long Year lake, containing about 160 acres and situated near Chisholm, borders on the mining property in question. In 1908 and 1909 it is claimed that the Euclid company stripped ore and dumped the strippings near the shore line, trespassing beyond the low water mark.

The state asks for an injunction permanently restraining the mining companies from interfering with the public waters of the lake, from removing iron ore from under the lake or from any part which would naturally be covered with water and also wants an accounting to be had for ore which is claimed to have been unlawfully removed prior to and pending this action.

The case is regarded as merely a test case, only about 60,000 tons of ore being involved in the entire controversy. Such an amount, it is claimed does not measure the real interests in the litigation.

According to Attorney General Smith, there may be many other lakes and rivers in the state similarly conditioned, the bottoms of which may contain millions of tons of iron.

BUILDING WORK HOLDING ITS OWN

The monthly report of the building inspector's office for August shows that 126 permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $207,788. This is under the record for August of the previous year when 127 permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $278,910.

The total of the first eight months of this year is under that for the same period of 1911. To Sept. 1 last year 1,006 permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $1,796,621 as compared with 893 permits for estimated improvements of $1,739,851 to Sept. 1, last. Considering the long delay in the starting of building activity the first part of the year the comparison is favorable.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS ELECTING OFFICERS.

Boston, Sept. 5.—Election of officers held the attention of the several hundred delegates attending the final session today of the annual convention of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks. It was announced that the result of the election would be made public at a banquet tonight. Frank T. Rogers of Chicago, president of the association for many years, is opposed for re-election by John F. McDermott of Worcester, a former vice president.

MARINE

LUMBER RATE IS ADVANCED

Owners Demand $2.75 and Get It—Movement Is Brisk.

The lumber rate advanced 25 cents today.

Up until this time lumber has been carried from Duluth to Lake Erie ports of $2.50. Today the owners demanded $2.75 and to all appearances they got it for the boats were loading and leaving the harbor as usual.

The advance in the lumber rate has been seen coming for some time and shippers were ready for it when it suddenly jumped today. They had expected it would come ten days ago.

The advance is in line with the jumps taken by the grain rate. The ore rate is the only one which has remained stationary all season and it is thought that this will go up before the season is much older.

The present has been the busiest season in lumber in years. The $2.50 rate was considered good and the boat owners were making money at that figure, it is stated. Lately, however, they have grumbled to some extent, claiming that they lose a good deal of valuable time sending the boats back to Duluth light for lumber.

More boats are in the trade this year than ever before. A number of old boats have been hauled out of the mud and given work carrying lumber. In spite of the large number of boats, there is not nearly enough to take care of the great amount of lumber to be sent down the lakes. Eastern buyers are buying freely and have been since shortly after the navigation season began. At first they claimed that the prices asked were too high but when they found that there was no chance of them coming down, they have paid whatever asked and seemed glad to get the product.

The rush in the lumber trade has been a feature of the present season for shipping is much heavier than in some years.

Wonderful Storm.

Lake captains who were on Lake Superior last night report the most wonderful electrical storm of the season. At times the sky was lighted up by flashes of lightning and it was possible to see for miles in all directions. One captain stated that his boat seemed to be in the very center of the storm and that the lightning cracked and lighted up the heavens all about him. He was able to see for miles and make out objects on the shores.

Ore is again moving freely. Labor day held up the boats to some extent, but they were again getting away in good shape last night. At least twenty having left the harbor in the last twenty-four hours.

Coal continues to come faster than it has in some time and the docks are beginning to groan under their heavy burdens. Local coal men are optimistic and state that if coal continues to come as freely there will be but little needed by rail. This is pleasing to consumers also for rail coal would cost about 60 cents a ton more than that which comes by water.

Strike at Milwaukee.

Five hundred dock laborers went on a strike today at Milwaukee. As a result the freight business of the Great Lakes, as far as Milwaukee is concerned is hampered.

The men demand that they be paid for the time that they are waiting while the boats are being shifted and during the switching of freight cars. They claim that inasmuch as they are paid by the hour they should not be compelled to lose this time.

FULL BULL MOOSE TICKET IN IOWA

Judge John L. Stevens of Boone Is Nominee for Governor.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 5.—With John L. Stevens of Boone as their nominee for governor, Iowa Progressives in convention here put a third party state ticket into the field, after overcoming opposition to the plan by an overwhelming majority. Judge Stevens, who was on the reception committee to meet Col. Roosevelt, was named by acclamation just as the Roosevelt party was entering the Coliseum.

The speech of Col. Roosevelt interrupted the state ticket nomination, but after he had left the hall the following were named: Lieutenant governor, W. S. Benis, Spencer; auditor, C. F. Meyers, Elkader; treasurer, N. F. D. Nelson, Lucas; railroad commissioner, J. H. Stevens, Mason City; secretary of state, H. A. Morey of Waerly; supreme court, H. H. Mitchell of Dubuque and E. J. Vason of Sioux City.

The platform indorses that of the national convention, reasserts the belief in party rule and declares that the Progressive party is "here to stay."

Congressional candidates were nominated by caucuses for five districts as follows: Second, Herman K. Zeuch, Davenport; Third, R. E. Leach, Independence; Sixth, J. H. Patton, Grinnell; Seventh, George C. White, Nevada; Eighth, L. W. Laughlin, Mount Ayr.

MORE HOUSEMAIDS WILL BE SEEKING PLACES.

The labor market for kitchen girls and housemaids will be better supplied next month or as soon as some of the summer resorts close, according to Manager Burke of the State Free Employment bureau.

"It's hard to fill general housework positions during the summer months," said Mr. Burke yesterday. "The girls would rather be employed in the hotels and summer resorts or clerk in the department stores.

"From $18 to $30 a month with board and room are inducements which we have held out to girls wanted for general housework. There were several positions open but I was unable to fill but a few of them."

Mr. Burke believes that by next month, there will be plenty in the market.

SUFFRAGETTES CUT TELEGRAPH WIRES.

Hertford, Eng., Sept. 5.—Suffragettes cut fourteen government telegraph wires near here a few nights ago and left a notice tacked on one of the poles stating that the damage was done because of the government's attitude toward the woman's suffrage movements. The offenders have not been discovered. The incident has just become publicly known.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: SEPT. 8.

Matt. ix, 35-x, 15: The Mission of the Twelve.

CONNECTION.

It was at the height of His fame. Enthusiasm was boundless; work was pressing, more than one man could do; the disciples needed training in work. He turns His followers into helpers.

THE LESSON.

Appointing Helpers. 35-38.

"And Jesus went about all the cities and the villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of disease and all manner of sickness. But when He saw the multitudes He was moved with compassion for them, because they were distressed and scattered, as sheep not having a shepherd. Then saith He unto His disciples, The harvest indeed is plenteous, but the laborers are few."

We can discern at least three reasons why He did this. There was so much work to do "in all the cities and all the villages," and there was "all manner of disease and all manner of sickness." There were too many calls to too many places at the same time, and He had invested too much in them not to invest more. The moral condition of the people was horrible and was appealing in the extreme—mistreated by their natural leaders, perplexed and burdened by ritual observances, oppressed by their Roman masters, all the time hungering for truth and sympathy and guidance. They were like neglected sheep or a wasted harvest. Another reason was that the disciples needed to do this sort of work for the growth it would stimulate and for the experience they would get and the preparation for doing the same work without His presence. Still another reason is that He would derive new fellowship with them as they came to understand Him and what He was doing.

II.

What They Were to Do. 1-8.

"And He called unto Him His twelve disciples, and gave them authority over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of disease and all manner of sickness.

"Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: The first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew, his brother; James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother; Philip, and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the publican; James, the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddeus; Simon, the Canaanean, and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him.

"These twelve Jesus sent forth, and charged them, saying, Go not into any way of the Gentiles, and enter not into any city of the Samaritans; but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. And as ye go, preach, saying The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out demons; freely ye received, freely give."

1. WHO.—They were His closest friends; they were those who had the best chance to know His mind; they had probably been praying for more laborers, as He had told them to do, and were chosen in answer to their own prayers. The word apostle is from the Greek, the word missionary from the Latin, both meaning "one sent." They were sent on the greatest of errands. A study of their names and groupings, in the light of their subsequent history, is informing.

2. EQUIPMENT.—They were equipped with instructions to do exactly what He had been doing; they were given the authority by Him to do it; they were given power by the Holy Spirit to do it. Their preaching was to be a simple statement of the truths they had heard and a call to repentance in view of the presence of the kingdom of God among them. All power and authority were from Him.

3. TERRITORY.—They were to confine their work to the Jews as He did. He would ultimately reach the Gentiles, but only through the Jews. They were not even to go among the Samaritans, as He did, for He knew how to handle such cases. He always led the heathen to the true Jewish point of view so as to bring them within the field of His operations. These raw workers might become contentious and vindictive.

III.

How They Were to Do It. 9-15.

"Get you no gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses; no wallet for your journey, neither two coats, nor shoes, nor staff; for the laborer is worthy of his food. And into whatsoever city or village ye shall enter, search out who in it is worthy, and there abide till ye go forth. And as ye enter into the house, salute it. And if the house be worthy, let your peace come upon it; but if it be not worthy, let your peace return to you. And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words, as ye go forth out of that house or that city, shake off the dust of your feet. Verily I say unto you, it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment, than for that city."

1. TWOS.—If all twelve went together they would not multiply Jesus so rapidly, they might feel less dependent on the Spirit and might produce irritation. If they went one at a time, some of them might break down entirely. Two would stimulate and supplement each other, if they were well paired. Jesus arranged that.

2. EXPENSES.—They had all they needed, for the double reason that they were to be gone but a little while, to meet Jesus soon again at an appointed time and place, and the laws of hospitality guaranteed them entertainment on the widely recognized principle that those who performed a worthy service were entitled to such a reward. Any extra money in their purses or girdles would be useless and might be an injury. He knew their support was provided for. We have no right to send out our workers without providing for them. Their one suit of clothes was all that was needed for their short journey, but that does not argue that one who goes on a long mission does not need extra clothes. It proves the contrary, that one is to be supplied according to his needs. Some fanatics have gone to foreign mission fields without providing for their wants, because Jesus gave His disciples these instructions. One of those men went insane on the field and tried to kill his wife. There was incipient insanity before he went.

3. HOSPITALITY.—Hotels were few and almost every house had a guest chamber to which any well-behaved stranger was welcome at any time. The formalities in leaving and entering houses were so elaborate, that if they went around much they would take too much time. They must stay at one house while in a given city or village for that reason, also because they could do more work and they would appear notionate by running around from place to place. Such a course would keep down jealousies. They must be scrupulously careful in their religious habits in homes, speaking the formal Shalom, or peace be with you, even when the host was unworthy of it, for it would not be lost but would react on him who uttered it.

The churl, who repels the salutation, violates his own social laws and reduces himself to the level of the heathen. He must therefore be treated as such and, as the dust on which the heathen walk is regarded as polluted and polluting, they must shake off that dust from their feet and thus rebuke the churl, not in anger but in righteousness. His sin is greater than that of the polluted cities of the plain because he sins against greater light. Their work is to be private, not in public speeches in the market or other public places, for they are not yet ready for the exacting demands of public speech.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

An Oriental stranger, coming into an Eastern village, can take his pick of the community for a host. He is not driven to the necessity of stopping in the only home that will receive him. All Orientals who are godly count a guest a representative of God, and are glad of the privilege of entertaining him. Hence householders vie with each other in being first to claim a stranger as a guest.—Thompson.

It was natural that Jesus should signalize the first missionary enterprise of the twelve chosen men by some discourse as Matthew records, setting forth the duties, perils, encouragement and rewards of the apostolic vocation. It was His way on solemn occasions to speak as a prophet who, in the present, saw the future, and from small beginnings looked forward to great ultimate issues. And this Galilean mission, though humble and limited, compared with the great undertaking of after years, was really a solemn event. It was the beginning of that vast work for which the twelve had been chosen, which embraced the world in its scope and aimed at setting upon earth the kingdom of God.—Bruce.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1.—In what respect is every disciple a force to multiply the work of Christ?

2.—What are the special advantages of doing good to the unappreciative?

3.—Which is the greater injury to the cause of Christ, the sins of His enemies or the inactivity of His friends?

4.—Does faith in Providence forbid foresight and precaution?

5.—To what extent may we do the same things Jesus did?

BIG GAIN BY DEMOCRATS

Roll of Biggest Vote in Vermont Since Election of 1880.

National Leaders Decide on Hard Fight in Maine.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 5.—The full report of balloting in the state election in Vermont does not materially alter general figures as indicated by early returns.

The unofficial total vote for governor reached 65,033, the largest in a state election in a presidential year since 1904. There was no election by the people, but a sufficient number of Republican members of the legislature were chosen to insure the seating of Allen M. Fletcher in October, as well as the remainder of the Republican state ticket.

The total vote of the state for all five candidates was:

Allen M. Fletcher of Cavendish, Republican 26,259
Harlan B. Howe of St. Johnsbury, Democrat 20,350
Rev. Frazer Metzger of Randolph, Progressive 15,800
Clement P. Smith of Morrisville, Prohibition 1,443
Fred W. Suiter of Barre, Socialist 1,181

A number of small towns where there was no legislative election were still balloting at a late hour last night. It will be some days before the exact make-up of the legislature is known, but early estimates of sixty-three Republican majority on joint ballot are not altered by more complete returns.

Congressmen Re-elected.

Republicans re-elected both their congressmen, Frank L. Green of St. Albans and Frank Plumley of Northfield. They carried eleven of the fourteen counties and 187 of the 246 cities and towns. Their party majority of 26,817 four years ago and of 15,739 two years ago, dwindled to a plurality of 5,900, the smallest margin ever given a Republican candidate in a presidential year.

The Democrats carried two counties and thirty-eight towns and run up the largest total since 1880.

Progressives prevented a people's choice of a Republican candidate for governor, carrying one county and twenty-one towns.

Plan Maine Fight.

New York, Sept. 5.—After a conference between Acting Chairman McAdoo of the Democratic national committee, Senators Pomerene of Ohio and O'Gorman of New York and Representative Burleson of Texas, at which the result in Vermont was thoroughly discussed, it was decided to bend every effort to strengthen the Democratic campaign in Maine up to the last moment before next Monday's election.

With that end in view, Senator O'Gorman and Representative Burleson left for a speaking tour in Maine. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania already had started for Maine.

At the close of the conference on Vermont, Acting Chairman McAdoo gave out a statement in which he said:

"The result in Vermont tells a big story for the Democrats. The latest returns show that on state issues we have polled more than 20,000 votes and reduced the Republican plurality to less than 7,000. In other years the Republicans have claimed the state by from 25,000 to 35,000 majority. This means that the Republican party has a big job on its hands to carry the state in November on national issues. The prospects for Wilson and Marshall carrying Vermont are most gratifying."

McCombs in New York.

"William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who has been convalescing from a nervous breakdown at a camp in the Adirondacks, returned to this city yesterday. He said the rest was of great benefit to him, and that he soon will be at work directing the campaign.

Popular subscriptions of $1 each from 1,041 contributors to the Democratic campaign fund were received from Arkansas newspapers and $500 subscribed by readers of a Portland, Or., paper.

MORSE RESUMES HIS BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

New York, Sept. 5.—Predictions that Charles W. Morse would resume his business operations since his sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary has been commuted by President Taft, was fulfilled when Morse today opened a small suite of offices in 43 Exchange place, in the heart of the financial district. Announcement was made that Mr. Morse again would be active in affairs at the head of the Morse Securities company. At the time he was liberated his health was exceedingly poor, but he has since recovered some of his former strength.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED AMERICAN IN MEXICO.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Following strong representations from the state department, a new trial has been granted W. C. Nichols, the American citizen recently sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for killing the desperado, Cevallos, whom he had been empowered to arrest. The case, which was originally tried at Tampico, now goes to the Mexican court of appeals at Valria, state of Tamaulipas. The date of the new trial has not been set.

After Nichols' conviction the American consular department at Tampico reported to the state department that the trial had been conducted in violation of all the rules of Mexican justice and that a Mexican had actually publicly confessed the killing of Cevallos and even appeared at the trial of Nichols and testified.

THIRTY GIRLS LEAP FROM BURNING BUILDING.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Thirty girls were forced to leap out of second-story windows to escape death when an explosion, caused by benzine vapor, wrecked a building occupied by a dyeing and cleaning establishment at West Twenty-fourth street and Princeton avenue.

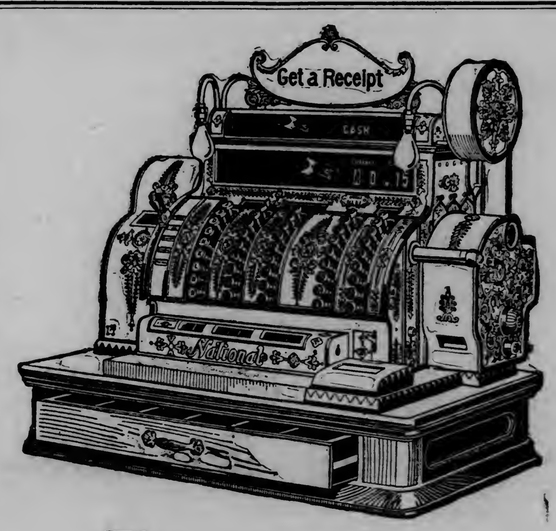

Rudolph Spinner, foreman of the establishment, was crushed to death in the wreckage. His body was dug out of the ruins by firemen.

Several of the girls were seriously injured in making their escape. One girl, who jumped out of a window, was picked up unconscious and with both legs broken. Others, in rushing to reach the stairways, were knocked down and trampled.

Investigation will be made to determine the cause of the explosion, which was the third within a week in dyeing and cleaning shops in Chicago.

BELIEVE ENGLAND WILL DROP CANAL PROTESTS.

Washington, Sept. 5.—In diplomatic circles here it is believed that the delay by Great Britain in asking for arbitration of the free tolls section of the Panama canal act is an indication that the London foreign office eventually will abandon that plan. It is believed that when the British government comes to understand that the free toll provision of the act applies only to American coastwise trade, in which British shipping cannot participate in any event, the reason for an appeal for arbitration will disappear.

EVELETH ACCEPTS CEMETERY SITE

Offer of Oliver Mining Company Taken Up By City Council.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will soon have a cemetery as the result of the action of the city council last night which decided to accept the offer of the Oliver Iron Mining company, under the conditions that the city first explore the property. Should ore be found in paying quantities the site will not be available, but the company in that case will bear the expense of exploring. If no ore is found the property will be given to the city and the city will pay the cost of drilling. It now seems likely that before cold weather again sets in Eveleth will have a cemetery of its own, and people will no longer be subjected to the hardship of having to take their dead to Virginia for burial.

The council took up the question of oiling streets and will further investigate with a view to using that method next year for keeping down the dust.

Get Park Site Also.

The deed to the park site at the south end of Ely lake was accepted, and Chairman Hatch and T. J. Burns of the park board were warmly congratulated for their enterprise in securing the gift, as was also D. W. Freeman, through whose good offices it was made possible. The city clerk was instructed to begin negotiations with the Cloquet Lumber company for the purpose of securing the standing pine on the site. This will make the most beautiful park on the range and when fixed up and a spur of the electric line is run to it, will attract people from the entire length of the ranges.

The city attorney was instructed to bring ejectment proceedings against Mrs. Judnich, a widow who still has her house on the park site at the north end of the city and who cannot be prevailed upon to move.

GREY EAGLE MAN DIES IN EVELETH

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Philip Ford, aged 73, a resident of Grey Eagle, Todd county, died this morning at the home of his son, C. M. Ford, telegraph operator for the Missabe road, of Bright's disease.

Mr. Ford was 73, and had been suffering from the disease for some time. He came here about two months ago to visit his son. He was an old resident of Grey Eagle. Besides his son, he is survived by two brothers living some place in Northern Minnesota not known to the deceased. The body was taken to Grey Eagle this afternoon for interment.

ILLEGAL DEER HUNTER FINED

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.) — Matt Keltz, a shacker at Ryan's dam, near the Charles Johnson ranch, not far from Stingy lake, in Itasca county, was arrested Tuesday by Game Warden George E. Wood of Hibbing, charged with hunting deer in the closed season.

He was brought before Justice Charles Kearney here and pleaded guilty. He was fined $39.60 or thirty days in jail. He paid the fine and was given his liberty. Two witnesses, who appeared against him, had already paid fines for like offenses before Justice Trescott at Coleraine.

Last of Notorious Gang.

This is the last of the notorious Collier-Cornerpost Kelly gang of pot hunters which the game wardens have been trying to get rid of for a long time. This particular neck of the woods has been one of the worst in Northern Minnesota, being the site of the Johnson murder of last spring, which ended in the suicide of Collier in the Grand Rapids jail, while he was being held as a witness in the Johnson murder case, and that region is due for more sensation, according to Warden Wood, unless the bunch of outlaws that infests that section is gotten rid of.

VIRGINIAN TO MARRY.

Neil McInnis' Son to Wed Former Eveleth School Teacher.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A wedding of interest to residents of the Mesaba range will be celebrated today at Herman, Minn., when Hugh McInnis of Virginia, son of Neil McInnis of this city, a member of the St. Louis county board, is married to Miss Kyle Ketcham, formerly teacher in the local schools. The young man is chief chemist for the Interstate Steel company at Virginia and spent most of his life here.

County Commissioner Neil McInnis and family, State Treasurer Walter J. Smith of this city, brother-in-law of the bride, and family, and others from this section are in Herman for the wedding.

After a wedding tour the couple will reside at Virginia.

OPENED LETTERS, CHARGE PREFERRED

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Thompson, telegraph operator for the Iron Range road at Mesaba station, had a hearing here today before United States Commissioner Otto Poirier on the charge of opening letters in the Mesaba postoffice and extracting postoffice express orders therefrom.

He was bound over to the grand jury and will be taken to Duluth. Thompson is 62 years of age. His office was in that of W. N. Canfield, the postmaster at Mesaba, and it is alleged he tampered with the mail there.

PARDEE ISSUES BOOKLET.

Duluthian Writes About Glories of Itasca County.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Stone Pardee of Duluth, who was employed last spring by the Itasca County Publicity club to prepare a pamphlet showing Itasca county's resources, was here yesterday delivering a few of the booklets issued by the publicity committee. The booklet is neatly printed, of about sixty pages, snappily written in breezy style, replete with illustrations of points and things of interest in Itasca county and containing a map of the county which is perhaps the most complete map of the county ever published. Only a limited number of the booklets were out in time for Mr. Pardee to deliver them here, those most interested in the publicity work receiving one apiece to see what they were like. A sufficient number were sent to the Associated British colonists there, and the balancee will be delivered here as soon as they are off the presses.

Aside from these booklets some 40,000 leaflets containing some pertinent facts about Itasca county were issued.

The bride was given away by her father, while Miss E. H. Hatch of Eveleth played the Lohengrin wedding march. The maid of honor was her sister, Miss Jessie Woods, and the best man was A. E. Anderson of Virginia. Miss Marjorie Hardy of Adrian, Mich., sang beautifully "O Promise Me."

A reception followed the ceremony from 8:30 to 10 p. m., and refreshments were served. Music was furnished by Sims string orchestra.

The reception committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Knapp, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Kirk and Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Nelson Only relatives were present and included: Mr and Mrs. Hayden French of Ortonville, Minn., father and mother of the groom; Mrs. C. C. Sparrow of Breckinridge, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fond and H. Talboys of Duluth.; Mrs. W. B. Gwathmey of Aitkin, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson of Minneapolis; Miss Jean Talboys of Eveleth, and Messrs A. W. Talboys and H. Talboys of Aurora, Minn.

The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of white crepe meteor and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of embroidered chiffon over yellow crepe de chine.

They will spend their honeymoon on Vermilion, after which they will return to Chisholm and take up housekeeping. Both are well and favorably known, having a host of friends among the social set here. The bride has lived in Chisholm many years, having taught in the public schols the past three years. Mr. French holds a very responsible position with the Oliver Iron Mining company, and aside from being a member of the Masons has taken active part in football and other outdoor sports the past few years.

OTHER MAN ARRESTED.

Westbrook and Not Shields Taken Into Custody.

Taconite, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The story printed in newspapers recently about the Westbrook-Shields affair did an injustice to Mr. Shields, as Mr. Westbrook and not Mr. Shields was arrested. The men had a row over a monkeywrench that resulted in a fight, and court proceedings, wherein Westbrook was fined $75 or given the alternative of sixty days in jail. He put up bonds and will appeal to the district court.

The village school did not commence Tuesday, as the schoolhouse is still undergoing improvements. Supt. Vandyke of Coleraine was in town Saturday.

A CHILD'S WASTE CLOGGED BOWELS

Makes Them Cross, Peevish, Restless and Feverish—See If Tongue Is Coated.

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish, Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little ones' stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectually, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna", prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

KITTSVILLE HAS FIRST ELECTION

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village of Kittsville has just held its first election of officers. There was a hot fight on all along the line.

John Medos defeated John Dimatteo for president by a majority of one vote and M. H. Yahrmatter defeated Alfred Dimatteo for recorder by three votes.

George Medos was elected treasurer over Martin Chenogel and Anton Russ by a majority of two and Hugh Brown defeated George Medos for justice of the peace by three votes. Peter Musich was elected constable over Matt Severinski by a majority of three.

The New Officers.

The first officers of the village will be as follows:

President, John Medos; trustees, Frank Kochevar, Anton Russ and M. Moroit; recorder, M. H. Yahrmatter; treasurer, George Medos; justice of the peace, Hugh Brown; constable, Peter Musich.

The defeated candidates for trustees were Peter Polga, John Pakish and M. Znedersiz.

The new council will hold its first meeting tonight to canvass the vote. Street and waterworks improvements are to be arranged for at once and the need of these gave rise to the organization of the village.

TO SHIP EUCLID ORE.

White Iron Mining Company to Handle Remuant of Ore.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.) — J. P. La Brae, president of the White Iron Lake Iron company, is looking over the Euclid mine, which has been operated the past two seasons by the Euclid Iron Mining company.

The Euclid Iron Mining company gave up the properties a couple of months ago on account of iron ore prices being so badly reduced that they were unable to profitably mine the property on their lease. Mr. Le Brae will clean up the remaining ore which is largely an open pit proposition.

Mine Caused Damage.

The Euclid mine is the mine which cost the village several law suits as a result of cave-ins on Central avenue and Hemlock street and which suits resulted in judgments against the village.

This condition prevailed by reason of the mine being so closely located to the public school and two important streets and in sinking the ore out from under the school building and the streets the surface began to cave in, forcing the village to order the streets closed. The mine was opened in 1909 and originally contained about 250,000 tons of high grade ore. About $20,000 was spent in buying the surface rights after the ore was located.

MOVES MINE DRILLS TO CUYUNA RANGE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Moe of Virginia, drill man and mining expert, was here yesterday loading a drill which has been here since last fall, when he drilled the Costello-Bolter-Bossard tract, west of town. Mr. Moe is moving the entire battery of Moe Bros.' drills down to Crosby, where they are extensively engaged in exploration work. Mr. Moe says that the activity in exploration work on the Mesaba range is at its lowest ebb at present, but he is of the opinion that the activities will be resumed in these parts before long.

Buys Grand Rapids Business.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Sherman, who has for several years been in charge of the clothing and men's furnishings department of John Beckfelt's Pioneer store, has purchased the business of Ed Herschbach and will conduct it in the future.

COPPER STOCKS MOSTLY STEADY

Most of the copper stocks today varied scarcely at all from the closing figures of yesterday and there was little trading. A general spirit of conservatism seemed to pervade the market. Amalgamated, however, made the good gain of $1.50. North Butte closed somewhat higher. A big slump that took place in Wolverine during the morning, due, it seems, to the report that the deposits in that company's mine would be largely exhausted in fifteen years, was partly recovered before the session was over. The general stock market of New York was quite strong and closed with considerable gains. The London copper metal market closed today with spot 6s 3d higher than yesterday and futures 8s 6d up.

Gay & Sturgis today received the following summary from Hall at Boston: "There was a decided improvement in the market today. The buying was persistent and although not in large volume it held through the entire session and the market closed at best prices. What little liquidation there has been the past few days has run its course, and although we do not look for any pronounced rise in the immediate future, we feel that technical conditions warrant higher prices when money conditions get easier and we get a clearer sight into the political situation. Wolverine was the weak sister here but it looks as though the liquidation in it culminated today."

Paine, Webber & Co. received the following wire from Houghton, Mich.: "Reports that Wolverine's yield is turning very low are denied by Superintendent Smith, who declares there is nothing in conditions at the property to warrant selling at this time. He points out that August production was sixty tons above July. He states August rock shipments were 36,000 tons, which would indicate a yield of refined copper of about nineteen pounds per ton. Explanation of decline in Wolverine may lie partly in the fact that the life of the mine cannot be more than fifteen years, coupled with the result of the Centennial's recent exploration towards Wolverine bottom boundary, which shows an extensive poverty zone. It would not be surprising if this reaches up into Wolverine territory, where bottom drifts of Wolverine would now be entering it."

Paine, Webber & Co. received from Foster at Boston the following closing copper letter: "The only weak feature in the local market today was Wolverine which declined to 91¼c on scattered selling and stop orders. The market was very narrow for the stock and about the only buyers were floor traders who picked it up with the idea of selling it out again on a rally. North Butte was strong all the day around $34 and closed fractionally higher. Mayflower and Lake were in good demand. We expect to see gradually increasing demand next week with higher prices. The strength in Amalgamated today being a forerunner of larger speculative buying in the local market."

PLAN "CUSTOMS TRACKS."

Treasury Department and Railroad Men in Conference.

Washington, Sept. 5.—A plan to facilitate the handling of customs traffic by the setting aside of certain railroad tracks as "custom tracks" at the station of every customs town is virtually assured as the result of a conference at the treasury department.

The conference was between Acting Secretary Curtis and representatives of the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Central Vermont, Rutland, Boston & Maine, Michigan Central and other railroads. The customs service handled through the Canadian frontier ports of entry at Vanceboro, Maine, St. Albans, Newport and Alburgh, Vt., and Buffalo was discussed through co-operation of the railroads in a uniform plan for putting cars containing imported merchandise on separate tracks at these places, so as to keep the cars more clearly in customs service control, was indicated, and it is likely a plan will be adopted after conferences with other railroads.

NO MONEY IN BEING HERO

Allan W. J. Garrod and wife, Lillian, are on their way back to England because Mr. Garrod is a retired hero of the English-India wars, a "gentleman," and refused to work to support himself and wife.

The trip back is being taken at the instance of the United States government which reruses to believe that an alien has a living coming to him even though he wears several medals on his breast and insists on gold-tipped cigarettes.

Mr. Garrod thought there was a handsome living awaiting him in America. He was surprised when an excited crowd and band failed to greet him on his arrival. "Beastly slur on ol' England," he called it.

The gentleman who had spent some time in India with English forces, according to his own version, thought that he would be feted and banqueted throughout the United States. In return he was going to tell of his achievements in India.

He took a job as coachman for a Duluth family after being out of cigarettes a while. There he refused to hitch up the horses; that, he claimed was the work of others. He was promptly discharged, but he claimed that he was entitled to a month's notice and continued to pretend to work for the rest of the time. He had such a great amount of nerve that the family for whom he worked became amused and allowed him to remain rather than call a policeman.

His sister paid his way over to America and that of his wife, supported both of them and supplied her brilliant brother with fancy cigarettes until she became tired of it and took a little trip down to consult Brown McDonald, local immigration agent.

Mr. Brown had a talk with him. Mr. Garred stated that he didn't care a cuss for all the dentles that Uncle Sam could send and offered Mr. Brown a cigarette.

Being very amiable after a hearty dinner Mr. McDonald promised the man a trip and Mr. Garrod was not pleased. He showed great displeasure and talked in a language seldom used in the best circles. Mr. Brown thought it best to put him in jail until the papers arrived and there he remained until yesterday when Deputy Daly left with Garrod and his wife for Montreal, where they will board a big ship for Jolly Old Lunnon.

David Pentland, 29 years old and a marine fireman, is awaiting deportation. David came to America out a short time ago. Lately he has been working as fireman on the Huronic. A few days ago, wishing to wash down the coal dust that had accumulated in his throat, he visited several thirst parlors and became so enthusiastic that he forgot to go back to his boat. Later he was arrested again and again. Now he is in the county jail for sixty days and it is expected that the papers will come before he gets out.

Ed McDermott came over from Everton, Ont., a few weeks ago and went suddenly insane. He was found a few days ago in the woods back of the city, up to his waist in mud. He thinks everybody is after him. A warrant of deportation has been asked by local authorities and it is expected that he will be sent back within a week.

SAYS BOSSES WANT WILSON

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 5.—Upon Woodrow Wilson the hopes of the stand-patter are gradually being centered, Col. Roosevelt told the state Progressive convention of Iowa here. He asserted that reactionaries of both parties are now turnineg to the Democratic candidate.

Col. Roosevelt also called for speedy downward revision of the tariff, and denounced the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as containing "shams and humbugs."

The ex-president's speech was made at the close of a day's campaigning through Iowa. He began at 7 o'clock in the morning and kept at it until he left Sioux City, St. Paul.

"There's no eight-hour law on this job," he sighed as he entered his car after making a speech that was not on the program. The heat was oppressive and the colonel's face was streaming, but he was well pleased with his day.

The convention hall was the warmest of all the sun-baked places in which Col. Roosevelt spoke during the day and most of the delegates had reached the boiling point by the time the colonel arrived. The men were in their shirt sleeves, and hundreds of palm leaf fans were fluttering.

Only Nominally Three-cornered.

"This is only nominally a three-cornered fight," he said. "In reality the fight is between the party of the people on one side, and on the other the bosses and the beneficiaries of privilege, who will throw their weight to whichever of the old parties they think can beat us.

"Youll find long before election day—already there are symptoms of it—that the old Republican party has been swept aside. The fight lies between us and the old machine Democracy."

Turning to the tariff, Col. Roosevelt said:

"I have remained attached to the doctrines the Progressives taught three years ago. I don't believe in free trade. On the other hand, I don't believe the stand-pat Republican tariff is right. I believe there are a great many shams and humbugs in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. Among the shams and humbugs was the tariff law. A little sham board was established. It was better than no board, but it had such small powers that it worked with extreme slowness and nothing was accomplished. Our proposal is to have a real tariff commission. We favor a commission which will work speedily so that in a few months, if the Progressive administration comes in, it can take up and report on schedule after schedule.

"We are striving to correct abuses," he said, "which, if they are not corrected, may some day bring the mighty American republic down on the heads of our children or our children's children."

FORMER DIPLOMAT IS ASSAULTED BY SERVANT.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The assault upon Dr. Luis Lazo, the former Honduran minister to Washington, at Guatemala City recently, was purely a personal one, according to Senor Mendez, the Guatemalan minister here, who called at the state department today and said he had a telegram from his government showing that the assault was committed by Lazo's own servant. It had been charged that a political motive was involved.

American Charge Wilson at Guatemala City today was instructed to make a further investigation.

Two Splendid Suggestions for the Skin and Hair

Simple little home-remedies usually do more to conserve the complexion than expensive preparations, and especially is this true of a spurmax lotion for the face, neck, arms and hands. This is prepared by putting 4 ounces spurmax into ½ pint witch hazel or hot water, and adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spurmax lotion is invisible when on and imparts a delicate and velvety smoothness to the skin. Its use banishes all complexion upsets and protects the skin from chaps and roughness.

Shampooing with canthrox cleans the hair and scalp of all dust, dandruff and excess oil, and so energizes it that dull, faded, straggly hair takes on a bright lustre, rich even color and silken fluff. You can easily prepare your own shampoo, by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup hot water. Occasional shampoos with canthrox keep the scalp healthy and encourage a bountiful growth of beautiful hair.

UNSIGHTLY SKIN IS CLEARED BY POSLAM

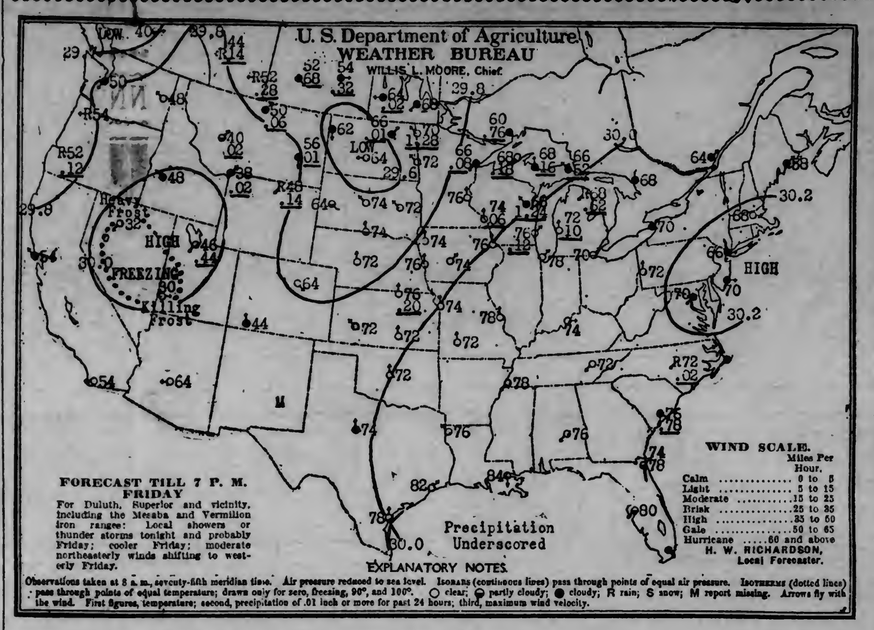

To be rid of skin eruptions, pimples, etc., and to quickly clear an inflamed complexion or red nose, use Poslam as soon as the trouble is noted.

If eczema, acne, barbers' itch or any stubborn disease afflicts, cure it without extended treatment through the timely application of Poslam. This perfect remedy heals the skin under all conditions more rapidly and more effectively than anything yet devised. Itching stops at once. Use Poslam this summer for sunburn, rashes, mosquito bites, etc.

The daily use of POSLAM SOAP, an absolutely pure soap medicated with Poslam, is of inestimable benefit to all whose skin is subject to eruptional troubles. Its antiseptic qualities protect against infection. Soothes tender skin; never irritates; ideal for baby's bath; best shampoo for dandruff.

Lyceum Pharmacy, W. A. Abbett's and all druggists sell Poslam (price, 50 cents) and Poslam Soap (price, 25 cents). For free samples, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

Mrs. Wendt was 60 years old and came to Duluth in 1883 with her husband, Albert Wendt.

The funeral will be held from the residence on Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

SUPERIOR

School for Working Children.

A day continuance school will be conducted this year in connection with the evening industrial school so that children under legal age may be able to work. As the state law requires that all children between 14 and 16 years of age shall spend five hours a week at a continuance school, many of the poorer children will now be able to work instead of attending the public schools every day in the week.

Land Changes Hands.

Approximately 13,000 acres just south of Superior are conveyed in a warranty deed filed yesterday for record with Register of Deeds Ahlgren. Harold Hunt of St. Paul purchased the property at a cost of $107,312.45. W. T. Sukow of St. Paul was the former owner of the land.

County Fair Plans.

Arrangements for the Douglas county fair, to be held the latter part of this month, were made last evening by the Douglas County Fair association at a meeting held at the Commercial club. Prizes are to be awarded for the best exhibits made by farmers living in the county. School children will be admitted for 5 cents, according to a decision of the members last evening.

Struck By Automobile.

While waiting for a car at the corner of Eleventh street, Thomas Ouelette was struck by an automobile containing Mgr. Walter Fardy, general of the Superior diocese and pastor of the Sacred Heart parish, shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. The automobile was going at a slow rate of speed, but struck Ouelette just as he stepped off the curb. He was taken to his home at 44 West Seventh street in Mgr. Fardy's machine.

Will Run as Independent.

C. S. Starkweather, who was defeated for the Republican nomination of sheriff by Gust Carlson yesterday, announced this morning that he will run for the office on the Independent ticket. Mr. Starkweather ran a close second to Mr. Carlson and has been urged by his friends to make the race independently.

GAYNOR RAPS THE ALDERMEN

New York, Sept. 5.—Mayor Gaynor took a fling at the board of aldermen this afternoon in a characteristic letter to one of thsir number.

"I do not see how I can expect policemen to be honest," says the latter, "when you know that many, if not most, of the members of the board of aldermen are selling licenses for news stands and the like throughout the city through go-betweens at prices from $2,500 down to $25."

PURDY SENTENCED FOR GIVING INDIANS LIQUOR.

D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Purdy, who was arrested at Devils Lake on the charge of selling liquor to the Indians on July 9, was given a hearing before Judge Amidon and sentenced to jail for sixty days. PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT

Only Three "D" Men Are Available at the High School.

Colton Is Unable to Coach Team Again This Season.

Prospects for a winning football team at the Central high school this season are not the brightest.

With but three of the old "D" men back and the matter of a coach hanging fire, the students are up in the air over their team for this year.

Chauncey Colton who has coached the team successfully for a number of years, announced last fall that it was his last year as coach. He states that lack of time is responsible for his resignation.

Capt. Matt Brown, Mark Crassweller and "Bunk" Harris are the only veterans back with the team this year. There is said to be a wealth of material in the freshman class, but it will take time and a good coach to whip the youngsters into line.

Paddock, a former University of Indiana player, who is making his home in Duluth is being considered, but it is not known whether he would undertake the task of coaching the team or not.

A meeting of the Athletic association will be called in a few days and at that time offers will probably be made to a coach.

Prospects are not rosy, but high school students are hoping that they will finally be able to put a fairly strong team in the field.

GAP BETWEEN CUBS AND PENNANT BECOMING WIDER

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Wilson's home run drive won for Pittsburg, 5 to 2, and incidently widened the margin between Chicago and New York to six full games in the pennant race. Chicago took a two-run lead in the sixth. Zimmerman singled and Leach walked. Saier fanned and Evers singled too hot for Wagner, and Zimmerman scored. Needham then singled, filling the bases. O'Toole made a wild pitch and Leach scored. O'Toole retired after this inning, and Robinson held the locals safe. The victors made one run on Miller's double, an infield hit which Zimmerman let pass down the third base line, thinking it would run foul. In a double play Miller scored. After one was out in the eighth, Carey singled, Dooin popped out and Wagner was purposely passed. Miller then singled and Carey scored. With two men out, Wilson hit the ball over the right field fence into the bleachers, scoring both runners ahead of him.

In the first contest New York won by bunching five doubles and a single, with a pass off Moore's delivery in the second and fifth innings, while Tesreau kept his opponents' hits scattered. In the second game Chalmers returned to the game after a long layoff and did excellent work. Marquard was hit for a double by Paskert, two sacrifices, a single by Luderus and a home run by Walsh in the first inning. These runs decided the game, but Devore contributed another on two muffs after two were out in the sixth inning. The scores:

Daniels broke up the game in the sixth, when he tripled with three on bases, Chase's hitting, a wonderful stop by Barry and a great catch by Lelivelt were the features. Lelivelt robbed Baker of a home run in the eighth with two on bases, when he jumped into the air and pulled down Baker's drive with one hand.

The visitors knocked out Scott in the fourth inning, after making seven hits for a total of five runs. Douglass, a recruit from Des Moines, finished the game, and was hit for eight safeties and seven runs. WASHINGTON LOSES TO LEAGUE LEADERS.

Boston, Sept. 5.—Washington came declaring it was still possible for them to win the pennant, but they lost to the leaders, 6 to 2, the opening game of a series which will have an important effect upon their chances. Manager Griffith sent a relay of four young pitchers against Boston, but with poor results. Collins, for Boston, was in fine form and received great support. The locals clinched the game in the second inning by scoring four runs. Two passes, which Engel gave among four hits, assisted in the scoring. Gallia, who succeeded Engel, was both wild and ineffective, Boston scoring two runs off him, and Herring, who finished, showed little improvement. Gandil knocked in Washington's runs with a triple and a single.

WALDO IS BEATEN BY PAUL HUNTER

Golf Player, Who Eliminated English Expert, Loses His Next Match.

Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 5.—Four Chicagoans, three Easterners and one Englishman remain in the competition for the national amateur golf championship with the second elimination round of 36 holes played yesterday, brought the curtain down on C. G. Waldo, Jr., of Brooklawn, who yesterday defeated Harold Hilton of the Royal Liverpool club, the title holder. Waldo was put out by Paul Hunter of Midlothian.

W. J Travis, former British and national champion, was eliminated by Jerome Travers, metropolitan champion and twice national champion.

Charles Evans, Jr., of Edgewater club, Chicago, Western champion, had an easy match with H. B. Lee of Detroit. Evans was dormie on the twenty-seventh tee and took the match at the next green.

Warren Wood of Homewood put out Former Champion W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Oakmont, who in 1910 beat Wood in the finals for the title

Elimination of Travis and Fownes leaves the championship to be played for by young men whose ages will average nearer 25 than 30 years

The local players remaining are Wood, Mason Phelps, Paul Hunter and Evans

Travers, Kerr and Schmidt are from the Atlantic seaboard. Norman Hunter, the Englishman, is joint holder of the amateur course record for St. Andrews. He was two down in the morning in his match with W. P. Smith of Philadelphia, but squared the match on the twenty-fifth hole and thereafter pulled away, winning four up at the thirty-third hole.

The British contingent pinned its hope to Hunter and Hilton. The defeated champion is a close follower of his compatriot's play.

Schmidt, Massachusetts state champion, meets Chick Evans today.

Norman Hunter and Wood have the international match. The Englishman, like Hilton, has been much affected by the heat. Hunter complains that his digestion has been affected. He plays in a jacket, as did Hilton. The former champion said that he could not play otherwise, and that being compelled to swelter in a coat had much to do with his downfall.

Hilton is staying to play off his tie for the low medal score with Evans.

New Pitcher for McGraw.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 5.—Al Demarse, pitcher of the local baseball club, and sold to the New York Nationals for $7,000 and several players, left yesterday to report to the Giants at Philadelphia. Manager McGraw wanted Demarse to report earlier, but Manager Finn refused to let him go until the Southern league race was settled. With all chances to defeat Birmingham gone, and second place practically cinched, McGraw's request was granted.

CURLING CLUB DIRECTORS MEET

Contract for New Rink Likely to Be Let Soon.

The directors of the curling club held a meeting last evening to consider further details in connection with the building of the proposed new curling and hockey rink at the corner of Fourteenth avenue east and London road, but as yet the members are not prepared to give out anything concerning the present status of the project for there is much still to be done.

It is hoped that the next week will see the contract for the building let, and when it is let it will be with the understanding that work must begin at once in order that the building may be completed by the time the curling season sets in.

According to present prospects the rink will be larger than at first planned and will, anyway, be the largest in the Northwest. The initial plans were liberal in extent but if proposed plans go through a much larger building will be the result.

Pitcher Works Released.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—Pitcher Ralph Works, who has been a member of the Detroit baseball team for four years, has been released to Providence in the International league.

Challenge to Sword.

Andrew Wester has issued a challenge to John Sword for a ten-mile run, leaving the details of the affair to Sword. All Wester asks is a side bet of $50 in the event of the race being a go. It is claimed by some of the runners of the city that Wester has the goods to deliver in the way of speed and endurance. He claims a record for fifteen miles of 1:24.

CHANGES IN THE RULES

Football Guide Shows Radical Amendments to the Football Code.

The Forward Pass May Now Be Thrown Any Distance.

According to Spalding's Official Guide, just issued for the gridiron season now approaching, the football rules as revised by the official board, include two very important changes.

One is the radical one of altering the dimensions of the field itself. The other most important change is the allowing of four downs in which to gain the necessary ten yards in place of three downs as formerly. The number of coaches allowed up and down the side lines, reduced last year to three, has now been boiled down to one. Intermissions between the first and second and the third and fourth periods of the game have been shortened to one minute.

Since the introduction in 1876, the field has been 330 feet in length, 160 feet in width, but for the season of 1912 the entire field is to be 360 feet in length, but the playing surface, which is usually known as the field of play, will be only 300 feet in length. At each end is a 30-foot zone behind the goal posts and behind the goal line where the forward pass is legal.

The forward pass, which was restricted to twenty yards, may now be thrown any distance.

The on-side kick has been cut out; that is, the men of the kicker's side who are off-side are not put on-side by the ball touching the ground.

The field judge has been dispensed with and the game left in the hands of three instead of four officials.

If a kicked ball strikes the ground before going over the goal it may not score a goal.

The limit of the kick out instead of being the 25-yard line as formerly is now the 20-yard line.

The 20-yard neutral zone, the bane of officials and players, has been abolished.

Players may not interfere with each other on a forward pass, however, but may in case of a kick.

The kick-off is now made, instead of from the middle of the field, on the kicker's 40-yard line; that is, sixty yards from the goal toward which they are about to kick.

The rules have been rendered more clear and a great deal of time and care was spent by the sub-committee on their revision and rewording. The notes which formerly followed the rules have been incorporated into the rules themselves and the whole code has been simplified as far as possible.

MINNEAPOLIS MAY GET TOURNAMENT.

The International Bowling association's 1913 tournament will be held in Minneapolis if that city can make the raise of the coin for the entertainment. The last three have been held in St. Paul, but Milwaukee got an option on the 1913 meet. Money was too scarce, however, and the beer burg has passed up the gathering. A bunch of the directors have just held a meeting at the courthouse in St. Paul with the result given. Duluth bowlers are much interested in the location of the tournament for the nearer home it is the greater will be the delegation attending from here and Superior.

The tournament will begin on Feb. 11, 1913.

TALKING ABOUT A HOCKEY LEAGUE.

The necessary preliminary fuss for the organization of a 6-team hockey league has been started and an organization may be the result for the coming winter. The Canadian Soo and the Houghton, Mich., rink managers are chief agitators, and the Phoenix team officers of St. Paul seem willing to get into such a league. It may be that Duluth puck-chasing enthusiasts may help along.

SNOW TALKS; WHEAT DROPS

Bearish Report on Crop Conditions Causes a General Slump.

Offers of Flaxseed to Arrive Are Large and Depress Prices.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 5.—The Snow report on crop conditions over the United States, issued today, proved to be a powerful bearish factor and wheat went down on all the North American markets. Duluth September wheat closed today at a decline of ⅝c to ¾c. Cash wheat closed at the September price. Durum closed 2½c off and oats ¼c off. Rye closed unchanged. Duluth September flax closed at a decline of 5c; October 2⅝c off, November, 1¾c off, and December ⅝c off.

Wheat started off on a bullish trend on the North American markets this morning, but this did not last long. Snow's report was exceedingly bearish, and although the weather map showed much rain through the American Northwest and north of it, there was a break in the price of wheat. This was helped by the American primary receipts which were very large, being more than 50 per cent over those of a year ago. A telegram from Alex Stuart of Minneapolis declaring that the wheat crop of North Dakota would be twice as large as it ever was before also helped to depress the value of wheat.

Duluth September, which closed yesterday at 90⅝ cents asked, opened today at 90⅜c bid and at noon was selling at 89¾c. There were lower quotations also from Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat today closed at an advance of ⅝d. The market was bulled by reports of rains in Canada, firmer American and Canadian spring wheat offers, continued unsettled weather in the United Kingdom and continued heavy rains in France. The advance was to some extent held back by the weakness of the Buenos Ayres market due to favorable weather and crop advices and to heavy realizing.

Flax Offers Larger.

Today the offers of flaxseed to arrive from the country were larger on the Duluth market than they have been at any previous time this season. Buyers on the other hand were disposed to hold aloof, expecting still lower prices when the Northwestern flaxseed crop should begin to move. The result was a downward movement. Duluth September flax at noon today was 4c lower, October 2c lower, November 1½c off and December ¼c off. Buenos Ayres October flax last night closed ⅝c off at $1.66½. London Calcutta September and October today closed unchanged at $2.10⅜.

A Chicago wire says: "Snow report for Sept. 1 makes condition of corn 81.5 against 81 on Aug. 1, and on the basis of his estimate of acreage indicates a crop of about 2,925,000,000 bu. During August there was material improvement in Kentucky, Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota, while there was some loss of prospect in Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Missouri on account of drought. The crop continues late and the final result depends to an unusual extent upon the September weather.

"Winter wheat thrashing returns maintain early results, the average to date being 15.4 bu. The condition of spring wheat at time of harvest is reported at 90.6 against 90.2 on Aug. 1. A considerable amount of thrashing has been done over the whole belt and the average yield reported up to Sept. 1 is 16.9 bu, or 2 bu per acre above the figure indicated by the conditional figures last month. If this rate is maintained in later thrashing, it will produce a crop of 325,000,000 bu of which 262,000,000 is in Minnesota and the Dakotas. In spite of some wet weather injury, the quality of spring wheat is remarkably high.

"Thrashing returns for oats show a yield of 5 bu per acre above that indicated by the condition figures on Aug. 1 and at 38.5 bu break all crop records. Yields are above earlier indications in every state and almost in every county where oats are grown. The total crop is reported at 1,443,000,000 bu and except as stained by rain, while in the shock, the quality is much above the normal."

MARKET GOSSIP

Walter Turle, president of Turle & Co., Duluth grain dealers, who is just back from his annual crop inspection tour of North Dakota, declared today that the North Dakota crop of this year would certainly be a record-breaker.

"I spent about two months in the state," said Mr. Turle, "traveling over it in an automobile, and I must say that never did the yield look so fine since the year 1887, and I have made my annual trip over the state every summer during the intervening years. There was, indeed, a large yield in 1887, but then the acreage was not more than half what it is now. What the grain of North Dakota now needs is dry, bright weather. To be sure, in the southern part of the state the wheat is about all cut and some of it is cut in the northern part, but in many places, especially in the northwest corner of the state, there is a great deal of wet wheat standing in the fields. The cutting has been seriously delayed, because of the continuous rains, and the grain, left in many cases ten days longer than it should have been, will have a tendency to shell out, and thus much of it will be lost. Moreover, a great deal of wheat is wet in the shock, and farmers have been waiting for dry weather to give them a chance to thrash it.

"Rye in North Dakota is a fine crop. That, of course, was the first grain to be hauled. Barley, however, has been suffering horribly on account of the wet weather. Much of it is stained and much is wet in the shock, and farmers cannot thrash it.

"As for flax, I believe the bulk of the crop is already out of danger, though much of it is very late. There is a vast difference in the stages of development of the flax in the various fields. Some has already been cut, but in other places the plant is only about 8 inches high. Of course, there is not very much of this extremely late flax. If there is a good, late fall, with dry weather and no serious frosts, I think there is a good chance of saving even the very latest of the flax of North Dakota.

"On the whole, the prospects are fine and promise a vast movement of grain to Duluth this fall."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Are Lifted on Account of Canadian Rains.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Rains delaying the Canadian harvest tended to lift the wheat market. Besides, country offerings of winter wheat were only moderate and there were estimates that Argentine shipments would be small. It was also said more mills might be expected to begin operations at Minneapolis. Opening prices varied from a shade off to ¼c up. December started at 92⅜c to 92⅝c, unchanged to ¼c higher, and steadied around 92⅜@92½c.

The market afterward slid down in consequence of an estimate making this season's crop in the United States 107,000,000 bu larger than a year ago. The close, December 1¼c net lower at 91¼c.

Ideal weather for crops made corn quotations weak. December opened the same as last night to ⅛c lower at 55¼c to 55⅜c and dropped to 54½c.

Big local receipts carried the market yet lower aided by heavy selling supposed to be for a prominent speculator. The close was 1¼c net lower for December, but steady at 54⅛c.

Oats eased off influenced some by the fact that ocean freight room was reported to be the scarcest in more than a quarter of a century. December started at sixteenth down to a like advance at 32½c to 32⅝c, and sagged to 32¼c.

Provisions declined in sympathy with the backset for corn and hogs. First sales ranged from last night's level to 7½c below, with January $19.10 for pork, $10.75 for lard, and $10.15 for ribs.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Gains of Point or More Registered in Early Dealings.

St. Paul and Hills Stocks Especially Strong Near the Close.

New York, Sept. 5.—Stocks manifested some stability on light demand today. Gains of a point or so were registered in the early dealings by Reading, Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific, Amalgamated, Smelting and Steel, with a few less material gains in other railway and industrial issues. Sears-Roebuck, American Tobacco and Snuff added extensively to recent advances. Grangers were not affected by Kansas advices, which reported serious damage to corn from protracted heat. Money opened at yesterday's initial rate, regardless of a better inquiry. Bonds were irregular.

A rise of over 4 points in Snuff and a decline of 1½ points in New Haven furnished the only features of interest in early dealings on the stock exchange today. Other changes were nominal, though mainly upward, with especial strength in Great Northern Ore, Steel and Canadian Pacific.

Selected stocks were bid up sharply, including Reading and United States Steel, which gained a point. Trading showed some activity at times, but soon relapsed into dullness.

Standard shares held their advantage in the late afternoon, the feature elsewhere being Mexican Peroleum, which scored a new high record.

The market closed strong. Stocks were bid up more freely in the closing hour, the demand embracing shares which had lagged early. St. Paul and Hill stocks were especially strong. Mexican Petroleum rose over 6 points and Texas Oil about half as much.

New York stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

PRENDERGAST MAY BE BIG BULL MOOSE CHIEF IN NEW YORK

His Name Keeps Prominent in Convention Held at Syracuse.

Bainbridge Colby's Friends May Not Present His Name.

Governor Johnson of California Addresses the Progressives.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Comptroller William A. Prendergast of New York still loomed large as the leading candidate for governor when the Progressive state convention reassembled today. There were predictions that when the session got down to slate-making this afternoon his would be the only name presented.

Supporters of Bainbridge Colby of New York talked over the situation today and virtually decided not to present his name. It had been announced last night that his name would be presented.

State Chairman Hotchkiss, beyond stating that he is not a candidate, had nothing to say this morning. The state chairman believed a studied attempt had been made by enemies of the party to create friction between Mr. Pren-

RE-ENACT FIGHT OF CIVIL WAR

Two Thousand Soldiers in Sham Battle in Kansas City Park.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6.—Two thousand soldiers gathered in Swope park on the outskirts of the city today to re-enact the battle of Westport, one of the most important engagements of the Civil war fought on Missouri soil. The bloodless battle was arranged in connection with the Westport carnival and reunion in progress here.

On the same ground where fifty years ago real blood was shed, the crack of rifles in mimic warfare was heard today. The first battalion of the Nineteenth United States infantry represented the Blues and the Third regiment, Missouri National Guard, the Grays. Prominent Civil war veterans took parts of Gen. Sterling Price, Generals Marmaduke, Pleasanton, Curtis and other leaders of the old days.

SAY BULL MOOSE TIME HAS PASSED

Louisiana Taft Men Claim It Is Too Late for Petitions.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 6.—If contentions of the Taft leaders are correct, the Louisiana Progressives will not have the names of Col. Roosevelt and their other candidates on the state ticket at the November election. To obtain a place on the ticket the Progressives are required by law to file a petition with the secretary of state signed by at least 1,000 electors. They have not yet done so.

The Taft leaders and Secretary of State Herbert, a brother of Clarence S. Herbert, in charge here of the Taft campaign, say the time limit for filing the petition expired last Tuesday night. The Progressives hold that they have until Oct. 1. The case may go to the court for settlement.

HOT WIND-UP IN MAINE CAMPAIGN

Prohibition and Economy Are Chief Issues Before the Voters.

Portland, Me., Sept. 6. — The activity of the platform speakers and party newspapers continues during the closing hours of the Maine state campaign. The balloting will begin Monday soon after daybreak.

Never have so many speakers of national prominence taken part in a Maine campaign as have appeared on the stump this year. The Democrats have had the aid of Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Democratic candidate for vice president; Speaker Champ Clark, Senator Pomerene of Ohio, and others.

Republican national policies have been presented by Congressmen Hill of Connecticut and Utter of Rhode Island and Former Governor Yates of Illinois.

Governor Frederick W. Plaisted, Democratic candidate for re-election, and his Republican rival, W. M. T. Haines, are delivering several addresses daily.

The principal issues of the campaign are state wide prohibition and economy in the management of state affairs.

GREY DENIES MONEY PHASE

British Foreign Secretary Explains Incident of Letter on Canal.

Basis for Panama Tolls Sought By Man Now on Isthmus.

London, Sept. 6.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, never wrote anything regarding the financial side of the Panama canal question in his recent letter to the Gateshead chamber of commerce. He simply wrote that the British government was making representations to Washington on the subject of the Panama canal act.

An official correction is published in the newspapers today in which it is stated that all further statements attributed to Sir Edward Grey in regard to the burdening of British shipping with an undue proportion of the maintenance charges of the canal were merely comments made by Herbert

THREE DEAD OF CHICAGO HEAT

Windy City Has Hottest September Day in Fifteen Years.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Chicago's hot wave raised the mercury to 94 deg. yesterday, within one degree of this year's record. It was the hottest September day in fifteen years, according to records of the United States weather bureau. Three deaths due to heat and eleven prostrations were reported.

The parks and public bathing beaches were crowded throughout the day. The mercury remained above 90 deg. from noon until about 7 o'clock, when a light wind from the southwest brought a little relief.

ACCUSED OF PART IN DYNAMITE PLANTING

WILLIAM M. WOOD.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company, is the most prominent of the men accused of "planting" dynamite for the purpose of making cases against the mill strikers at Lawrence. It is believed by the friends of the strikers that the mill owners put dynamite in places where it would appear to have been left by the strikers, with the intention of prejudicing the public mind. Wood was indicted and gave himself up. The case against him was worked up by Inspector Thomas J. Lynch.

HUNT BLACKBIRDS WITH FIREWORKS

Topekans Make Vain Fight Against Pest of Feathered Things.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 6.—With a ton of fireworks, Roman candles exclusively, as ammunition, this city last night began a battle against thousands of blackbirds that have invested the great elms and made the streets unsightly.

Each evening the birds fly into the trees of the parks and about the residences. Prof. L. L. Dyche, state fish and game warden, told city officials that Roman candles would drive them out. Last night four men spent several hours firing the candles into the trees.

As the flying balls of fire swept through the leaves of the trees, the birds fairly screamed at their disturbers. A few flew to nearby trees, but most held their roosts and chattered noisily. Finally the firing squad gave up the effort. It is probable the city will invest in shotguns for exterminating.

Bank Statements Called.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks in the United States at the close of business on Wednesday, Sept. 4.

BULL MOOSE MOVES WEST

Talks at Grand Forks, N. D., and Renews Attack on Wilson.

Will Meet Progressives at Fargo and Then Go to Montana.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"I do not believe that the American people will, and they ought not to, put into power a party which enunciates principles which must be immediately repudiated by the party's candidate when he goes before the people," said Col. Roosevelt here today in speaking of the Democratic party and Woodrow Wilson.

The colonel also attacked the political leaders who have espoused "Progressive" principles, but have retained their old political connections instead of joining the Progressive party.

The auditorium here was filled with a friendly crowd when Col. Roosevelt arrived to make his first address of the campaign in North Dakota.

Attack on Wilson.

Saying that Governor Wilson had stated that the Democratic platform was not a program, Col. Roosevelt continued:

"We can get along with a man if he will tell what he means to do. The man or the party we can't get along with is that one that says what his or its principles are, and then says what he or it really doesn't mean. That is what you mean when you say that a platform is not a program. A platform is either a program or else it is a falsification of the truth. If a man has to repudiate his party's platform, then it is high time that he gets a new party or that that party get a radical change of heart."

Referring to Governor Wilson's speech on the tariff, Col. Roosevelt said:

"If the Democratic party's plank on the tariff says what the party doesn't mean, then we can't trust any promise it makes on any subject. If it does mean what it says on the tariff, we'll have the tariff abolished, not only with Canada but with every other country. You are opposed to Canadian reciprocity in this state, and on this point alone you should be with the Progressives."

Referring to "progressives" not

WOODROW WILSON WILL SPEAK IN THE TWIN CITIES SEPT. 18

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson today announced the itinerary of his first trip to the Middle West, as follows:

Sept. 17—State fair, Sioux City, Iowa.

Sept. 18—Minneapolis and St. Paul.

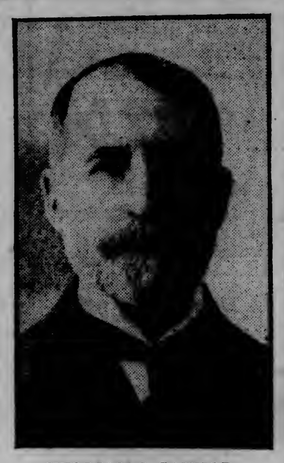

Sept. 19—Milwaukee, Wis.

Sept. 20—Columbus, Ohio.

Sept. 21—Pittsburg, Pa.

All the dates but the first are to be Democratic mass meetings. At Columbus Governor Harmon will preside and James M. Cox, candidate for governor, will speak. The governor will travel in a special car attached to regular trains. Two stenographers, two typewriter operators and a secretary will accompany him.

HIS WORK IS AIRED IN POLICE INQUIRY

WILLIAM J. GAYNOR, Mayor of New York.

SOUTH CAROLINA SCANDALS GROWING

Some Men Allowed to Vote More Than Once, It Is Said.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 6.—The call of John Gary Evans, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, for funds to conduct the investigation of alleged election frauds is bearing fruit. The call was not made until yesterday afternoon, but the fund already is substantial and it is believed it soon will become large enough to conduct the entire investigation.

Some of the late information of fraud in the election is surprising. Counties where no rumors of corruption had escaped are now reporting specific instances. Darlington and Greenwood counties are the latest to unearth scandals. In Greenwood county one of the boxes had twenty-four more votes in it than there were names on the registration list, another had eighteen and still another ten more than lawful.

In Darlington it was found that fifty-eight names appeared on the list in voting precincts that were not on the registration list and that in many instances one man was allowed to vote more than once.

YOUNG KENTUCKIAN ROBBED AND MURDERED.

MAYOR GAYNOR AND HIS ATTITUDE AS TO VICE AIRED IN TRIAL

MACARTHUR'S WIDOW IS ILL

General's Sudden Death at Reunion Is Severe Shock.

Capt. E. B. Parsons Suffers Paralytic Stroke as Result.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Arthur MacArthur, widow of Gen. Arthur MacArthur, lieutenant-general of the United States army, retired, who became unconscious early today when informed of the sudden death of her husband following an apoplectic stroke while attending a banquet of the survivors of his old regiment, the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin Volunteers, is today resting as well as can be expected, according to physicians in attendance.

Mrs. MacArthur has regained consciousness and no immediate change for the worse is anticipated.

Capt. Parsons Stricken.

Capt. E. B. Parsons, toastmaster at the banquet, who suffered a paralytic stroke following the shock incident to the sudden death of Gen. MacArthur, is reported to be resting comfortably at his home this forenoon and it is

THINK THEY HAVE GYP THE BLOOD

International Falls Police Send His Picture to New York.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police here are holding a man they suspected of being "Gyp the Blood," one of the gunmen wanted in the Rosenthal murder case in New York. His picture has been taken and sent to New York. Meanwhile the man will be held a prisoner on a vagrancy charge.

Police Commissioner Waldo First Witness at Hayes Hearing.

He Denies Getting Orders From Mayor or Giving Them to Hayes.

Inspector Denies in Writing Statement Credited to Him.

New York, Sept. 6.—The relationship between Mayor Gaynor and the New York police department; the mayor's attitude on the city's so-called vice and excise problems, and the extent to which the department followed his public declarations of his attitude formed the basis of a relentless cross-examination undergone by Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo today in the trial of Cornelius G. Hayes, an inspector, suspended on charges of making false statements reflecting on the commissioner.

For nearly an hour Thomas Thacher, Hayes' counsel, sought to read into the record the mayor's speeches and utterances on the vice problem. Thwarted in his effort by Terrence Farley, assistant corporation counsel, appearing for the police department, the lawyer finally gained recognition from the trial commissioner, Douglas I. McKay, by this declaration:

Gaynor and Vice.

"I am merely trying to prove that Mayor Gaynor's policy was one under which the social evil was recognized as an unconquerable problem which had to be endured, but that the evil had to present a front of outward decency; that in the failure of Inspector Hayes to raid disorderly houses he was merely reflecting this policy, and that

SALVATION ARMY GIRL IS WITNESS

Can Identify the Men Who Murdered Herman Rosenthal.

New York, Sept. 6.—The district attorney's office expressed satisfaction today in the discovery of a Salvation Army girl who had rooms near the Hotel Metropole and was an eye witness to the murder of Rosenthal. It is said she can identify several, if not all, of the men involved in the shooting.

Another witness, a member of the Elks' club here, has been traced to Troy, N. Y., and an assistant district attorney was dispatched thither last night.

HIGHWAYMEN ROB MAN OF $18,200

Put Senseless Victim in Buggy and Start Horse for Home.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 6.—James H. Pollock was held up and robbed two miles from here during last night by two highwaymen, who beat him into insensibility, stole his watch, $200 in cash and a New York draft for $18,000. They then put him into his buggy and started the horse for Washington. Pollock, dazed and covered with blood from his wounds, was found wandering in the street here today. A posse of deputies with bloodhounds has gone to the scene of the robbery.

FORGERY CHARGE IN LAWYER'S CASE

More Complications Appear Over Trusteeship of Estate.

New York, Sept. 6.—Pending a decision from the district attorney's office here, the authorities of Orange county, N. Y., are holding in abeyance any further investigation into the death of Mrs. Rosa Szabo, an Austrian woman, who was drowned in Greenwood lake, that county, while in company with Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer. At an inquest at the time of the death a verdict of accidental drowning was returned.

One of the chief questions to be cleared up is whether Mrs. Pentrolla Menschnick, mother of the victim and beneficiary under the will, is alive. Mr. Gibson contends that she is alive in this country and he has produced what purports to be a waiver of citation signed by her, placing him in control of her daughter's estate. In the affidavit submitted to the surrogate the Austro-Hungarian consulate alleges that Mrs. Menschnick died in 1910 and that the waiver of citation is a forgery.

Mr. Gibson says he can explain everything and answer all charges at the proper time.

THREE ARMY OFFICERS ARE KILLED USING BIPLANES

Two Britons and One German Victims of Air Accidents.

Stevenage, England, Sept. 6. — Two more British army officers lost their lives while flying today.

Capt. Patrick Hamilton had taken Lieut. Stewart with him as a passenger in his biplane. The two officers had flown for a considerable time when a strong wind suddenly sprang up, and in endeavoring to make headway against it one of the wings of the aeroplane collapsed. The machine fell to the ground from an altitude of 250 feet and was destroyed. The bodies of the two officers were found in the wreck.

Capt. Hamilton was an infantry officer belonging to the Worcestershire regiment, but was attached for duty to the army flying corps. Lieut. Stewart was not an aviator.

German Officer Killed.

Munich, Bavaria, Sept. 6.—A German military airman was killed near here this morning during the reconnoitering flight.

Lieut. Steger of the Bavarian army had ascended in his biplane to make a report of the position of the opposing force in the local maneuvers. The weather was very stormy, and when his machine had reached a height of 300 feet it suddenly buckled and crashed to the ground.

Lieut. Steger died shortly after he was picked up.

CHAMPAGNE PLOT LAID TO CARRIERS

Forty-one Railroads Accused of Discrimination in Rates.

Washington, Sept. 6. — A "champagne conspiracy" on the part of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and forty other railroads was charged before the interstate commerce commission today by a firm of dealers in wines.

The firm complained that the railroads discriminated in favor of California champagnes by charging only $2 per hundred pounds on such shipments from California to New York, while they fixed a charge of $2.25 on champagne shipped from New York to the Pacific coast.

BREAKING INTO THE NEWS.

NEGRO LYNCHED IN PUBLIC STREET OF PRINCETON, W. VA.

Mob Takes Girl's Assailant From Officers and Hangs Him.

Bluefield, W. Va., Sept. 6. — Walter Johnston, negro, accused of assaulting a 14-year-old white girl at Princeton, W. Va., Wednesday, was lynched late last night.

Johnston was hanged to a telegraph pole and his body riddled with bullets. It was the first lynching in Mercer county in years.

When the mob learned that Johnston had been taken out of town by the authorities, a request was made for a special train to go in pursuit. Refused the special, the mob appropriated an engine and two flat cars. It is said many of the members of the mob were railroaders, friends of Mr. White, the girl's father. A fast run was made to Rock, from which point the mob spread out over the country and caught up with the fleeing officers and negro.

Arrival of the mob and negro was greeted by thousands of spectators at Princeton. Judge J. F. Maynard and District Attorney Pendleton pleaded with the mob to wait until the negro was absolutely identified, Judge Maynard proposing to convene a special term of court to give a speedy trial. The mob seemed impressed, but about this time, Mrs. White appeared and positively identified Johnston as the assailant. The crowd broke into an uproar. The negro was taken under an arc light on the main thoroughfare, and put to death.

NO CHANCE TO VOTE FOR TAFT

Stalwarts in South Dakota Must Vote for Roosevelt or Wilson.

T. R. Will Explode With Loud Bang, Says T. E. Andrews.

"We stalwart Republicans of South Dakota have no more chance to vote for Taft than we have for a rabbit," said T. E. Andrews of Lake Andes, S. D., at the Hotel Holland this morning.

Mr. Andrews is a stalwart of the first water, and to be a stalwart in South Dakota means a lot, for it means fealty to faction in the face of defeat after defeat in the last few years. Mr. Andrews, who is a lawyer by profession, has been one of the leaders in party matters in his state for a long time, and until about two years ago was in every Republican convention since South Dakota reached statehood, and before that. In 1904 he represented his state on the committee which notified Theodore Roosevelt of his nomination for the presidency.

"That," said Mr. Andrews this morning, "is the greatest regret of my life. I don't know why I thought Roosevelt such a great man then. I guess I was hypnotized the same as the rest of the country. Since then he has blossomed out in his true colors. He is the biggest bag of wind the nation has ever produced and one of these days he will blow up with a loud noise. You mark that. Ordinarily I think myself a pretty good judge of men, but that time my judgment slipped a cog somewhere.

"I must confess that a good joke has been played on us stalwarts in South Dakota. The Progressive outfit stole everything we had, and we have not the slightest chance to vote for Taft. If we vote the Republican ticket we will have to vote for Roosevelt electors whether we like it or not. Well it's one on us; but I predict that before four years more roll around you will see a decided change, and a lot of people now hollowing their heads off for Roosevelt will be trying to deny it or make excuses.

"I feel confident that Wilson will carry the nation, but I hardly think that he will carry my state, for Roosevelt seems to have them roped and thrown. The Republican ticket out there will win, I think. The only chance the Democrats seem to have is in the matter of their candidate for governor. He is E. S. Johnson of Yankton, and an exceptionally strong man. Johnson is a good, clean fellow, too, and would make a first-rate governor. The Republican candidate is Frank Byrne, also a strong man. The rest of the ticket is fair. Of course, United States Senator Gamble has been beaten for the nomination by Dean Sterling of the state law school. The loss of Gamble is no great one, but the substitution of Sterling is a matter of doubt, for he is an unknown quantity. The long and short of it is that we are in a funny situation in out state, but maybe the Lord takes care of those who cannot take care of themselves, and we are hoping for the best."

Mr. Andrews and his family will leave today on the Octarara for Buffalo and will go to Poughkeepsie, where his sons will re-enter school.

SAYS FATHER IS DEMENTED

Matt Ollila Requested His Son to Shoot Him.

Although Alfred Ollila, 330 St. Croix avenue, had long noticed that his father, Matt Ollila, was failing in reason, his suspicions that his parent was insane were not thoroughly aroused until yesterday. The elder Ollila came to him at that time and begged him to get a gun and "shoot his father."

The older Ollila wanted to die, he said, because he "wasn't good for anything." He is 43 years old and is the father of three childen. Within the past few months his mind has been failing. Now, his relatives say, his memory is a blank and his conversation strange.

Today the son filed information of insanity against the father. After an examination in probate court this afternoon, the man was ordered taken to the Fergus Falls hospital for treatment.

RAILROADS

STAPLES YARDS ARE VERY BUSY

Northern Pacific Traffic Heavy —May Double-Track Line to Duluth.

Staples, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Railroad traffic through here has increased with every call for more cars and trains to handle the crops and farm implements which the West is demanding. Extra forces are in the Northern Pacific yards here to handle the traffic which comes over this line. Over fifty train loads of freight are shipped out of here daily. A great deal of transferring is carried on along with the handling of freight. This city is the division point for all freight and traffic bound for Duluth and the Twin Cities and Fargo. Full train loads of grain are shipped through here to Duluth and a large percentage goes to Minneapolis.

So great is the harvest in the West that it is no uncommon thing to see full train loads of thrashing rigs and farm implements pass through. On Monday a full train of nine baggage cars, filled with silk, passed through this city for New York City. This is the first train of this kind that has passed over this line during this season. The Northern Pacific railroad won the year's contract for shipment of silk over all other competing lines by beating record time over fourteen hours.

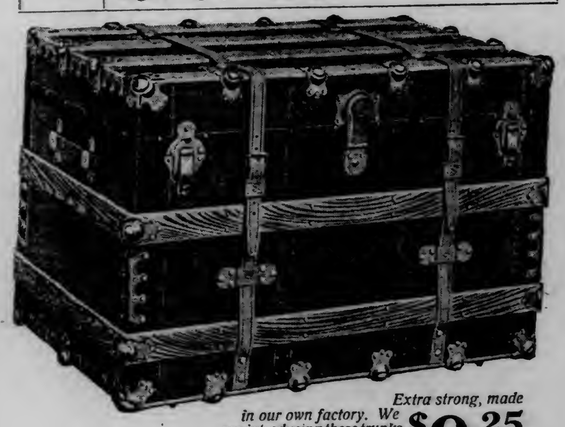

Double Track to Duluth.

So heavy has the traffic become over the line running to Duluth that the railroad expects to double track its entire system from this city to the Head of the Lakes. This will mean that the passenger traffic will also be better and the run between the Twin Cities and Duluth by way of Staples will be shortened.

This part of the state is becoming settled in fast order, and though there is plenty of vacant land at the present time, the next few years will leave very little of the tillable land unoccupied. This part of the state is well known for its growth of farm products and potatoes. Warehouses are springing up in all of the surrounding villages. Staples is the center of this traffic and hundreds of cars of potatoes are expected to be shipped to the Eastern markets from this point.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN MILITIAMEN PROTEST.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The companies of the Michigan National Guard in Northern Michigan, including Co. A, engineers, Calumet; Co. G, Third infantry, Houghton; Co. M, Third infantry, Sault Ste. Marie, and Co. L, Third infantry, Menominee, and the two divisions of the Naval Reserves at Hancock and the one at Escanaba, are planning to ask Governor Chase S. Osborne for representation on the state military board, claiming it is hard to get anything from the military board for the troops of the northern part of the state.

There are 400 men in the service of the state who are practically cut off from the remainder of the state's forces and have absolutely no voice in any of the doings of the military board since the decapitation of Col. James N. Cox of Houghton, formerly secretary of the board and adjutant general. Now they want representation. They believe that when a Saginaw man was named on the board recently the place should have gone to a Northern Michigan man. Col. W. H. Thielman of Calumet is prominently mentioned for a place on the board.

MORE BONDS ARE SEVERED

Deserted and Unhappy Wives Given Freedom From Marriage Ties.

Only One Husband Appears to Deny Charges Against Him.

The divorce mill continues to grind.

Up to this morning, deserted and unhappy wives encountered little trouble in securing legal separations from men who broke their marriage yows. Today one spouse put in an appearance, strenuously denying the charges brought against him. He is Joseph C. Imbleau, from whom Nellie Imbleau is seeking a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

The Imbleau case is being fought out in Judge Ensign's court. This morning Mrs. Imbleau, 43, testified that she had left him twice because of his cruel treatment to her and that she had returned in each instance on his promise of good behavior. This was during her early married life.

In December, 1905, she claims that he attempted to choke her and called her vile names. At that time they were living on Garfield avenue. At various times since, she alleges, he has mistreated her. One of her grievances is that he would not give her any spending money. Imbleau is 48 years old, a carpenter by trade, and lives at 215 Exeter street. They were married twenty years ago.

Mrs. Imbleau asks the court for a divorce decree and a division of his property. There are no children. M. M. Forbes is attorney for the woman and B. M. Goldberg is defending.

Nettie A. Boyle, 37, was granted a divorce by Judge Ensign from Edgar A. Boyle, 37, and allowed to resume her maiden name, Nettie Amelia Connor. The decree was granted on the grounds of desertion. She claimed that she came to Skibo, Minn., from the West to visit her mother and that after three weeks she wrote and told her husband that she was coming home. He informed her, she says, that he did not want her to return. Since that time, she testified, he has repeatedly refused to allow her to come back. She stated that she did not know his present whereabouts.

Theresa Jannace, 44, secured a divorce this morning in Judge Ensign's court from Francesco Jannace, 41, to whom she was married twenty-two years ago in Italy. She testified that he deserted her twelve years ago. There are no children.

* * *

The case of Mary Barrell, 54, against George Barrell, 55, was held open by Judge Ensign for further corroborative testimony. She is suing for a decree on the grounds of desertion. She also asks for the custody of their two children.

* * *

Two other decrees were granted. Judge Dancer sanctioned the separation of Annie Johnson, 46, from Hans Johnson, 51, desertion being proved. There are two children, both of whom will remain with the mother. Judge Ensign granted a divorce to Ingeborg Moe from Martin K. Moe on the grounds of desertion.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY

Eleven Indictments Returned, Seven of Which Are Secret.

Emil Lindholm Must Face Charge of Second Degree Murder.

Eleven indictments, seven of which were secret, were returned this morning by the September grand jury in a partial report to the district court. The grand jury expects to finish its work by tomorrow afternoon.

Emil Lindholm was indicted for murder, second degree. He is accused of the killing of Thomas Kallie on July 5 at the Belmont hotel, 705 West Superior street. Kallie died from a knife wound following a saloon brawl.

Nora Whitehatch, colored, is under indictment for robbing Ed Gustafson, a railroad laborer, of a roll of $150 early on the morning of Aug. 8 near the restricted district. She is charged with grand larceny, second degree.

Victor Maki, who, it is claimed, robbed George Jarvinen of $6.50, under the Sixth avenue viaduct on July 17 last, was indicted for grand larceny, second degree. Maki is said to have a previous record.

Mike Divjak is accused under a grand jury indictment of having robbed Joe Subat of a $25 watch and chain and $3.66 in cash at New Duluth on June 8 last. It is said that he used a revolver in the transaction. He is charged with robbery in the first degree.

Of the remaining seven indictments, which cannot be made public until the indicted persons have been placed under arrest, four are accused of abandonment of wife and children, one charged with embezzlement, one with grand larceny, second degree, and the other with carnal knowledge of a young girl.

said he probably will be able to leave his bed within a few days.

Gen. Arthur MacArthur died suddenly last night following an apoplectic stroke with which he was stricken while addressing the survivors of his old Civil war regiment, the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin volunteers, known as the Chamber of Commerce regiment, at the E. B. Wolcott Post headquarters. The occasion was the fiftieth anniversary of the day the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin left Milwaukee for the front. Of the over 700 original members, about 100 survivors attended the festivities.

Was Addressing Comrades.

Gen. MacArthur had been introduced by the toastmaster, Capt. E. B. Parsons, his companion all through the Civil war, following the address of W. P. Bishop of the chamber of commerce. Gen. MacArthur had been talking only a few minutes and was telling of the famous march through Georgia. He paused suddenly with the remark:

"Comrades, I am too weak to proceed."

He then sat down and his head fell forward, death following almost instantly.

Scarcely had the tragic announcement of the sudden death been made when Capt. Parsons, who a few minutes previously had introduced his lifelong friend and comrade to the banqueters, fell forward, himself stricken with paralysis.

Gen. Charles King, an old friend and a comrade of Gen. MacArthur, headed a committee which informed Mrs. MacArthur of her husband's death.

With the breaking of the sad news the widow of the dead general swooned and remained unconscious during the greater part of the night.

Recited Lord's Prayer.

An extremely pathetic incident was enacted when the comrades attending the banquet were informed of the death of their old commander. With bowed heads and tears streaming down their cheeks, the gray-haired veterans, led by Rev. Paul B. Jenkins, repeated the Lord's prayer.

The banquet came to a sudden ending following the announcement of the passing away of Gen. MacArthur.

While nothing definite regarding funeral arrangements has been announced, it is expected that the services will be of a private and simple character in keeping with a previously expressed wish of Gen. MacArthur.

The burial probably will take place on Monday afternoon.

Arthur MacArthur was born in Springfield, Mass., June 2, 1845. His parents moved West and he was educated in the public schools of Milwaukee, Wis., and under private tutors. His first office in the volunteer army of the Civil war was that of first lieutenant and adjutant of the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin in 1862, and he became a major in 1864, and lieutenant colonel in 1865. In 1866 he was appointed a first lieutenant in the Seventeenth United States infantry and rose steadily in the service, becoming a lieutenant general in 1906.

In March, 1865, he was breveted lieutenant colonel of volunteers for brilliant service in the battles of Perryville, Ky., Stone River, Missionary Ridge and Dandridge, Tenn. He was made colonel for his work in the battle of Franklin, Tenn., and in the Atlanta campaign, and on June 30, 1890, was awarded the congressional medal of honor "for seizing the colors of his regiment at a critical moment and planting them on the captured works at the crest of Missionary Ridge, Nov. 25, 1863."

He served in the Philippines during the Spanish war, and for more than a year was a military governor in the Philippines. He was retired June 2, 1909, by operation of law. He was a member of the Loyal Legion.

Gathering Expense Data.

Washington, Sept. 6.—An important inquiry is being conducted on the Isthmus of Panama by Prof. Emery R. Johnson, special commissioner on Panama traffic and tolls. Prof. Johnson has already compiled, by direction of the secretary of war, all of the vast amount of statistics bearing upon the character and probable amount of traffic that will pass through the Panama canal, which has formed the basis of congressional action.

He is now engaged in a study of the financial aspect of the enterprise so that tolls may be adjusted to needs of the canal on a strictly scientific basis, and it is expected in Washington soon with this data.

In view of Sir Edward Grey's alleged statement that British ships will have to pay for American exemption, it is noted that in the data already prepared by Prof. Johnson, it appears that according to the best estimate the whole of American coastwise traffic that is likely to pass through the Panama canal in the immediate future as soon as it is opened, will be about 1,000,000 tons, or a little more than 10 per cent of the total tonnage that will pass through the canal in the years 1915 and 1916. In the course of five years, it is estimated that this American coastwise tonnage will rise to 1,414,000 tons, but as foreign commerce will increase in like proportion, the same relation between the two will exist.

Borne by Americans.

On the face of figures, this would indicate that British and other foreign commerce would have to bear an additional burden of 10 per cent in tolls over and above what it would pay were American coastwise shipping not exempted. It is pointed out, however, as a matter of fact, that a proportionate share of this burden, if it did exist, would have to be borne by American ships in American trade, which consequently would be on precise equality with British ships.

Prof. Johnson's statements disclose still another factor that doubtless will be urged by the American negotiators as a reply to the British contention. This is set out in his comparison of the Suez canal with the Panama route. After pointing out the many advantages of use in the way of coaling facilities, low insurance rates, superior opportunities for picking up cargoes between terminals, and the like, Prof. Johnson declares that the only possibility of the Panama canal getting a fair share of the world's business is to place tolls at a figure actually lower than by the Suez route. These are now $1.20 per ton, so that the rate on the American canal must be sensibly lower than this, and the professor has even mentioned a flat dollar rate for the first few years of the canal's operation at least.

Would Not Be Enough.

On the basis of 12,000,000 tons business this would yield an adequate income to meet the cost of operation and maintenance of the canal—$3,500,000—allow $500,000 a year for sanitation of the zone and provide a fair rate of interest on the $375,000,000 which the canal has cost, not to speak of the impossibility of providing for a sinking fund. Allowing 2 per cent interest on the capital invested in the canal and 1 per cent for the sinking fund, the total of annual charges on the canal are likely to be more than $15,000,000, or about 80 per cent more than the gross revenue from tolls.

With these figures before them and the rate on British shipping fixed far below the actual cost of service by conditions over which the United States government has no control, it is believed by the officials here that they will have little difficulty in showing that exemption of American coastwise traffic from tolls has no influence upon their shipping and consequently that no discrimination is proposed in violation of treaty rights.

MAYOR GAYNOR AND HIS ATTITUDE AS TO VICE AIRED IN TRIAL

any orders issued to him by Police Commissioner Waldo were directly in violation of that policy."

Mr. Thacher then was permitted to proceed with his cross-examination along the lines he desired.

"Does not Mayor Gaynor direct your policy toward vice?" he asked Waldo.

"He does not," snapped the commissioner.

"Have you ever observed the mayor's views on the excise question?"

"The mayor's views," Mr. Waldo replied, almost before the question had all been asked, "were given to the police in general order No. 17 in 1910. That order still is in force."

"Don't you know the mayor's views on vice are that we have to suffer this evil?"

"I do not know anything about the mayor's views except what he told me; he never told me anything like that."

"Has Mayor Gaynor ever instructed you to deal with disorderly houses?"

"He never has given me any instructions on that subject."

Waldo First Witness.

Commissioner Waldo was the first witness called to the stand today at the departmental trial of Cornelius G. Hayes, deposed police inspector, charged with making false statements concerning the commissioner. Douglass C. McKay, first deputy commissioner, presided, having overruled the contention of Hayes' lawyer that he was incompetent to preside because he had been subpoenaed as a witness.

Commissioner Waldo testified that he called before him Aug. 16 the various inspectors to ascertain which one of them, if any, had given an anonymous interview, published that day, to the effect that orders had been given by Waldo that no disorderly houses should be raided without his instruction.

"Inspector Hayes then told me he understood his orders were not to raid disorderly houses without specific instructions from me," Commissioner Waldo continued.

No Specific Orders.

"Had you ever given him such orders?" asked Terence Farley, assistant corporation counsel, representing the department.

"No, I gave him no orders other than the general instructions to observe peace and good order and to enforce all the laws. The inspector personally was responsible for the enforcement of the laws, including the excise laws and those against gambling, in his district, and to aid him and other inspectors we maintained a special squad of detectives."

"Did you ever instruct Inspector Hayes to refrain from obtaining evidence against disorderly houses?" Mr. Farley asked.

"He never was given any instructions of that character in any form whatsoever," Commissioner Waldo replied.

This ended the direct examination and Thomas Thacher, counsel for Hayes, began the cross examination by asking if Commissioner Waldo had not made a record for eliminating graft in the fire department.

Hayes Denies Interview.

Although Hayes denied in writing that he had said he could force Waldo's resignation within twenty-four hours, he has not repudiated other features of his recent conference with Mr. Whitman and he still is expected to be the chief witness at the "John Doe" inquiry into the police situation.

dergast and himself over the governorship, with the ultimate design of disrupting the new party.

Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California, Progressive vice presidential candidate, was expected here to address the morning session of the convention, after which an adjournment probably will be taken until this afternoon.

Called Out of Bed.

So acute had the situation become early this morning that the various county chairmen were routed out of their beds for a conference. Thirty of the sixty chairmen appeared at headquarters shortly after 3 o'clock, and after discussing the situation for several hours in secret finally decided to take a vote, which, however, was not to bind the chairmen as to any action they might take in convention. This vote showed 18 for Comptroller Prendergast, 5 for Mr. Hotchkiss and 1 for Former State Senator Frederick M. Davenport of Oneida.

The conference adjourned to meet before the convention assembled, when Timothy L. Woodruff was to report as to whether Mr. Prendergast would permit his name to be presented to the convention if other candidates were named.

Mr. Woodruff said after the conference that the deliberations of the county chairmen made it almost certain that Mr. Prendergast would be the nominee of the convention. With this view many of Mr. Hotchkiss' friends did not agree.

Hotchkiss Is Prominent.

After a conference with Comptroller Prendergast, Mr. Woodruff announced that the comptroller had agreed to permit his name to be presented to the convention with those of other candidates, including Chairman Hotchkiss.

Thus the situation was construed by the delegates to have narrowed down to a contest on the convention floor between the supporters of Mr. Prendergast and the state chairman, although other candidates may be named to head the ticket.

Chairman Strauss said the convention would hold only one session today, and believed that the delegates would conclude their work of building a ticket by night.

With either Prendergast or Hotchkiss to head the ticket, the leaders hope to persuade Dean Cook to reconsider his determination not to accept second place. Failing in that, they planned to name Joseph A. Griffin of Syracuse.

Hear Governor Johnson.

Governor Johnson arrived in his special car from Columbus shortly before noon. A crowded lobby greeted him with shouts and applause when he arrived at his hotel.

"Hiram's the right man" and "What's the matter with Hiram?" shouted the crowd.

After addressing the convention during the afternoon the governor planned to leave at midnight for Detroit.

HURT ON FAIR GROUND.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 6.—Nine persons were seriously injured, one of them fatally by a runaway horse on the fair grounds yesterday afternoon. The injured:

John Miller, Storm Lake, Iowa, broken leg, may have concussion of the brain. William Hicks, Storm Lake, Iowa, trampled by horse, leg broken. Charles Wegner, Bertha, Minn., face lacerated. George Tauer, 36 years old, New Brighton, Minn., eye cut, arm sprained. Ted McNamara, Minneapolis, chest trampled, serious. Charles Adler, Monroe, Wis. Miss Mary Turner and John Bergren, Minneapolis, dragged 150 feet.

Bergren had been riding the horse in the vicinity of the display of farm machinery when the animal took fright at a passing traction engine. The rider was thrown and dragged a distance of 150 feet through the crowd. All were taken to the emergency hospital on the grounds. Later Miller and Hicks were removed to a downtown hospital.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

"Just notice that kid over there. Ain't he about the happiest you've ever laid eyes on?" remarked a cop as he drilled along his Superior street beat yesterday afternoon.

The youngster was about 6 or 7 years old and he was the picture of overflowing delight. He seemed to be bursting with an irrepressible joy. He was reveling in the pleasure of the richest minute of his life.

The possession of 30 cents, six nickles, was all that was required to make that boy feel wealthier than Croesus in his palmiest days. To say that he felt like 30 cents puts a new meaning upon that oft-used phrase. What it meant to him can probably best be illustrated by the manner in which he came into the possession of so vast a fortune.

Yesterday afternoon the kid walked into a downtown cigar store on Superior street. Bashfully pulling his cap from his head—the cap showed where he had brushed away the signs of vacation—he walked up to the man behind the showcase. Stretching his neck so that he could look into the face of the presiding genius of the smokery he asked in a weak voice if there wasn't some kind of a job he could get.

Rather surprised that the youngster didn't ask for the "makin's" or other forbidden fruits, the face which had been steeled for a refusal softened. "No, sonny, we haven't got a thing you could do here," he smiled at the anxious eyes turned to him. "I'm sorry, but you would be too small to work around a place like this."

The crestfallen look attracted his sympathy and he asked the small lad why he wanted a job.

"I been lookin' for a job fer a week," he gulped, struggling to keep back the tears. "I wants to make a nickel soz I kin start a bank account in school. Most of de other kids hez got one."

Five other men who were lounging in the place had seen the boy enter and watched to see what he wanted. When they heard his statement each of them reached into his pocket and pulled out a nickel. The man behind the showcase added his to the lot and placed them into the kid's hand.

The youngster was so overcome that he lost himself for words, but his face was more eloquent of thanks than any words could possibly have been. He backed silently to the street door. "Good-bye," he said. And without another word he turned and made his way eastwards along the crowded thoroughfare.

The case against Louis Zoey, the chauffeur who was arrested Tuesday night for bumping into the hack of "Stillwater Jack" Hettinger, was dismissed in police court yesterday afternoon. Zoey's mother had agreed to pay for all damages and settle with the hackman for lost time. He claimed that it was an accident which was unavoidable. The machine was injured worse than the hack, it being estimated that it will cost $100 to repair it, while the bill for the hack will be less than half that sum.

Matt Gyljusic was arrested by Sergeant Barber and Patrolman Ek in a West Duluth boarding house last night on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. It was reported in police court this morning that he had accompanied another man to the place to act as an interpreter and had no intentions of using the smoke wagon. Lieut. Wilcox said that he would recommend leniency and sentence was suspended.

Frank Ollila isn't 60 years old yet, but he agrees with Dr. Osler that when a man has lost his usefulness on this sphere he should shuffle off the mortal coil.

"I'm no good any more," he says. "I am going to kill myself. I can't remember anything. If it's meal time I can't remember where I ought to eat; at bed time I can't remember where my bed is; if I lay my coat down I can't remember where I laid it. I'm no good but I might amount to something in the other world."

Ollila's friends aren't Oslerized and declare that Ollila is crazy. Wherefore they caused his arrest.

Edward Oven of West Duluth was arrested this morning on a charge of obstructing an alley back of his home at West Duluth. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for next Thursday afternoon. The complaint was sworn out by Frank Heidman.

* * *

William G. Lawrence was arraigned this morning on a warrant charging him with having abandoned his four small children. The complaint was sworn to by his wife, Minnie Lawrence. Lawrence denied his guilt and the matter will be thrashed out next week. He explained that he had been out at Spokane and returned yesterday, giving himself up to the sheriff when he learned that a warrant had been issued for him. He claims that he has been sick part of the time he has been absent but that he has sent his family money whenever he has been able to work.

* * *

Charles M. Smith pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having been drunk and disorderly. The police reported that he had walked up to a stranger and slapped him while the latter was talking to some women on the street. The court said $15 and costs or ten days in the county jail.

* * *

Fred Dawson admitted that he is a vagrant when brought into police court this morning. He got five days in the county bastile. The police say that he was trying to sell some razors along the Bowery yesterday and could give no satisfactory explanation of how he came into possession of them.

* * *

Peter Murphy can't stay away from the booze. Yesterday he bought or sponged all the red eye he could and then went to the East end to beg for money with which to get more of the stuff. But it will be at least two months before he repeats the performance. This morning he pleaded guilty to third offense drunkenness and was sent over the hill for sixty days straight.

* * *

George Walzak denied in police court this morning that the supper of his wife and eight children last night consisted of dry bread and water. The police stated that he had been on a spree for two weeks and had been so neglecting his family that their evening meal was limited to the diet mentioned. He was given five days in the county jail. The court advised him to provide for those dependent upon him when he is released, explaining that the lightness of the sentence was due to consideration of his wife and children.

* * *

Frank Zimmerman and George Cuocietta were held equally culpable when they were up in police court yesterday afternoon on charges of disorderly conduct. The two had trouble over some grapes and peaches which George alleged Frank took from a fruit stand. George declared that he had to swat Frank in order to make him quit and Frank claimed that George pasted him before he had a chance to pay for them. Each paid a fine of $7.

Pe-ru-na and Ka-tar-no

S.B. Hartman, M.D.

I have received a letter from a young lady, who asks me: "Is the old Pe-ru-na (Ka-tar-no) better than the revised Pe-ru-na?"

Either medicine has its place. One is adapted for one condition, another for another. Ka-tar-no is a better remedy for some conditions than the revised Pe-ru-na. On the other hand, the revised Pe-ru-na is a better remedy for some conditions than Ka-tar-no. They are both intended as catarrh remedies. They have both done a great work in relieving catarrh, chronic and acute. Many hundreds of cases of chronic catarrh have recovered while taking Ka-tar-no and the same is true of the revised Pe-ru-na during the last six years since its revision.

There is a difference, however, in the two remedies. Whenever catarrh is associated with constipation then the revised Pe-ru-na is the best. Indeed, this is exactly why the revision was made, to meet such cases. But where no laxative is needed, where the bowels are regular or inclined to be loose, then the old Pe-ru-na (Ka-tar-no) is the better remedy.

The revised Pe-ru-na is for sale at all drug stores. Those wishing to obtain Ka-tar-no, address The Ka-tar-no Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Unusual Story of Murder and Protected Vice Told in Chicago.

Twenty-One Deaths in West Hammond Regarded as Mysterious.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—An unusual story of murder, protected vice and official graft was disclosed to Coroner Hoffman in connection with the West Hammond vice investigations, when Miss Frances Ford, 20 years old, who is said to have been in company with John Messmaker before his death, Aug. 13, from supposed poison in a resort in that suburb, made a confession that covered eighty pages of typewritten matter.

The confession followed the arrest of the girl after two weeks' search conducted by Miss Virginia Brooks, Assistant County Attorney Thomas J. Johnson, Coroner Hoffman and the Chicago police.

Coroner Hoffman expects a report Saturday from a chemist on the examination of the vital organs of Messmaker.

"If poison is found in Messmaker's body I shall take up with the proper officials the subject of a number of other West Hammond deaths," said Coroner Hoffman.

Twenty-One Strange Deaths.

The narrative of Miss Ford is said to include the charge that several murders were perpetrated in West Hammond resorts, where it is reported twenty-one men have died under mysterious circumstances. Only three of these, however, are matters of record, and the facts concerning them are shrouded in mystery.

John Messmaker, it is said, was drugged and latter a hypodermic injection of poison was given him before he died, Aug. 13.

At least two other men are said to have met a similar fate within twelve months.

States Attorney Wayman is preparing to investigate the allegations of graft and crime in West Hammond made by Miss Brooks and others. The facts, it is said, will be presented to the September grand jury.

The questioning of Miss Ford was delayed owing to the activity of alleged agents of the alleged "vice ring," composed of West Hammond saloonkeepers.

Dodged Suspicious Followers.

As the girl was being taken to the coroner's office by Detective Mathew Borden, several men were seen following and acting suspiciously. The detective, believing the men to be representatives of resort keepers, who it is believed are making an effort to get possession of the girl and send her out of the city, entered a descending elevator with his charge and hurried her out of the county building without entering the coroners' office.

The girl and the detective entered an automobile and began a time-killing trip along the boulevards of the city. The police had been holding the girl without a warrant and it was feared that agents of the "vice ring" would obtain her release on a writ of habeas corpus.

While she was driven about in the automobile, Assistant County Attorney Johnson was preparing charges against her.

Another slugging occurred Thursday night at Burnham, a nearby suburb, making an additional chapter to the history of the war against vice in that village and West Hammond. J. L. Darling, clerk of the Burnham school board, and William A. Schroeder, both of whom are working with Miss Virginia Brooks in her crusade against vice and graft, were assaulted.

SUGGESTS TAX REFORMS.

National Tax Association Finishes Sessions at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 6.—Allen R. Foote of Columbus, Ohio, retiring president of the National Tax association, was elected honorary president at the closing session of the annual conference. Other officers elected were: Vice president, S. Lowe, chairman of the Kansas tax commission; secretary, T. S. Adams, Madison, Wis.; treasurer, A. E. Holcomb, New York.

Mr. Foote, founder of the association, and who financed the first meeting five years ago, asked to be retired because of ill-health, but the conference requested him to accept the honorary presidency and act as advisory member of the executive committee.

Establishment of a permanent state equalization board to equalize values between all classes of property and a permanent county tax commissioner, who could be appointed to act as county assessor, were the recommendations made by the report of the commission. The Iowa commission will file a report with Governor Carroll asking him to include the recommendations in his message to the next general assembly.

IS LAND AGRICULTURAL?

Question Is Raised By Southern Pacific in Federal Suit.

Portland, Or., Sept. 6.—Whether Southern Oregon land, valued at $75,000,000, is agricultural land or valuable exclusively for its timber, and if it is non-agricultural, whether the fact would have any bearing upon the government's demand for forfeiture, is the problem before the special examiner in the Oregon and California land grant suit.

Land Commissioner B. A. McAllister of the Southern Pacific submitted maps classifying the 2,300,000 acres owned by the railways on the original California and Oregon land grant. He testified that he had caused graders and land experts to traverse about 40 per cent of the total, and their estimate based upon this examination was that 75 per cent of the land was timbered.

Special District Attorney Townsend in the cross-examination attacked the accuracy of the classifications.

The railway company has made its own ground of defense for disregarding the terms of the original grant that the remaining land is not adapted to agriculture. Its position is that congress intended that agricultural land should be sold to applicants and that this has been done, the remaining lands being mostly timber, and the government should have no concern in seeing that it went into the hands of small holders.

SPRY RENAMED BY UTAH G. O. P.

Senator Sutherland as Chairman Calls Roosevelt Gaseous Comet.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 6.—Governor William Spry and Congressman Joseph Howell were both re-nominated by the Republican state convention here. There was no opposition to either candidate.

The only fight in the convention developed in the selection of the running mate for Congressman Howell. After the second ballot, the fight for nomination centered between Harry S. Joseph and Judge Jacob Johnson. Joseph led on three ballots, but on the fourth most of the out-of-town delegates combined against him and voted for Johnson.

United States Senator George Sutherland delivered the keynote speech, in which he made a severe attack on Theodore Roosevelt. He referred to Mr. Roosevelt as a "comet, a wandering tramp of the skies, mostly gas, which will disclose its true character when the hot air comes in contact with the solid body of the Republican party."

Mrs. Margaret Zane Witcher made a strong fight for the nomination for state treasurer. She met with opposition in the country districts, and was defeated.

The complete state ticket follows:
For governor—William Spry.
For congressmen—Joseph Howell (incumbent) and Jacob Johnson.
Justice of the supreme court—J. E. Frick.
Secretary of state—David Mattson.
Treasurer—Jesse D. Jewkes.
Auditor—Lincoln J. Kelly.
Superintendent of public instruction—A. C. Nelson.
Attorney general—A. R. Barnes.

OCONTO DAMAGED BY LOG JAM FLOOD.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 6.—Thousands of dollars damage to property resulted last night when a log jam on the Oconto river raised the water in the stream eight feet in a few hours and flooded the residence districts of the town of Oconto. The Chicago & Northwestern railroad yards in Oconto were under water and persons moved to the second stories of their homes to escape the flood. No loss of life has been reported.

MADAM! IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Waste-clogged bowels, torpid liver and decaying food in stomach cause the sick headache, gas, backache, sallowness, biliousness and indigestion.

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this to-night—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean and regular. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGHER

Fruits and Vegetables Continue to Work Lower in Price.

Poultry Figures Sag a Little —Meats Maintain Big Values.

Butter, the price of which has held steady for many weeks, has at last made a change, and the change is upward. The best creamery in prints, which a week ago was selling at Duluth at the wholesale price of 27 cents a pound, is now ruling at 29 cents. The wholesale price of the best dairy, which a week ago was 22 to 23 cents a pound, is now 24 to 25 cents. The local wholesale dealers hardly know how to account for the increase, but they say the local market is merely following that of the East, where the demand for butter has been very strong, and the price movement has been decidedly upward.

Eggs, which have also been very steady for many weeks, maintaining a wholesale price of 22 to 23 cents a dozen, have risen to 24 and 25 cents a dozen. Eggs are very scarce. Just why they are scarce the wholesale dealers seem to be at a loss to understand, but they say the supplies in the country are very hard to find. They say that the farmers either have a very few eggs or they are not sending them to market. The wholesalers are having great trouble in filling their orders for eggs, and many are the orders that have to wait several days before the eggs can be delivered.

Cheese remains steady. Its prices have not changed locally during the past week.

The movements that have taken place in the fruit market tell a different kind of a story. With the advance of the season the prices of many of the fruits have been going down very materially as the supplies of the market have increased.

California yellow peaches, which a week ago were bringing 90 cents to $1 a box, are now selling at 85 to 90 cents. There is a large movement in peaches. They are now coming not only from California, but from Washington also. Washington Elberta peaches are on the market at the wholesale price of 80 to 90 cents a box. There is a very large movement of peaches and it will probably continue as usual until November.

Blue grapes from Iowa and Illinois, which a week ago were bringing a wholesale price of 30 cents per ten-pound basket, are now selling at 22 to 25 cents. These grapes, as well as other kinds, are arriving in large quantities. California white seedless grapes have declined from $1.75 to $1.50 a crate, and California Malaga grapes from $2.25 to $1.50 a crate.

Blackberries from Washington, which a week ago were ruling at $3 for a 24-quart case, are now priced at $2.75.

Apples of this year's crop are now coming in from many states, all the way from Maine to California. Large quantities are now being shipped to Duluth from Iowa and Illinois. The prices have been working lower. A box of new apples that brought $1.75 wholesale a week ago now goes for $1.50. Fancy variety apples, which a week ago were ruling at $3.75 to $4 a barrel, are now at $3.25 to $3.50.

Watermelons are cheaper. The wholesale price a week ago was 25 to 30 cents, but it is now 20 to 25 cents each. The Missouri melons are no longer coming, but their place has been taken by those from Iowa and Illinois.

Arizona cantaloupes, which a week ago were selling on the Duluth market at $2.75 a crate, have given place to Colorados at $3 a crate. The Colorados have just begun to come and it is expected that they will soon cheapen. The quality is very fine. The Indiana gem melons, which a week ago were bringing 85 cents a basket, are now on the market at 75 cents a basket.

A new variety of pears is on the market. This is the California "B" Hardy, which is selling at $2.25 per bushel box. This is a good eating and cooking pear, though not so much a favorite as the Bartlett.

The stock of lemons on hand is decreasing and an advance in price is expected soon.

Red home-grown tomatoes have declined from $1.50 to $1 a bushel. Green tomatoes are on the market at 75 cents a bushel.

Vegetables, like fruits, have made a downward movement on the Duluth market since a week ago. Home grown cabbage has declined from $1.50 to $1.25 for a 100-pound crate, radishes from 25 to 20 cents a dozen bunches, peppers from $1.50 to $1.25 a bushel, Iowa red onions from $2 to $1.75 a 100-pound sack and Minnesota green corn from 15 to 12 cents a dozen.

White pickling onions are on the market at $2.25 to $2.50 a bushel, Hubbard squashes at $1.75 a dozen, and pumpkins at $1.50 a dozen.

New potatoes, the wholesale price of which a week ago was 60 cents, are now bringing 40 to 45 cents. Sweet potatoes have declined from $2.25 to $1.50 a bushel. The supplies are still coming from Virginia, but the Jerseys from New Jersey are expected very soon. New carrots have gone down from $1 to 85 cents a bushel, and new rutabagas from 65 to 50 cents a bushel.

Poultry has been easing off a very little bit. More is arriving from the country than was coming a week ago, but still there is not enough brought in by the farmers near Duluth to supply the Duluth market. Some poultry is still being shipped in from Sioux City and Omaha. Dressed roosters, which a week ago were bringing 13 and 14 cents a pound, are now selling at 12 cents, wholesale. Live broilers, which a week ago were bringing 19 to 21 cents a pound, are now going at 17 to 19 cents.

The wholesale prices of meats have not changed from what they were a week ago. Meat still remains high, as the market receipts are small in all parts of the country. It is expected, however, that there will be a larger movement after two or three weeks, and the prices will tend to ease off.

Sugar is due to go higher very soon. Refiners have already given such notice to the brokers.

NELSON AGAIN HEAD OF POSTOFFICE CLERKS.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 6.—Oscar F. Nelson of Chicago was re-elected president, and Indianapolis selected as the next meeting place, of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks.

Sessions of the convention were executive, but it was announced that opponents to the bill allowing pensions for aged government employes had been defeated. It was urged in opposition to the petitions that employes nearing the age limit would become subservient to political influence through fear of losing their positions. It was also suggested that the pensions system would be urged as an argument against increase in present salaries.

TO REDUCE EGG PRICES

Scientific Plans Being Taught By Department of Agriculture.

Farmers Will Benefit By Them as Well as Public.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Eggs have doubled in price during the past ten years, but if the agricultural department is successful in the movement it is undertaking to teach the scientific production and handling of eggs, it is expected the present price will be greatly reduced.

Over $45,000,000 worth of eggs annually are lost from causes which are preventable according to estimates of the department. One-third of this loss is due to the premature development of the embryo chick. Farmers are urged by the agricultural experts to segregate the roosters after June 1, and so eliminate this loss. This simple expedient, they declare, would be effective and equivalent to a saving of as much as three cents a dozen on the marketed eggs. The infertile eggs keep longer with less care, and it is declared are produced equally as abundantly.

Almost another third of the loss is due to a habit of farmers and egg dealers of holding back eggs during the fall months. Prices are then rapidly advancing, and in the belief that a greater return will be realized, the eggs are not allowed to go on the market when they are fresh. Owing to the porous construction of an egg shell, moisture can evaporate through it. The result of holding the eggs, therefore, is to cause a shrinkage of the contents, reducing their value and preventing their sale in the better class of markets. If the farmers would discontinue this practice the agricultural experts declare they actually would get more for their eggs.

As to the "Bad" Egg.

Dirty eggs are the cause of a loss of nearly two per cent of the entire crop produced. Broken eggs cause a like loss. Both of these factors are preventable. Contrary to general opinion, only about three per cent of all the eggs are lost on account of spoiling in some way or another.

The ordinary form of "bad" egg is the least dangerous, and possibly the least numerous, it is asserted. It affords prima facie evidence of its unfitness for food. Eggs that are infected with bacteria, however, present a danger much more insidious. The comparatively large pores of the egg shells afford an easy entrance to any form of disease germs. They are kept out of the egg itself only by a thin membrance lining surface of the shell.

This membrane is impervious only so long as kept dry. As soon as it is moistened it no longer affords a barrier to the entrance of disease germs. As a result, eggs may become dangerously contaminated through improper handling in storage or shipment by permitting them to become wet.

The "candling" of eggs in recommended emphatically. To the uninitiated this is usually regarded as a very mysterious process. As a matter of fact, it consist merely of examining each individual egg before a light from an electric bulb or candle. Experienced "candlers" are able to tell with accuracy the internal condition of the egg. After "candling" the eggs are sorted in "firsts," or the perfect ones; "seconds" or those not quite so recent in origin, but still fit for food, and into various other grades between the "firsts" and those discarded as bad.

"Case Count" Condemned.

The department condemns the method of selling eggs by "case count." The case count method takes no notice of partially or entirely bad eggs. The department suggests that the "loss-off" system be substituted. Under this, the bad eggs are charged against the farmer, and for them he receives nothing.

The department argues that the inauguration of this system would provide for an inducement for the egg raisers to interest themselves in the improvement of their product and ultimately react to their own good. It also is urged that cash be paid for eggs instead of offering merchandise in return.

An extension of various preserving methods, such as drying, flaking and freezing, is also advised. Nearly $10,000,000 worth of eggs annually are rendered useless by whole or partial breakage, or because of a discoloration of the shell. Neither of these defects would affect the use of the egg for cooking purposes. Active efforts are being made to bring about the more extensive use of the various preserving processes. Dr. Doolittle, acting chief of the pure food board, is an enthusiast on this subject, and probably will institute an extensive campaign for the promulgation of the process if he should succeed Dr. Wiley permanently.

A table of prices of eggs since 1900 shows a steady and persistent increase. In 1907 there was an artificial rise, probably on account of the panic, which was corrected by a drop in prices the following year. In spite of a few minor fluctuations, however, the table shows a steady and persistent increase:

Year.	Low Price	High Price
1900	12	29
1901	13	31
1902	15.5	37
1903	15	46
1904	16	47
1905	16.5	40
1906	14.5	45
1907	16	50
1908	15	55
1909	19	55
1910	22	55
1911	17	60

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA
Composer and Bandmaster.

"Tuxedo gives an absolutely satisfying smoke; fragrant, mild and pleasant"

There is hardly an intelligent person living who has not heard of the great Sousa. There is hardly a home possessing a piano where his stirring marches are not played. This year Sousa's band reaches its majority—the age of twenty-one; and this year, too, the famous composer has found a new recreation. That is pipe smoking.

"Formerly," said the great musician, "I smoked nothing but cigars. Only recently a friend introduced me to Tuxedo tobacco. I tried it. And now I often hesitate between a cigar and my pipe. Tuxedo gives an absolutely satisfying smoke; it is fragrant, mild and pleasant. It has the quality of a fine cigar. A pipe of it affords absolute rest."

Mr. Sousa is unique among the musicians of the world, in that he has taken a band organization and raised it to an orchestral standing. The world over, his famous band is taken as a model, not only for bands, but for famous orchestras as well.

Mr. Sousa's appeal to the public may be explained by the sympathy of the great master with the public. The highest priced of conductors, his greatest pleasure nevertheless is in affording pleasure to the people. His music especially expresses the spirit of America—the vim, and zest, and "go" of the American spirit.

"A pipe is a new pleasure to me. Tuxedo, an absolutely satisfying smoke."
John Philip Sousa

Mr. Sousa is one of hundreds—yes, thousands—of the forceful, virile leaders of American thought who unhesitatingly endorse Tuxedo tobacco. Dr. Madison C. Peters, Rex Beach, Lew Fields, and many, many others are in the notable list.

Mr. Sousa says: "I wonder that more men do not smoke pipes. For the great mass of American men, a pipeful of Tuxedo is a wholesome pleasure. Anything that makes for the comfort of the people interests me, so I can recommend Tuxedo."

IN FIGHT WITH DOE FOR FAWN, EAGLE IS WINNER.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 6.—Campers in Lytle creek, climbing to Bonita Falls, witnessed a remarkable fight between a deer and an eagle. The prize was a fawn.

As the climbers were ascending the mountains they first caught sight of the deer and two fawns quietly feeding on a distant level. Suddenly their attention was attracted to a great gray eagle circling in a downward flight.

As they watched the eagle suddenly shot downward, and lighting on the back of one of the fawns, rose with it. The mother deer charged upon the bird, and the two fought back and forth for some time, the eagle finally setting its talons into the fawn and with swift strokes of its wings soaring upward.

It alighted on a crag, high over the spot where the frantic mother deer pawed the earth.

CAR FAMINE IMMINENT

Bumper Crops Will Tax the Capacity of the Railways.

Vast Sums Needed to Buy Equipment for the Roads.

New York, Sept. 5.—Despite every endeavor of the railroad managers to buy cars, build cars, repair cars, it is very evident from the latest returns gathered in from every section of the country that October and November will find them unable to provide transportation for the freights that will be offered them.

The wheat crops of the United States and that of Canada are now quite safe, and the largest estimates of the crops for each country will be exceeded by the actual returns.

It is now admitted by every merchant here who is keeping well informed as to the condition of the crops that the tonnage of cotton, corn, hay, oats and rice will be greater than ever before offered for transportation.

This statement is made with full knowledge of the tonnage of the record breaking crop of cotton in 1911.

The increased population of this country, combined with the unprecedented number of people at active employment in the country, is adding largely to the increased shipments for the domestic trade of the Union, while the export trade, with its hundreds of millions of dollars' increased values in the recent years, is adding also hundreds of thousands of tons to the railway tonnage through conveyance from initial points of shipments to the various ports.

Orders Not Yet Filled.

A recent table published upon railway car supply stated that about 180,000 cars would cover the orders placed for the 12 months of 1912, but many of these orders have not as yet been filled, nor is it at all likely that these 180,000 new cars will be available to the railways even by January 1, 1913.

The railways of the country will have to spend thousands of millions of dollars in new roads, extensions of old roads, switches, sidetracks, cars and all other classes of equipment before they will be in condition to meet the demands of the people of the United States for transportation of freights and passengers.

Notwithstanding the great railway mileages of this country all recognize that hundreds of thousands of miles of new tracks will have to be constructed before the various states and counties reach the limit of convenience in shipment and delivery by rail.

The railways of the country in the past fifteen years have not kept pace in new construction with the increase of population, increase in agricultural production, increase in manufactured outputs or increase in general business of the country.

Greatly augmented has been their equipment, very much bettered have been their facilities, far more efficient are their operating systems and more economical the managements, but all these improvements have not sufficed to care for the extraordinary growth of business along their lines, without stress at times upon all their resources.

Demand for Equipment.

In every state there is public demand for new railway construction, either electric or steam, or both. Every mile of new railway construction adds in some form or other to the business of the existing roads, and the congestion that is sure to come this fall will compel the railway companies to make vast expenditures during the next twelve months so as to be better prepared for the larger tonnages of the succeeding years.

The immense storehouses and docks over on the Brooklyn side of the harbor here, which are known as the Bush Terminal company stores, have in recent years played a great part in the commerce of this city, and, it is said, have proved to be a great financial success.

It is stated that the same company which controls these docks and warehouses has applied to the New Jersey authorities for the control of certain riparian rights near Bayonne, on the New Jersey side of the harbor, and that it is the intention of the company to construct upon that side a vast system of docks and all that goes with a great ocean terminal station.

The sum of money to be spent thereon runs well up in the scores of millions of dollars, and if the project matures and is carried out many thousands of men will find steady employment at these docks.

The opening of the Panama canal, though it will without doubt build up commercial and shipping interests in the ports of the South, will also give impetus to the shipping interests of New York city.

Many European liners bound for the Caribbean and the Pacific will stop here en route, and a number of new lines of steamships to pass through the canal will have this port as an Eastern terminal.

The shipping firms of this city fully appreciate the situation and they are busy arranging for the new trade that is sure to come here during the next few years.

Amazing Growth Predicted.

Southern seaports and gulf ports will show amazing growth during the next decade, and the increase in business in each and every one of them will contribute to the growth of the port of New York.

They will not be competitors, but co-adjutors, auxiliaries to the business of this metropolis, and the leaders in commerce and finance here recognize this fact and have not the slightest hesitation in promoting the growth of these ports of the South Atlantic and the Gulf.

I may, in this connection, refer to the investments of the late H. H. Rogers, and of Thomas F. Ryan, and of the Vanderbilt family, which have contributed so largely to the promotion of the interests of Virginia and its noble port, Norfolk.

To the investments of J. Pierpont Morgan in the Southern Railway and other transportation lines which have benefited Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Pensacola, Mobile and New Orleans.

To those of the late Henry B. Plant and of Flagler, which have built up the state of Florida and made Key West and Tampa sea ports of importance in the years of the future.

The financial articles of the city papers here have dwelt largely upon the Bank of England's raise of the rate of discount, and some of them seem to think that it is significant of widespread financial trouble, but the general opinion is that the change was solely owing to the realization of the demand for ready cash that the extraordinary business activities in all nations was sure to bring to that bank, the clearing house of the world, so to speak.

There seem to be clear financial skies in all directions. Even Germany, above which there were clouds for months, appears to have sunshine again in financial affairs.

Money will be in demand, but can be supplied in ample sums at reasonable prices, and that carries with it no danger to general business, while it encourages those who have money to loan by the betterment of their incomes.

CLEVELAND'S EYES ARE ON DULUTH

Steel Plant Attracting Much Attention—Big Industrial Growth.

George E. Blackwood, of Blackwood's hotel, has returned from a visit to Cleveland and Lorain, Ohio. He said today:

"Nearly everybody I met was asking me about the steel plant. It seems to be attracting more attention at Cleveland than it is in Duluth. Most Duluth people do not yet realize what a tremendous impetus the steel plant is going to give to this city nor to what extent it is going to increase the city's population.

"Duluth's industrial development is exciting much comment in Cleveland, itself a great industrial city, and it is conceded at Cleveland that the Minnesota steel plant will bring other industries here that will employ as many men as the steel plant itself."

WIDOW FINDS PARALLEL

In Her Experience Like That of the Relict of Zola.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6.—Like the widow of Zola, who found another woman and children weeping at the grave of the novelist, Mrs. Ella Sterling Mighels finds that her divorced husband, Philip Meril Mighels, who died in Winnemucca, Nev., last year, had a wife of which she had no knowledge.

This discovery was made when Mrs. Mighels wrote to a New York lawyer who had charge of the estate, to learn why the alimony had not been paid and asked that it be sent her.

She was informed that Julia Frances Mighels was executrix of the estate. When the will was probated she learned that the Julia Mighels mentioned was the widow, beneficiary and executrix.

When the second marriage took place Mrs. Mighels does not know and she has not been able to discover.

FAIR MAY BE MONEY AHEAD

State Exposition Seems Likely to Clear About $25,000.

Old Soldiers' Day Is Clear and Cool and Crowd Is Big.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"It's bad business to make a guess beforehand," said J. C. Simpson, secretary of the state fair board today, "but if I may guess I will say that the total fair receipts from all sources this year will be about $220,000 and the gross expenses probably will be a little over $200,000. I think we should make about $25,000 this year.

"The fair of 1911, exclusive of amounts spent for permanent improvements and carrying charges, suffered a loss of $17,801.38. This loss probably will be made up and a profit of something like $7,000 left.

"We have been doing business on wind this year. Our bills payable at the first of this year amounted to $48,000 and we have a cash balance of $5,200, so that the net debt was about $42,000. This debt was incurred in permanent improvements as well as by the actual deficit of last year."

Receipts Nearly $100,000.

Edgar L. Mattson, treasurer of the fair board, announced today that the total receipts up to Wednesday night for gate admissions, grand stand admissions and from the horse and dog show were $67,554.95. The gate admissions amounted to $41,884.70 and the grandstand admissions to $24,394.80. The horse show brought in $886.25 and in dog show, $407.20.

The receipts yesterday are estimated by Mr Mattson at about $30,000, of which $22,000 was for admissions and $8,000 for the grandstand. This would make the total receipts at the treasurer's office up to Thursday night, $67,574.95. The probable income from all other sources, such as concessions, is estimated at $60,000, which would leave $72,426.95 to be taken in today and tomorrow in order that the secretary's estimate of $220,000 total receipts be realized.

With one record-breaking day and three good average days and the prospects of good weather until the close of the fair, the board is pleased with results.

Today was Soldiers' day. The day was clear and cool and the crowd immense and good-humored.

DRAMATIST VISITS CITY

George Broadhurst, Playwright, Is Owner of Duluth Real Estate.

George Broadhurst, the author of "Bought and Paid For," which will be seen at the Lyceum theater all next week, spent a few hours in Duluth this morning on his way to Grand Forks, where he was called by the illness of a sister living there.

Years ago Broadhurst was the manage rof the old opera house in Grand Forks, which has long since been turned into a livery stable. Even when George was the manager the Eastern producers did not hesitate in telling him that the place ought to be used as a stable. This wore on Broadhurst's nerves so much that finally he induced a number of the citizens to build a new theater which now shelters the first-class attractions.

Mr. Broadhurst owns property there and he also owns three acres of ground near Gary, which he bought through a Duluth real estate agent some six months ago in New York. While he was here today he went out to look at the property for the first time and he is so well satisfied with the prospects of it, being near the big steel plant, that he expects to purchase some more Duluth property in the near future.

In speaking to a Herald reporter the author said: "This is the first time I have been in Duluth in four years and the way the city has built up in that time is simply astonishing. Still I always predicted that it would be the most prosperous city in the Middle Northwest some day."

"Are you going to be here next week, when your play is produced at the Lyceum?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, to be sure; I will be back here Sunday, as I am anxious to see how the play is going to be accepted by the people outside of New York, and this is the first opportunity I have had, as the play has been no where else since it began its remarkable run at the Playhouse over a year ago."

SOAP BOX ORATORY

James Manahan Will Campaign in Duluth on Street Corners.

Progressive Candidate for Congressman-at-Large Has Novel Methods.

James A. Manahan, picturesque as ever, will invade Duluth tomorrow night in his campaign for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large.

Ordinary campaign methods don't go in the present campaign, so Manahan has cast them aside. Instead of hiring a hall and inviting the voters to come to him, he will go to the voters. He will make two speeches on street corners.

The first speech will be made at the corner of Twentieth avenue west and Superior street at 8 o'clock. At 9 o'clock Manahan will appear at Second avenue west and Superior street.

Unless all signs fail, Manahan will draw good crowds. He is an orator of the fiery sort and he doesn't mince words in attacking the established order of things. He is progressive from the jump and preaches progressive principles with all the trimmings.

B. W. Moore, who is Manahan's advance agent, arrived in Duluth from the range today and made arrangements for the meetings tomorrow night.

Another candidate arrived in Duluth today to size up the situation. He is Thomas Fraser of Rochester, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general. Mr. Fraser isn't very well known in this section of the state, but he hopes to make progress before the primary. He has opened headquarters at Parlor L, St. Louis hotel. Mr. Fraser's principal claim to fame is the fact that he brought Sydney Anderson out against James A. Tawney in the First district two years ago and accomplished the defeat of the Winona congressman.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"James Gilley," a $14 a week shipping clerk, who is short on everything but ideas, of which he has about one a minute, in Mr. Broadhurst's comedy-drama, "Bought and Paid For," under the management of William A. Brady, Ltd., is one of the most richly humorous roles that has come along in many a day, and it has done as much as anything to increase the play's popularity. The fourth act is the most humorous of all, thanks to "Jimmie," full of "bright ideas" that his practical wife never appreciates. He is so much a character and so true to his type that he swings the balance of the play to the comedy side. Yet the fact that it is he who brings the husband to take back his wife makes him serve a serious purpose that adds to the interest of the play. The New York company will be seen here. The production is one of unusual proportion. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

SCENE FROM "BOUGHT AND PAID FOR," At the Lyceum Next Week.

"If anybody doubts that Duluth women are well dressed, they should attend a matinee at the Orpheum," said Manager H. E. Billings yesterday afternoon as he watched the audience leaving the theater after the matinee. "I have watched theater crowds in dozens of cities, but I never saw so many well-dressed women any place in the country as I have in Duluth this season. Duluth matinee audiences, especially our Saturday matinee crowd, will compare with any audiences I ever saw. I have noticed it this fall more than last season. Perhaps the dull times last year caused it, but business must be good in Duluth this season, judging from the costumes one can see here any Saturday afternoon. There may be more flashily dressed crowds, and more show of jewels and finery, but for good taste and up-to-dateness, I don't know where you could beat these matinee audiences. The performers who come through here all comment on it, and Miss Bingham and Miss Luby, and every woman on this week's bill have told me that they have not seen such well-dressed women any place on the circuit as they have here in Duluth at the matinees. That's a pretty high compliment for our merchants here, and it's not the first time I have heard it."

ENTITLED TO "TIME."

Man Supporting Big Family Should Have Little Leeway.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—A patrolman, pleading for the release of the man he had arrested, obtained an acquittal in district court here yesterday.

The man was Fred Friedrich, and the patrolman was John Albert. Albert arrested Friedrich for raising a disturbance with his family. The patrolman later investigated and decided Friedrich was justified.

"He makes about $50 a week in the cooperage business," said the officer. "He has ten children and a son-in-law and he has to support them all. I think he had a right to raise a little disturbance."

"You bet he did," agreed the court, "and you are the right sort of officer. I am glad to see an officer investigate his case before he comes into court. The case is dismissed."

SUICIDE NOT INTENDED.

With his feet out of the window of his room on the third story of the Lenox hotel, this morning, a well known commercial man sought to view the scenery. His success in that line is not known, but it was distinct in the way of creating a mild sensation. The clerk in charge was hastily notified and it seemed to be the general impression that the owner of the dangling feet contemplated a leap to the sidewalk beneath.

The clerk called up on the house 'phone, the feet were withdrawn and their owner assured the desk that no morbid motive was to be attributed to the display. Just why the feet were necessary for the viewing of the scenery, their owner did not volunteer an explanation.

COMPANY WILL BE DISSOLVED

Chemung Stockholders Present Petition to the District Court.

Several stockholders of the Chemung Copper company which was organized in 1907 under the Minnesota law, today petitioned the district court for a dissolution of the corporation on the grounds that it has no more business to transact.

The Chemung Copper company was incorporated with a capitalization of $3,000,000 to take over certain mining claims formerly owned in New Mexico by the Tyrone Development company. After the claims had been purchased, it was decided not to develop them. They were resold recently.

The petition asks for a dissolution of the company and the appointment of a receiver to wind up its affairs. One of the principal stockholders of the concern is Charles Briggs, a mining man of Calumet.

There are several hundred stockholders. Duluth people having some interest in the company are: Elizabeth Maney, W. W. Billson, T. F. Cole, C. A. Congdon, Elizabeth Hoatson, T. J. Griffeth, W. G. Hegardt, A. E. Banister, E. C. Congdon, A. L. Agatin, Sarah W. Ketchum, Charlees Decker Josepe Pratts and Thomas A. Merritt.

MONTANA CONVENTION.

Republicans There Select Candidates for November Election.

Great Falls, Mont., Sept. 6.—The Republican state convention in session here yesterday nominated Associate Justice Henry C. Smith of Helena as the party's choice for United States senator to succeed Joseph M. Dixon. Other nominations were: Governor, Harry L. Wilson, Billings; lieutenant governor, J. C. Kenney of Wibaux; treasurer, W. N. Enright, Billings; secretary of state, Frank A. Hazelbaker, Dillon.

Judge Smith, who has been nominated for senator, is a native of Janesville, Wis., coming to Montana about a quarter of a century ago. He started life as a telegraph operator, studying law in his spare moments and since coming to Montana has served three terms as district judge of Lewis and Clark counties. He was elected associate justice of the supreme court six years ago.

TAKES THEATER COIN.

Eau Claire Thief Walks Off With $43 in Cash.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 6.—The officers are trying to get a line on the thief who stole a bag containing $43 in cash Wednesday afternoon from the office of the Unique theater. Nothing in the shape of a clue has been found and the police are at a loss as to how to trace the thief.

Manager Hiller had the money in readiness for the bank and left it lying on his desk while he went to the box office at the front to answer a telephone call. While there a stranger came in and engaged him in conversation and it was some moments before he returned to the rear. In the meantime the bag and money had disappeared. The police were immediately informed and detectives placed on the case.

HAD A PEEP AT SAVAGE LIFE

Bold American Studied South American Indians at Close Range—Viewed the Home Scenes of a Feared, Man-Killing Tribe.

Only one way of seeing these Guaharibos people at short range was possible in the circumstance—viz., to speak among them, says Caspar Whitney in Harper's Magazine. Of course, there was the open way of approaching with beads in hand, but I had no beads, nor a crew that would thus convey me, nor, in such handicapped condition, the wish to test either the verity of common report as to their bloodthirstiness or the potency of their curare poison.

I told Cristobal that as soon as night fell we would paddle upstream half a mile, cross to the other bank, and drop down half the distance, where I would land and endeavor to make my way thence to some point of observation from which I could get a near view of the savages; that my course on shore would be governed by conditions as I found them; that he was to immediately return to camp over the same course we had come, and to follow it again at dark next night to where he left me.

Wanted to Go Also.

He did not like the idea of being left, and wanted to go with me on shore, protesting vigorously against returning with the canoe. I pointed out the greater safety for us both in my outlined scheme; that one was much the less likely of discovery than two, and that loss of the canoe would be as serious as loss of life. Notwithstanding my logic, the scheme was obviously not to his liking, and he sulked.

Whereupon I told him very plainly and with much emphasis that if he wished to reach Brazil instead of the Venezuelan prison his one way was to earn the money I had promised him, and that was possible only by obeying my instructions promptly and without deviation.

With all preparations made and plans decided, we launched our canoe for my first attempt to reach the family circles, so to say, of the "Indos bravos."

Fortune prospered my enterprise by providing a clear night to help us pick our way silently. For a half mile or a little more we paddled up stream, keeping under cover of the bank as much as was possible, and crossing to the other side quietly with some difficulty on account of the current and the rocks. When we had dropped down about a quarter of a mile, following every turn of the shore, the better to get protection of its bushes, we halted at a small opening, where I landed for the preliminary survey which decided me to make this my base of operations. Cristobal again begged to be allowed to accompany me, but I promptly made him understand the discussion of that subject was closed. Taking the mandioca sack out of the canoe and handing him a half-day's ration, I repeated my instructions for him to go back over our route, following it again when he came to this spot the next night—and bade him start.

Ready For Action.

For a full half hour after the Zambo had gone I studied the shadows of the forest, over which the starlight twinkled with slight effect; and when my eyes saw independent of my imagination in the weird light I began my furtive approach upon the recessed bank where the Indian had fished in the morning, and which I intended to make the pivot of my explorations inland. Ready now for action, I adjusted my equipment according to habit. To facilitate noiseless, unhampered movement I slipped my rifle strap over the left and under the right shoulder, so it carried firmly on my back, butt upmost; my glasses were slung so as to seat securely under the left armpit; my revolver and knife I slipped to the front of my belt, one on either side, right and left. Thus I knew by experience I had everything under body control in worming through brush, with nothing at my sides to need watching or to catch, and my hands free.

I came to the little bay much sooner than I expected—the current had been swifter than our calculations—but no one was there, nor any evidence of habitation or canoe. Circling, I found what in such setting might be described as a path, which showed no great usage and was barely discernible. Following this with utmost caution, I passed through the denser jungle edging of the river into more open forest, and in less than a mile into a small savanna with a group of the familiar, smooth-looking boulders at the near side. Turning my steps toward these, with a view of using them for a lookout point, I was of a sudden halted with a rising pulse, by voices—several voices!

Stealing a dozen paces nearer and to one side, I crouched in my tracks, listening. Evidently it was a camp, for the voices came always from the same place—not over fifty to sixty feet away; I could hear them distinctly. Even more distinctly I could hear my heart thumping, which calmed as it recovered from the abrupt arrival of the novel situation. The talking continued—now dessultory, now flaring up in a sustained flow, always modulated, but never tuneful.

Studying the Savages.

There seemed to be three or four men and a woman, and I concluded that they were fixed for the night, as they gave no signs of movement. It was not late—I guessed not over 9, though I could not read my watch dial, and, of course, would not strike a match. I remained where I had crouched long after the last voice had subsided, and then retreating as I had come—there being no fear of leaving tracks in such going—I reached the edge of the savanna again.

Recalling Cristobal's tree-lookout of the day before, I determined to try the same method in an attempt to see something of these people. But the idea came more easily than its execution. Trees were not wanting, but either they were festooned with innumerable vines, making climbing next to impossible, or they presented sixty feet of smooth, clear trunk of too great circumference, or one so covered with parasitic growth as to effectually block ascent.

At last, after being stopped midway up one tree by the hanging-garden parasite, I finally ascended about forty feet of a gray, slim, unincumbered trunk after the hardest bit of shinning I had ever experienced. Being just back of the first trees at the savanna's edge, it commanded an entire view of the boulders, which showed distinctly about 150 to 200 feet off. I made myself as comfortable as I could, which, because of the frequency of the limbs, was more comfortable than I had expected.

Straddling two close-growing ones, to which I secured the rifle, with one arm over another, and my back against the trunk, I passed the buckskin thong around the tree and my body under the arms, fastening it at my breast. Thus I awaited daylight, getting several quite respectable catnaps, as the conditions for dozing, although somewhat unconventional, were but little less comfortable than in the canoe.

Wore no Clothing.

Three men, a woman and some children made up the party camped among the boulders, and it did not take long to record their points of interest. Like the fisherman, who was not among them, they were taller and slimmer and darker than the average of Indians I had met on the river, having no negro blood. Yet there were no negroid characteristics; their noses were neither broad nor flat—less inclined that way, indeed; than many of lighter hue along the road; their hair was long and coarse; they were nude save for girdles of fiber, or something like it, which afforded no concealment except partially in the case of the woman, and were probably not worn for such purpose. Of ornaments they bore very few; the woman had a necklace of either beans or small teeth—like monkey teeth; and one of the men wore a neckring which appeared to be of vine. None had ear pendants or nose-rings.

Not until I had been watching them all morning did it suddenly dawn upon me that they had no fire, or had made one at any time. Yet they had eaten—were eating, indeed, when I awoke to the absence of any cooking agency. The men busied themselves, one making a bow, another scraping a bit of wood with something seemingly stone, as near as I could judge, while the third made a jaunt into the forest beyond the savanna, bringing back a bird, which the woman threw behind her into what looked like a hole in the ground or the rocks. They ate fish and something else which they picked up and bit into as one might into an apple. But at no time was the suggestion of fire and of utensils I saw only gourds and one larger vessel resembling a shallow earthen bowl. Fingers were the only forks and spoons, and either a silver of hard wood or bone was the material of what they used as a knife.

It rained in the afternoon, and they disappeared among the rocks, but just where and how I could not see, which decided me to hunt another tree from which I could overlook that part of their camp; so until dark I busied myself locating such a one and speculating on these human things that appeared to live in the ground and eat without fire.

On descending, I found my way without accident or incident to the place of rendezvous. Cristobal greeted me as a dear returning friend, and lost no time preparing the mandioca I had fetched from the cached sack.

He was full of wonderment, but could throw no light on what I had seen; he had always heard these savages lived como perro (like dogs), without fixed houses; as to whether they used fire—no one had ever been with them to find out, he said.

WATER AND ICE FAIL AT JOLIET

Temperature Is 94 and Great Suffering Is Experienced.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 6.—With the temperature over 94 deg., this city faces a water and ice famine. One municipal well has gone dry and the machinery at the other two city wells broke down. At present the only water available is being pumped from a small creek on the outskirts of the city, and this is unfit for drinking purposes.

The local ice plant is out of commission, and with a scarcity of cars to bring ice from outside points the city has exhausted the supply of the product. As a result there is much suffering and inconvenience among all classes. An Electrical Workers' strike makes the use of electric fans uncertain.

The city authorities are making every effort to rush repairs to the water plant to relieve the situation.

FIND BELLINI PICTURE.

Rome, Sept. 6.—At Riviera, a little village near Bologna, stands a dilapidated wayside chapel, which for centuries has served to shelter an image of the virgin and Child, a relic which is annually carried in procession to the neighboring towns of Casalino, where it is exposed for three days for public veneration.

The chapel was recently visited by Professor Cortini, one of the best living authorities on mediaeval art. Surprised at the beauty of a painting of the Madonna on the chapel altar, he had it cleaned and found the signature of Bellini the elder, one of the most famous masters of the early Italian school, who died in 1450. By pure chance a most valuable work of art has thus been added to the national art gallery.

KENTUCKY BOY SCOUTS AS AIDS TO GAME LAWS.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 6.—Having formulated a plan by which the great army of Boy Scouts of America will be drafted into service for the conservation of birds and animals, J. Quincy Ward, executive agent of the Kentucky fish and game commission, has set to work to put the plan into operation.

He has received a letter from George H. Merriott of New York, secretary of editorial board of the Boy Scouts of America, in which Merriott promises to furnish to Ward a list of the different troop leaders in this state. If the plan is successful in Kentucky it will be developed in other states.

An even 1,500 licenses were issued to hunters in this state in July. There were 1,499 to resident hunters and one non-resident license. Christian, with 158 licenses, leads the counties of the state.

SHOOTS WIFE FOUR TIMES.

Iowan Then Puts Bullet Through His Own Head.

Charles City, Iowa, Sept. 6.—Warren Ingersoll, 27 years old, of Waverly, Iowa, fired six revolver shots at his wife, and then turned the weapon on himself when the police attempted to arrest him. The shooting was the result of a quarrel, which began several weeks ago.

Mrs. Ingersoll is suffering from four bullet wounds and may die. Ingersoll shot himself in the head.

DRANK FROM CUP MADE OUT OF FIANCEE'S SKULL.

Paris, Sept. 6.—Drinking from a cup made from the skull of his fiancee is the way which a German student at Strassburg has adopted to keep the memory of her fresh. The fact is vouched for by the Abbe Wetterle, a famous French-Alsatian priest whose propaganda against Germany has won him several terms of imprisonment. He bought the grim relic from the student to add it to his "museum of German civilization" at Colmar.

The girl died a year ago in the hospital where the student worked, so that the latter had little difficulty in removing the head in the dissecting room. The abbe was put on his track by a jeweler who studded the skull which was brought him with rubies.

SIDEWHEELER IS IN PORT

Canadian Steamer Is Scouring the Lake Ports for Men.

Vessel Owners Refuse Ore Tonnage Even at Advanced Rates.

The steamer Forest City, hailing originally from St. Johns, Newfoundland, but now of Port Arthur, Can., a sidewheeler, such as is used in the excursion business at lower lake ports, arrived in the Duluth-Superior harbor last night.

The boat is under charter to the Nipigon Construction company, a concern that has contracts for a large part of the work on the new Canadian Northern railroad. She was sent to Duluth to get laborers. The contractors are behind with their work and they need more men. The men are wanted for construction work north of Fort Arthur.

If unsuccessful in Duluth and Superior the boat will go to Chicago, Milwaukee and other ports in quest of men. The scarcity is as pronounced in Canada, it is stated by the boat officers, as it is in the United States in spite of the fact that board and high wages are offered.

Contract work on the Canadian Northern is behind what it should be and contractors on all parts of the line are making strenuous efforts to get men. "We have to coax and promise them everything and then they usually quit and walk to the nearest station as soon as they have a week's pay coming," said one of the men who was making the rounds of the local employment offices this morning. He also tried to pick them up on the street, but the men laughed at him in a good many instances. There are hundreds of idle men in Duluth, but they are idle from choice. There are hundreds of them sitting around the docks, the viaducts and the fences bordering the harbor front each day.

A Strange Craft.

The Forest City is a most peculiar looking boat to Duluthians for the side wheeler is not used at this port at all. She is at Northern Pacific Dock No. 4, and is so wide that she takes up nearly the entire slip from one side to the other.

The boat has had quite a history. She was formerly known as the King Edward, and has been owned by a dozen different companies. She has been in many different kinds of business. She now belongs to the Silver Island Transportation company and is used between Port Arthur and Silver Island.

The grain rate from Chicago eastward has taken a jump of ¼ cent. Being unable to get cars, Chicago shippers appeared yesterday in the market for tonnage and in a short time the rate had advanced from 1¾ cents to 2 cents flat.

One boat, it is reported took corn at Chicago for Buffalo at 1⅞ cents. Two others were chartered for wheat at 2 cents flat. Approximately 500,000 bushels of capacity figured in yesterday's dealings.

Two boats were chartered yesterday to take grain from Duluth to Buffalo at 2½ cents. Because of the slowness of the arrival of grain, boat owners are taking tonnage only for that which is in sight. Rain has delayed shipments of late. The fine weather of the past few days will help greatly in train dispatch, it is stated.

There was some inquiry today about tonnage for winter storage of grain at Buffalo at a flat rate of 4 cents. Owners have not been offered this amount and refuse to talk business until the amount is offered.

Ore Rate Raised.

For the first time this season or for two years, in fact, vesselmen are refusing ore at an advance of 10 cents in the rate. The rate was formerly 40 cents and is now 50 cents, it is claimed.

A block of 50,000 tons for shipment from Duluth to Buffalo was peddled among Cleveland vesselmen yesterday. No one would take it. Fifty cents was offered and this seemed no inducement. The ore rate will get lively within a few days, it is predicted by vesselmen, and take another hop upward.

There are probably 250,000 tons on the market at 40 cents. This has been on the market for some time past, it is claimed.

Grain, claim vessel men, allowing ½-cent for expense in loading and unloading, nets the vessel 75 cents a ton. With ore at 50 cents marine men claim that vessels can make more money by taking grain and naturally turn to the more profitable cargo.

Owing to wet weather and the floods it brought in the Pennsylvania coal mines, coal will come more slowly for a time, it is thought. It had been coming freely up until today.

STEAMER BURNS AT HOLLAND, MICH.

Minnie R., Owned in Chicago, Destroyed—Loss Is $10,000.

Holland, Mich., Sept. 6.—The steamer Minnie R., owned by Cyrus W. Robinson of Chicago, was burned to the water's edge early today. The cause of the fire is unknown. The boat was 67 feet long and valued at $10,000.

WAS KILLED WHILE HUNTING

C. H. Storey Shoots Himself Near His Home in St. Thomas.

Thomas J. Storey and Frank Storey returned today from St. Thomas, N. D., where they were called to attend the funeral of their brother, C. H. Storey. He accidentally shot himself while returning home from hunting chickens the opening day of the season, Sept. 1.

The late Mr. Storey was well known in Duluth, having visited here several times with his brothers. He was one of the prominent residents of St. Thomas, having made his home there for thirty-two years, and was a substantial farmer and business man.

IS WISE ON ZOOLOGY

Four-Year-Old Makes Hobby of Natural History—Mother Fears He Will Study Too Hard.

London, Sept. 6.—There are mighty few ways in which this country beats the United States, but when it comes to juvenile prodigies, it really does begin to look as if Hold Hengland were in a class by herself. A little while ago readers were told about a 7-year-old English bully, whose father was forced, by threats of a thrashing, to minister to his craving for beer and cigarettes, and since then public attention in these islands has been claimed by a little daughter of Charles Maude, the actor, who though not yet 10 has dictated a book of fairy tales which one of the most prominent London publishers has issued, and by Daphne Allen, who, at 13, is the author of a volume of symbolical drawings which have aroused the enthusiasm of art critics.

The newest English prodigy, however, surely is the prize of the collection. This is a youngster of four who is an expert zoologist, who has forgotten more about the habits of prehistoric monsters like the stegosaurus, the atlantosaurus and the megalosaurus than most of us ever knew, and who can tell you, offhand, all about any existing creature, particularly of the finny tribe, that you care to mention. Appropriately enough, he rejoices in an impressive name of the three-ply order, as Bill Nye called it, to wit, Scott Gladstone Solomon, and just at present the thing he is most keenly interested in is the giant dinosaur which is being unearthed at the Jensen quarry, Arkansas.

Knows Dinosaurs Backwards.

Scott knows the dinosaur tribe backwards, and a visitor learned for the first time from the lips of this child of four summers that the Arkansas specimen is the largest ever discovered, being eighty-five feet in length, in case you hadn't heard about it either.

"The child has a perfect mania for classification," said his naturally proud mother. "He will wake up early in the morning to find out the complete list of the ibex family, for instance. The last time I took him to the zoo he kept me there seven and a half hours. He is absolutely in the seventh heaven there."

It was at the age of 1½, according to his mother, that this infant encyclopedia, who lives in Hampstead, began to show signs of being a marvel. With only 18 months to his credit he won the Royal Drawing society's prize for the best sketch by a child under 7, and everybody predicted that he would be another Benjamin West, but, six months afterward he suddenly dropped sketching altogether and went in hard for natural history. His surprising knowledge has been conveyed to him entirely by word of mouth and by the study of pictures, his mother not yet having taught him to read and write, being afraid that he might study too much if possessed of these accomplishments.

Dictates a Book.

A few days ago, Scott, who is a fair-skinned, dark-haired, little chap, said to his mother that he thought it was time that he wrote a book on natural history. So Mrs. Solomon invested in a notebook and took down verbatim what the youthful follower of Darwin dictated. This probably will never attain the dignity of print, but it is really an amazing feat of essay-writing to have been performed by a little boy of 4. To show that there was no deception, the infantile zoologist dictated a chapter on the Pike in the reporter's presence—chattering it off, as one might say, while he played with his toys on the floor. Here is part of it which shows that this juvenile naturalist is no dry-as-dust, but has a keen sense of humor, which should make his future works worth reading.

"The Pike.—He eats small fish, such as sun stars and sea mice. He doesn't really. Fancy saying that. The real chief food is a few little trout, or he'll make a very good meal of nice fat salmon.

"The pike is a fresh-water fish. You can eat him, but he is very difficult to catch, for he keeps to the end of the river where no one ever is.

"The salmon is a relation to the pike; so are the little trout and the salmon trout. The minnow is a great relation to the pike, but he eats the minnow, too. It's funny eating our relations, isn't it?"

Other chapters of Scott's book are headed, Beetles, Snakes, Common Gold Fish and Frogs. His chapter on the diplodocus begins:

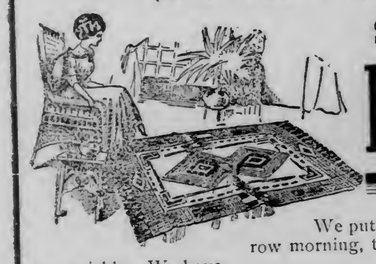

"The diplodocus is a large animal about as big as a house. He belongs to the saur family."

"Scott never was interested in stories," said his mother, "in fact, he won't listen to them. 'Tell me something that teaches me something,' he always says. But in spite of all he has learned, he is not at all self-conscious, and is a thoroughly game-loving, boyish boy."

A NEW TREATMENT FOR SICK HEADACHE

Made Possible by a Special Laxative Used With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Walter Anderson, of R. F. D., Valeda, Kansas, suffered for a number of years from sick headache. She says:

"Ever since I was a small child, I suffered from sick headaches and when I was thirteen years of age I had a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism in my limbs, which were terribly swollen. I suffered intense pain and from that time until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I suffered a general weakness. There was a constant pain through my head and I never saw a well day. I was weak, generally run down and had no ambition to work. My blood was thin and I lost in weight. I was tired and languid all of the time. I had no appetite and my stomach was out of order. Whenever I was chilled I was troubled with rheumatic pains in my limbs. I was very nervous and was often confined to bed for a week.

"The doctors did not do me a particle of good and they did not seem to know what ailed me. After being under their care for some time, my father decided to have me try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I could see that they were helping me after taking a few boxes as my strength came back and my headaches disappeared. I have been in very good health since."

As a rule a sufferer from sick headache can tell hours, sometimes days, in advance, when the headache is coming on. This fact makes it possible to use a laxative, as soon as the approach of an attack is discovered, to eliminate the poison from the system and prevent the attack or in a great measure moderate its severity. A new laxative, PINKLETS, designed to be used in connection with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, affords a perfect combination treatment.

We have prepared a pamphlet that not only describes fully the laxative tonic treatment of sick headache and gives specific directions for the use of the remedies but contains also much valuable information regarding diet, exercise and the management of the sickroom during an attack. This pamphlet will be sent free on request together with a sample of PINKLETS, the little laxative pills. Write today if you want to treat your trouble intelligently. Boring for New York's Aqueduct

Water to Be Dropped Straight, Led Under River and Sucked Up on Other Side.

Within the last few months remarkable progress has been made in Brooklyn by the contractors engaged in the work of connecting this borough with the Catskill waterworks system, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Three shafts have been sunk, from which the mole-like workers will tunnel hundreds of feet beneath the streets and houses. One of these shafts, No. 22, is at Sands and Bridge streets; another, No. 23, is at Flatbush and Third avenues, and Terminal Shaft, No. 24, is at Fort Greene Park.

So unpretentious are these shafts in appearance that thousands of persons pass and repass them every day, with no thought of the tremendous underground activities they represent, or realize that they are part of a working organization that has undertaken the greatest engineering feat this country ever saw, and which when completed will dwarf every achievement of the kind in history—that of bringing water 150 miles and over to supply the millions who live in Greater New York.

The Catskill Mountain water system was inaugurated in 1905, and the contract for the first work of construction, covering about eleven miles of the Catskill aqueduct, was signed in 1907 by the commission appointed by Mayor McClellan. Since that time the tremendous undertaking has been rapidly pushed, although New Yorkers have only recently been attracted by the local indications, namely, the shafts, which are located at several points in Manhattan's busiest sections, and the recent completion of the tunnel under the Hudson river.

Shafts 700 Feet Deep.

Owing to the great depth of the river at the point where the tunnel comes under the Hudson and the faults in the rocks underlying its bed, it was necessary to sink shafts 700 feet deep in order to reach rock solid enough for tunneling. Through the tunnel, the water will be siphoned to the eastern shore of the river, whence it will be conducted to the storage reservoirs at Kensico, near White Plains, and Hillview, near the northern city line, from there to be distributed to different parts of the city.

The same conditions exist at the points where the tunnel connecting Brooklyn and Manhattan is to run, and shafts 700 feet deep have been sunk on both sides of the East river, and work commenced on this tunnel. Later Staten Island will be connected in the same way with the borough of Brooklyn.

The East river shaft in Brooklyn is at Sands and Bridge streets and, as said, is 700 feet, the other two shafts, however, are on the same level and go down only 365 feet. The methods of sinking these shafts differ only slightly, according to the nature of the soil, and consist of first erecting caissons which were sunk to the proper depth. Concrete walls protect the shafts and keep out the water and mud. As soon as the shaft reaches the level intended, the work of tunneling begins. The drills are put to work, and as fast as the rock is loosened, it is sent up to the top on elevators and dumped into a bin, under which wagons are driven in continuous procession and rapidly filled.

Underground the activities are almost continuous, the men working in shifts. As soon as the tunnel is advanced a track is laid and cars are installed, which transfer the muck to the elevator. In the work under the Hudson miniature electric engines, fully equipped with trolleys, etc., pulled the cars, which greatly facilitated the work.

Air and Watertight.

When the tunnel is dug out, a steel frame is placed in position and concrete is poured in, making the tunnel both air and watertight and capable of sustaining the great pressure to which it will be subjected. The great difficulty of work of this kind, compared with ordinary subway work, is the distance between shafts and the great depth of the tunnels, and the fact that the work is largely through rock.

The tunnels in Brooklyn are not yet under way, but the workers are far below the surface, and will soon be at the proper level for boring the tunnels. It will be many months before they meet at the several points, or before the men boring under the river from Manhattan meet the men who are drilling from this side. These men work in shifts of twenty to fifty, and they work seven hours and one-half a day. Not all work is below the surface, however, as there are ceaseless activities above ground within the shaft inclosures, and many are engaged in manipulating the machinery which runs the elevators, the dump and furnish power to the drills which cut through the rock.

The total area of all the watersheds in the Catskill system is over 900 square miles and their combined supply, when fully developed, will exceed 500,000,000 gallons daily. The principal features are an impounding reservoir, the Ashokan; the dam of which is about completed; the Kensico storage reservoir, a filtration plant, the largest ever built; Hillview distributing reservoir and the Catskill aqueduct, about eighty miles in length.

Ashokan Reservoir.

Olive Bridge dam, 220 feet high, across Esopus creek, with other dams and dikes, form the Ashokan reservoir twelve miles wide, and will impound 120,000,000,000 gallons of water. Besides the waters of Esopus creek, this reservoir will receive those diverted from Schoharie creek by a ten-mile tunnel through the mountains, and from Catskill creek and adjacent small watersheds through another aqueduct.

Catskill aqueduct, supplied from Ashokan reservoir, will deliver the water without pumping to Hillview reservoir, high enough for gravity distribution throughout Greater New York. A diagram in the office of the commission in Manhattan shows the pressure to be obtained to be sufficient to force water, without pumping, to the top of all but the very highest buildings in the city.

Wherever the water flows at hydraulic grade the aqueduct is constructed of concrete; where it is necessary to cross gorges, tunnels have been driven in solid rock, far below the surface of the ground, and lined with concrete, in which the water will flow under presure. At the northerly end of each pressure tunnel the water will drop down a deep shaft and at the southerly end will rise again in a similar shaft.

The most extensive of these pressure tunnels is that under the Hudson, as the river is 2,800 feet wide at the point where the tunnel crosses. While the water in the river is only ninety feet deep, solid rock is not encountered at less than 600 feet, which accounts for the great depth of the shafts of the inverted siphon and the tunnel.

QUARTER BILLION WOULD BE SAVED

In Handling the Crops It Public Highways Were Improved.

Washington, Sept. 6.—That not less than $250,000,000 would be saved to the country in the cost of hauling the present record breaking crop if twenty per cent of the public highways of the country were improved, is the assertion of J. E. Pennybacker, Jr., executive secretary of the American Road congress, which is held in Atlantic city Sept. 30 to Oct. 5. Mr. Pennybacker, before becoming the secretary of the American Association for highway improvement, which, with the American Automobile association and the National Association of Machinery and Material Manufacturers is holding a convention at Atlantic city, was the chief of the road management department in the United States office of public roads, has made a comparative study of the cost of hauling crops over good and bad roads.

Because of his knowledge of the actual needs of the country, Mr. Pennybacker was selected as the excutive secretary of the American Road congress, which is to crystallize the road movement in America. In an interview Mr. Pennybacker says that he believes that the American Road congress will so influence public sentiment that it will be merely a matter of a few years before twenty per cent of the public highways of the United States will have been improved. At the present time little over eight per cent of the public highways are of the improved type.

"The government's prediction that the crop now being harvested will exceed any previous year's yield," said Mr. Pennybacker, should serve to call attention to the great losses that are being sustained by farmers and consumers in the hauling of crops. It is estimated that the improvement of roads of this country, approximately twenty per cent would result in an annual saving, of at least $250,000,000 in the cost of hauling alone, which would be sufficient to improve 50,000 miles of road at a further cost of $5,000 per mile. In five years this would improve 250,000 miles, which would be sufficient to bring the total mileage of improved roads up to twenty per cent.

"There are more than 25,000,000 farm horses and mules in the United States, valued at $2,700,000,000; about 1,500,000 horse-drawn vehicles valued at $83,000,000, and more than 450,000 automobiles valued at about $500,000,000. A depreciation of five per cent caused by the wear and tear of bad roads, would amount to $164,000,000 annually, which at $5,000 per mile would be sufficent to build 32,800 miles of improved roads.

"These are but a few great economic facts which will be brought to the attention of the American people at the American Road congress to be held in Atlantic city Sept. 30 to Oct. 5. Once the people realize the great waste involved in bad roads, there will be little delay in the improvement of the main arteries of commerce throughout the country. The whole subject is so big that we have made arrangements to treat it in sections of the congress, each section, such as legislative, administrative, finance and education having been placed under the auspices of the representative organizations in those particular fields."

GERMAN SAILORS TAKING WATER INSTEAD OF BEER.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—That German sailors are taking to water instead of beer is indicated by the fact that permission has been granted for opening four new lodges of the Good Templars in Heligoland and three other ports. This will make twelve German naval lodges of Good Templars.

This good temperance movement, which the minister of education of Bavaria recently declared to be "against the commercial interests of the country," is making remarkably great headway in the German navy. The lodges are under the jurisdiction of a navy district lodge, the officials of which are all navy officers. The movement is encouraged by the navy department.

SAIL TO ARCTIC IN 17-TON SCOW

Pacific Coast Trader and Companion Finish 3,000-Mile Voyage.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—From the Golden Gate to the Arctic in a seventeen-ton bay scow, 46 years old, is the voyage reported in a letter dated Point Barrow, Aug. 18, and published here today. H. C. Slate, an old trader, was skipper, and Peter Peters, was mate, cook and crew.

"At no time during the 3,000-mile trip," writes Peterson, "did we get the decks as wet as they were while we were being towed to sea by a launch."

Slate had not money enough to freight his goods up the coast so he bought the scow Alice Stofer, stocked her and loaded her and set sail May 16.

NEW YORKER OWES $3,530 TO HIS LAUNDRESS.

New York, Sept. 6.—Robert M. S. Putnam, a lawyer, is the latest victim to come a cropper in hurdling the high cost of living. After keeping a small army of creditors at bay for the last four years, Mr. Putnam has at last been forced to file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in self-defense, as he explained.

The schedule gives his liabilities as $11,045, to fifty creditors, and Mrs. Annie Brown, $130 for services rendered as a laundress and $3,400 for money borrowed from her.

Mr. Putnam is a Cornell graduate and is prominent in yachting circles.

"It's the usual case of more going out than coming in," he said genially, "and of trying to make a single blanket cover a double brass bed, to say nothing of a cot for the cook. A few of my creditors grew so insistent that my business suffered in consequence, and I decided on this step, so as to start with a new deal all around. The lot of the average attorney in New York at best is not an enviable one."

COLLEGE PROFESSORS.

Working in Iron Mills to Learn Practically What They Teach.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—In the big mills in the Monongahela and Turtle creek valleys twenty-nine college professors are ending the vacations they chose to spend in the mills that they might get practical experience in the work they are teaching. These twenty-nine men came from twenty-five different colleges in nineteen states.

Each is at the head of the engineering department in the institution with which he is connected.

All have been wearing overalls, earning 20 cents an hour, and living at the mechanics' boarding house. All have carried dinner pails or have eaten at the factory dining halls in the thirty minutes they have had for lunch.

HIS BODY AN ART GALLERY.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 6.—When Sergeant Joseph R. Finney, in charge of the army recruiting station, began examining Joseph A. Benson, who wished to become a soldier, he found that he was examining a living edition of religious works.

A world's geography reduced to the smallest amount of surface in the way of maps and a farmer's guide, to say nothing of an art gallery of a kind, were also found. Among other things tatooed on the prospective soldier was the Lord's Prayer, inscribed in blue letters on his chest.

Chronic Ulcers Mean Bad Blood

If outside influences were responsible for chronic ulcers, then external applications and simple cleanliness would be a curative treatment. But the trouble is always in the blood which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it impurities and infectious matter. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made purer by such treatment and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down into the blood and removing the impurities and germs which are responsible for the place. S. S. S. thoroughly purifies the circulation and in this way destroys the source of every chronic ulcer. In addition S. S. S. enriches this vital fluid and assists nature in overcoming the bad effects of a chronic ulcer. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

WILSON AND LABOR.

The News Tribune, local spokesman for the Taft-Penrose-Eberhart-Smith interests, appears hopeful that it can turn a few votes against Wilson by distorting his utterances.

Ordinarily that sort of a game doesn't work, and probably it won't work in this case.

In his Labor day speech Governor Wilson analyzed the Bull Moose platform, making reference to the Roosevelt attitude on the trusts and to the relations between the trusts and their workers.

The News Tribune quotes and comments thus:

> Woodrow Wilson caters wholly to the narrow prejudices of the few when he opposes systems of compensation for injuries, profit-sharing, bonuses and old-age pensions where voluntarily offered to employes by corporations.
> "Their rights," he says, "under these various arrangements are not legal rights. They are merely privileges which they enjoy so long as they remain in the employment and observe the rules of the local industries which employ them."

The Smith-Eberhart organ endeavors to make its readers believe that Wilson has come out in opposition to these benefits for workers, thus achieving the lie by distortion, which is one of the most cowardly varieties of lie ever invented.

What Governor Wilson did do in his Labor day speech was to point out that the Roosevelt idea would legalize monopoly, put the government in control of the masters of monopoly and make humanity serf to an industrial despotism.

In that connection he pointed out that some of the great corporations which are supporting Roosevelt's ideas are bitterly hostile to organized labor, and that they have given their non-union employers the benefits enumerated above. The point he made in that connection is that as these benefits do not come to the workers by legal right, and as they may enjoy them only so long as they continue their employment under terms dictated absolutely by their employers, they are not free. And he also pointed out how nicely this system, which all but enslaves the worker, dovetails into Roosevelt's scheme to create an industrial absolutism that would also enslave the consumer.

It is against this monstrous scheme to legalize monopoly, proposed by a man who has ever been hand in glove with some of the leading lights of monopoly, that Governor Wilson protested in his Labor day speech.

It ought not to need explanation, but it will occur to the most dull-witted that if these benefits of compensation for injuries, profit-sharing, bonuses and old age pensions are made LEGAL RIGHTS, then the workers will be free.

The poverty of the opposition is clearly disclosed when it has to stoop to such deliberate distortions of Wilson's utterances in order to make a point against him.

The Smith-Penrose-Eberhart-Taft apologist will waste its breath if it seeks to array labor against Wilson. No governor of New Jersey, or of any other state, has in a single term achieved so much for the cause of labor as Wilson has accomplished. He has done so much that the official state organization of labor in New Jersey is sending broadcast over the country a statement of his achievements in labor's interests. This is not done for political purposes, for organized labor as a body does not operate politically. It is done in the interest of fair play and for the good of the nation's toilers.

The Silver Lining.

Anyhow, perhaps his sore foot will help remind President Taft of how he kicked the low tariff bills around.

TWO POINTS WORTH PONDERING.

Two points worth thinking about were made by Judge John W. Willis in his interesting interview in The Herald last night.

One was made in these words: "I only wish that Ignatius Donnelly, Gen. Weaver, S. M. Owen and others had lived to see this day when men bearing scars obtained in fighting the initiative and referendum are out on the stump advocating these measures." The Populists, despised, ostracized and their very name made a term of reproach, were the true pioneers in real democracy; and it is a pity indeed that the staunch old leaders named by Judge Willis could not have lived to enjoy the triumph of their ideas.

The other point is that the career of La Follette forms one of the saddest stories in present day politics. Said Judge Willis—and he says truly: "Senator La Follette built up the progressive movement in the Republican party. He initiated reforms in Wisconsin that are known and praised all over the world. When the time came for him to reap the harvest, Theodore Roosevelt stepped to the center of the stage and declared: 'I am the man to lead the progressive cause,' and Senator La Follette was shunted aside."

So was everybody else who failed to give the Great Four-Flusher all the limelight.

What Is a Boss?

The funniest thing in the campaign is Roosevelt's tirades against bosses. Why, even in North Dakota Progressives don't dare put up a ticket until he says they may.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

In 1900 Theodore Roosevelt, then a candidate for vice president, made a campaign tour of the West.

When he approached the mountain states he was told that the free silver sentiment was still strong there, and that he ought to go a little light on that subject.

When he faced a large audience in Denver, however, the first words out of his mouth were: "We are for the gold standard." And the crowd, though against him, applauded his courage; and so did the nation.

Yet in the recent Vermont campaign, addressing an audience of farmers who are all opposed to Canadian reciprocity, he strongly criticized that measure, though it was the one redeeming feature of the Taft administration, and though when it was pending he had given it unqualified approval.

He says now that he approved it without giving it careful examination; but he did not say, in Vermont or elsewhere, that he went further than mere approval of the Taft reciprocity agreement and said: "I firmly believe in FREE TRADE with Canada, both for economic and political reasons."

The courage of 1900 contrasts strangely with the political trimming of 1912. A dozen years have made a startling difference. Where is the Roosevelt who spoke at Denver in 1900? Surely he is not the same Roosevelt who denies his own opinion, given when it was popular, in order to win the approval of the anti-reciprocity farmers of Vermont!

It Certainly Does.

When the person who started the movement that got such a man as Dr. Wiley out of office is given a desirable job under private interests, it leaves a funny taste in the public mouth.

T. R., THE SHORT AND UGLY.

"The nomination of Mr. Wilson," said Theodore Roosevelt at the state fair yesterday, "was arranged by Mr. Taggart of Indiana, Mr. Sullivan of Illinois, with Mr. Murphy of New York finally joining in."

Mr. Roosevelt insults the intelligence of the people of Minnesota in bringing them this false news and expecting them to believe it.

The nomination of Governor Wilson was brought about, after many ballots and a long fight, IN SPITE of the opposition of Mr. Taggart, Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Murphy, as everybody knows full well, including Col. Roosevelt himself.

But since the charge comes from one whose word and oath are bywords through the land, it is hardly necessary to reply to it.

If it were replied to in the vein made so famous by Col. Roosevelt himself, the answer would be this:

You lie, sir!

No Chance For Dispute.

Roosevelt apparently is right when he says the bosses want Wilson. In fact, they've been trying to "get" him ever since he started out to be elected governor of New Jersey.

A JUST COMPLAINT.

A contributor to the Open Court last night states a case that appeals to sympathy and public spirit.

He lives in a street that is strictly residential, and this street is to be improved. He believes that in such a street a sixteen-feet roadway will be ample. It gives plenty of room for teams to pass each other, and with the boulevard properly improved it will be more sightly than a wide street.

But he finds that the city authorities will not sanction a roadway narrower than twenty feet. Asked why, the authorities say that this width is necessary for automobile traffic.

The correspondent says that he cannot afford an automobile, and he asks: "Isn't it rather unfair that a man who cannot afford an automobile himself should be forced to pay an extra sum for paving in front of his house in order that automobiles may use the street for speeding?"

It is unfair, and this is what it comes to: that property-owners in such circumstances are required to pay for paving twenty-five per cent more than is necessary in order that automobiles, which few of them can afford, may have a speedway.

Automobiles are about six feet wide, including the mudguards. Two of them passing make twelve feet. A foot on each side and two feet between for passing make sixteen feet. Why is a wider street necessary, even for automobile traffic?

Two automobiles ought to be able to pass readily in that width. It is true that they might have to slow down, but there is nothing against public policy in a provision that requires automobiles to slow down once in awhile in residence streets.

The case of the home-owner who cannot afford an automobile yet who is required to pay twenty-five per cent more for paving than is necessary, in order that automobile drivers may not be subjected to the necessity of slowing down slightly when they pass each other, certainly seems worth the consideration of public officials.

Of Course He'll Decide That, too.

If Theodore doesn't hurry up he'll be too late in dictating the fall styles for the third party women in the equal suffrage states.

USE THE SECOND CHOICE.

From all accounts it is still true, as it was six months ago, that at least three-fourths of the rank and file of the Republican party in Minnesota is against Adolph O. Eberhart for governor; yet it is freely predicted that he will be nominated.

How? Because, apparently, this enormous opposition is to be divided between five candidates, and Governor Eberhart is to slip through with a plurality nomination.

If that is so, a minority, not in accord with the public sentiment of this state, is going to prevail over a great majority which is weary of a state administration shackled by a crew of special interests.

It was to guard against such an unhappy circumstance as this that the second choice primary was devised.

Under it, if it is used, a majority nomination always is assured.

Under the straight primary, if a hundred thousand votes were cast in the state, the reactionary candidate might win with twenty-five thousand if the seventy-five thousand progressives divided their votes among several progressive candidates.

But the second choice provision permits the progressive voters to cast actually two votes against the reactionary candidate, and by a process of elimination to center the progressive votes on a single candidate, so that the will of the majority may be expressed.

If it is used, the progressive majority will dictate the candidate.

If it is not used, the reactionary minority will dictate the candidate.

The moral seems plain: wherever there are more than two candidates for an office, you should exercise both your first and second choices. This will reduce enormously the chance of nominations that will be regretted later.

Theodore says "the bosses want Wilson." He ought to know. The interests the bosses represent began telling Teddy what they wanted when he was in the White House, along about 1907, and evidently they haven't quit.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS

Wonderful Perspicacity.

Northome Record: The Duluth News Tribune drew expressions from about 35 per cent of the newspapers in the state on presidential preference, and it showed about an even split between Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt. The News Tribune, with a perspicacity that would be worth millions if properly applied, draws the inference that therefore Taft is enough in the lead to carry the state in November.

Candidacy Is Welcomed.

Grand Rapids Independent: John Jenswold, one of the most progressive and prominent Democrats of the state, often mentioned as the logical leader of the Democrats on the state ticket, and one of the really big men of the state, has filed as a Democratic candidate for congress, and as he will have no opposition at the primaries, he will be the opponent of Congressman Miller at the election. There are many who would have welcomed almost anybody in the field against Miller, but with the entrance of such a clean, capable, strong man as Mr. Jenswold, there is a great rejoicing all over the district, and no doubt Clarence Miller can feel his seat wobbling under him as he has wobbled on all important public questions during his tenure of the office which he now holds.

Good Work.

Cass Lake Times: It is positively refreshing to turn from the murky atmosphere of politics to the higher and clearer element which is occupied by the Northern Minnesota Development association and learn from its able and active secretary, W. R. Mackenzie, that funds for carrying on the good work are coming in very satisfactorily. The plan for sending out traveling exhibits to all western fairs another year, is most excellent, as is the plan for having show rooms in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. The means of advertising the north country with its illimitable resources will bring their own reward, in the shape of the investigator who will come to explore, and remain to develop these marvelous resources.

Good Logic.

Eveleth News: To be nominated on the Democratic ticket in late years in this district has been considered but an empty honor, but this year John Jenswold has hopes of winning. He believes that the district will give Wilson a majority for president and that Wilson will be elected. That being the sentiment, he argues that with the house and the executive department at Washington both in the hands of Democrats, a Democrat from the Eighth district could serve the district to better advantage than a Republican.

There is a large amount of logic, too, in Mr. Jenswold's argument. A man on the inside can do much more than a man on the outside, but whether the voters will see that point and vote for the Democrat remains to be seen.

Stranger things have happened in politics, however, and in these days of political chaos voters are not to be depended upon to stick very close to the usual party alignment. By his non-committal stand on the presidency, as between Roosevelt and Taft, Mr. Miller is losing a good many friends on both sides, and this may develop into a victory for Jenswold. Who can tell?

Weak Land Policy.

St. Peter Free Press: Mr. Lee, candidate for governor, calls attention to a passage in a pamphlet, recently issued by the state land office, which asks ""To the business or professional man with a little money to invest, what better business venture could be made than to purchase farm lands in Minnesota, which are certain to experience a rapid and substantial increase in value from year to year" and appears to be curious to know whether the commissioner advertises state lands or the lands held by speculators.

This is touching upon a very weak spot in our state land sale policy. It disclosed the fact that speculators have been permitted to acquire large tracts of state lands, that should have been reserved for bona fide settlers. Land speculators are a curse to any new country. No settler who intends to go on the land cares to put up a homestead in a locality surrounded by lands owned by speculators. It is this condition that induced farmers to pass up Northern Minnesota and go into Canada. They did not intend to make a wilderness fit to live in, for the benefit of absent land owners. Our state land office seems to have lost sight of this point.

Most Important.

St. Cloud Journal Press: We can all agree that the fine warm weather is a good thing for the corn, and big crops safely harvested are of more importance to the country than all the candidates and politicians.

Why Not Apples?

Biwabik Times: Farmers tell us that it is impossible to raise apples in this country. In older countries apples are profitably grown several hundred miles farther north than St. Louis county. It would seem, therefore, that it is merely a case of finding the right kind of apple trees. The trouble has been that the nursery people have sold to farmers trees suited to a warmer climate.

Day of Boss Has Gone.

Cass Lake Times: A "bang-up" good sign that the people are determined to rule the country in the future is seen in the lack of respect or love of party. A few years ago it was only necessary to "crack the party whip" to carry a precinct, a county or a nation; now everybody seems to have a political opinion of his own and takes pride in exhibiting it. Some of our political philosophers (?) bewail the condition but it looks as if the day of the boss in politics has come to an end.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

DEFACING NATURE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

One day recently I was showing our city to a friend from another part of the state. She admired with me the beauties of Lester park and Minnesota Point, and enjoyed the panorama of bay and lake spread out to the eye as one ascends the incline.

When we walked westward on Superior street, however, and saw the Point of Rocks from Eighth avenue fairly plastered with sign boards, my friend exclaimed, "Isn't that dreadful! Why do they allow it? Can't anything be done about it?"

Perhaps we Duluthians are too used to seeing this fine spot marred to realize the enormity of it, but it strikes a stranger as outrageous. When you think of it, why should the greed of a few be allowed to override the right of nearly 80,000 people to enjoy this beauty of nature?

Here for nothing but the turning of our eyes that way, we may see grand rocks partly hidden by graceful bushes and vines—such a combination as could not for any money be imported into an artificial park—spoiled by invitations to chew Wrigleys' gum, to smoke or chew various sorts of tobacco or drink some variety of beer! To be sure if no one used tobacco the street cleaners would have less to do, and if no one drank beer the "jag farm" we are going to have might lack tenants, and what a misfortuna that would be!

Still, though I admit 'tis good to be clean, I am sure we could spare all those signs, from Pear's Soap through Sen Sen and Uncle Sam's advertisement for men to learn the killing trade, through the various tobaccos away down to Pabst and Budweiser.

Just think what a nice pile of kindling those signs would make, and how improved the landscape would be by their being thus made useful.

In behalf of a city beautiful.

MARY F. JAQUES.

Duluth, Sept. 5.

Complete Enough.

St. Louis Republic: Roosevelt was the friend and eulogist of Matt Quay, who was the Standard Oil company's "man," as his lieutenant, Penrose, is today.

Roosevelt was the president who permitted Messrs. Gary and Frick to convince him, before breakfast one morning, that the Steel corporation should be allowed to swallow whole its most formidable competitor.

Roosevelt was the candidate who, eight years ago, objected to publicity as to campaign expenses before election.

Roosevelt is today the political protege of George W. Perkins of the Steel and Harvester trusts.

Roosevelt is the begetter of the Progressive platform which favors a "strong Federal administrative commission" under the executive which shall regulate large corporations engaged in 'legitimate business" so that they may be freed from "confusion, uncertainty and fruitless litigation."

Patron saint of the Steel trust, bosom friend of Steel and Harvester magnates today, opponent of the kind of campaign publicity which alone applies the caustic in time, champion of the kind of government that tells the lawbreaking corporation just how far it can go and keep out of the fire, Theodore Roosevelt's trust record is complete enough, whether he over testifies before the Clapp committee or not.

What He Discovered From London.

London Tit-Bits: In the daily half-hour confidential talk with his boy an ambitious London father tried to give some advice.

"Be observing, my son," said the father on one occasion. "Cultivate the habit of seeing, and you will be a successful man. Study things and remember them. Don't go through the world blindly. Learn to use your eyes. Boys who are observant know a great deal more than those who are not."

Willie listened in silence.

Several days later, when the entire family, consisting of his mother, aunt and uncle, were present, his father said:

"Well, Willie, have you kept using your eyes as I advised you to do?"

Willie nodded, and after a moment's hesitation, said:

"I have seen a few things about the house. Uncle Jim's got a bottle of hair dye hid under his bed, Aunt Jennie's got an extra set of teeth in her dresser, ma's got some curls in her hat and pa's got a pack of cards and a box of dice behind the bookcase."

The Two Glasses.

There sat two glasses filled to the brim,
On a rich man's table, rim to rim,
One was ruddy and red as blood,
And one as clear as the crystal flood.

Said the glass of wine to the paler brother;
"Let us tell the tales of the past to each other;
I can tell of banquet and revel and mirth,
And the proudest and grandest souls on earth
Fell under my touch as though struck by blight,
Where I was king, for I ruled in might;
From the heads of kings I have torn the crown,
From the heights of fame I have hurled men down;
I have blasted many an honored name;
I have taken virtue and given shame;
I have tempted the youth with a sip,
That has made his future a barren waste.

"Greater, far greater than king am I,
Or any army beneath the sky.
I have made the arm of the driver fail,
And sent the train from the iron rail;
I have made good ships go down at sea,
And the shrieks of the lost were sweet to me,
For they said, 'Behold how great you be!
Fame, strength, wealth, genius before you fall,
For your might and power are over all.'
Ho! hol pale brother," laughed the wine,
"Can you boast of deeds as great as mine?"

Said the water glass: "I cannot boast
Of a king dethroned or a murdered host;
But I can tell of a heart once sad,
By my crystal drops made light and glad;
Of thirsts I've quenched, of brows I've laved,
Of hands I have cooled, and souls I have saved;
I have leaped through the valley, dashed down the mountain,
Flowed in the river and played in the fountain,
Slept in the sunshine and dropped from the sky,
And everywhere gladdened the landscape and eye.
I have eased the hot forehead of fever and pain;
I have made the parched meadows grow fertile with grain;
I can tell of the powerful wheel of the mill,
That ground out the flour and turned at my will.
I can tell of manhood debased by you,
That I have lifted and crowned anew.
I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid;
I gladden the heart of man and maid;
I set the chained wine-captive free;
And all are better for knowing me."

These are the tales they told each other,
The glass of wine and the paler brother,
As they sat together filled to the brim,
On the rich man's table, rim to rim.

Ruining the Country.

New York World: No wonder Col. Roosevelt told the Vermont farmers that Democratic tariff revision would ruin the country. Complete proof of this charge was furnished by Gov. Wilson when he indorsed the farmers' free list bill, which put agricultural implements on the free list.

The largest manufacturer of agricultural implements in the United States is Perkins's Harvester trust. If the free list is extended over the Perkins products the Perkins profits will be reduced. If the Perkins profits are reduced the Perkins contributions to MY campaign fund will diminish. If the Perkins contributions are diminished MY candidacy will suffer, and without ME the country is ruined.

When the Democratic candidate for president attacks Perkins's profits he indeed demonstrates that he has "utterly lost touch with the facts of modern industrial life."

New Job Was Safe.

Harper's Magazine: A man who goes up to Maine each year for the hunting was quite surprised this season upon arriving at the village hotel to find one of the old and best-known guides loafing about idle.

"Well, Lafe," asked the visitor, "don't you guide hunting parties any more?"

"No, I gave it up," slowely answered Lafe. "Got tired of being mistook for a deer."

"I don't blame you. How do you earn your living now?"

"Guide fishing parties now. So far nobody ain't mistook me for a fish."

"The Man as He Is."

Charles E. Russell in the Coming Nation.

I recall now a curious fact about this man that seems to be both appropriate here and illuminating.

I have been following his career closely for twenty-six years. In Washington years ago and in New York later he was long in official positions where my work as a newspaper man caused me to observe him with diligence. I know as much about him as about any man that has been in public life in my time. I know of him many stories that illustrate his measureless ambitions, his arrogance, cruelty, savage instincts, love of power and ostentation, his total lack of consideration for others, his rudeness of the aged and the weak. But I have never heard of one anecdote about him that told of an act of kindness or charity or generosity. No one has ever told me of an instance where he tried to relieve suffering or took any interest in misfortune or tried to lighten distress, or showed for so much as one instant one touch of kindly emotion. I have never heard of his exhibiting on any occasion the slightest interest in the welfare of any human being except himself, and I don't believe any other newspaper man has ever heard of such an instance.

And it is odd, now that I look back upon these things, that of all the public men I have known in all my life, he is the only one of whom any of this can be said. Every other public man in the whole catalogue of my observation, from McKinley to John Powers and Hinky Dink, had some redeeming touch. This man has absolutely none. To have lived so many years, to have left not one warm or kindly impression anywhere on this earth is a horrible fate and a singular. I don't believe it can be paralleled in history. It makes the mystery of his following perfectly inexplicable. Some men have been admired and followed because of their achievements or their brilliancy. This man's achievements are a mass of fictions and instead of being brilliant in any way, he is, in fact, one of the dullest of God's creatures. Other men have been followed because of their personal magnetism and kindliness. This man has no such attributes. For the marvel of his case I know of but one explanation that seems at all adequate, and that is a combination of his exquisite knowledge of the press agent's art and the strange conditions of the hour in which an old system is breaking down and an unthoughtful people has not yet perceived the thing that must take its place.

On the Defensive.

New York Herald: Come to think of it, Mr. Taft is no longer on the defensive. Nor are Governor Wilson, Senator La Follette and Senator Penrose.

The tactics of the struggle have entirely changed, and the noise of pick and shovel that has been heard steadily for the last four or five days is caused by the Armageddon Guards throwing up intrenchments.

It is the third term candidate who is on the defensive now, and it is easy to imagine how surprise overwhelmed the head of the "bull meese" when he discovered that something had happened to which the cry of "liar," "thief," "scoundrel," "burglar," "horse thief," and "counterfeiter" would not be a complete answer.

It is a fine thing to be in a position where all one has to do when assailed is to denounce the enemy, but it is a different affair when a real defence has to be made and "real" facts have to be presented to convince a doubting and astounded public.

For make no mistake, the danger the Third Termer is in now is more serious than any he has confronted since the night of Nov. 5, 1904, when, having called Judge Parker an "unqualified and atrocious" liar, he took the gambler's chance that the judge would not produce the evidence of the $125,000 contribution of the Standard Oil company to the Republican campaign fund.

He can call on Collector Loeb, and Mr. Cortelyou, and Secretary Knox and Vice President Sherman, and even on high heaven; but this time he must make a real defence. It is noted that yesterday he intimated that he wanted Mr. Sherman examined. Surely let Mr. Sherman be examined. And let Mr. Sherman tell whether he really received the letter written to him from the White House about the Harriman contributions or whether, like so many others, it was merely for the "record."

Meanwhile the noise of the pick and shovel goes on day and night. There is no time to be lost, men of the Armageddon Guards! Before you are through with this engagement we fear that intrenchments will not avail and that cyclone cellars and bomb-proof will be needed.

Theodore the Perfect.

New York Sun: "I have never done anything wrong," shrieks Th. Dentatus Modestus at the moment when the sons of Belial are trying to prove that he has been "caught with the goods."

His infallibility has long been an article of faith, and why shouldn't he be as impeccable as infallible?

Still, it might be an interesting constitutional point, if the Constitution were not to be positively suspended, if a god, though considerably over the age of 35 years and for a good deal more than fourteen years a resident within the United States, is a natural born citizen and eligible to the office of president. Clearly the colonel is supernormal, supernatural, perfect, preter-perfect. What skill these cavillings? Hear the chant of the Bullmoosians:

"March, march, march along,
March to Armageddon, strong!
Batter the drum and thump the gong.
Strike up, brothers, the grand sweet song.
'Teddy has never done anything wrong,'
'T. R. never did anything wrong!'"

Don't forget the customary homage to the statues of the divine Emperor.

Work

Henry M. Stanley: The bigger the work the greater the joy in doing it. That whole-hearted striving and wrestling with Difficulty, the laying hold with firm grip and level head and calm resolution of the monster, and tugging, and toiling, and wrestling at it, today, tomorrow, and the next until it is done; it is the soldier's creed of forward, ever forward—it is the man's faith that for this task was he born. Don't think of the morrow's task, but what you have to do today, and go at it. When it is over, rest tranquilly, and sleep well.

The Price of a Babe.

(A New Jersey court holds that a baby's life is never worth more than $1,000 because "Babies are not an asset, but an expense.")

What would you take for your baby? say,
Father, mother of wee dimpled child;
What would you ask in exchange, today,
For prattle and chatter and innocent smile?
Would you barter for coin the rich bloom on its cheek?
Its deep-dimpled chin? Or its pink chubby feet?
Its happy eye-sparkle and soft-gurgled 'Goo'?
Is there aught to replace the dear baby's 'Coo'?

What would you take, fond parent, today,
For the tender heart-love which your baby brought you?
What could one bid or barter away
To tempt unconcern where affection is due?
Is the cuddle of head to the mother's breast,
Or the sweet sleep-smile of untroubled rest,
Or baby-talk chatter through nursery door
An asset of value? Or expense to ignore?

O shame on that one (though Lord of High Court),
Whose distorted soul could issue decree
That a God-given child, its love and its sport
Were worth but a pittance in settlement fee;
And shame on a people who, nodding their head,
Pretend to accept such verdict as true;
Must we thus by clumsy old tethers be led
To count love and helplessness in shekels, too?

Oh men, let us wake; let us think; let us shout;
If 'tis babe against profit—then count profit out.

"Enclosed please find $1 to help reduce the high cost of living," writes Fred Moody from Warroad.

H. H. Salmon, who is one of the most enthusiastic Wilson men on the range, mailed in $5 today.

"Progressives want the high protective tariff reduced, and through it the reduction of the cost of living will come about.

Governor Wilson believes that the tariff should be reduced. He believes that the doctrine of protection as applied by the Payne-Aldrich tariff law is an oppression on the American people. He believes that the tariff should be reduced so as to remain a tariff for revenue only, based on scientific facts, and so gradually reduced that business may not be suddenly thrown into chaos.

Governor Wilson's views on the reduction of the tariff are ideal from a progressive standpoint.

So are his views on nearly all other questions now agitating the American people.

That is why the progressive citizens of the United States are anxious to see him in the presidential chair.

The campaign is on. On one side is Governor Wilson and the great mass of the American people. On the other side is special privilege egging on sincere advocates of worn-out principles that have seen their day.

Money is needed for the campaign. The Democratic national committee will receive no money from the ordinary sources of campaign funds.

The money must come from the people. It is the people's fight, and they should finance it.

Every dollar contributed will do its part toward carrying on the campaign for "A People's President." No amount is too small to be accepted for the good work.

Every man should contribute according to his means, if he wants to see a "People's President" in the executive chair. No man can be elected to office without a campaign. No campaign can be conducted without funds.

Contributions should be mailed to Wilson Campaign Fund, Herald Office, Duluth, Minn. Contributions will be acknowledged by publication in The Herald. The lists will be sent to the Democratic national committee, and the contributors will receive a handsomely engraved receipt, suitable for framing. MINNESOTA POLITICS

Candidates Must Have Primary Vote Equalling 10 Per Cent of Party Vote in Respective Districts at Last Election to Get Names on Ballot —Reception to Roosevelt in St. Paul Reported to Have Been a "Frost."

Vote Required at Primary.

Some of the candidates of the minor parties in St. Louis county are worrying about the provision of the new primary law which requires that every party shall cast in each district at the primary election a number of votes equal to 10 per cent of the average vote of that party on state officers at the last election in order to qualify the candidates in each district for places on the ballot.

The law says:

"Provided, however, that if the number of votes cast for any candidate or candidates of any party for any office at such primary election shall aggregate the number of votes equal to 10 per cent or more of the average vote cast for state officers of that party at the last general election in the territory within which such candidates are to be voted for, then all candidates of that party within that territory shall be deemed to be the party nominees of such party; otherwise no candidates of that party within that territory shall be deemed nominated and in such case such party candidates of such party may be nominated by petition as provided for in sections 213 to 216, inclusive, Revised Laws, 1905, and the candidates of any such party failing to receive such 10 per cent of such vote shall be eligible for nomination under the terms of this provision."

Under the provisions of the law, unless some candidate of each party receives in the state, the congressional districts, the county, the legislative districts and the commissioners' districts, 10 per cent of the average vote of his party on state officers in the respective district in the last general election, the names of the party candidates may be placed on the ballot in that district only by petition. Such petitions must, in the case of a candidate for state office, contain 2,000 names, and for any other office 10 per cent of the total vote at the last general election, or not more than 500 names.

The vote for the following offices is to be used in computing the percentages: Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer and attorney general. The Republicans and Democrats had candidates for all five offices at the last general election, but the Prohibitionists and Public Ownership party had candidates only for governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

The vote required in the various divisions at the primary election, under the 10 per cent provision, is as follows:

In the state—Republican, 16,470; Democrat, 9,200; Prohibition, 1,297; Public Ownership, 1,564.

In St. Louis county—Republican, 838; Democrat, 509; Prohibition, 74; Public Ownership, 104.

In Forty-ninth district—Republican, 440; Democrat, 246; Prohibition, 45; Public Ownership, 60.

In Fiftieth district—Republican, 164; Democrat, 117; Prohibition, 16; Public Ownership, 21.

In Fifty-first district—Republican, 240; Democrat, 148; Prohibition, 15; Public Ownership, 22.

In First Commissioner's district—Republican, 117; Democrat, 105; Prohibition, 8; Public Ownership, 15.

In Third Commissioner's district—Republican, 100; Democrat, 82; Prohibition, 14; Public Ownership, 17.

In Fifth Commissioner's district—Republican, 89; Democrat, 55; Prohibition, 10; Public Ownership, 15.

In Seventh Commissioner's district—Republican, 156; Democrat, 68; Prohibition, 10; Public Ownership, 15.

The object of the provision is to force members of the respective parties to vote their own ticket at the primaries. It will probably have the effect of swelling the primary vote of the minority parties appreciably. When there is no opposition in the minority parties, human nature is such that many votes go to the majority party in which there is opposition. The charge that members of one party vote the ticket of another in order to assist in the nomination of weak candidates is not well founded. The American citizen likes to take part in a scrap at the polls, and if there isn't one in his own party, he looks elsewhere.

T. R. Reception a "Frost."

Word comes from St. Paul that the reception to Theodore Roosevelt yesterday was a good deal of a "frost."

Duluth men who were at the capital say that a very small crowd met the train on which the ex-president and presidential candidate arrived. A band led the way to the St. Paul hotel, but the floor space of the lobby was not taxed by the crowd which followed the party into the hotel. A breakfast reception, which followed, was attended by only about fifty people, it is said, and reception committee badges were peddled out to all who would accept them. Only one man raised his voice in a cheer and failed to stir up enthusiasm, the story goes.

Col. Roosevelt had a good crowd before him when he spoke at the fair, but it did not number more than 5,000 people, in the opinion of one Duluth man. The crowd was at the fair, and it was natural that many of them wanted to see the chief attraction of the day. The enthusiasm was not such as the "Man of the Hour" might expect in a state which his managers are counting for him. On the whole the Bull Moosers of Minnesota didn't make good in receiving their chief.

Nye For Teddy.

Congressman Frank Nye of Minneapolis, who recently announced his retirement from congress, declared yesterday that he is a supporter of Theodore Roosevelt. Although Nye announced when he retired from the congressional race that he was favorable to the third party, his allegiance to Roosevelt was somewhat in doubt until yesterday.

Straw Vote.

This is the day of the straw vote. The political enthusiast who wants to poll every gathering isn't as nearly ubiquitous as he will be later, but he appears often enough to make some people say things under their breath. Some people take stock in straw votes, however, and their results are always interesting. Here is the result of one taken on a Duluth & Iron Range train between Aurora and Virginia a few days ago: Debs, 4; Roosevelt, 13; Taft, 33; Wilson, 46.

Voters Must Register.

Candidates for county office are working in Duluth this week endeavoring to get a heavy registration next Tuesday. That is the last day for registration before the primary election. Unless the voter registers Tuesday he may vote at the primary election only on the filing of an affidavit of residence. The candidates know that many voters who would otherwise take part in the primary election will neglect to do so if they are required to go through the red tape provided by the new primary law, so they are endeavoring to get all voters to register next Tuesday. Registration before the primary will qualify the voters for the primary and the general election as well. The provision for registration before the primary election applies only in cities of the first class and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth are the only cities of the first class in the state. No registration before the primary election is required in St. Louis county outside of the city of Duluth.

Democratic Meeting.

Judge Alfred Jaques and Walter F. Dacey returned today from St. Paul, where they attended a meeting yesterday of the advisory and executive committee of the State Federation of Democratic Precinct clubs. The plans of the campaign were talked over and initiative given to the organization of the state for the Democratic ticket. Judge Jaques is a member of the executive committee and Mr. Dacey is president of the organization for St. Louis county.

Working for Olund.

Duluth friends of Emil Olund of St. Paul, candidate for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, are beginning to do some work in his behalf. Mr. Olund is a former resident of Duluth, having been in the customs service here for four years. He was a candidate for county treasurer of St. Louis county on the Democratic ticket in 1892 and was defeated by only about 100 votes. Harvey W. Grimmer, who was executive clerk during Governor Johnson's administration, is also a candidate for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state.

BEGS FLINN TO HURRY UP

Hilles Urges Haste in Changing Electors in Pennsylvania.

Flinn Replies That Hilles Is a Joke and "Knows What He Can Do."

New York, Sept. 6.—Chairman Charles D. Hilles and members of the Republican national committee have taken steps in another effort to supplant Roosevelt electors on the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania with Taft men. The proposal of William Flinn that Taft electors be substituted for Roosevelt electors after he had succeeded in obtaining signatures to petitions naming the Roosevelt men on a Washington party ticket some time about Sept. 30, has not been accepted, and some other plan is to be tried. Chairman Hilles gave out a letter of more than 1,000 words addressed to Henry C. Wasson, chairman of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania. In this letter Mr. Hilles reviewed the situation in that state, and said:

"From the standpoint of decency, honor and morality, the Roosevelt electors should not defer their retirement from the Republican ticket another day. They should not force the Republican managers to appeal to the courts to compel them to withdraw."

Of Mr. Flinn and his proposal Mr. Hilles said:

"William Flinn, the head of the Republican secessionists in Pennsylvania, is admittedly the influence which has prevented the elimination from the Republican ticket of the Roosevelt electors."

The chairman declared that Mr. Flinn's purpose was to destroy the Republican party in the nation, and at the same time further his ambition to enter the United States senate.

"Hilles Is a Joke."

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—Replying to Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee, William Flinn said: "Personally I think Hilles is a joke. We told him what time we would take the Roosevelt electors off the ticket and substitute Taft men. If he can do it quicker, let him go ahead. I'd like to know how he is going to do it. Hilles has been told all this before. He knows what we are going to do, and I don't doubt but that he has a pretty clear idea just what he can do."

FLOG CONVICTS IN MICHIGAN PRISON

Ringleaders in Recent Mutiny Get Ten to Thirty Lashes Each.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 6.—For the first time in its history, flogging was resorted to in the Michigan state prison here yesterday. Nine of the ringleaders in the recent outbreak were given from ten to thirty lashes each, and it is understood that all who took a prominent part in the rioting will be meted out similar punishment. The number of lashes given each was in accordance with the report of physicians as to how much punishment the prisoner could stand. Everything otherwise is gradually assuming a normal condition at the prison, though the troops are still on duty.

WILSON TALKS TO ITALIANS

Tells of Benefits America Receives From Incoming Aliens.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson received Italian delegations from Jersey City yesterday and talked about immigration to them.

"There is no sort of visit more welcome to me now," he said, "because I fear that things I have written have been most grossly misinterpreted. I have had frequent occasions recently to meet delegations similar to this, and it has been a great gratification to me that they all speak in generous language of appreciation toward myself, but also with an extremely broad-minded apprehension of what my real position is and of what my real feelings are.

"The fact of the matter is that America has been enriched by having the aspirations of some of the finest races in the world brought to her shores. I don't know whether we ought to rejoice that other countries are in the same degree impoverished, but for myself, as an American along with yourselves, I rejoice most heartily in the circumstances that make men of every European blood bring to this country the highest aspirations, because they can't bring these aspirations without adding to the aspirations of the country and making the country greater and freer than it would be without them."

INVENTS A NEW MUSICAL APPLIANCE.

Henry Williams, music teacher, 123 West Palm street, Duluth Heights, is the inventor of a new musical appliance known as the left hand position retainer for the violin. He has just secured a patent on the invention and hopes soon to manufacture it.

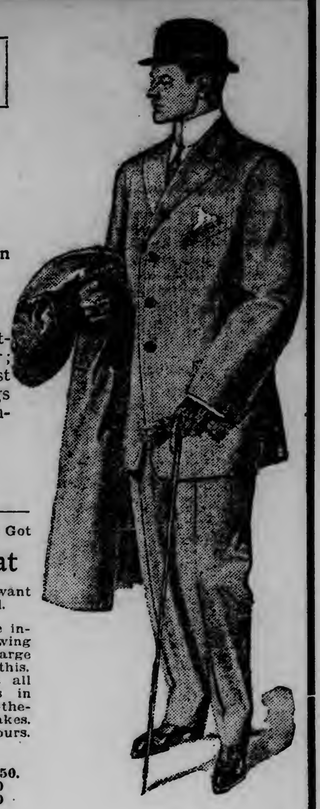

The invention is a simple wooden device made for beginners to use during practice hours. It prevents the wrist from pressing on the neck of the violin and allows the fingers freedom of action. The position retainer can be shifted from one position to another with accuracy. It also can be applied to the cello and bass violin.

"Your good will is our most valuable asset. We gain it and hold it by everlasting striving to do better."

HADLEY GIVES OUT LETTER TO TEDDY

It Does Not Promise Support of Missouri Republican Party.

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 6.—Governor Hadley has made public the full text of a letter which he sent to Col. Roosevelt on the eve of the recent Progressive party convention at St. Louis advising against the naming of a third party ticket.

This is the letter which brought forth the statement from Col. Roosevelt at Keokuk, Iowa, that he had been offered Republican support in Missouri if a third ticket were not named. The text of the letter as given out does not promise the support of the Republican party in Missouri, but says that many Republicans would like to vote for Roosevelt if Democratic success in Missouri were not assured by the naming of a Progressive state ticket. Governor Hadley said the letter was made public with Col. Roosevelt's consent.

$10,000 IN GOLD STOLEN FROM COUNTY'S VAULTS.

Mercede, Cal., Sept. 6.—Ten thousand dollars in gold presumably contained in a single sack, is believed to have been stolen from the vaults of the county treasurer within a month. Police believe the money was abstracted during business hours, as the vault is equipped with a time lock and shows no signs of having been tampered with. Announcement of the shortage was made after accountants had worked on the books. The officials have no clew.

CHINESE PIRATES HOLD OFFICERS FOR RANSOM.

Hongkong, Sept. 6.—A powerful band of Chinese pirates here carried off the master and chief engineer of a river tug and are holding them for $20,000 ransom. The pirates first fired a volley on a lighter loaded with oil proceeding up the west river near the town of Kongmoon. Then they boarded the tug towing her, and seized the entire crew, but afterward released all except the two officers.

ALL TAFT'S CABINET GOING ON THE STUMP.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Although President Taft will not take an active part in the Republican campaign, he will be well represented on the stump during the next two months by members of his cabinet. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will begin a speech-making tour of Western states Oct. 1, and all the other members of the president's cabinet will take an active part in furthering the Republican cause by trips through various sections of the country. The various itineraries will be definitely agreed upon within the next fortnight.

NO "EXPENSE FUNDS" FOR COMMERCE COURT JUDGES.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The comptroller of the treasury has instructed F. J. Starek, marshal of the commerce court, not to pay to the judges of that tribunal the $1,500 a year "expense allowance" for attendance when the court is in session in Washington. The court has held all its sessions in Washington, and, while the item was in the act, the lack of expenses for which provision was made in the appropriation bills now in force gives no specific authority for the allowance.

Woman's Realm

A piano teachers' round table, a new branch of work in the Matinee Musicale, was decided upon at a special meeting of the board of directors of the club held this morning at the home of Mrs. George S. Richards, 212 South Sixteenth avenue east, president.

Miss Josephine Carey was made chairman of this department of the club and the initial meeting will be held next Monday morning at the Young Women's Christian association at 10 o'clock.

Particular benefit is expected by teachers of piano who have desired co-operation and their work will be outlined for this year at the meeting Monday.

Circulars stating the aims of the club, its outlined work for the year, the artistic recitals and special attractions and adding an invitation to join the club were mailed to 1,000 who are not already members of the club.

The object of the club is to advance the interest and promote the culture of musical art in Duluth and especially to promote the musical improvement of the members, to develop and encourage home talent, and to raise the musical standard generally.

That organization can accomplish what individual effort cannot is one of the basic ideas of the club which has made steady growth for twelve years, and progress in the class of work done will go on with the increase in membership without the increase of the dues for the year.

The philanthropic and extension work of the club has come to be a big thing. Taking good music to charitable institutions will be the work of a special committee with Miss Ruth Rogers chairman, and previous to the orchestra programs to be given here special programs will be given in the public schools.

The other lines of work and the programs for the year were also outlined in the circulars.

The effort to increase the membership of the club over 1,000 will be pushed by all the present members.

GYM PARTY.

Y. W. C. A. Will Be Scene of Frolic.

A gymnasium party will be held next Tuesday evening at the Young Women's Christian association to which all former members of the gymnasium classes, all interested in them and all who wish to join this season are cordially invited. An informal evening of games is planned to commence at 8 o'clock and a big attendance is expected. The girls are looking forward to the evening as a big frolic and the classes are also pleasantly anticipated. After the games refreshments will be served.

GENEVA RALLY

All Girls Invited to Y. W. C. A. Sunday.

There will also be music.

The delegates were Miss Mae C. Anders, Miss Ellen Ledward, Miss Mary Lindahl, Miss Dorothy Older, Miss Minnie Boehne, Miss Winnifred Quigley and Miss Ellen Nelson.

Treatment for Falling Hair

A great many people who are troubled in this way wait too long before beginning treatment, writes Jeanne La Place in the Woman's World, in discussing falling hair. If you wish to save your hair you must take it in time. A tightness of the scalp, perhaps with itching and heavy dandruff, are among the first signs of the trouble. She is a wise beauty seeker who waits for no further symptoms, but begins operations immediately.

Scalp treatments at the hands of a skilled beauty doctor are of course highly desirable, but the woman who finds it impossible or extremely inconvenient to receive professional treatment need not despair. She can do much for herself, provided only she is systematic and persistent in her efforts.

Before beginning on any course of scalp treatments, it is highly important to determine the condition and needs of the scalp. If the scalp is dry and lacking in oil, it is evident that more oil should be supplied. If, on the other hand, there is an excess of oil, a tonic of a drying nature is needed.

The hair should be shampooed frequently—probably once in every two weeks—during the treatment. If the scalp is extremely oily, it may be necessary to shampoo every week. For a dry scalp, a tar soap should be used—for the oily scalp, sulphur soap.

For dry hair, the following tonic is highly recommended:

Forty-eight grains of resorcin, one-fourth ounce glycerine, diluted alcohol to fill two-ounce bottle.

For oily hair, try the following:

Forty grains of resorcin, one-half ounce water, one ounce each of alcohol and witchhazel.

The method of applying these tonics to the hair is just as important as the tonics themselves. They are not to be dabbed on in a careless and haphazard fashion, but massaged into the scalp scientifically every night.

Part the hair into fifty strands, and apply the tonic along the partings and around the hair line. It is well to use a medicine dropper for this purpose. Then work the tonic into the scalp with the tips of the fingers.

And now a word of caution: Do not be alarmed or discouraged if your hair should appear to fall out worse than ever for a little while after you begin treatments. It is simply that hair that has been previously loosened at the root, and so, already doomed, is being worked out by manipulation.

HOW TO ROUT MOLD.

Light and Ventilation Are Enemies to Its Accumulation—Slaked Lime.

The appearance of mold as growing on bread, cheese and other foods is familiar to every housewife; mildew on cloth is a less commonly recognized form of mold, says the Kansas City Star.

The spores of the different varieties of mold are everywhere present, and they need only warmth and moisture for the enable them to grow on many kinds of food. These organisms are always at work in damp cellars and in dark and damp corners of rooms; they are borne on the feet of insects, and they are on the skins of all fruits, and in the dust flying in the air.

They are not fond of light and they require no great abundance of air, flourishing best in food that are piled close together, leaving small, undisturbed air spaces and moisture. They always start on the surface and throw their thread-like filaments down into the substance below.

Take, for example, a fine ripe apple and closely examine the skin. If it is in good condition and attractive, it is almost certain that the flesh is protected in the natural way by an unbroken skin which resists the entrance of molds and other micro-organisms. If, however, the apple has begun to spoil, it is almost certain that the skin has been broken.

When fruits touch each other, the point of contact is likely to be more moist than the rest of the fruit, and for this and other reasons it is a favorite place for the starting of mold or other growth. If the skin is perfectly firm and we rub it with a clean cloth to dry it and to remove as many as possible of the mold germs, then wrap the apple in soft paper and put it in a cold place, precautions have been taken which should hinder or prevent decay. If, however, the fruit is kept in a warm and damp place, and touching other fruits, its decay is certain.

In dealing with all varieties of microscopic life we have learned that to prevent them from getting a start is the all-important thing. The growth, once begun, is difficult to arrest.

The first requisite is absolute cleanliness in the storage place. This is not to be attained by the use of soap and water alone. Fresh air, sunshine and whitewash are important aids. Shelves should be washed clean and then dried, but the undue use of water should be avoided, as moisture is one of the chief requisites of growth.

A cellar may be kept dry by placing in it dishes of unslaked lime, which takes up the moisture with avidity. When the lime crumbles apart, losing entirely its crystalline character, it has become "slaked," will take up no more water and must be renewed.

The growth of most molds is retarded by light, ventilation and low temperature. Light and ventilation are important. The right degree of cold for each different product has been studied experimentally, and a knowledge of low temperature in relation to the growth of bacteria and fungi forms the basis of the cold storage industry.

How to Destroy Ants.

The following suggestion as to how to destroy ants appears in Farm and Fireside:

"The best and easiest method I have ever found for destroying ants, whether they are in the house or on the lawn, is to take a large sponge, wet it and sift fine sugar all over it and lay it in the place that is infested. The ants will soon fill the sponge. Take it and sink it in a pail of water; they will then leave the sponge and rise to the top of the water and can easily be destroyed. Sprinkle more sugar on the sponge and put it in place again. This repeated a few times will soon enable the housewife to destroy all the ants."

Women Back Public Welfare Work

Indorse Plans of Board After Hearing Them Explained By Secretary—Other Matters Before Woman's Council.

The decision to formally indorse the work of the public welfare committee and to back it in its work by sending a communication to the president of the common council and the chairman of the board of county commissioners seconding the request made by that body for the appropriation for funds to carry on its work was one of the chief actions taken by the Woman's Council this morning at its regular monthly meeting at the library club room.

John Stone Pardee, secretary of the public welfare board, spoke to the council on the needs of the board in carrying on its work and the special lines which it hoped to take up. "The board," he said, "has as its aim the purchasing of lands which will be needed for civic use for purposes which every up-to-date and progressive city will find necessary—the occupying of prisoners in improvement work which will create assets for the city and prove of economic value and not for the county which does not need the help as much as the city does.

"It also hopes," he said, "to back the proposed municipal lodging house for women which will correspond to what the Bethel is for men. The Y. W. C. A. cannot meet the needs of women in all lines and some such institution is much needed.

"The welfare board expects to include in its work the runing of the rock pile and to take up the playground work in the city.

"The welfare board is entitled to the appointment of two probation officers who would be of invaluable aid in civic work. The enforcement of the dance hall ordinance could be reached through these officers in the most effective way and they would be valuable in other special investigation work.

"We are of course doing pioneer and experimental work and we need all the backing we can have in our work. The public welfare board has in the past received more support from the Woman's Council than from any other source and we court their suggestions and co-operation."

The council voted its hearty indorsement and instructed the secretary to write to both the city council and board of commissioners stating that fact and backing the welfare board in its request for an appropriation.

Thanks to Mrs. Burris.

A unanimous rising vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. W. H. Burris, first vice president of the Woman's Council, for her valuable work and efforts and extending praise for what she has done during her work in that organization as a result of a letter received from her stating that she would retire from active work in the council for a time.

Form New Committee.

A letter was read from the Civic league of St. Paul asking for the cooperation of the Woman's Council in securing needed legislation this winter on the weights and measure laws. The women felt that the matter was one which affected every housekeeper and it was voted that the president appoint a legislative committee to investigate the matter and bring it up before the legislators from this district in due course of time.

Civic Study Class.

Mrs. Arthur Barnes, temporary vice chairman of the committee appointed for arrangements for the new class in the study of social conditions and training of civic workers, reported the arrangements made by the committee for this class, which will hold its first meeting Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the library clubroom, when officers will be elected and rules and regulations adopted. This class will be limited to thirty members and will study during the year school efficiency, charter work and budget work. Mrs. J. T. Watson was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

It was announced that Mrs. S. R. Holden has been appointed as the fifth member from the floor on the advisory committee of the council, the other four members being the president, two vice presidents and secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Z. D. Scott of the garbage committee reported that interest in the municipal collection of garbage, for which the council has been working for several years, has been kept up and that the members of the committee had been actively at work trying to procure the appropriation needed for the plan.

Parks and playground work was spoken of by Miss Poirier and Mrs. O. L. Mather of the streets and alleys committee stated that the committee expected to soon purchase the cans for rubbish for the street corners and that the board of public works had promised to keep them emptied.

School Ventilation.

School ventilation was discussed and the formation of parent-teachers' associations was urged as a matter of interest which should be taken up by the mothers of the city. Mrs. A. E. Shores spoke interestingly on the subject and gave some helpful suggestions. Miss Nettie E. Trimble of the Y. W. C. A. stated that the Young Women's association expected to have a series of mothers' meetings at the building and at schools during the winter.

The women's rest room at the public market was also spoken of again and the women were urged to give chairs or secure them for the purpose of making the place more comfortable and cheery for the women and girls who come there to sell their market stuffs. Coverings for the chairs and magazines and papers were also suggested as desirable.

Mrs. Washburn Leaves Chair.

Mrs. J. L. Washburn, who has been president of the Council for many years presided this morning for the last time, having resigned her office as she will be out of the city for nearly a year and could not assume the duties. She expressed her pleasure in the work she had done with the members of the organization and extended her best wishes that the work might be as pleasant and profitable during the next year.

FASHION-FOLLOWERS.

Poiret, the Paris Dress Authority, Says They're Unfashionable.

"The well-dressed woman is the one who picks out her gown, her adornments, simply because they make her appear more pleasant, not because other people are wearing that style or because it will be a palpable proof of her husband's bank account."

Thus says Paul Poiret, the fashion authority of Paris in an article entitled "Individuality in Dress," in Harper's Bazar. He continues:

"Because one woman chooses to emphasize the purety of her Grecian profile by winding a band of gold around her hair, why should twenty the next day and five hundred the day after that do their hair in the same style? But that is the way fashion sways women today. That is why I am almost inclined to say that the only well-dressed women are those that dare and create original ideas, not those who servilely follow fashion.

"In order not to appear entirely out of harmony with her surroundings and the place where she lives, a woman is obliged to follow fashions to a certain extent. But let that be within certain bounds! What does it matter if tight skirts be the fashion if your figure demands a wide one? Is it not more important to dress so as to bring out your good points rather than to reveal the bad? Can any idea of being fashionable make up for the fact of being ridiculous?"

American Corsets Taking Lead Over French Corsets.

In the Woman's Home Companion, Grace Margaret Gould, fashion editor of that periodical, writing on "Corset Common Sense," says:

"The French corset today is being moved slowly but surely into the background; and, in fact, it is not only here in America that American corsets are sold, but in Paris, London and Berlin. There are three things that the American corset primarily stands for: Durability, hygiene and a decided capacity for retaining its original shape.

"Years ago women had an idea, especially the woman of fashion, that she must pay a big price for her corset in order to get a corset of good lines. This idea is growing less and less in favor. It is possible nowadays to get a much better corset for less money than it used to be, and one reason of this is that the fine materials used for high-grade corsets which heretofore were imported from Europe are now made right here in this country, and therefore can be bought at a much lower price."

ARTISTIC WORKMANSHIP

is an important requirement in a fur garemnt of quality. Good skins, unless properly matched and put together, will result in an ordinary appearing garment. Our workmanship is the acme of perfection, and confers on the wearer the highest degree of comfort, style and individuality.

Good judges of furs know that our furs are superior in quality and workmanship to others that are higher in price. We carry the largest line of custom made furs in the city. THE QUALITY FUR HOUSE.

Business Training an Asset to the Average Woman.

Deplore, as some always will, woman's foothold in the business world, I, for one, shall always maintain that a period of business training should be included in the course of the average woman's education.

It acts as a broadener, helps a woman to view life from different angles, and is most effective in properly regulating her importance in the scheme of things.

It is needless to say that every wife and mother has to consider others in advance of herself, but it is a consideration that, for the most part, reaches no further than the members of her own family. The woman who becomes a unit in some great industry learns a broader consideration—that of people generally, otherwise she fails.

Many nice appearing women, both old and young, are lacking in nimbleness of thought. They are gentle and well-meaning and everything, almost, that is desirable, only they do not grasp the fact that there is any one but themselves and a very select circle of relatives or friends in existence.

What they most need is to rub elbows vigorously with a variety of people, meet rebuff, be forced to use all the tact and diplomacy at their command and be brought by gradual stages to the very advantageous realization that the world was not made for them alone.

Every day the benefit to character and to progress which accrues to women who have worked out in the world and struggled independently for a livelihood is impressed upon me.

For example, the woman with a month's experience in office or shop, where no hindrance of "the other fellow" is tolerated, is not likely to block the passage of others at a ticket office window while she rummages fussily through her purse for money to pay for her ticket; holds her umbrella at an angle that menaces the sight of those in her rear; appropriates more than her share of a seat in a street car while others stand, or do any of the thousand and one thoughtless things one often sees women doing all unconsciously, but none the less selfishly and inconsiderately.

Yes, if I had a daughter and desired to educate her thoroughly and quickly in small matters, as well as large, I should set her the task of earning her living for a time, whether necessary or not. If it was in her to learn such things she would acquire the desirable knowledge in this way more speedily than in any other.

SIGHT OF ONE REMAINING EYE RUINED BY A BLOW

Having lost the sight of one eye over twenty years ago, Darius Rensaa, 46 years old, was struck in the other eye Wednesday evening and as a result is now totally blind. He is now at St. Mary's hospital, where all efforts to save the remaining eye have proven futile.

According to the story told by Mrs. Rensaa yesterday afternoon, her husband had been in the saloon owned by Gust Eagland, 509 West Michigan street, and was just walking out of the rear entrance when he was struck in the eye by one of three men who were standing by the curb. Rensaa has been wearing glasses since the loss of his other eye and as a result the glass cut into the eye, causing total blindness. Rensaa fell to the ground and the three men ran away. His cries were heard by the bartender, who ran out and had the man taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Rensaa explained the affair to a Herald reporter last evening. It seems that an unknown man had threatened to injure Rensaa and the assailant is believed to be the man. The bartender has been questioned by the police but is unable to remember any such person, while Rensaa claims the threat was made last week in the saloon before the bartender. The police are investigating.

Rensaa came to Duluth last June and is living at the home of his mother-in-law, 119 North Twentieth avenue west. He is a piano salesman by trade, but has not done any work since his arrival in the city. He lost his other eye in Norway during a shooting tournament in the army. One of the soldiers fired and the bullet knocked off a piece of wood from a target, which struck Rensaa in the eye.

FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY OF BENEFIT SOCIETY.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary this evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A program of music and addresses will be featured, including also a history of the organization to be read by Eric Myhrman, recording secretary of the society.

There are seventy-five members taking an active part in the society. The officers this year are: A. Thoren, president; Eliof Berglolm, vice president; Eric Myhrman, recording secretary; Steve Eklund, vice recording secretary; Charles Swanson, financial secretary; A. Andren, treasurer; Sam Anderson, marshal; Carl F. Melander, vice marshal; trustees, August Winberg, Henry Truelsen and F. Frutedt.

LOST LIST OF NAMES; MUST COMPILE ANOTHER.

Because William L. Anderson, secretary of the West End Commercial club, was negligent and lost the list of names entered for the children's prize garden contest, he is now making a tour of all the West end schools for the purpose of securing the names of those who had entered the contest. He spent all day yesterday at the Ensign and Lincoln schools.

When Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the garden committee, asked for the names last week, it was found that the keys of Mr. Anderson's desk had been taken to Lake Nebagamon by F. H. De Vohn, his business partner. The keys were secured this week, but no trace of the list could be found. As a result Mr. Anderson is now obtaining a new list, which is expected by the early part of next week.

Dr. Oredson stated yesterday afternoon that the inspection tour would be made as soon as the names are obtained and that the prizes will be awarded at the meeting of the West End Commercial club next Friday evening. The inspection will be made by the garden committee, the members of which are Dr. Oredson, L. A. Simonson and Charles Wahl. The party will tour the West end in an automobile and will be accompanied by Gust Landin, photographer of the club.

Commercial Club Meeting.

Routine business will be taken up by the West End Commercial club at its regular weekly meeting this evening. Reports will be made by the various committees, of which the white way and the paving committees will be the most important. If there is a large attendance the fall plans will be announced by Fred G. Hanson, president of the club.

Nelson Funeral.

The funeral of Leslie Joseph, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Nelson, 430 Nineteenth-and-a-half avenue west, who died Sunday evening after a short illness, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery.

Church Meeting.

Plans for the winter will be made this evening by the Baptist Bible study class of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, at a meeting to be held in the church parlors. A dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, after which the business meeting will be held.

ASK REMOVAL OF BILLBOARDS

Lester Park Club Will Submit Petition to City Council.

The Lester Park Improvement club decided at its meeting at the Lester Park M. E. church last night to petition the city council to cause the removal of billboards in the vicinity of the park. Presidents of other societies of the suburb will be asked to join in the presentation of this sentiment to the aldermen.

Members of the club state that the council ordered them removed before, but that no results came from the order.

A committee was appointed to confer with the authorities relative to better lighting conditions. The park board will be asked to install a rest station at Sixty-second avenue east and Superior street and to establish a skating rink in the suburb this winter.

"Building Lines" will be the subject to be discussed at the next meeting, which will be held Oct. 3.

James A. Wharton was honored by a special letter of thanks for his work in getting the city park board to beautify London road and other streets and avenues with suitable trees.

The street railway company will erect a sheltered waiting house at Fifty-fourth avenue east and Superior street.

JEWISH NEW YEARS

Rosh Hashanah Will Be Celebrated in Duluth Wednesday and Thursday.

Rosh Hashanah, or New Year's day, marking the beginning of the Jewish year 5673, falls this year on Thursday, Sept. 12.

It is observed as a holy day from the evening of Wednesday until sundown of Thursday. The orthodox Jew observes also the so-called "second day" on Sept. 13.

The biblical basis for the observance of the first day of Tishri as a New Year's day and the most solemn day of the Jewish calendar next to Yom Kippur, or the day of atonement, is found in the reference to a Zikkaron ("memorial day") in Leviticus xxiii, 24, which reads: "In the seventh month, in the first of the month, shall ye have a sabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, a holy convocation."

Ezra also refers to the day as one "holy to the Lord." (Nehemiah viii, 9.)

Not a mere day of rejoicing, like the secular New Year, is this Rosh Hashanah. It is a day of memorial or a day of remembrance, reminding the Jew of the duty of self-examination and self-judgment. To arouse the conscience to this solemn task the ceremony of sounding the shofar, or ram's horn, forms an important feature of the service. Among the orthodox Jews attainment of this object is also sought by setting aside a few days before the New Year's day for the recital, in the synagogue, of penitential prayers called selihot. This continues until the eve of the day of atonement. These selihot (chanted in the minor key before dawn in the dimly lit houses of worship) sound the note of grief and contrition for the sins of the past year.

In many places the curious ceremony of Tashlich, originating perhaps with the German Jews not earlier than the fourteenth century, is observed on the afternoon of New Year's day. The worshipers congregate near a running stream, when the eighteenth to the twentieth verses of Micah vii are intoned, ending with the phrase which no doubt suggested the ceremony, "Thou wilt cast all their sins into the depths of the sea."

After the solemn services on the evening of Wednesday and the morning of Thursday, the Hebrew greeting is heard on all sides, signifying "A good year," or "Mayest thou be inscribed (in the Book of Life) for a good year." In later years a custom has appeared of sending to friends New Year's greeting cards of various designs, colors and inscriptions. When the earnest devotions of the day are done, the festival is made an occasion of social and domestic rejoicing.

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF INCANDESCENT LIGHT.

New York, Sept. 6.—The thirtieth anniversary of the world's first central station for the supply of incandescent electric lights was celebrated Wednesday, Sept. 4. It was at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 4, 1882, that Thomas A. Edison opened the first plant in an old brick building in lower Pearl street. The first current fed about 400 lamps, distributed over an area of a square mile.

In a white, high crowned derby hat, and collarless, Edison gave an interview to the reporters.

"I have accomplished all I promised," he said, "and we have a greater demand for light than we can supply, owing to the insufficiency of men to put down the wires."

Thirty years ago fifteen miles of underground cable were sufficient. Now there are 1,400 miles of cable in the city, supplying 5,250,000 lamps. In 1890 the first plant at No. 257 Pearl street was destroyed by fire. One of the old 'Jumbo' dynamos, designed by Edison himself, was saved and preserved as a relic.

MANDAN GIVEN NEXT MEETING

North Dakota Bar Association Rejects Recall Bill Now Proposed.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the North Dakota Bar association, held here this week, adjourned to meet next year in Mandan after electing these officers:

President, A. G. Divet, Wahpeton; vice president, John Knauf, Jamestown; secretary, W. H. Stutsman, Bismarck.

The state bar adopted the recommendation on the reform in appellate practice, and a resolution was adopted favoring the proposition of dividing the state into four or five judicial districts, similar to the system now employed in the state of Minnesota.

Law Changes Recommended.

The report of the committee on judicial reform and changes was adopted, including the report on certain amendments now before the legislature. Principal among these is the law on mortgage foreclosure, which recommends that personal notice of foreclosure be served before such notice is advertised.

Resolutions were adopted rejecting the initiative, referendum and recall measures before the legislature. It was not the sense of the bar association that the principle should be condemned, but it was declared that the bill now under consideration is not in the proper form, and a committee of fifteen was named to draft a suitable bill, which will receive the indorsement of the association.

HELD ITS OWN.

Northern Minnesota Had Best Potatoes at the State Fair.

"Northern Minnesota certainly held her own in the potato exhibit at the state fair," said C. P. Grout, superintendent of the Jean du Luth farm, who returned yesterday from the fair where he acted as one of the judges of cattle.

"Our potatoes were equal to any that I saw.

"The cattle exhibit was wonderfully good this year, especially the Guernseys."

Two of Three Men Caught in Ruddy Mine May Be Living.

Pipe Being Driven to Entombed Men to Furnish Them Air.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is still hope that the two Italian miners, Dominico and Sereno, caught in one of the sub-levels of the Ruddy mine near here Wednesday night when the mine was flooded by a near cloudburst, are still alive. There is no hope for Ulo Unlagizec, the Montenegrin caught at the bottom of the shaft. He was probably drowned like a rat.

A pipe is being driven through the ground to where the two Italians are imprisoned, about eighty feet below the surface, to provide them with air in case the cave-in between the level and the shaft has cut off their air. It is possible they may have been asphyxiated by gas if they were blasting about the time of the flood.

No sound has come from the men but their families and the officers of the company have not abandoned hope. It is expected the pipe being driven down will reach them by 8 o'clock tonight, when their fate will be known.

Water Being Lowered.

Due to the efforts of the pumps the water is being steadily lowered in the mine and is now down about fifteen feet from the bottom. Three pumps are working, two in the shaft and the other removing the water from the cave-in, taking out about 2,000 gallons of water a minute. The mine should be pumped out by midnight, when the body of the Montenegrin caught in the shaft will probably be found.

There were about fifty feet of water in the William mine and about eighty-five in the Monica mines. Both properties have pumps working and the mines will be unwatered some time Saturday.

ITASCA SCHOOLS' EXHIBIT IS FINE

Boys and Girls' Handiwork and Gardening Products Elicit Praise.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The exhibits of Itasca county schools at the state fair is attracting more than usual attention this year. Handiwork of Coleraine, Deer River and Grand Rapids students shown in the school exhibits building has caused many thousands of persons to look and marvel.

From the Coleraine school gardens are carrots, cucumbers, cauliflower, cabbage, turnips, parsnips and other vegetables, which will rank with any shown at the fair. Two enormous head of cabbage, well proportioned and solid, cause much comment. All the vegetables are pretty specimens of what Minnesota will produce and show the knowledge that Minnesota youth has of gardening.

Potatoes from Grand Rapids and Deer River, all grown by school children, are displayed in a large tray divided into compartments. D. Corwin of Deer River, 10 years old, is one of the competitors for honors. Darrell Smith, 11 years old; Roy Box, 11 years, and Roland Bergener, 14, are among the Deer River exhibitors. Paul Walter and Walter Newman of Grand Rapids are showing some splendid potatoes.

Girls' Work Lauded.

Boys, however, do not take all the honors in the exhibit. From Deer River are some canned goods, pickles and preserves put up by the "little ladies" which are attractive. Some little dresses and lingerie, done by girls of the Deer River schools, are shown. Ethel Smith, in the ninth grade of the Nashwauk school, and Ruth Vogan of the eighth grade, both have small dresses which they made themselves, on exhibition.

Industrial training in the schools of Cohasset is shown by work from boys with the lathe. A mallet by Thomas Cook is a splendid piece of work. Richard Fischer of the Grand Rapids high school has made a potato masher; Harvey Jurgenson, a rolling pin, and Bernard Craig, a pair of dumbbells. Walter C. Van Dyke of the Coleraine school is exhibiting a well-turned handle made at the lathe.

Drawing and painting work from kindergarten schools; mechanical drawings from high schools and similar efforts from grades, combine to make the Itasca exhibit one of more than ordinary interest. The exhibit has received as much, if not more, favorable comment than any school at the fair.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST

A Simple Remedy Beautifies the Hair, Cures Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair.

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days' treatment. Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

ALICE INJUNCTION IS NOT DISSOLVED

Range Village Must Keep Going on Annual Income of $10,000.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Advices have been received at the nearby village of Alice that Judge Page Morris has refused in federal court to dissolve the restraining order secured several months ago by D. J. L. Burroughs, who is interested in mining property there, preventing the village from raising more than $10,000 taxes yearly for current expenses. The case will now come on trial before Judge Morris on its merits some time next January. Meanwhile the village will have to keep its expenses within the limit fixed.

CHISHOLM FIRE FOUR YEARS AGO

Thursday Was Anniversary of Destruction of the Range Village.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The intense and unusual heat in these parts yesterday reminded old-timers that yesterday was the anniversary of the great fire that wiped this village off the map in 1908. Since then the village has been built up better than ever.

The day was not observed as an anniversary in any way, many people forgetting that it meant more than an ordinary day. The fire of 1908 was driven in from the northwest and swept the entire village, and by night was nothing but a mass of smouldering ruins.

Today the wind has held in the south and the weather for the past month has been very rainy, whereas four years ago it was hot and dry for weeks previous to the fire, and everything was as dry as tinder.

Town Splendidly Rebuilt.

The town today stands as a marvel of rebuilding, the main street business houses being entirely of solid brick and the residence portion is far ahead of what it was four years ago. In fact, the citizens of Chisholm boast of the most progressive and growing town of its size in the state of Minnesota. The last census enumeration showed the population to be 7,684, and it is safe to say that it is closer to 10,000.

PAVING CHISHOLM.

First Concrete for Street Improvement Being Laid.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first concrete for the new paving was laid yesterday, being mixed and put in between the car tracks. The contractors state that the work will now be pushed as fast as possible. The steel for the Mesaba electric line along the paving portion has all been laid on Lake street, and the ground has been prepared to receive the concrete which supports the creosoted blocks. The work was started at the corner of Fourth avenue and Lake street and will be worked toward the lake, as the slope of the streets run in that direction and the material can all be hauled down hill. About 12,000 yards of paving is called for in the contract which follows the entire length of the street railway where it touches the business section.

The office is now held by Mrs. Mary James, who succeeded her husband when his death occurred in 1907. Mrs. James has been reappointed since that time and now a reappointment or a new appointment is due. The salary attached to the Virginia office is $2,700 per year.

WASHOUTS DELAYED CANADIAN NORTHERN.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to washouts the Canadian Northern train bound for Duluth and due in Virginia at 6:15 a. m., did not arrive from the north until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The north bound evening train was also delayed for several hours up the line near Cook. The road has been made in a passable condition, but it will be several days before it will be restored in all respects to its original condition. The telegraph lines north of Virginia were down and it was not until after midday that it was known here where the two delayed trains were located.

He stood in a buggy and held his audience to the end, reviewing his record on various progressive measures, notably railroad legislation, and taking several falls out of the high cost of living.

Mr. Manahan left in an automobile today for Buhl and Chisholm, where he will speak.

James A. Peterson, who is seeking Senator Nelson's toga, will speak here today.

SLANDER SUIT IS ON.

Stevenson Woman Alleges Another Spoke Ill of Her.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The difference between Mrs. Z. Petrolla and Mary Romani, two Italian women, living in the Stevenson location, are being aired before Judge Brady today in the trial of the slander suit Mrs. Petrolla is pressing against the other woman. She claims that because of the alleged remarks the defendant made about her she is subject to more or less contempt by her neighbors, and asks that her alleged defamer be punished. There are a number of witnesses and the services of an interpreter have to be invoked, so the case will probably drag along all day.

SCHOOL COSTS MORE.

Change of Plans for Building Planned North of Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is estimated by Architect C. K. Shand that the new school house to be erected in the Homestead district, north of here will cost $6,000. The first estimates were for a building that would cost $3,800 but it has been decided that a much better, more serviceable and more modern building is essential. The plans have been changed and the building called for by the present plans, the architect says, can not be erected for less than $6,000. The school is located in the farming district, six miles north of the city and the cost of getting the building material to the site will be great as it will all have to be team-hauled from Virginia. The board has ordered an election for the authorization of the building by the taxpayers and this will be held in two weeks. The contracts will be let as soon as the authorization takes place.

He is a young man and his parents reside at Mountain Iron.

HOW TO DESTROY THE DANDRUFF GERM

BY A SPECIALIST.

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well-known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you: 6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add half a teaspoonful of Te-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. While this preparation is not a dye, it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.

Caution: Do not apply where hair is not desired and be sure to avoid tonics containing poisonous wood alcohol.

BIG ORE SHIPMENTS.

Two Harbors Output This Year Is Record Breaker.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ore shipments from this port continue heavy, the shipments for the year to date being: April, 36,245 tons; May, 1,117,689; June, 1,431,206; July, 1,600,091; August, 1,578,220; total, 5,759,451.

The shipments for the same period in 1911 were 3,687,608 tons, which show that thus far this season's shipments almost double that of last year. Indications are that the heavy business will continue throughout the rest of the season. Besides the heavy ore business the shipping of pulpwood and lumber from this port have been very brisk. About 20,000 cords of pulpwood was piled here this spring and of that about 15,000 cords have been shipped to the Hammerhill Paper company, Erie, Pa.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'Mille.

"When occasion demands quick hairdressing nothing is finer than a dry shampoo, made by mixing four ounces of orris root with a package of therox. Sift a little over the head, brush out—and your scalp is clean and your hair beautifully lustrous, light, wavy and easy to do up.

"Ladies troubled with fuzzy growths are delighted to learn that delatone removes hair without pain or injury. Make a paste with delatone and water, spread it on the hairs, let remain for a few minutes, then remove and wash surface.

"Plain pyroxin applied to eyebrows with finger-ends causes them to grow thick and beautiful, and brushing will train them into well-formed arches. Eyelashes come in long and silken if pyroxin is applied to the roots.

"If your face is sunburned, spotted or muddy-looking, apply in the morning a beautifying lotion made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. This treatment replaces powder. It will 'hold' all day, will not rub off or show, and makes the skin soft, smooth and satiny."

BULL MOOSE MOVES WEST

within "the new party," Col. Roosevelt said:

"Any man claiming to be a Progressive who does not heartily support the Progressive party is merely the ally and tool of the reactionaries. The fight is now on, and the people must be either for or against us."

Montana Next State.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 6.—On his way to North Dakota to make his appeal for the Progressive ticket, Col. Roosevelt passed through Crookston early today. He was to spend the day in North Dakota, making his principal speech in Fargo before the state Progressive convention.

Col. Roosevelt was due in Grand Forks at 9 o'clock, to remain there for an hour. Fargo was next on his itinerary, and the colonel planned to spend the afternoon there. This evening he will make a brief speech in Jamestown.

From North Dakota Col. Roosevelt will go to Montana, making five speeches there tomorrow.

The ex-president said today that he did not desire to deal with personalities in his campaign, and that although in speeches in Minnesota and Iowa he had expressed the opinion that Woodrow Wilson was receiving the support of reactionaries and "bosses," he wished to make the burden of his campaign speeches an explanation and advocacy of Progressive principles. The colonel said he believed that if the aims of the Progressive party could be thoroughly understood by the people everywhere, he would win, and that he intended to devote himself largely to making these things known.

"Fight for the Lord."

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dorr H. Carroll, state chairman of the Bull Moosers, called the third party convention to order this morning. There were fifty-seven delegates present.

In calling the meeting to order Mr. Carroll declared that the present political contest "is a fight for the Lord." Judge Davis of Minot was announced as temporary chairman. He was a candidate for congress in the June primaries on the Republican ticket, but said he would never again vote the Republican ticket. C. E. Boise of Fargo was made temporary secretary.

A. M. Baker stated that the Roosevelt program today provided for four speeches by Roosevelt, one to the traveling men, one to the women, one in a park and another before the convention.

After the appointment of committees on credentials, rules, permanent organization and resolutions, the convention adjourned until 3 o'clock.

A majority of the delegates seen are opposed to a third party ticket, but the wishes of Roosevelt will probably govern the convention.

COURSE IS VERY FAST

Wauwatosa Track Said to Be Best of Kind in the Wor'd.

All Is Ready for the Great Vanderbilt Races on Sept. 21.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—Seldom have arrangements for automobile road racing been made on a more elaborate scale than the preparations for the Vanderbilt cup program to be run off here Sept. 17, 20 and 21.

The three-day program begins Tuesday, Sept. 17, with the $10,000 American grand prix over a distance of 410 miles, and winds up Saturday, Sept. 21, with the classic Vanderbilt cup race at 300 miles.

More than sixty of the most widely known foreign and American race drivers will fight for fame and a share of the $20,250 in cash hung up by the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association, in addition to about an equal sum in gold trophies and automobile accessories.

Spurred on by a desire to place Milwaukee on the racing map, the promoters of the meet have spent $24,000, or $1,000 per mile, in improving the eight-mile Wauwatosa course. As a result, they declare that the course is the fastest of its kind in the country. There are four long straightaway stretches on the course and only four turns. Each of these turns has been given a broad sweep, and it is expected that there will be little slackening of speed by drivers on the turns. The Sommerville turn is particularly fast. It has been widened to 50 feet and in practice cars have been driven around it at a speed of 70 miles per hour. In addition to other improvements nineteen new concrete bridges and culverts have been built in the course.

With the other physical arrangements, the managers have constructed grandstands and parking spaces around the course to accommodate more than 50,000 spectators.

The list of entries includes Georges Boillot, winner of the French grand prix, who will drive a Peugeot car. The Peugeot racing team, now on its way from France, includes Boillot, two other drivers and two mechanicians, who are bringing four cars to race in the Milwaukee meet.

Ralph De Palma, Erwin Bergdoll and Ralph Mulford, who furnished a spectacular three-cornered contest at the recent Elgin meet, are all entered. Pitted against them will be David Bruce-Brown, twice winner of the American grand prix, Teddy Tetzlaff, Hughes Hughes, Spencer Wishart, Caleb Bragg and half a hundred other stars.

Among the foreign cars will be such Peugeots, three Flats, three great two Mercedes, a Renault, Isotta is of Italiargique.

Each of the racing camps already and ha been established at the course and it is expected that all of the drivers will be on hand Sept. 11, when the course will be thrown open for practice. The drivers will be given six days in which to become accustomed to the new course.

The grand prix on Tuesday will open at 10 o'clock. The prizes are the gold trophy donated by the Automobile Club of America, and $5,000 to the winner: second, $2,500; third, $1,250; fourth, $750; fifth, $500.

The blue ribbon and Wisconsin motor challenge trophy contests will take place Friday, Sept. 20. The blue ribbon contest is for medium and the Wisconsin motor for light cars. The distance for the blue ribbon race is 220 miles, and for the Wisconsin motor 175 miles. The prizes are the same as to the money. First, the trophy and $1,000; second, $500; third, $250; fourth, $120.

The Vanderbilt cup prizes are: First, the trophy and $3,000; second, $2,000; third, $1,000; fourth, $500.

Entries close for the grand prize Sept. 10, and for all the other races Sept. 14.

GIANTS PLAY GREAT BALL, WINNING DOUBLE HEADER.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—Two great finishes gave New York yesterday's games, 3 to 1, and 4 to 2. Seaton shut out the visitors in the first game until the eighth inning. Then five singles were made in succession off him and the first man to face Seaton's successor, Finneran, also singled. These hits and an error gave New York six runs. They added another couple of counters in the ninth on Becker's home run, a pass to Snodgrass and Murray's triple. President Fogel protested this game on the grounds that Umpire Rigler erred in calling Magee out in the sixth inning. Magee was being run up and down the line when he collided with Wilson, who dropped the ball. Only six hits were made off Alexander for six innings of the second contest. Snodgrass made a home run in the seventh inning, and singles by McCormick and Doyle tied the score in the eighth. New York won in the ninth on Murray's double and Merkle's home run. The scores:

CUBS ARE BEATEN BY AN IOWA RECRUIT PITCHER.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Cincinnati won from Chicago by 4 to 1, mainly through the superb pitching of a recruit named Gregory, recently obtained from the Ottumwa, Iowa, team. He allowed the visitors eight scattered hits and was effective at all critical stages. Mitchell, Grant and Linder hit well and timely. Heine Peitz, the veteran catcher, was given his unconditional release after the game by the Cincinnati club. The score:

For Brooklyn, Cutshaw walked with one out and scored all the way from first with the tying run on Smith's double. Daubert walked and Wheat's infield hit filled the bases. Then Hummel bounced one high into the air to Tyler, who could not get the ball to the plate in time, and Smith tallied. The score:

New York, Sept. 6.—Philadelphia took a double header from New York, winning by 19 to 9 and 5 to 2. The second game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness. Philadelphia hit three pitchers in the first game for 23 hits, totalling 35 bases. In the sixth inning they made 10 runs off Caldwell and Davis, five singles, two doubles, two triples, two passes, two errors and a wild pitch doing the business. Plank was effective for the Athletics in the second game, while the world's champions fell on Fisher hard in the third inning. The scores:

SOX TAKE OPENING GAME FROM THE NAPS.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—White and Blanding met in a pitchers' battle, Chicago winning the opening game from Cleveland, 4 to 1. The locals scored in the first and sixth by bunching hits. A base on balls, a single, a hit by a pitched ball, and an infield out gave the visitors their lone run. President Comiskey announced tonight that he had released William Dowling, infielder obtained from Galesburg, Ill., to the Lincoln club of the Western league.

BOSTON TIGHTENING GRIP ON 1912 PENNANT.

Boston, Sept. 6.—The Boston Americans, by defeating Washington 4 to 3, widened their lead to 14½ games and also went into the lead in the series between the two clubs. Until today Washington was the only team against which Boston had not won a majority of its games, but the series now stands 9 to 8 in favor of Boston. Yesterday's game, although loosely played, was interesting. Boston's wild base running cost several runs, but Cashion's pitching was uncertain and he started two Red Sox tallies with passes which were followed by errors. Hits by Carrigan, Yerkes and Speaker counted the other Boston runs. O'Brien was erratic, but had good support. Score:

Washington 100002000	3	8	2

Batteries—O'Brien and Carrigan; Cashion and Henry. Umpires—Connolly and Hart.

WELCOMING AMERICAN VICTORS HOME

SWEDISH DIVISION, OLYMPIC PARADE.

MAYOR GAYNOR ADDRESSING OLYMPIC ATHLETES.

Mayor Gaynor reviewed the parade of the American champions who represented the United States at the Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden, at City Hall park, New York city. Fifty automobiles were provided for the athletes. Two members of the victorious team sat in each car and their names were displayed prominently on the front and rear of the cars. An enormous crowd of enthusiastic admirers witnessed the parade. The crowds lined the streets warmly greeting the athletes. A large number of athletic clubs turned out; also Swedish societies, militia, and school girls.

BADEN WINS CLASSY EVENT

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 6.—Baden, the Jersey City stallion, owned and driven by A. S. Rodney, won the $10,000 trot at the Charter Oak Grand Circuit races yesterday afternoon, but, only after a hard-fought battle. The event which was witnessed by 15,000 persons went the full five heats, and Esther W. capturing second place and Ruth McGregor third.

In the first two heats Baden had only one real competitor, Ruth McGregor, but after that the mare was unable to cope with her rival. Esther W. took her place and the exhibition she gave took the spectators off their feet. Scarcely had the horses gotten away in the third heat, when Baden went off his feet and before he was again under control the field was nearly an eighth of a mile ahead. Rodney drove to the limit and at the three-quarters mark not only had overtaken the leader, but had recovered the pole. It was the prettiest exhibition seen on the track in years and the crowd yelled encouragement as the horses swept into the stretch. Baden was actually to the front again, but he broke about 100 feet from the finish, and was headed at the wire by Esther W. and Annie Kohl respectively.

The fourth heat developed into another battle royal between Baden and Esther W., the latter finishing a few inches ahead in a whipping finish.

In the final heat Esther W. held the lead until the half-mile was reached, when she broke and trailed. Cox soon had her to her galt again, and by a magnificient spurt she became once more a contender, finishing only a nose behind Baden.

In the 2:30 trot for 2-year-olds, Dillon Axworthy made a procession of it, winning in straight heats, while Axworthy took the 2:30 trot for 3-year-olds.

JOHNSON WILL OPPOSE WOOD

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—A battle between two of the crack pitchers of the American league, Joe Wood and Walter Johnson of the Boston and Washington clubs, respectively, was expected to feature the third game of the series between these two teams at Fenway park today.

Although the Red Sox now have a lead of 14½ games over the Senators and Athletics in the race for the pennant, rivalry between Boston and Washington is still intense. Showers during the early forenoon made a postponement possible, but it was believed the game could be played.

Walter Johnson is the present holder of the American league record of sixteen consecutive victories. He is pressed closely by Wood, who has won thirteen straight games and who is out to better not only Johnson's record, but also Marquard's National league record of nineteen straight wins. Wood has not been beaten since July 4.

Johnson has thirty victories for the season to Wood's twenty-nine, but the latter has been defeated only four times against Johnson's eight.

FAST TIME IN AN AEROPLANE

Chicago, Sept. 6.—The first flight of an aeroplane traveling more than 100 miles an hour will be made today when Jules Vedrines will drive his Deper Dussin monoplane at the aerodrome of the Aeroclub of Illinois to make the first test of the 4:10-mile course. Over the path he follows will be run off the Gordon Bennett international trophy race for the world's championship next Monday.

Andre Fry of France arrived yesterday and will test his aeroplane racer either today or tomorrow.

GRIDIRON OUTLOOK IS NOT ENCOURAGING

The near approach to the opening of the football season does not promise well for Duluth.

Conditions are not encouraging for a strong high school eleven, and now comes the statement that the Adams association will have no team. This will take out of the football circles a strong factor and may disrupt the brisk fight between the Adams, the Fairmonts and the Jefferson teams, which are always struggling for supremacy. The Jeffersons have decided to have a team anyway.

Later developments this season may result in an Adams team even though it looks bad now, and at any rate it is hoped that a strong team can be organized somewhere else to take its place if the Adams aggregation should conclude to stay out of the fight.

Holzbergs After Emeralds.

The Holzbergs of Superior have issued a challenge to the Emeralds of Duluth for a game to take place in Superior on Sunday to decide the baseball championship of the Head of the Lakes. The Duluth team defeated the Superior team early in the season, but the latter, after a fine record gained since, feel that they are entitled to another try.

Old Ball Star Dead.

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Relatives here received word of the death of John Arundel, at the Willard state hospital, of paralysis. As "Tug" Arundel he was known thirty years ago in professional baseball. He was catcher for Indianapolis and Washington in the old National league, was with Detroit in the Western league days, and with Savannah in the Southern league.

DOWN TO THE SEMI-FINALS

Travers, Kerr, Evans and Wood Are Still in Tournament.

One Player Unable to Stand Heat and Takes to His Bed.

Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 6.—Jerome Travers of Upper Montclair will play Hamilton Kerr of Ekwanok and Charles Evans, Jr., of Edgewater will play Warren K. Wood of Homewood today in the semi-final rounds of the national amateur golf championship. Travers had some trouble in defeating Mason Phelps and Kerr had to play thirty-seven holes to overcome Paul Hunter. Evans had easy work in eliminating H. Schmidt of Worcester, while Wood won by default.

Norman F. Hunter, the Edinburgh player, who carried the hopes of the English contingent after Hilton was eliminated, is in bed in the club dormitory with cold compresses on his head to ward off a threatened heat prostration. The collapse of Hunter in the heat put Wood in the semi-finals and gave him a chance to rest during the afternoon, while the others were playing matches under a broiling sun.

Hunter has been ill since Sunday, complaining of the excessive heat, to which Hilton attributed his defeat. He had but little sleep during the last two nights and yesterday had to lie down on the ground at several of the tees.

Hunter's physicians say a night's rest in charge of his nurses will put him out of danger, but that an attempt on his part to play yesterday afternoon would have resulted in a sunstroke. Hunter finished the morning round in 40-39—79, equal to his average over the links, but he played the last nine holes in distress and was barely able to get to his rooms at noon. He was then one down to Wood.

Jerome Travers did not play up to his form of yesterday when he scored successive holes under par. He did the first eighteen in 38-41—79, but did not do so well for the third nine. He had Mason Phelps two down in the morning, but going out in the afternoon, the Midlothian player, who was formerly Western champion, reversed the position, picking up four holes with a the 36. Travers played better coming in, and squared the match on the 29th green. He was always ahead after the 30th and won on the 35th, 2 up and 1 to play.

Chick Evans won another match with a long score. Heinrich Schmidt, Massachusetts state champion, lost to Evans on the 31st green, Evans 6 up. Schmidt won the first hole, lost the third, and was never on top again though he squared the score at the eleventh.

Evans then made thirteen fours in a row, followed by a three, a five and another three, and Schmidt's prospects were ended.

Evans in the afternoon went out in 35.

Hamilton Kerr had the hardest match of the day, having to go 37 holes to defeat Paul Hunter of Midlothian. Robert Hunter caddied for his brother in the afternoon. Kerr had Hunter 4 down in the morning, playing 37-37—74 to do it. This lead was reduced to one at the 37th. He was 2 up at the 29th, square at the 34th, 1 down at the 35th, square at the 36th and took the extra hole in four, one below par, to win.

WILL DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

Games Sunday May Settle Race in Duluth-Superior League.

Unless the New Duluth team trims both the Jeffersons and the team of the Young Men's Sodality on Sunday, or both of them trim it, the championship of the Duluth-Superior league will be decided. A double-header will be played on the local grounds, beginning at 2 o'clock to settle this question and a battle royal is expected. The New Duluth team will face that of the Y. M. S. first, using Underhill against the Sodalitists, and in the game with the Jeffersons, immediately following, will use Corbin. The Y. M. S. will have Brooks in the box and the Jeffersons will depend upon the skill of "Tap" Knox.

The Y. M. S. and the Jeffersons are tied for first place, and this double-header is to be played to decide which will be the winner of the pennant for the season. New Duluth has been putting up a crack game, but is out of the pennant race; yet it is in a position to dictate who will be the winner. In order that it may not be charged with letting down in favor of either team, New Duluth proposes to try to beat both, which plan, if successfully carried out, will leave the pennant contest as it now stands. Of course should the reverse be true—New Duluth being beaten by both the other teams—a similar condition would exist anyway, and another contest would be necessary.

WILL CAMPAIGN FOR GOOD ROADS

Dr. J. D. Park, president of the Duluth Automobile club, Secretary H. J. Mullen and Hector Nichols are due to leave today for the Twin Cities in the former's automobile. They expect to campaign along the way on the subject of good roads, doing missionary work wherever the opportunity offers.

Dr. Parks says that at small expense the roads can be greatly improved and kept in condition at a trifling outlay. He asserts that with the roads as they should be many tourists would visit Duluth in machines in the course of the summer. The party expects to return from Minneapolis Sunday.

HORSES HAVE CLOSE HEATS

Fast Time Made By Entrants in Great Western Races.

Four Heats Necessary in Nearly Every Race at State Fair.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 6.—Fast time and close heats marked yesterday's Great Western races, each of which required four goes to name the winner. Hans M., after finishing fifth in the first heat of the 2:15 pace, took three first in succession, making the second heat in the good time of 2:08¼.

Walter J., which also lost the first heat in the 2:10 pace, easily finished in the lead for the next three, his best time being 2:08½, the mark also made by Maud G., in winning the first heat. Fred Harding, after taking third in the first heat, took three firsts in succession in the 2:30 trot, Madge Patch giving him a hard brush in each heat.

Dazzle Patch, pacing 2-year-old son of Dan Patch, will attempt to lower the record of :59½ for colts of that age made Tuesday by himself in the half mile. Minor Heir and George Gano will also try to lower the pacing team record of 2:02¾ held by Lady Maude C. and Hedgewood Boy.

Summary:

2:15 pace, purse $1,000, three in five—Hans M., b. g., by Mark Sierns (Senchall), won; Heart Star, b. g., by Red Heart (Banta), and Elizabeth Constantine, g. m., by Constantine (McGinnis), split second and third money. Best time, 2:08¼.

IS NEARING THE FINALS

L. Kennedy, who was to have played Washburn yesterday for admission to the semi-finals in the Longview tennis tournament, defaulted because of business reasons, and now Washburn will contest with Dinwiddie in the semis. In yesterday's play Amundson defeated Fraker, 6-0, 6-2; and Bissonette defeated Lauterbach, 6-1, 6-4. Davis and Amundson are playing this afternoon to decide which of them will face Bissonette in the semi-finals.

Tomorrow Dickerman and Graff are due to meet Dinwiddie and L. Kennedy at Oatka beach courts in the finals of the boat club doubles, and the winners of this match will meet Colton and Amundson in the challenge round of the double championship.

WANT FARGO AND VIRGINIA

Wanted—Fargo to get busy and enter the See-Eye league for next season.

That is about the situation in the Duluth-et al. circuit, and the magnates of the C.-I. will endeavor to make Fargo people see that it is to their advantage to have a team in the running. It is firmly believed that Fargo, which is a larger town than Grand Forks, can well support a league team, for Grand Forks has been about the livest proposition on the circuit during the season just ended. Fargo would break long jumps, and Virginia, on the ranges would also prove another paying hesitancy in the leaps and bounds of the teams. The magnates would like that sort of a line-up for next year, and are disposed to discourage the aspirations of Port Arthur and Fort Williams as being too far out of the way for convenience.

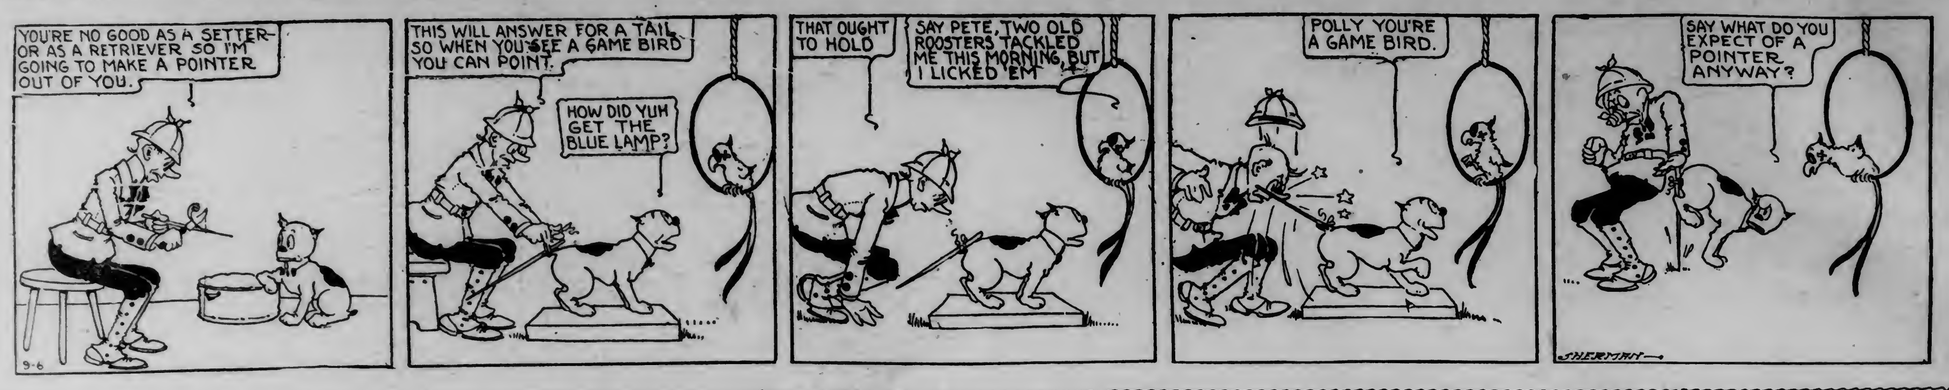

Game Is Protested.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—President Fogel of the Philadelphia National league club, yesterday afternoon sent a telegram to President Lynch of the league, protesting yesterday's first game with New York which the visitors won 8 to 1. The ground for the protest is that Umpire Rigler illegally called out Sherwood Magee notwithstanding that Catcher Wilson dropped the ball while running down the left fielder in the sixth inning.

DULUTH IDEA IS FAIR HIT

Homecroft System Advocated in Zenith City Strong Card at Hamline.

St. Louis County Display of Fruit and Vegetables Kept Fresh.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Duluth Idea," as stated on placards in the St. Louis county building at the state fair, causes visitors in the building to pause and ponder.

One placard says:

"Every child in a garden.
Every mother in a homecroft.
Industrial independence for Every worker in a home
His own on the land."

Another "Duluth Idea," as stated on a placard, tells a little story which "goes home." It says:

"Keep house by the year.
Go to the garden in the summer.
Go to the larder in the winter.
Let sunshine and soil supply
Fruit and vegetables from the Home garden."

The campaign Duluth has been making for home gardening is reflected at the fair by the exhibits.

Vegetables in Fresh Condition.

All the fruits and vegetables sent to the fair ground the first of the week for exhibition in the St. Louis county building have kept in good condition. The air of the room is permeated with the odor of fresh celery, drawn from the big celery exhibit that occupies the center. By changing water on the celery regularly, it has been kept fresh and is one of the coolest and most delightful appearing exhibits on the fair grounds. Thus far little effort has been made to steal the apples and other edible fruits from the racks, and the exhibit is still intact.

No county has a finer exhibit at the fair grounds than St. Louis. The building is tastily decorated in yellow, with long green streamers extending from the ceiling to either end. The display of fruits, vegetables, grasses and grains is most excellent, and the expression frequently is heard: "Have you seen the St. Louis county building yet?"

MINOT PLANS ON WHITE WAY

Commercial Club Has Appointed Committee to Further Project.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Believing that a white way lighting system for the Minot streets would be a big advertisement for the city, the directors of the Commercial club has appointed this committee to investigate the cost of the system and to ascertain the best method of securing it: Dr. A. McCannel, H. H. Kemper and Norman Ellison. This committee will interview the city commissioners and representatives of the Consumers Power company in the hope of deciding on a plan that will be satisfactory to all.

Total Cost About $7,000.

The Consumers Power company has agreed to install the entire white way system, including five posts to the block each post to have five lights, at a total cost of about $7,000, but before making this investment would require a ten-year contract from the city for lighting. Under the commission form of government, the city cannot make a contract for longer than one year.

This practically means then that property owners and business men would have to install the posts. The city could make a contract from year-to year for the lighting.

WEATHER FAVORS THRASHING WORK

Conditions in North Dakota Much Improved By Warm Weather.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hot weather and high winds, working wonders in the matter of drying grain in shocks, prevailed over the state again yesterday, and in the greater part of the state, where heavy rains have not fallen recently, ideal conditions for thrashing operations are ideal.

Even in the belt where heaviest rains have fallen the grain has dried out, but in many instances the ground is so water soaked that it is impossible to get thrashing machines on the fields. In other places the heavy rains have compelled the abandonment of harvesting operations, as it is impossible to run the binders, because of that fact there will be considerable grain uncut in several localities.

THREE DROWN AT APPLETON

Their Motor Boat Engine Goes "Dead" and They Go Over Dam.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Charles Schultz, her son Harold Schultz, 17 years old, and Mrs. Frank Deiner were drowned in the Fox river near this city last night when the small motor boat in which they were riding, went over the dam and was dashed to pieces on the rocks below.

The women and boy were enjoying a ride on the river and ran near the upper dam when the engine in the motor boat suddenly stopped. The boy, who was in charge of the engine attempted to start the motor, but without success, and the current in the river swept the small craft and its occupants over the dam. They screamed for help as the launch drifted toward the dam, and their cries were heard by George Catlin, a bridge tender, who hurried to their assistance. Catlin put out in a row boat, and was within seventy-five feet of the launch when it went over the dam. The bodies were recovered.

FEAR "KNOCK-OUT" DRINK.

Large Number of Men Temporarily Out of Heads.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the Grand Forks police have arrested, within the past week, several men apparently insane, but who recover as soon as the effects of liquor wear off, it is believed that "knockout" men are working either in this city or in East Grand Forks. The "dope" used has a remarkable effect upon the victims, seemingly completely robbing them of any mental faculty. The number of the cases, and the fact that the same symptoms are evident in all, has led to an investigation of several saloons where the "dope" may have been injected into the liquors.

DAIRY COWS INCREASING.

Guernsey Breed Becoming Popular in Minnesota.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the showing made at the Minnesota state fair Guernsey cattle are coming to the front as the most popular breed in this state, displacing beef cattle, which formerly were most popular. In addition to the Guernsey cattle the Holsteins and Brown Swiss are also shown in large numbers at the Minnesota fair. The total number of cattle exceeds all previous records.

BISHOP GRAFTON'S WILL.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 6.—The will of the late Bishop Charles Chapman Grafton of the Protestant Episcopal church, filed for probate yesterday by Archdeacon B. T. Rogers as executor, lists the personal property at $1,000. No real estate is listed. His theological library, one of the finest in the United States, goes to the sisterhood of the Holy Nativity and his vestments to Bishop Weller and the cathedral chapter.

The modest value of the estate is explained by the fact that the bishop gave largely of his means to the erection of churches, vicarages and improvements in the diocese, spending no less than $700,000 in this way during his episcopate.

Williams, who is a cook at a local restaurant, was in the rear of the place when accosted by the men, who asked for something to eat. He referred them to the night cook, on duty at the time, and was rewarded with a blow on the right ear which staggered him. A moment later the other thug flashed a knife, slitting his shirt front and scratching his chest with the point of the weapon, failing to cut deep enough to cause any serious injury. When Williams regained consciousness his assailants were gone and his money missing.

STOMACH UPSET? SOUR? "CASCARETS"

Sluggish Bowels Cause Gases, Sourness and Food Fermentation.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

MAY EFFECT COMPROMISE

Efforts Being Made to Get Samaritan Factions Together.

Bitter Campaign in Subordinate Lodges Will Be the Result.

"Maybe the opposing factions in the Modern Samaritans will get together—maybe," said a member of the imperial council of the order this morning. So far as the situation is concerned, it is unchanged from what it was when the imperial council, which met last week, adjourned. Neither side has given an inch. Several propositions for compromise have been offered and rejected, for each was considered too partisan, and the lawyers in the case are now at work on another proposition which will be made shortly.

The details of the propositions made are not available, as neither side will say anything about them. But, it is admitted, whatever compromise is reached, if any, will be adopted merely to carry the business of the order through until the next election of members of the imperial council.

Both sides in the controversy will, as expressed in politics, "go to the country," and it is certain that an active campaign will be carried on in the subordinate lodges and among the members generally for their votes at the next election.

It is expected, regardless of compromise at this time, that the campaign next spring will be fully as bitter as occurs when there is disruption in a political party, for it will likely mean the indorsement of one faction and the repudiation of the other; or, as some believe, it will mean an entirely new government in the saddle.

SERIOUS FLOOD AT OCONTO, WIS.

Property Damage Already Amounts to Tens of Thousands of Dollars.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Flood conditions at Oconto are hourly growing more critical. The railroad bridge of the North Western road is washing loose about its piers and trains cannot cross it. The trains now are running from Green Bay to Gillette and from Gillette to Oconto.

The main streets are flooded, as are the cellars and basements of business houses. Water has undermined the station platforms and trains are running through quite a depth of water. Passengers have to wade through water to get to the station platform. The water is rising steadily and fears are entertained that the property loss will be doubled before the flood recedes. The damage already runs up into tens of thousands of dollars.

The flood is the result of a log jam. The water is already eight feet above normal. The city will be in darkness tonight, because of the flooding of the power house of the Oconto Electric company. The Oconto Water company is considering shutting its plant down.

SHERIFF ACCUSES CHIEF OF POLICE

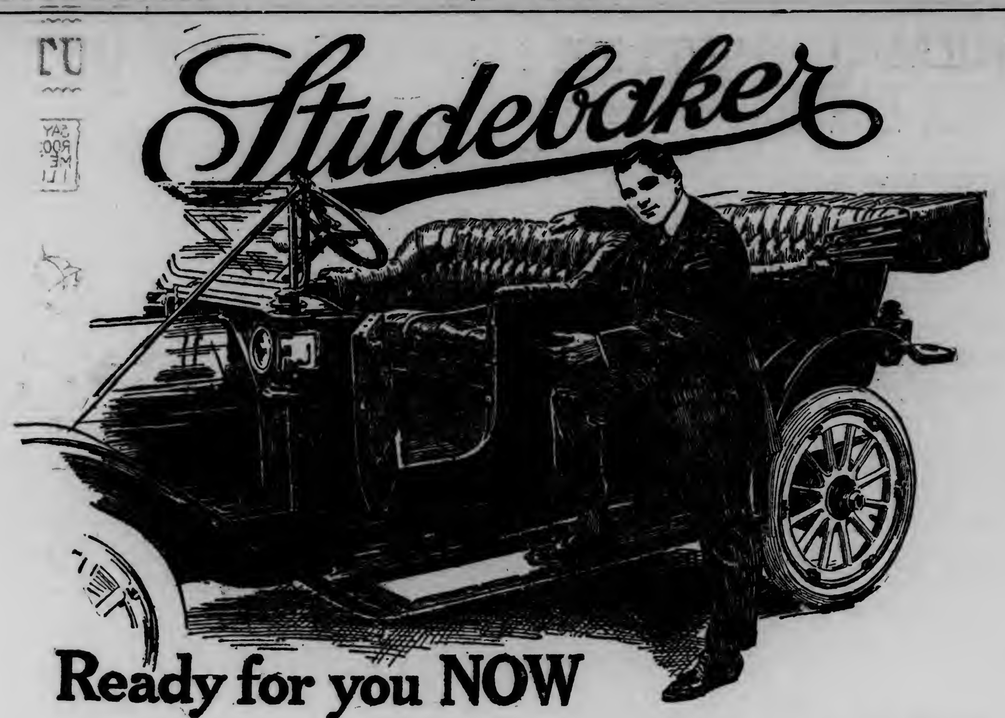

Marinette, Wis., Officers Are Engaged in Bitter Controversy.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff A. E. Schwittay today filed charges against Chief of Police Cook before the police and fire commission, alleging among other things that the chief retained fees to which he had no right.

Schwittay also alleges that the chief had a prisoner in his office yesterday and denied him entrance. The sheriff broke down the door and was met by Chief Cook with a revolver pointed at him.

Both the sheriff and the chief of police are backed by strong local factions, and a bitter fight is anticipated. Some predict real gunning before it is over.

HUNTERS ARE AFTER DUCKS

Duluth Sportsmen Leave for Nearby Lakes and Streams.

Want to Be Ready for Opening of Season Saturday.

Duck hunters left the city in droves last night over the different railroads for their favorite hunting places.

The season will open tomorrow and they left a day or so early to establish their camps and be on the lakes early on the morning the season opens.

Howard Abbott and C. G. Dickerman left on the Great Northern last night for Stephen, Minn. George Stone and F. A. Patrick went to Warren, Minn. H. H. Myers and Phil Heimick went to Middle River.

Henry Dworschak, Sr., C. W. Carlson and Henry Dworschak, Jr., leave tomorrow morning on the Soo line for Glenwood, where they will spend a week shooting.

G. L. McCloskett and Al. Benson left over the Soo line last night for Bain, Minn. Bain is about 100 miles from Duluth and the sport is said to be good at that place. One man, in speaking of the best places for ducks this year, jokingly remarked that he knew of no better place than Duluth for the past three months.

William Yale, Nick Drew and William Billstein left on the Soo line last night for train, Minn., where Mr. Billstein has a hunting lodge.

D. F. Smith and Marshall Thompson and Mr. Thompson's son, Jean, left last night for Maplehurst, Minn., where the men have been in the habit of going for several years.

The railroads report that many hunters unknown to them, and probably tourists in the city, have gone hunting. They have been inquiring freely about the different locations at railroad offices during the last week.

INSURANCE COMPANIES SUE RAILROAD.

The St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance company and the Springfield Fire & Marine Insurance company, are jointly suing the Northern Pacific Railway company in district court for $2,841.60 damages. It is claimed that on Nov. 14, 1911, live coals dumped from a Northern Pacific engine near the Boston Coal Dock & Wharf company's property at Oneota caused a fire damaging the property to the extent of the damages asked. The insurance companies compensated the dock company for the loss and are suing to recover the same amount from the railroad company, charging negligence.

HARRY GOUTH PASSES AWAY

Well-Known Restaurant Proprietor Dies After Long Illness.

The body of Harry J. Gouth, 38 years of age, who died Wednesday at Minneapolis, reached the city this morning.

Mr. Gouth was a well known restaurant man in Duluth for many years, owning and operating the Delmonico cafe a large part of that time. Failing health compelled him to retire several years ago and since that time he has been traveling through the South and Southwest in an effort to gain his strength. Until a short while ago it was generally believed that he would be successful in his quest for health. Mr. Gouth was popular in Duluth and many will be deeply grieved to learn of his death.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Elks' hall on West First street between Third and Fourth avenues. The ritual of the order, in which he was a member, will be followed. Interment will be made at Forest Hill cemetery.

BIG DEAL IN FARM LANDS

Tract of 560 Acres Will Be Divided Into Homecroft Tracts.

Immediately Adjoins the City Limits in Lester River District.

Duluth's claims to the title of the Homecroft City will be materially strengthened by a real estate deal—one of the largest of its kind for years—which was closed today after several weeks of negotiation.

The deal involves the transfer to the Minnesota company of 560 acres of land in the Lester river district, immediately adjoining the city limits to the north. The exact amount involved has not been disclosed.

As soon as arrangements can be completed and a subdivision survey of the land is finished, the acreage will be put on the market in small acre tracts for homecrofters. The land will be split up into two, three and five-acre parcels.

George E. Leavett is president and C. J. O'Donnell is secretary and treasurer of the new company which has taken over the big tract. The Allinace Real Estate corporation will be the selling company when the acres are put on the market. It is planned to launch a mammoth selling campaign this fall.

The property is situated in sections 28, 29 and 30, township 51, range 13. It is within one mile of the state demonstration farm school, and only one and three-quarters miles from the Lester Park street car line.

The tract recently acquired can be reached by the Snively boulevard, the Amity Creek road, the Lester River road and the Tischer road. It is near the Exeter farms tracts which were recently put on the market by the Alliance Real Estate corporation, and which sold like "hot cakes."

The soil in this vicinity is said to be particularly adapted to homecrofting purposes. It is of a rich black loam with a clay sub-soil and very suitable to the raising of garden truck, celery, cauliflower, head lettuce and small fruits.

During the past year the Homecroft idea has grown to large proportions in Duluth and vicinity. Several large real estate companies have put small acres on the market, and in every instance the tracts have been picked up quickly.

The soil in this vicinity of the city is said to be better than in most places throughout the country, and is adapted to the raising of most kinds of garden truck. An enormous movement in this direction is predicted for the coming year.

TRAFFIC MANAGER SAYS CROPS ARE BIG.

L. P. Connolly of Chicago, general traffic manager for the American Milling company, is in Duluth today.

Mr. Connolly says the crop outlook was never better. In some parts of Kansas the crops have suffered, but on the whole conditions are very favorable. The flax acreage is much greater than it was a year ago and the total production will be much heavier, although the production per acre may not be as great.

The American Milling company recently erected a new elevator at Superior to handle screenings for its feed factories. The equipment of the feed factory at Superior was transferred to Peoria, Ill., and the Superior plant was turned into a linseed crusher.

ROOSEVELT INSISTS ON THIRD TICKET IN NORTH DAKOTA, TOO

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Addressing the Progressive state convention here today Col. Roosevelt insisted on a state ticket and Dr. Creegan, president of Fargo college, is the man selected by local Bull Moosers for the nomination for governor. A third state ticket is strongly opposed by many delegates, but their number may not be sufficient to control. Creegan was a friend of Roosevelt in New York City. He has been at the head of the local educational institution for four years. Roosevelt was met at the depot by several hundred people and escorted downtown. The crowd here today is disappointingly small because the farmers are so busy with threshing operations.

SOO BUYS THE W. & M. LINE

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 6.—It is now taken as a fact that the Soo road has purchased the Wisconsin & Michigan railway which runs from Peshtigo to Iron Mountain, Mich., the deal to be formally closed within ten days. The Wisconsin & Michigan is a former John R. Walsh property and was bought by John Marsh, the contractor, on a mortgage sale several months ago. With the acquisition of this road various extensions are said to be planned.

The games will probably be played here Saturday and Sunday. The Virginia lineup will be practically the same as has played during the season meeting Hibbing in several games and Chisholm once.

GETTING IT BACK.

Los Angeles Times: Mayor Shank of Indianapolis was condemning the extortions of a certain type of middleman. "This type of middleman," he said, "can't be beat; for whatever he gives you with one hand he takes back with the other. He is almost as bad as old Cornelius Husk.

"Old Corn Husk, as the boys used to call him, sold the tavern-keeper ten dozen eggs one day. There was just one egg left over, and the tavern-keeper asked Husk to throw it in. The old man, however, demurred.

"But finally he consented to throw in the egg provided the tavern-keeper would stand him a drink. This was agreed to, the egg was handed over, and then the tavern-keeper said:

"'Now, old man, nominate your liquor.'

"'Sherry and egg,' said old Cornelius, with a twinkle in his eye."

TO SKATE WHILE YOU EAT.

New York Evening Telegram: Will Broadway innovations ever cease? Following the cabaret show comes the announcement that Long Acre Square will soon be supporting a place where lovers of the gay life may dine with their skates on. The idea comes from Berlin.

They have been dining with their skates on in the German city for several years. This skating and eating at once is to be done in an "ice palace" built of concrete just back of the Astor theater. While you are sipping the soup the waiter brings the skates. Between courses you will take the arm of your best girl, or some other fellow's, and glide over the icy floor.

There will be tables around the edge of the pond on the main floor. There will also be two balconies. It has not been decided yet whether the waiters will carry on their piracy on skates or on foot.

To amuse the diners who do not care to skate there will be exhibitions of fancy skating and a ballet on skates. But the ice will be free to all who have sufficient wealth to dine in the new concrete "ice palace." You will be allowed to bring your own skates but not your own soup.

WHALE AS CHICKEN FOOD.

Lewiston Journal: Now they are feeding that whale to the Eastport chickens with wonderful results. The flesh of the whale is very much like ordinary beef in texture and appearance.

The poultry men maintain that it is the best and most economical egg producing food that they can buy, because it is really very nutritious, rich in oil, free from bone and practically fresh, owing to the intense cold of the last few weeks.

Unless you are willing that people shall CHANCE to come to your store, you must advertise.

SMALL CHANGE IN THE COPPERS

Little change occurred in the general level of the copper stocks or even in the individual shares as a result of the day's business. Butte & Superior and Giroux closed slightly higher and Amalgamated, North American and Calumet & Arizona a bit lower. The general stock market of New York was inclined to be weak and gave the coppers little if any encouragement. The copper metal market of London closed lower than yesterday, spot being 2s 6d off and futures 1s 3d lower.

* * *

Paine, Webber & Co., today received from Foster at Boston the following closing copper letter: "The market opened fairly strong with Amalgamated and Anaconda in good demand. The dividend meeting for Anaconda is scheduled for 24th, and it is generally expected that an increase will be made which will later be followed by an increase in Amalgamated dividend. Strength in call money during the day checked the rise to a certain extent and the close was rather weak. The feature locally was the continued selling in Wolverine which sold down to $91 at which price there seemed to be a pretty fair demand. We consider this stock a better purchase than sale around $81. Butte & Superior was the active strong feature, selling up to $46.75 and closing at about the top There was no news to account for rise. We look for a quiet market until money situation becomes more easy but do not look for any sharp reaction.

Gay & Stugis today received the following wire from Guck at Houghton: "Nothwitlstanding lessened production, decreased richness and increased costs, Wolverine's record last year was excellent, amounting to better than $10 per share on 14-cent copper. With the present market price likely to be sustained for the present fiscal year, earnings should be close to 60 per cent more than that amount, not figuring the outlay for exploration work which is not very heavy. The Wolverine treasury carries a balance of close to $14 per share, after checking off the dividend to be paid this month. Yet there is no disguising the unlikelihood of increase in copper percentage as the mine reaches lower levels. The decrease has been regular from the high mark of 30.21 pounds in 1905 to 23.45 pounds the last fiscal year. In 1905 the 321,813 tons of rock was stamped with an output in copper of close to 10,000,000 pounds and a cost slightly over 6c a pound. Last year it was 401,308 tons of rock to secure 9,308,960 pounds of copper with costs better than 7½c. Even at that Wolverine stands next to Ahmeek as the champion low cost producer of the district."

Gay & Sturgis have a very full report of the mining conditions on the Lake property, wired by A. L. Carnahan from Houghton, Mich. Local holders of Lake stock are taking great interest in this report. It reads in part:

"Lake has been on better than a self-supporting basis for ten weeks. In July, working only twenty-two days on account of changing over to the new shaft shipments, were 6,000 tons and a fair balance was earned above every item of expense. August returns are not complete, but about 6,600 tons of rock were shipped and it is known the earnings were more than proportionately better than in July. No condition exists to increase the cost per ton. In fact, they may be expected to reduce materially as shipments get into regular swing so that earnings per ton should increase steadily.

"Increased shipments will be the order as fast as men to do the work can be found. The lack of trammers is the only obstacle in the way of increasing at once. Stopes are cut from which to draw supply and the rock house and engine could handle four times the present output. Shipments now are about 300 tons per day, of which about ninety tons come from the old stockpile, accumulated during development. This is materially lower grade than the yield of the stopes.

"The yield of the rock at its best cannot be determined until the old stockpile is out of the way. In July, with the greater part of the shipments coming from the stockpile, the 6,000 tons shipped yielded 38.8 pounds of mineral, carrying 64 per cent copper, or 24.83 pounds of refined copper per ton.

TICKETS ONLY $25,000 APIECE

Here Is a Chance for Ten Americans to Hunt With Royalty.

Twenty-five thousand dollars is the modest price an American must pay to revel with royalty and semi-royalty for eight days, according to a letter received yesterday by a woman at the Waldorf, says the New York Sun. The letter purports to come from a woman of title living in Canada, who is related to one or more government officials who, according to the letter, is getting up a hunt and fete for the early part of October, at which there will be enough kings and queens, ex and would-be, to make a fine poker hand.

The letter is written on fashionable stationery bearing an embossed coat-of-arms, surmounted by a coronet, and the writer signs an aristocratic title. The number of tickets is limited to ten, to provide which vacancies are to be made by cutting off the lady's list an equal number of Canadians who have been invited, but who apparently were to pay nothing.

The "paying" guests," as the lady terms Americans who embrace the offer, will have the opportunity of hunting in company with royalty; Col. Roosevelt, who is mentioned after the royal highnesses on the list; two or three prominent Americans whose names are given, the premier of Canada, ever so many cabinet ministers and the cream of the haute noblesse which has been in Canada ever since the English took it over.

"The Royal Guests."

On a piece of foolscap accompanying the letter are written the names of some of the personages and persons the lady expects to be members of her house party. It would be impossible to get so many "garters," as the English call them, in this country. No mention is made as to just what each of the royalties is going to do, nor are those Canadians starred who may be left out in favor of the ten unnamed who are willing to put up the $25,000 each. Here are some of the names given under the caption, "The Royal Guests:"

The Former King Manuel of Portugal.

The Former Queen Maria Amelia of Portugal.

The duke and duchess of Connaught.

Prince Arthur and Princess Patricia of Connaught.

Princess Marie Stourdza.

Other names following include:

The duke and duchess of Sutherland.

The duke and duchess of Norfolk.

The duc de la Rochefoucauld.

Comte Henri de la Rochette.

Marquis and Mahquise Duezzo.

Baron and Baronne de la Rochette.

Colonel, Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt.

The prime minister of Canada and Mrs. Borden.

The prime minister of Quebec and Lady Gouin.

Sir Henry and Lady Pellat, M. and Mme. Bourassa, Sir Wilfred and Lady Laurier, Sir Montagu and Lady Allan, comte and comtesse de St. Pol and the foreign ambassadors in Washington and their wives.

The others named on the list are persons without title.

Hunt in Northern Forest.

That the lady proposes to have a party really worth while is indicated by information written on another page of the same sheet of foolscap. For instance, the guests are going up from Montreal by special train on Oct. 5, reaching on the next day the Northern forest, where the hunt is to take place. Guides who know the Hudson Bay country will lead the party to the happy hunting grounds, where preparations will have been made down to the minutest detail for camping and for hunting.

Upon the return of the party on Oct. 10, presumably to Montreal, though that is not specified, there is going to be a round of gayety lasting until and including Oct. 14. On the night of Oct. 10 there will be a ball, "when the elite of Canadian society from Halifax to Vancouver will meet." For the next day are planned a luncheon, a tea and a dinner to the Protestant and Catholic clergy. This last is the occasion when the ladies must wear high-neck frocks, with trains. In attendance, it is promised, will be archbishops, bishops, lieutenant governors of the provinces and other officials.

On Oct. 12 there will be receptions, luncheons and a dinner to the old French-Canadian nobility. More luncheons and receptions are mentioned for Oct. 13, to take place at the universities. Then, in the evening, there will be a dance at the klosk on the top of Montreal, with an Indian pageant, and a "musicale from artists and fireworks." The festivities will be wound up, according to the program, with the dinner to cabinet ministers "and others" on the night of Oct. 14.

And to get in on all this an American who is not one of the invited guests would have to pay only $25,000.

THE PUPPY AND THE FOX.

A. L. Sykes in the Christian Register: "Run in the warm sun and play, and grow big and strong," said Mother Dog to her dearest puppy.

White curly Bumble-Puppy did. He was fat and round and could not run very fast.

"Bark now," said Mother Dog.

"Woof! Woof!" said Bumble-Puppy, very loud and high.

"Now gnaw this bone, and get strong teeth," said Mother Dog; and Bumble-Puppy lay in the sun and gnawed the bone.

"Eat this bowl of milk now, and grow fat," said Mother Dog.

Lap, lap, lap, went Bumble-Puppy till the good, warm milk was gone. He liked his eating lesson best of all.

"Now," said Mother Dog, "go and lie by the fire, and sleep, and learn to be a watch dog. You must never let your ears go to sleep. If anyone you do not know comes in growl like this," and "Urr-urr-urr!" said Bumble-Puppy, very loud and deep.

"You are a good child," said Mother Dog.

Soon Bumble-Puppy grew bigger and stronger, and could run in the fields. One day in the long cold time he said to Mother Dog, "I saw a new dog, a red one, by the henhouse today."

"That is not a dog. That is Fox. He is sly. He eats hens. Our master has told the dogs to watch for him. Some day we shall catch him. Do not speak to Fox."

Next day Bumble-Puppy saw Fox in the field near the wood. He was lean, with bright eyes, and he lay still in the long grass, and he looked very glad and kind.

"Come and play with me, Dog," he said.

Bumble-Puppy went near.

"You can't catch me," said Fox, and how he did leap and run! It made Bumble-Puppy jump and bark to look at him. "I can," said Bumble-Puppy, and oh, dear me!—he fgorgot what his mother told him.

Into the wood ran sly Fox, and after him went fat baby Bumble-Puppy. They ran and they ran until they came to the fox home in the sunny hillside. Young Fox was there, and he was lean and red, with bright eyes, and how he could leap and run!

"Stay with us, Be a Fox," he said. "Stay and play with me."

"Yes," said Old Fox, laughing, "you are so lean and quick, and run so fast, you ought to be a Fox."

Bumble-Puppy believed every word, and said: "I wish to stay. I wish to be a Fox."

What fun Bumble-Puppy and Young Fox had! They hunted mice in the fields, and tried to dig woodchucks from their beds, and at last they lay down and slept in the sun. When Bumble-Puppy woke he said: "I wish my bone."

"Wait," said Young Fox, "till my brother comes. He always brings food."

They waited long, and Bumble-Puppy was, oh, so hungry!

"I wish my bowl of warm milk," he said. "I wish it now."

"Wait," said Young Fox. "My brother has gone to your farm for something good."

After a long time Old Fox came with a hen in his mouth. Young Fox ate, but Bumble-Puppy did not like to eat hens. He sat and watched Young Fox eat. How hungry he was! How he did wish he was at home! How he did long for his bowl of warm milk!

"Listen!" said Young Fox a

"It is the Dogs," said Old F must run!" and away they ra... Bumble-Puppy after. Down the hill to the edge of the stream! Thin ice was over the water. Down the hill came the dogs, and over the ice leaped Old Fox and Young Fox, light as feathers, and after them ran Bumble-Puppy, dear, fat, heavy, clumsy Bumble-Puppy, and what do you think?—he broke right into the cold, cold water!

"Ow! Ow! Ow!" he cried, trying to swim.

"Ha, ha! Ha, ha!" loughed Old Fox and Young Fox, safe on the other side of the stream, and then—oh, then, Mother Dog jumped right into that icy water and took Bumble-Puppy to the shore! She shook and shook him till most of the water was out of his coat; she slapped him with her paw, and then, oh dear, she took him by the ear—his poor ear, and led him home.

How it did hurt, but Bumble-Puppy did not say one word.

"Eat," said Mother Dog, and gave him milk.

"Lie by the fire and dry," said Mother Dog.

How good that warm milk was! How good that fire did feel! When Bumble-Puppy woke he was warm and dry.

"I am not a Fox," he said. "I do not wish to be a Fox."

"I should hope not. Be my good puppy," said Mother Dog; and Bumble-Puppy bit her ear for love, and they both were glad.

EQUAL TO THE OCCASION.

Los Angeles Times: Paul J. Rainey, whose one big game hunt in Africa has made him the champion lion slayer of the world was asked in an interview in New York a question about the habits of lions.

"I can't answer that question," the young millionaire said with a smile, "and I shan't pretend I can. Why should I emulate the scientific lecturer?

"A scientific lecturer, at the conclusion of a lecture of the most abstruse description, took a sip of water and said:

"'Question time. If any one now has any question of a scientific nature to ask, I shall be glad to answer it to the best of my ability.'

"An old lady in a plaid shawl rose and said:

"'Will you please tell me why it is, sir, that wet tea leaves kills roaches?'

"The lecturer knew no more than Adam why wet tea leaves killed roaches, but, not to be nonpulsed, he answered glibly:

"'When a roach, madam, sees a wet tea leaf, he exclaims: "Hullo, here's a blanket!" and he wraps himself up in it, falls asleep and naturally catches a severe cold, which, developing into pneumonia in a few days, kills the unfortunate insect.'"

Delegates to the annual state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union to be held at St. Paul, Sept. 20 to 21, and superintendents for the department work, were elected yesterday by the West Duluth branch of the union. The annual meeting of the branch was held at the home of Mrs. T. P. Olsen, 512 North Fifty-ninth avenue west.

The delegates elected to the convention are: Mrs. H. Bevier and Mrs. B. N. Smith. The latter was chosen as alternate. The following officers of the union were instructed to attend the convention as representatives of the local body: Mrs. Joseph Cochran, district president; Mrs. J. T. Culbertson, Mrs. Alfred Jaques, Mrs. James McMillan, Mrs. Frank Cashin and Mrs. A. Rankin.

Swangle, Mrs. H. H. Phelps, and assistants, Mrs. C. R. Keyes, Mrs. Rose Gosselin, Mrs. Ruth Merritt, Mrs. W. A. Pond and Mrs. H. Bevier; rescue work, Mrs. C. R. Keyes; anti-narcotics, Mrs. W. C. Mrs. Helen Stewart read a paper during the afternoon on "Items of Interest," in which she brought out the interesting fact that insanity resulting from alcohol is costing the nation over $12,000,000 a year. Mrs. Stewart quoted Frederick Peterson of New York in citing her figures. Another claim made by Mrs. Stewart is that 20 per cent of the 30,000 insane people in this country owe their condition to alcoholism.

CHILDREN SAVE MONEY

Irving School Pupils Add $61 to Balance of $1,309.

Pennies Formerly Spent for Cigarettes or Candy Now Banked.

Starting off with a balance from last June of $1,309.14, the school children of the Irving school yesterday afternoon began the second year of the school banking system with a deposit of over $60.

That the new banking department is a success can be evidenced by the opinions voiced by the prominent teachers and business men of the city. The banking plan in Duluth was originated by S. A. Foster, principal of the Irving school, who secured the assistance of the First National bank, which institution now conducts a special school department and has a clerk visit each school once a week.

There are 400 depositors at the Irving school alone, which includes the members of both the lower and upper grades of the Industrial high school. Mr. Foster is well pleased with the success of the plan and expects even greater returns this year. Mr. Foster is of the belief that the banking system has also increased the thriftiness and morality of the pupils. Boys, who formerly smoked or foolishly spent their money, are now making their weekly deposits, said Mr. Foster.

The idea of school saving banks dates back to 1834, when it was first introduced in France. In this country the system was first introduced in 1885 at Long Island Sound, N. Y. The movement is now nation-wide and only last year the Massachusetts legislature passed a law ordering the establishment of the banks in the public schools.

Banquet Plans.

At a special meeting of the executive committee in charge of the second annual banquet to be given next Wednesday evening by the uniform degree team of Old Hickory camp, No. 1555, Modern Woodmen, held last evening at the Great Eastern hall, it was decided to increase the number of plates from 150 to 170. It was also decided to invite the G. A. R. fife and drum corps of fifteen members and to hold another meeting next Tuesday evening. The Royal College of Music will furnish the music for the evening.

NEW MARKET IS OPENED

Only Three Farmers Appear and Produce Is Quickly Sold.

Wednesdays and Saturdays Will Probably Be Market Days.

But three farmers took advantage of the West Duluth public market at its opening this morning. Their produce was promptly bought and the farmers were able to leave for their homes shortly after 11 o'clock.

The farmers arrived at 7:30 o'clock with a large assortment of vegetables and fruit, which was placed on sale at a very low price. About seventy-five West Duluth women took advantage of the opening day and purchased their produce from the farmers.

The plan of conducting a large stand, around which the farmers can back their wagons, will undoubtedly prove popular, as the buyers can inspect everything on sale without any trouble to the farmer. A smaller shed for the horses is located to the rear of the large shed. This morning the grounds about the market place were improved and placed in a proper condition for traffic. Sand was dumped about the center stand and in the small stalls for the horses. An approach to the market place from the sidewalk will also be made, so that the housewives will have little difficulty in reaching the stands.

The market place will be open on two days each week. They will be selected at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. It is probable that the farmers will come to West Duluth every Wednesday and Saturday morning, according to the statement of the three, who were at the market place this morning.

MAKING REPAIRS TO PAVEMENT

City Has Crew at Work on Ramsey and Oneota Streets.

The board of public works this morning started repairing Ramsey street, from Fiftieth avenue west to Central avenue and Oneota street from Forty-sixth avenue to Forty-ninth avenue west.

The many holes dug up by the telephone companies, water and light department, street railway company and the Canadian Northern Railway company will be filled and the pavement replaced.

The largest holes are at the new Canadian Northern bridge, which was built last winter at Fiftieth avenue west. Several places on Ramsey street need repairs as a result of the improvements made by the Duluth Telephone company in placing its wires underground. The conduits extend from the intersection of Ramsey street with Central avenue to Fifty-fourth avenue west. About ten days will be required for the work.

FARMERS' DAY IN WEST DULUTH

Commercial Club Will Entertain Tillers of the Soil.

To celebrate the opening of the public market in West Duluth and for a closer relationship with the farmers in the future, the members of the West Duluth Commercial club will this evening make plans for a Farmers' day to be held the latter part of this month.

L. A. Barnes will speak on the subject at the meeting this evening. The plan is to make the day a holiday and to entertain the visiting farmers in royal style. The stores will be closed for the day and a program of addresses, games, sports and dancing will be arranged. The affair will probably be celebrated at Fairmont park, if the first venture proves successful. Farmers' day will be celebrated here every year.

P. G. Phillips, alderman from the Eighth ward, will speak on the proposed Soo station at the meeting this evening. Mr. Phillips has been asked to take the matter up for the club and to work with the city attorney in compelling the railroad to construct a station in this end of the city. Alderman Phillips announced this morning that he has been working on the matter the past week and will make his first report this evening.

The committee appointed several weeks ago on the proposed fish hatchery for Fond du Lac will make its first report this evening. The matter has been taken up with local government officials.

DEPOSITS SET RECORD

Duluth Banks Have More Than $26,000,000 of Customers' Money.

Local Institutions, Both State and National, Show a Healthy Growth.

Reporting deposits larger than ever before in their history, the four national banks of Duluth have just obeyed the call of the comptroller of the federal treasury by publishing their statements. In these banks, at the close of business on Sept. 4, was deposited almost $26,000,000. In the five state banks of the city at the same time was close to $750,000 more. This is the greatest amount of money on deposit in Duluth at any time in the city's history. It is expected that even this will be cast in the shadow before the year 1912 ends, for prospects point to an immense increase this fall. The deposits in the various banks on Sept. 4, were as follows:

National Banks.

First National	$11,379,696.41
American Exchange	9,642,726.82

BOARD LETS CONTRACTS

Only One Bidder for Aerial Gas Main Across Canal.

City Attorney Blocks Payment of $892 to Soo Railroad.

Hollihan & Milostan are the only Duluth contractors willing to undertake the task of installing an aerial gas main across the canal at the aerial bridge. The board of water and light commissioners called for bids on the work. Yesterday was the day for opening the bids, and only one was received. Hollihan & Milostan agreed to do the work for $238, and the bid was accepted.

The main will be attached to the superstructure of the aerial bridge. The bid is for the installation, the department to furnish the pipe.

Bids on an auto truck were also opened by the board yesterday. The specifications called for a truck of 30 h. p., with 1,500 pounds capacity and a 9-foot box. L. Hammel & Co. offered a truck for $1,200 with $200 to be allowed for an old truck. The Interstate Auto company offered one for $1,750, with a $200 rebate for the old truck, and M. W. Turner offered to fill the order for $1,550, with $150 off for the old truck. The bids were referred to Commissioners Swift and Hoopes to investigate.

The board of water and light commissioners wants to pay the Soo railroad $892.20, but the city attorney has blocked the payment. The debt is admitted to be a just one, but a charter provision which requires that all expenditures over a certain amount may be made only after bids have been called for and a contract drawn. In December, 1910, the Soo line petitioned for a water main extension in Tenth avenue west south from Railroad street. The department had no money with which to do the work, but agreed that the railroad could extend the main under the supervision of the department and when the money was available reimbursement would be made, the railroad to furnish the necessary petition and guarantee. The board has drawn a voucher for $892.20, but it was returned by the comptroller with the information that the city attorney declared it was in violation of the charter.

LACK OF LICENSE NO BAR TO RECOVERY.

The owner of an unregistered automobile running without a license and contrary to the law can collect damages if he should collide with a licensed car, providing he could establish blame for the accident against the other machine.

This was the substance of a decision which Judge Dibell handed down in district court yesterday in an order denying a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict in the case of John T. Armstead against George H. Lounsberry.

Autos owned by the parties to the suit collided about two years ago. Armstead sued to recover about $700. A jury gave him a verdict of $68.51 against Lounsberry. The latter appealed on the grounds that Armstead's car had not been properly tagged and registered, as was required by law.

Judge Dibell in his memorandum stated that in some states such a condition of affairs might prevent the plaintiff from collecting damages, but the Minnesota laws could not be so interpreted, he said.

OBITUARY

He went to Fort Wayne three weeks ago to undergo a surgical operation for stomach trouble. Before going to Minneapolis he was an instructor in St. Louis and in St. Paul.

W. J. Murphy, son of the noted temperance worker, Francis J. Murphy, and himself a temperance lecturer of international renown, died in Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5 at the age of 57.

Rev. Richard Hill Holmes of Philadelphia, a prominent member of the Presbyterian ministry and since 1904 an editor of denominational publications, died at his home Sept. 5 from apoplexy. MEXICO URGED TO GIVE PROTECTION

Washington Moved By Peril to Americans in That Country.

Washington, Sept. 6.—American Ambassador Wilson today was instructed by the state department to urge upon the Mexican government the dire need of federal troops in Northern Mexico to protect Americans.

Frantic appeals to the state department tell of dangers threatening Americans. In the majority of cases, the calls for help come from mining companies located in the Northern states. More than a hundred business concerns have made representations of the seriousness of the situation.

Every effort is being made by the state department to get arms and ammunition to Americans in the Cananea district, to enable them to protect themselves against ravages of rebels, who now thickly infest that country. A request from the residents there, received at the state department, asks for 500 rifles immediately, accompanied by 2,000 rounds of ammunition. Attempts are being made to ascertain where the nearest rifles for this purpose can be obtained, and President Taft will be asked to make an exception to his proclamation prohibiting transportation of arms across the border.

The El Tigre Mining company has been given permission to take across the border twenty rifles and about 4,000 rounds of ammunition for use by employes of the company in protecting its property.

PRESIDNTIAL CAMPAIGN SOUVENIRS.

New York Tribune: A collector of presidential campaign souvenirs whose store of medals, emblems, flags and other devices worn by people who in that way showed their preference for candidates since the year when Lincoln and Hamlin were the candidates of the Republican party has already begun his 1912 collection with Taft, Roosevelt, Clark, Wilson, Harmon and Underwood convention buttons. A unique specimen in the collection is a star shaped badge of old fashioned brown strawboard. It has on one side a portrait of George Francis Train, under which is printed: "For President, 1872. The only aristocracy that I acknowledge is the aristocracy of Honest Labor, Intellect and Morality." On the reverse side under a shield and eagle are the words: "We the People; Not I the King."

SUNNY SKIES FAVOR BEARS

Wheat Goes Lower Under Influence of Bright, Warm Weather.

Same Agency Cheapens Flaxseed—Offers From Country Larger.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 6.—Wheat on the markets of North America today went still lower than yesterday, the weather over the American Northwest being remarkably favorable for harvesting and thrashing. Duluth September wheat closed ¾@⅞c lower. Cash wheat closed at the September price. Durum closed 1c off, oats ¼c off and rye unchanged. Duluth September flaxseed closed 2½c lower, and October, November and December 3¼c lower.

A vast area of bright, clear weather, embracing substantially the whole of the American Northwest and giving the farmers a chance to harvest and thrash their wheat, caused a further downward movement of wheat prices on the markets of North America today. Furthermore, the primary receipts of wheat on the American markets were very large, being more than double what they were a year ago today.

Duluth September wheat, which closed yesterday at 88¾@88⅞c asked, opened today at 88⅛c asked and at noon was selling for 88c. There was likewise a downward movement at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Wheat on the Liverpool market today closed ¾d to 1d lower. The downward trend was due to the weak American cables, a smaller inquiry for cargoes and parcels, the prediction of large world shipments and the general improvement of European crop prospects. The fact that light Argentine shipments were reported had the effect of steadying the market to some extent.

Flaxseed Still Lower.

The bright warm Northwestern weather, just what is needed for the maturing and ripening of the vast flaxseed crop, caused a large offering from the country of futures today and resulted in a general downward movement of the prices. Duluth September flaxseed at noon today was 2¼c off, October 3c down and November and December 3¼c down. Winnipeg October flaxseed opened unchanged today at $1.55 asked, or 5c under Duluth October. Buenos Ayres October closed last night ⅜c off at $1.65⅝. London Calcutta today closed ⅝c up at $2.11¾. One car of flax was reported on the track for inspection today.

MARKET GOSSIP

The following replies were received today to circulars of inquiry sent out by The Herald in regard to crop conditions in the Northwest:

"St. Peter, Nicollet county, Minn.—Wheat is not so good as was expected. It was affected by the leading rust, black rust during the growing season. There has been no thrashing of flaxseed, but it appears that the little that has been planted will show a good yield. Wheat will run all the way from 4 to 26 bushels to the acre and will average about 14 bushels."

"Cologne, Carver county, Minn.—The quality of wheat is not so good as that of the last crop. The yield runs 18 to 24 bushels to the acre and averages 20 bushels. Barley runs 40 to 45 bushels to the acre. There is no flaxseed raised in this neighborhood."

"Rochester, Olmsted county, Minn.—Crops here have been estimated too high. Wheat is about an average crop. Spring wheat will run 10 to 18 bushels to the acre, with an average of 15 bushels. There is no durum wheat in this region. The flaxseed crop is fair, running 8 to 14 bushels to the acre, with an average acreage about 11 bushels. Barley runs 15 to 25 bushels to the acre with an average of about 20 bushels."

"Litchfield, Meeker county, Minn.—Crops have been considerably damaged by rain. Spring wheat is of fair quality and goes 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, with an average of 15 bushels. The flax crop is good, but there is a small acreage. It will run 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, averaging about 15 bushels. Barley is yielding 20 to 40 bushels to the acre and averaging about 30 bushels. There is no durum wheat in this region."

"Willmar, Kandiyohi county, Minn.—Wheat here is not so good as it was last year, nor is there so much of it. The yield of spring wheat is from 4 to 26 bushels to the acre and the average is 15 bushels. Flaxseed is late and what it will yield depends on the frost. It never promises to run 8 to 14 bushels to the acre, averaging about 11 bushels. Barley is running 35 to 60 bushels to the acre, averaging about 45 bushels."

"Shakopee, Scott county, Minn.—Spring wheat in this neighborhood is going 20 to 30 bushels to the acre, and will average about 25 bushels. There is no durum or flaxseed in this region. Barley is yielding 30 to 40 bushels to the acre."

"Crookston, Polk county, Minn.—Thrashing conditions are very poor. Some of the grain is growing in shock. The wheat and flax crops are about normal. Spring wheat is running about 12 bushels to the acre and flax will yield about 10 bushels to the acre. Barley is averaging about 30 bushels."

"Thief River Falls, Red Lake county, Minn.—The spring wheat crop looks all right. It is averaging about 16 bushels to the acre. We shall have the largest crop of flax on record, averaging about 13 bushels to the acre."

"Angus, Polk county, Minn.—Wheat has a good color, but is light on account of rust. It goes 10 to 25 bushels to the acre, averaging 15 bushels. Barley is grading poorly, being all colored. The yield is running 15 to 25 bushels to the acre, averaging 20 bushels. There is no flax thrashed yet. Early wheat and flax are good, but late wheat and flax are poor."

"Wheatville, Norman county, Minn.—Wheat in this neighborhood is good. Wheat in this neighborhood is good. But somewhat discolored by rains. It is running 12 to 25 bushels to the acre and averaging about 20 bushels. There is no tmuch flaxseed raised in this neighborhood, but what there is will go 8 to 10 bushels to the acre, according to present indications. Barley is yielding 25 to 40 bushels, and averaging about 30 bushels."

"Fosston, Polk county, Minn.—There has not been much thrashing done here yet, so we do not know much about the average. The wheat crop looks fair and promises to yield 15 to 20 bushels to the acre. The flaxseed crops also looks fair, but no thrashing has yet been done. Barley will run 15 to 30 bushels to the acre."

"Le Seuer, Le Seuer county, Minn.—The wheat crop looks about the same as last year and is averaging about 18 bushels to the acre. Barley averages about 35 bushels. There is no flaxseed in this neighborhood."

"St. James, Watonwan county, Minn.—The wheat crop here looks rather poor, and is running 10 to 25 bushels to the acre. The flaxseed crop, what there is of it, looks good, and is running 8 to 16 bushels to the acre. Barley is going 20 to 30 bushels to the acre."

"Morris, Stevens county, Minn.—The quality of spring wheat is good, and it is yielding 8 to 30 bushels to the acre, with an average of 22 bushels. Durum wheat is yielding 10 to 25 bushels to the acre, averaging 25 bushels. Flaxseed is a good quality and is running 4 to 20 bushels to the acre, with an average of about 10 bushels. Barley yields 20 to 60 bushels, with an average of about 35."

"Rothsay, Wilkin county, Minn.—The wheat crop here looks well, and is running 15 to 30 bushels to the acre, averaging 20. Flaxseed goes 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, averaging 15. This is a better crop this year than wheat. Barley is yielding 35 to 50 bushels, with an average of 40."

"Elbow Lake, Grant county, Minn.—The wheat crop is good. Spring wheat is yielding 15 to 20 bushels to the acre, with an average of 18 bushels, and durum about the same. Flaxseed is also a good crop, running 12 to 20 bushels to the acre, averaging 15. Barley runs 25 to 40 bushels to the acre, with an average of 35. The acreage of wheat and flax is small, but that of oats and barley is large."

"Fairmont, Martin county, Minn.—The spring wheat crop is fair, running 15 to 20 bushels to the acre, with an average of 17. The flax crop is fair. Barley runs 30 to 40 bushels to the acre, with an average of 35. Our best crop is oats."

"Bingham Lake, Cottonwood county, Minn.—The wheat crop is small in this section. Spring wheat is running 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, averaging about 15. It is too early to report on flax in this section. Flax embraces about 25 per cent of the acreage. The crop looks fair. Barley is running 30 to 40 bushels to the acre, with an average of 35."

"Pipestone, Pipestone county, Minn.—The wheat crop is poor. Spring wheat is running 15 to 30 bushels to the acre and durum 20 to 30 bushels. It is too early to estimate the flax crop. We have not seen any of the new flaxseed yet, nor have we heard of more than one place where it has been thrashed in this neighborhood. The flaxseed promises to run 10 to 15 bu to the acre. Barley runs 30 to 40 bu to the acre."

"Vining, Ottertail county, Minn.—The spring wheat crop is good and is running 15 to 30 bu to the acre, with an average of 22 bu. The flax crop is also good, but there has not yet been any thrashing. Barley runs 25 to 50 bu, with an average of 35 bu."

"Hadley, Murray county, Minn.—The spring wheat crop looks fair, the yield running 10 to 18 bu to the acre and averaging 13 bu. There is not much flaxseed, but what there is will probably thrash 10 to 20 bu to the acre, averaging 14 bu. Barley runs 20 to 35 bu, averaging 25."

"Argyle, Marshall county, Minn.—We estimate spring wheat at 8 to 28 bu to the acre with an average of 16 bu and durum at 10 to 40 bu with an average of 25 bu. The average yield of flax we estimate at 10 bu to the acre. On the whole acreage sown these averages are probably too large, as some fields were plowed under."

"Marshall, Lyon county, Minn.—The wheat crop looks good, yielding 16 to 33 bu to the acre, with an average of 20 bu. Velvet chaff wheat is better than blue-stem, the former averaging about 24 bu. Flaxseed also looks good, the yield being 10 to 16 bu to the acre, averaging about 12 bu."

"Lafayette, Nicollet county, Minn.—The wheat yield here is far below the estimate and the quality is poor. Spring wheat runs 8 to 20 bu to the acre, with an average yield of 14 bu. The quality of flaxseed is good, but very few acres are planted. It will run 6 to 12 bu to the acre, with an average of 10 bu. Barley is running 20 to 35 bu to the acre, and averaging 28 bu."

"Summit, Lawrence county, S. D.—The wheat crop looks good. Spring wheat is running 12 to 20 bu to the acre and durum 10 to 18 bu. Flaxseed will probably thrash 10 to 15 bu to the acre. Barley runs 20 to 25 bu."

The first crop report of the Rock Island lines, just issued, is as follows: "Corn from Minnesota to Louisiana and from Illinois to the Rocky mountains will make the highest yield for years. The quality depends on the weather during September. It will require warm, dry weather for thirty days to mature the corn in Northern Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. If September should be wet, or there should be early frosts, there will be an enormous quantity of soft corn in this territory. Early corn in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma has been damaged by hot winds, while the late corn is all right to date. Corn in the north half of Missouri will average above normal. Eastern Colorado will have a good crop. In Arkansas and Louisiana corn is nearly matured. There is a heavy yield in Louisiana and Arkansas, 45 bu per acre on uplands and 50 bu per acre on bottoms. There is twice the usual average of kafir in Kansas and there will be a probable yield of 50,000,000 bu of kafir and milo in Oklahoma, equal in feeding value to 45,000,000 bu of corn.

"Wheat is estimated for Kansas 85,000,000 to 100,000,000 bu, Nebraska 55,000,000 bu and Oklahoma 20,000,000 bu. Wheat is yielding heavy in Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota. There is increased acreage of oats in most states; yield high. Rain has damaged grain in shock and stack in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Missouri, Western Kansas and Colorado and delayed thrashing. Marketing is slow on account of rain delaying thrashing and farmers holding for higher prices."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Turns Downward on Liberal World Shipments.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Liberal world shipments turned the wheat market today downward. Heavy rains in Canada led to a little firmness at the outset, but there was a large volume of wheat for sale from widely scattered sources. Support was inadequate. The opening varied from ¼c lower to-¼c up. The start for December was 91¼@91¼c, unchanged to ¼c advance. A decline to 90¾c followed.

The market reacted temporarily as a result of statements that rains in Canada were more general than had been shown earlier. Big receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth, however, caused renewed weakness. The close was steady, but ⅛@⅜c net lower at 90⅜@90¾c. for December.

Belief that promising crop conditions had been fully discounted rallied corn, despite active unloading on the part of leading firms. December opened ⅛c down to a like advance at 54@54¼c, and rose to 54⅜c.

There was considerable buying on account of predicted cooler weather, but the market sagged when purchasing power became exhausted. The close was steady, with December at 54⅛c, the same as last night.

Oats reflected the course of corn. December started unchanged at 32¼c, lounged 32c and then climbed to 32¾c.

Fairly good commission demand put strength into provisions. First transactions ranged from last night's level to 10c higher, with January $19.05 for pork, $10.72½ for lard, and $10.15@10.17½ for ribs.

Deposed Inspector Resumes Stand in New York Police Trial.

JOHNSON STATUE PLANS UNCHANGED

Memorial Commission Decides to Hold to Original Location.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting here of the John A. Johnson Memorial commission, the objections of Cass Gilbert, architect of the state capitol, to the plans for the placing of the Johnson memorial were read and considered, but the commission decided practically unanimously to make no change in the original plans. The fact that construction of the base for the statue on the spot originally selected has been begun is said to have borne considerable weight with the members. Nearly $3,000 has already been expended on that work.

ALLEGED MURDERER OF TWO GETS AWAY

REYNOLDS FORSBREY.

New York, Sept. 7.—Reynolds Forsbrey, under arrest, accused of two deliberate murders, escaped from the Tombs prison last week. It is supposed the guard was drunk. Forsbrey had been discovered in an attempt to escape and had been put into the solitary cell. He climbed on his bed to the ventilator, which he tore out with his hands. Then, escaping through the ventilator system of shafts, he got into the carpenter shop, picked up a joist there and used it as a ladder to help him over the wall. The guard has been suspended.

MOTOR SCARES HORSE AND WOMAN IS KILLED.

Kansas City, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Ellen Robinson, aged 50, was thrown into a barbed wire fence and killed and John H. Funk, a building contractor, was dangerously injured when their horse, frightened by a speeding automobile, overturned their buggy on a country road early today. Without slackening their speed the motorists disappeared.

BULL MOOSE IN MONTANA

Roosevelt Tells Early Morning Crowd He Wants No Kingship.

Says the Two Old Parties "Are Fooling About the Trusts."

Hathaway, Mont., Sept. 7.—After an all-night ride from Fargo, N. D., Col. Roosevelt came into Senator Dixon's state today. He was to speak in Billings, Livingstone, Bozeman, Logan and Helena and then have the first night's rest away from his train which his campaign managers have permitted since he left Oyster Bay. He will remain over night in Helena, leaving early Sunday morning for Spokane.

In a brief speech to a crowd of men and women who had arisen an hour or two before the usual schedule to hear him, Col. Roosevelt said that his opponents had made every charge against him that they could think of, including the statement that he wanted to be king.

Objects to King Job.

"I am accused of wanting to rule the country with an iron hand," he said. "I always feel inclined to answer that the people who make this statement don't know kings or else they would not put it down as my ambition to be one. They don't know kings as I do. Other things I might like to be, but

Detroit Man Writes Asking Name Be Taken Off Record of Dead.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 7.—"Please scratch my name off the death list," is the gist of a communication received by Eugene H. Porter, state commissioner of health, from John M. Auringer of Detroit, Mich. According to the state health department records the body of a man drowned in the Erie canal at Dewitt in May, 1911, was identified as Auringer by his daughter and two brothers.

Auringer had disappeared from his home in Detroit shortly before the body was discovered.

The writer made no explanation of his disappearance, but said he had convinced his relatives that "he was very much alive."

CLAPP PLANS ARE GROWING

Morgan May Be Asked About General Funds for Legislation.

Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller Also May Be Questioned.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Further plans for the Clapp committee's investigation of campaign funds are to be laid at a conference late today between Senator Pomerene and Chairman Clapp.

The probable date of J. Pierpont Morgan's appearance has not been determined. Mr. Morgan has been up on the committee's list of witnesses since July, when he waived service and told Chairman Clapp he would come at almost any time.

It was the committee's intention to question Mr. Morgan about contributions to the presidential campaigns of 1904 and 1908. The investigation has been broadened, however, by the Penrose-Archbold-Roosevelt controversy, and Mr. Morgan's examination now is expected to cover not only all campaigns from 1900 to 1912, but also an inquiry into any possible connection between contributions and legislation in congress.

Andy and John.

Andrew Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller may be called upon if developments warrant. It has not yet been decided to invite them, although William Rockefeller is to be called in connection with John D. Archbold's recent testimony about an alleged contribution of $100,000 by the Standard Oil company to Mr. Roosevelt's fund in 1904. It has not yet been determined to call E. H. Gary or Henry C. Frick.

Ormsby McHarg, one of the Roosevelt managers in the pre-convention campaign, has been asked to appear. The committee wants to question him about expenditures in behalf of Col. Roosevelt's candidacy at the Chicago Republican convention.

IOWANS LET FIVE MEN ROB BANK

People of Thayer Fear to Interfere in Blowing of Safe.

Thayer, Iowa, Sept. 7.—Five masked men placed a large charge of dynamite under the safe door in the First Bank of Thayer, a private institution, blew the door from its hinges, gathered up all the money in sight, $630, and then disappeared in the railroad yards. They later left town on a freight train. Citizens saw the men at work, but feared to molest them.

HIRAM JOHNSON ENTERS MICHIGAN

Schedule Calls for Talks in Dozen Towns During Day.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—Governor Hiram Johnson of California, Progressive candidate for the vice presidency, arrived in Detroit early today and faced a rather strenuous schedule for his first day's campaigning in Michigan. His managers had arranged for brief addresses at Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Jackson, Albion and Marshall, expecting he would be able to reach Battle Creek early in the afternoon for an hour's stay and then proceed to Kalamazoo for a visit of about an hour and a half.

Governor Johnson's principal address was set for tonight at Grand Rapids. He is expected to go there from Kalamazoo, unless last minute changes in his itinerary are made. The Progressive candidate is to address a mass meeting in Detroit Monday night.

Some Firms Are Forced to Turn Down New Orders---Territory Daily Widening.

IN DULUTH MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS.

Average number employed	4,448
Number employed at present	4,045
Number expected to be employed in immediate future	6,206

EMPLOYES INCLUDED.

Only those who actually make the goods in manufactories of: Artificial limbs, asbestos goods, tents, awnings and sails, paper bags, barbers' supplies, blast furnaces, boats, boilers and engines, smokestacks, books, boots and shoes at wholesale, beer, boxes, brooms, show cases, carbolite, carriages, wagons and sleighs, caskets, cigars, wearing apparel at wholesale, confectionery, monuments, dairy products, drugs at wholesale, flour, harness and saddlery, leather collars, gloves, knit goods at wholesale, lithographs, sash and doors, lumber, matches, mattresses and bedding, bedsprings, rubber stamps and shirts.

NOT INCLUDED.

Office and sales forces of manufacturing establishments, laborers, yard men, etc.; also automobile workers, bakers, bicycle repairers, blacksmiths, retail shoemakers, bottlers, sidewalks and tile floor makers, carpenters, bricklayers and the like, dressmakers, electrical workers, fur makers, gunsmiths, ice cream makers except those included under the head of "confectioners", jewelers, laundry workers, locksmiths, milliners, optical manufacturers, printers, tailors, umbrella makers and upholsterers.

Duluth manufacturers are setting new high water marks daily. Never in the history of the city have they enjoyed such prosperity.

Almost every manufacturer of Duluth is begging for men and women for factory work. Never in the history of the city has there been so much manufacturing work to do, and, comparatively speaking, so few to do it.

Better wages than ever before are being paid and offered, and yet not one of the manufacturers of the city, who have the room to accommodate the work they are offered, can get enough help. That distressing period where firms have to turn down orders has arrived, and only during the past week a number of houses in this city have turned away orders from outside of the town amounting in the aggregate to many thousands of dollars. Some of these orders, too, came from firms far distant, firms which in the past have been eagerly sought as customers by the very houses that have had to refuse them work. This makes the condition, to say the least, embarrassing and maybe dangerous, for it may mean permanent loss of the business which will be sought again when a better supply of help has been procured.

Every branch of business is suffering in this way. It is declared that no able bodied man or woman in Duluth—especially those who have a trade aside from that of shoveling snow—needs be out of work. Workers in all branches are getting top-notch wages. Skilled mechanics are being offered premiums and efforts are being made by all of the shops requiring them, to bring them in from other cities. Those of them that come are bringing their families and thus adding to the profits of those whose business it is to supply the necessities and some of the luxuries of life. Laborers have all the work they want at good wages. The mills can use more men, and the machinery companies need huskies as well as skilled men.

Every boiler shop in the city is bemoaning, in a loud and insistent voice, the fact that they cannot get nearly enough men to turn out the orders they have on hand. Mr. Dacey of the Gogebic Steam Boiler Works and the Duluth Boiler Works said the other day that they can use a whole lot more men if they can be captured. Without taking another order, he says, the present force will be kept busy for four months, and the force must be increased. Every other shop of the kind in the city is in a similar position.

The Duluth Show Case company, started not so very long ago in small quarters on Lake avenue, then moved to the West end for need of more elbow room, has now outgrown its suit, and is about to have that suit "let out" so that it will not bust out in places. A contract has been let for the erection of an addition to the building at Twenty-eighth avenue west, of 135 by 50 feet for further working room, and a limekiln will be built at the same time. This work will be done this fall, for, owing to the rush of business some addition is necessary and at the same time as much as is really required cannot be done without stopping work and there are too

SURGEONS FIND NINETEEN KNIVES IN MAN'S STOMACH

"Human Tool Chest" Is Relieved From His "Terrible Pains."

Chicago, Sept. 7.—When physicians operated upon John Martiner at the county hospital today to learn what had caused "terrible pains in his stomach," they found nineteen pocket knives, seventeen nails, five knife blades, a dozen screws and a silver dollar.

For eighteen years Martiner, who has been known to Chicagoans as "the human tool chest," has swallowed articles on wagers.

"Eating knives and all that stuff never hurt me," said Martiner before the operation, "but sometimes I'd get terrible pains in my stomach."

Physicians pronounced the operation as successful. Martiner is 36 years old and is employed as a laborer.

The pocket knives, screws, nails and other "junk" removed from Martiner's stomach were mounted on cardboard by Superintendent D. P. Teters of the hospital and placed on exhibition at the institution.

"All of the articles were lodged in a corner of the stomach," said the surgeon who operated on Martiner. "An ulcer had formed and the man would have died within a month if he had not been operated upon."

Ten of the knives taken from Martiner's stomach had been bonehandled, but the bone had been dissolved by gastric juices. The wooden handled knives were intact.

The silver dollar, which Martiner swallowed ten years ago, was as bright as if the coin just had come from the mint. Some of the knifeblades were rusty.

DISEASE KILLING KANSAS CATTLE

Deadly Form of Meningitis Ravaging Horses in Nebraska.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 7.—Cattle are dying in great numbers in several Western Kansas counties from a disease believed to be the same mysterious infection that has killed thousands of horses, according to reports received today by J. H. Mercer, state livestock and sanitary commissioner. Two veterinarians were sent to the infected district today to ascertain whether the disease is the same.

The district in which horses are infected has spread from eight to twenty-six counties. Dr. S. J. Crumbine, secretary of the Kansas board of health, and Dr. A. L. Skoog of Kansas City, a meningitis expert, were expected to arrive in Jetmore to investigate a report that a farmer died with symptoms of meningitis after attending an infected horse.

Nebraska Horses Dying.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 7.—State Veterinarian Boomstrom, just returned from a tour of the state, makes a gloomy report in connection with the ravages of the horse disease which he diagnoses as an unusually deadly form of cerebro-spinal meningitis. It exists in practically all of the southern part of the state and has claimed some of the finest herds. Mules are nearly exempt. No remedy has been discovered.

PASTOR MURMURS PRAYER AS HE DIES IN BURNING CAR

POLICE AID CUPID IN ST. PAUL DEPOT

Lover Has Woman Arrested on Way to Wed Another and Marries Her.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Myrtle Indahl, 624 Central avenue, Minneapolis, is today the bride of Robert St. Fleure, a humane officer of that city, as the result of a ruse in which she supposedly was placed under arrest by St. Fleure in the St. Paul Union depot late yesterday.

In this manner he took her away from S. A. Westaway, also of Minneapolis, who was on his way to Hudson, Wis., with her to make her his bride.

Westaway and St. Fleure both were suitors for her hand, but Westaway was favored by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Reeves, 626 Central avenue. Mrs. Indahl, it is said, favored St. Fleure, and yesterday notified him that she and Westaway would be in St. Paul for several hours in the afternoon on their way to Hudson to wed.

St. Fleure got busy and the fake arrest was enacted with the aid of two St. Paul police officers, it is said.

Westaway, thinking his sweetheart arrested, hastened to Minneapolis central station, to find that she had not been there. He then notified her parents and the police and an all-night search was being instituted when it was interrupted by Mrs. Marion Fleure, mother of the groom. She told the police she had received a wire from her son at Hudson saying that he had just married Mrs. Indahl. The bride and bridegroom are each about 28 years old. Mrs. St. Fleure had been divorced from Indahl.

Iowan Makes No Outcry While Flames Destroy His Life.

Lantern Borne By Rescuer at Auto Wreck Ignites Gasoline.

Paulina, Ia., Sept. 7.—Murmuring a prayer, but uttering no cry of pain, Rev. H. Grefer, pastor of the Lutheran church in Germantown, Ia., was burned to death under the wreck of a motor car, six miles from this place, late last night. News of the tragedy reached here early today.

Together with August Pauling of Germantown, who was driving the car, and the children of both men, the clergyman was on his way to Paulina, when the steering gear of the automobile became disarranged and the car ran off a small bridge over a culvert, landing upside down. Pauling and the children jumped to safety. The minister was pinned beneath the heavy car.

Attracted by the cries of the children for help, several persons living in the vicinity of the accident hurried to the rescue. One of these carried a lantern.

Gasoline from the tank had run over the wrecked car. The man with the lantern accidentally dropped it, and in a moment the automobile was a mass of flames.

The rescuers made frantic efforts to extricate Mr. Grefer, but were driven back by the heat.

Several men were severely burned while endeavoring to raise the overturned car. Meanwhile the clergyman's children stood by, watching their parent being incinerated.

NEILL JUST GUM SHOEING

Candidate for Nomination for Lieutenant Governor Making No Speeches.

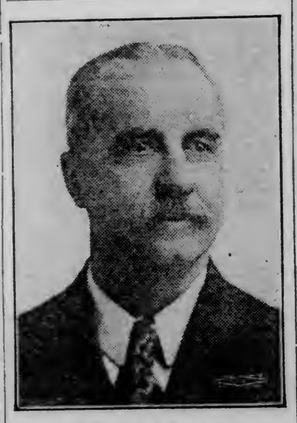

Says Nobody Can Predict the Outcome of the Primaries.

D. M. Neill of Red Wing, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, arrived in Duluth this morning. He will remain over Sunday seeing friends and advancing his candidacy in this district.

Mr. Neill is well known in Duluth through his connection with the Tri-State Telephone company and as president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs. He lived in Duluth four or five months in 1910, conducting the affairs of the Zenith Telephone company while the office of local manager was temporarily vacant.

Mr. Neill is conducting a quiet campaign. He is making no speeches, but is getting around the state meeting the voters wherever possible.

"It is hard to tell anything about the results of the primary election," he said this morning. "There is a certain amount of apathy abroad, and the fact that the new primary law is untried creates a difficulty in making political forecasts. The extent of the vote to be cast is a matter of doubt, and no man can tell what the voters will do.

"A man is never a good judge of his own candidacy, but I am satisfied with the progress I have made. I have received gratifying encouragement wherever I have gone and I confidently expect to be nominated and elected."

Mr. Neill said that he is taking no sides on the governorship. Every man is campaigning for himself and making no alliances, in his opinion, and he says he is following that course.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling, and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves, which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes. It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool, delicate bloom to the complexion. Put up in white and pink and sent anywhere on receipt of 10 cents in stamps or coin. F. T. Hopkins, 37 Great Jones street, New York.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Many of the girls are taking advantage of the opportunity to make use of the exceptional facilities and the practical instruction offered by the course in cooking.

The various classes in this art have already reached their enrollment limit and it is a possibility that some arrangements will be made whereby more of the applicants for admittance to the course may be cared for. Miss Florence Gaumnitz will again have charge of this department.

Edward F. Geiger, head of the manual training department has announced that a special course will be offered in manual training III. The classes will be held daily from 2:30 to 4 o'clock, and are for the accommodation of the upper classmen who wish to gain an extra credit in the course, or to enable them to take some other required or elective study during the regular school sessions.

• • •

Owing to the increased number of students in the physics sections, the board of education has decided to divide the classes in this study into seven forty-minute periods instead of the customary six.

This new departure was found necessary in order to relieve the congestion which has been very evident in former years. The assistant to Prof. T. F. Phillips has not been named as yet, but it is expected that the authorities will make the appointment in a few days.

• • •

The high school faculty has been increased by the addition of eight new members. The faculty is now composed of forty-six members. The new instructors are: Miss Ringsrud, teacher of geometry and algebra; Miss White, Miss Dagny Knutson, and Miss Ina Wisner, first year English; J. Lawson, manual training; Miss Capron, stenography; N. Burke, physiography; and Mr. Olson, English III.

Chapel exercises were held only twice during the week; Tuesday, the first day of school and again Thursday morning.

Principal Leonard Young extended the faculty greetings to the students of the three upper classes, who were assembled in chapel Tuesday morning.

Following Mr. Young's address of welcome, and the singing of an anthem by the high school choir, the few necessary instructions were given and the students repaired to their various classes. During the week the greater part of the attention of the faculty and students was devoted to arranging the schedules to be followed during the term.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL HOLD INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT

The children of the Ely school will hold an industrial fair next Thursday and Friday, showing the products of their industry during the past summer.

Arrangements for the exhibit were made yesterday afternoon by Harold G. House, principal of the school, and the teachers. The exhibits are to be placed in every room in the building which is to be especially decorated for the occasion by the children. The girls of the school will show their cooking and sewing, while the boys will display their manual training work.

Another feature of the fair and probably the most interesting will be the display of garden products, which were raised by the children during this summer. Many of the local residents have taken a great interest in gardening and homecroft work and as a result their children are fast becoming experts in those lines. The produce and fruits will be placed on exhibition in one of the large halls, where judges will award the prizes for the best displays. C. E. Roe, secretary of the Duluth Homecroft society, has agreed to act as judge for the fair and will also deliver an address on agricultural work Friday morning to the children of the school.

The girls of the school will make bread and cakes for the exhibit, while the boys will show their handicraft work. Each pupil will be allowed an allotted space at the exhibit, the best shows receiving ribbon prizes. White ribbons will be given as first prizes, blue for second and red for third prizes. Mrs. T. F. Olsen will act as chairman of a board of judges to decide on the best domestic science exhibits.

The fair will be open to all residents of the city on both days. Refreshments will be served to the women by the girls of the school.

Oneota Club Will Offer Ideal Sites to Manufacturers.

Cheap Land With Railroad Spurs and Sewers Already in.

To encourage manufacturers to locate in Oneota, the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, at its regular monthly meeting, held last evening at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Fifth street, voted to conduct a campaign whereby level sites with sewers and railroad spurs for factories will be sold at a low rate.

John Roswell was appointed chairman of a committee of three to work in conjunction with the land companies holding land in this end of the city. The plan is to prepare the land for building and to have improvements ready for the use of the manufacturer. The committee will also ask the assistance of both the West End and West Duluth Commercial clubs.

The paving of Third street and Grand avenue, so that a perfect highway will be afforded traffic bound for West Duluth from the center of the city, was again taken up and a committee appointed to confer with the paving committees of the other commercial clubs. The plan is to pave Third street from Twenty-first avenue west to Forty-ninth avenue, where a pavement was built last fall extending to Fifty-seventh avenue. In this way traffic will then have a paved road to West Duluth from the center of the city.

O. A. Wicklund, president of the club, is in Minneapolis this week and J. P. Dailly, vice president, presided at the meeting. The other officers of the club are: Louis Klotfel, secretary, and Louis Larson, treasurer.

GIRLS' CLUB RESUMES WORK

Sewing Class Meets for First Time Since Last June.

The Girls' Sewing class of the West Duluth Boys' and Girls' club, 208 Central avenue, met this morning for the first time since last June and officially opened the 1912-1913 season of the institution. All the other clubs and societies will organize for the season at their regular hours next week.

Miss Mae Anders, extension secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who is in charge of the girls' classes at the club, met with the girls this morning and outlined the work for the year. The sewing class will be conducted by the members of the West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U., which is at the head of the club. Different members of the union will meet with the girls every Saturday morning.

A meeting of the executive committee will be held in the club rooms Monday afternoon to form plans for a subscription campaign among the merchants in this end of the city. When the club rooms were opened forty West Duluth business men agreed to give $1 a month for the upkeep of the institution, which now needs considerably more financial assistance during the coming year. Efforts are to be made to secure twenty additional business men to contribute to the fund.

The members of the committee are: Mrs. C. R. Keyes, president; Mrs. H. H. Phelps, vice president; E. G. Kreidler, secretary and Harold G. House, treasurer. Rev. E. B. Collier, who recently left the city, was also a member of the committee and a local business man will be appointed in his place Monday afternoon. Norman D. McLeod, who is in charge of the boys' clubs, and Miss Anders are also members of the committee.

Will Preach at Proctor.

Rev. J. C. Reinertson of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, will preach tomorrow morning at the Proctor church. In the evening Mr. Reinertson will preach at Our Savior's church. The choir will render a special song service during the evening.

Little Girl Dies.

Florence, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Olson, 4609 Magellan street, died this morning after a short illness. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning from the St. James' Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Klinear place. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

Isaac Cote Dies.

Isaac Cote, 50 years old, a resident of West Duluth for the past twenty years, died last evening at the Union house, 5101 Main street, after a month's illness. The body has been taken to the Fillatrault undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made this evening. In all probability the funeral will be held from the under-taking rooms next Monday morning under the auspices of the Longshoremen's union, of which the deceased was a member.

FARMERS' DAY AT WEST DULUTH

The following committee was appointed by the West Duluth Commercial club last evening to prepare the plans for the first annual Farmers' day celebration to be held the latter part of this month: P. H. Martin, W. A. Pond, Charles Kauppi, L. A. Barnes, William Langslow, Emil Zauft and J. J. Frey.

The members of the committee will meet early next week and arrange the features for the day. A formal opening day for the market place will also be arranged by the committee. It is planned to celebrate the opening of the market place with special ceremonies.

W. B. Getchell and P. H. Martin were appointed on the committee of judges to assist C. E. Roe at the industrial fair to be held at the Ely school next Thursday and Friday. The club also voted to boost the fair during the week and to assist the pupils at the school.

Young Woman Arrested.

Maud Flakich, 21 years old, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on the complaint of her brother-in-law, who alleged that she stole $60 in cash from him Thursday, was brought up in police court this morning, where her hearing was set for next Tuesday. The young girl entered a plea of not guilty and she was released on payment of $150 bail.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS RAISING STANDARD OF MORALITY AMONG DULUTH SCHOOL CHILDREN

BANKING DAY AT JACKSON SCHOOL.

With the opening of the schools this week, nearly 5,000 school children are again given the opportunity to make use of the school banking system established last year.

It is estimated that over $8,000 is now on deposit for the school children of Duluth. Very little has been taken out by the children during the summer months and the record made by the pupils of the various schools is considered an exceptional one by the business men and educators of Duluth.

Besides the lesson of thriftiness that is being taught the children of Duluth, the banking system has done one other thing, and that is raise the morals of the younger boys. According to a letter just received by David Williams, vice president of the First National bank, which institution has adopted a special school department with a clerk at the head to receive the deposits of each school every week, Judge J. D. Ensign, who is presiding over the juvenile court, reports that there have been fewer offenders this year than any other year he has been on the bench.

Judge Ensign's Views.

His letter reads:

"I think there have been fewer offenders brought before me during this summer school vacation than during any former vacation in the several years that I have presided over the juvenile court.

"This very marked decrease I attribute to the establishment of supervised playgrounds and to the fact that during the past year a very large number of school children have become interested in their savings accounts in the various banks and in the admirable system of small savings established and encouraged by the teachers of our schools, which has induced the children to busy themselves earning money to add to the same.

"This is an admirable condition of affairs, and while the material benefit of making these savings is not to be belittled, a far greater good is attained in the strengthening and upbuilding of their characters.

"Great credit is due to the teachers of our schools for their labor in promoting such savings by the children under their care, and I hope their exertions in that direction will be continued and intensified.

"J. D. ENSIGN.

"Duluth, Minn., Aug. 31, 1912."

The banking system was established first at the Irving school last year through the efforts of S. A. Foster, principal. Other schools readily followed the plan of the Irving school, and as a result every school in the city now has its depositors. Mrs. Jensen represents the First National bank, making the rounds of the schools every week.

School savings banks were started in 1834, when Dulac first introduced them at a communal school in Le Mans, France. In this country the system was first introduced at Long Island City, N. Y., in 1885. Following is a list of the cities in this country, showing how long the banks have been in successful operation:

Long Island City, N. Y.	1885
Chester, Pa.	1890
Pittsburg, Pa.	1898
Williamsport, Pa.	1900
Kansas City, Mo.	1902
Atlantic City, N. J.	1905
Hartford, Conn.	1906
Augusta, Me.	1907
Oakland, Cal.	1908
Minneapolis, Minn.	1908
San Francisco, Cal.	1909
Spokane, Wash.	1909

One of the leading banks of San Francisco recently sent the following report to the superintendent of schools, showing the latter the tremendous growth of the school banking system in that city:

"The system is in ninety schoolhouses, 1,120 rooms; established Aug. 7, 1911. There are 44,915 scholars on the registers; 4,412 of them deposited $31,146.89; $639.24 of this has been withdrawn, and $30,507.65 remained in the Bank of Italy to the credit of 4,412 scholars Dec. 16."

PLAN MODEL PLAYFROUND

Sketches of a modal playground to be installed on school property just west of the new Washington building were submitted to the board of education last evening.

The space to be utilized is 300 feet long and irregular in width, being about sixty feet wide at each end and a football, tennis and outdoor basketball field in the middle.

The board discussed the plans last evening and decided to call for bids to be opened at the October meeting. It is feared that the original estimate of $1,000 for the work will be greatly exceeded, but if the board can finance the project, the field will be arranged. The board is co-operating with the Duluth Playgrounds association in the plan to make the field a model playground, as part of the system which the Playgrounds association proposes to establish in the city.

The committee on schools reported that arrangements have been made for the opening of night schools on the second Monday of October in the Central high school, the Adams school and the Irving school. A registration fee of 25 cents will be charged.

Dr. T. William Weum has resigned as medical inspector, and Dr. Frank A. Grawn has been engaged. Miss Frances Cameron has been engaged as nurse.

Supt. Denfeld reported that the enrollment Sept. 5 was 11,871, compared with 12,484 on Oct. 1, 1911. The enrollment is growing daily, he said, and the figure at the end of the first month of school last year is expected to be attained this year.

The committee on schools held a meeting after the regular meeting of the board and considered the teaching of the Scandinavian languages in the high school. Rev. J. H. Stenberg appeared on behalf of the Norwegian people. The committee will consider the matter at greater length before reaching a decision.

NEW ROAD TO CARLTON

The movement to turn the right-of-way of the old St. Paul & Duluth railroad from Carlton to Duluth into a state highway will be launched Monday, when a party of Duluth and Carlton people, who are interested, will leave at 9 a. m. and walk over the proposed route.

The right-of-way, it is claimed, will give a direct road from Carlton to Duluth, connecting with the highway to the Twin Cities, and giving an outlet to a very large farming settlement near Carlton. It is a most picturesque route.

The expense of putting the right-of-way in shape would be comparatively small. The grade is established and could be easily improved. There are no rock cuts to make and the only expensive work would be the construction of two or three bridges over ravines along the route.

Those who are expected to make the trip are George W. Cooley, engineer of the state highway commission; J. H. Mullen, assistant engineer; W. P. Cox, state forester; C. I. McNair of Cloquet, member of the state highway commission; Charles Oldenburg of Carlton, member of the state forestry commission; H. V. Eva, W. P. Ryerson, Judge W. A. Cant, J. S. Pardee, C. P. Craig, A. C. Weiss, Mille Bunnell, F. W. Kennedy and E. K. Coe of Duluth, Judge O. H. Watkins of Carlton and J. T. Murphy of Superior.

MICHIGAN LINE TO BE PAID BY GOVERNMENT.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The comptroller of the treasury has decided that the Port Huron & Michigan railway west of Flint, Mich., is not subject to deduction for old land grants in the government's payment to the company for transportation. The comptroller held that the lands between Port Huron and Flint, granted by the United States to the state of Michigan in 1864, for aid in the construction of a railroad, became vested in the Port Huron & Flint company by its construction of the line.

STAMPEDED FOR STRAUS

Bull Moose Convention at Syracuse Nominates Him for Governor.

"Suspender Jack" McGee Starts Fireworks That Dazzle Delegates.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Oscar S. Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor in the cabinet of President Roosevelt, was unanimously acclaimed the nominee for governor of the Progressive party by a stampeded convention yesterday afternoon.

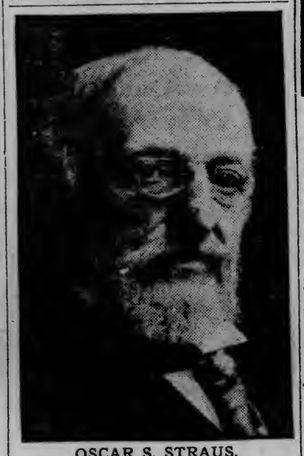

Mr. Straus' nomination came about under circumstances that were not only unexpected, but dramatic. The former cabinet member, acting as the convention's permanent chairman, was about to entertain a motion from Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff to expedite the roll call on the names of State Chairman William H. Hotchkiss and Comptroller William A. Prendergast of New York, when a delegate from New York county leaped to his chair and demanded to be heard.

"It's Suspender Jack McGee," cried a voice from the gallery.

Chairman Straus looked puzzled. McGee, who got his name in the Indian country by riding a broncho into camp with suspenders used as reins, moved resolutely toward the platform.

Demanded to Be Heard.

Chairman Straus looked with surprise on the man who, with a flaming bandana swathed around his neck and his coat blazing with badges, tossed his Rough Rider hat on the floor and demanded the right to make a nomination.

OSCAR S. STRAUS.

Delegates and spectators booed and jeered as he began to speak. There was a general laugh when he cried:

"I'll nominate a man the mention of whose name will bring tears of sympathy to the eyes of almost every man and woman in the civilized land."

But "Suspender Jack" only waved his arm in defiance of the jeers. He paused a moment and then cried:

"I nominate the illustrious and honorable Oscar S. Straus."

The delegates seemed stunned; then a few of them cheered. Mr. Straus gave an amused laugh at "Suspender Jack," bowing before him. McGee kept on with his speech, and the first few faint cheers from the half dozen or more delegates gradually grew into a pandemonium that swept the convention hall from end to end. Standards were wrenched from their supports, and delegates, yelling and cheering for Chairman Straus, paraded the aisles, turning the convention into a bedlam.

Declined at First.

Chairman Straus at first shook his head deprecatingly at the growing ovation. He turned to friends and remarked: "This must not be, I cannot accept."

Chairman Hotchkiss left his seat among the delegates and rushed to the platform. Placing his hands on Mr. Straus' shoulders he said, "You must accept, you must accept; all the delegates are for you."

Scores of delegates pressed toward the platform to urge Mr. Straus to make the decision. Then Mr. Hotchkiss burst from the group that surrounded Mr. Straus, and held up before the crush of excited delegates a sheet of yellow paper on which was written.

"He accepts."

Quickly the word was passed back through the hall, and another demonstration followed.

Chairman Hotchkiss was allowed to act as chairman in place of Mr. Straus. The nomination of Mr. Hotchkiss for governor was withdrawn by John A. Kingsbury, and Timothy L. Woodruff withdrew the name of Mr. Prendergast. Then came a flood of speeches, seconding the nomination of the former minister to Turkey.

Praise for McGee.

"Suspender Jack" McGee was not lost sight of. Delegates pressed about him and proclaimed him "the man of the hour." Late the convention passed a vote of thanks to Delegate McGee of the Fifteenth assembly district for nominating Mr. Straus. Later McGee was hurried to the platform, where the first one to greet him was Mrs. Straus.

When the convention had recovered and Mr. Straus had been chosen unanimously, he was called upon for a speech and tendered an ovation as he formally accepted the nomination.

STAGE BEAUTY'S CAREER TRAGIC

Wasted Body of Aged Woman Identified as That of Carrie Meyers.

Chicago, Sept. 7. — The body of an aged woman, wasted by want and dissipation, has been identified in the county morgue as that of Currie Meyers, twenty years ago a stage beauty.

She died in the Bridewell where she was taken Aug. 22 because she was unable to pay a $10 fine. Her death is said to have been hastened because she was denied a drug to the use of which she had been addicted for many years. She was born in Cincinnati and was left an orphan at 7 years of age. At 15 she ran away from the orphange where she was living and joined a theatrical company. She was one of the original cast of the "Black Crook."

CHILDREN STUDY WHILE PARENTS READ FICTION

According to the regular monthly report just issued by Miss Ruth Borland, who is in charge of the West end library branch, adults read mostly fiction, while children are divided on the two classes of books.

From the figures on the report, 539 adults borrowed fiction books during the past month, while only fifteen grown-ups cared to read non-fiction books. During the month 622 children borrowed fiction books and 522 non-fiction books. That children should spend so much time on non-fiction books is a faborable sign, say the tecahers in this end of the city. Interest in non-fiction books, said one of the school teachers yesterday afternoon, means that the children are studying, instead of enjoying themselves alone.

In comparison with the circulation and attendance of the old library branch at 2432 West Superior street, the new rooms over the J. J. Moe & Son's department store, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, have proven most popular during the past four months. The attendance and circulation have practically doubled since the new rooms were opened in the heart of the West end.

During the past month the total circulation was 1,738, of which 1,184 was juvenile. Over fifty cards were issued during the past thirty days and the attendance at the library was over 2,000. The reading rooms are most popular during the school terms and every afternoon finds a large number of school children reading the various magazines and periodicals devoted to the young. All the popular weekly and monthly magazines and newspapers are received at the branch.

NEW SECRETARY OF WEST END CLUB

Prizes for Gardens Will Be Awarded Next Week.

George M. Jensen was last evening elected secretary of the West End Commercial club, following the resignation of William L. Anderson, who has held the office since the organization of the club last spring.

The garden committee, through its chairman, Dr. O. A. Oredson, announced at the meeting of the club last evening that the inspection of the gardens would be made next week. A new list of names of the children, who entered the contest, has been secured by William Anderson and turned over to the members of the committee. The prizes will be awarded at the meeting of the club next Friday evening.

The publicity committee reported that it has secured a large number of West end pictures, which are now being arranged for lantern slides. An exhibition will be held the latter part of this month under the auspices of the club, when all these pictures will be shown to West end residents free of charge.

CONTRACT FINISHED ONE WEEK AHEAD OF TIME.

James Preston, who has been in charge of the paving on Twenty-first avenue west, reported yesterday that the street will be opened for traffic next Monday morning, one week ahead of the contract time.

The street has been paved with sandstone blocks from Railroad street to Third street at a cost of about $28,000. A large crew of men has been at work on the pavement for the past six weeks and the opening of the thoroughfare for traffic a week ahead of contract time is pleasing to the property owners on the avenue. The contract calls for the opening of the street by Sept. 15.

CHURCH REPAIRS NOT YET COMPLETED.

While the church building is undergoing repairs, the congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold services at the Bricklayers' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street.

The first service will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. Prof. E. Hove, president of the Luther seminary at St. Paul, will give a sermon-lecture on "Daniel." The address is to be given especially for the young people and will be in the English language. The choir will render several numbers during the evening.

St. Paul's church has been closed for the past month on account of the repairs, which were expected to have been finished by this week. Owing to the heavy rains for the past two weeks the workmen were unable to hurry the repairs and as a result the structure will not be ready for use for two more weeks.

Over $3,000 is being spent on the repairs to the structure, which is being remodeled and repainted. A new basement has been built and the church moved several feet nearer Twentieth avenue. Several rooms have been arranged in the basement for the use of the societies of the church. The exterior of the church is also being improved. This will be painted as soon as the repairs are finished. A new sidewalk will be built and a larger entrance made on Third street. The approach to the church will be of concrete and will set a few feet above the sidewalk.

Rev. Mr. Wulfsburg is chairman of the building committee of the church, which is in charge of the work. The committee was appointed last spring, when the congregation voted to repair the building at a cost of $3,000.

Plan Sunday School Work.

The primary workers of the Sunday school of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, met last evening at the parsonage, 2109 West Second street. Plans were made for the winter and the regular program decided on by those at the head of the work. Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the church, and the superintendent of the school were in charge of the meeting.

Church Festival.

The annual festival of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, was held in the church parlors last evening. A program of musical numbers and recitations was featured during the evening, after which refreshments were served by the women of the church. Those on the program were: Rev. and Mrs. C. O. Swan, Miss Hilda Strandmark, N. Sundberg and Miss Ella Johnson.

Leaves for New Charge.

Rev. B. B. Hanscome, who has been in charge of the Clements Mission M. E. church, 830 Garfield avenue, for the past three months, left yesterday for Buhl, Minn., where he has accepted a call from the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Mr. Hanscome took charge of the Garfield church following the death, last June, of its pastor, the late Rev. J. A. Roberts.

Delegates to Conference.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church; Miss Carrie Erickson, Theodore Gustafson and Mrs. A. Holm will leave Monday evening for Chicago, where they will attend the annual conference of the Swedish Baptist church all of next week. LAST DAY OF MAINE FIGHT

Campaign Is Most Bitterly Contested in Many Years.

Portland, Me., Sept. 7.—This was the last working day of one of the most bitterly contested state campaigns waged in Maine for a generation. The two candidates for governor, Frederick W. Plaisted, Democrat, who seeks a second term, and William T. Haines, his Republican opponent, arranged to continue speaking almost up to the last minute.

Although the Republicans and the Progressives have state organizations, the leaders of these two parties are united in support of the Republican state ticket nominated at the primaries last June.

The issue between the Republicans and the Democrats has been clearly defined and there have been no outward indications of any discord among the Republicans. Since the Progressives have not an independent ticket in the field, it is felt in Maine that the result of Monday's election will not be awaited with such interest as was the outcome of last Tuesday's balloting in Vermont.

In Maine the campaign speakers on both sides have discussed the tariff as the national issue of greatest importance.

TAFT TALKS OF AMBITION

Says It Should Not Lead Men to Climb Over Their Fellows.

Talks of Benedict Arnold and the Panama Canal.

New London, Conn., Sept. 7. — From within the grass-grown ramparts of old Fort Griswold, on Croton Heights, President Taft told the delegates to the Atlantic Deeper Waterway convention that no individual should allow his own selfish interests or his personal ambition to lead him to climb into power over some one else.

"We should not forget our true relation to our fellow men," he said, "nor the obligations we owe to those who, as individuals, make up the body politic."

The president had been telling the story of the defense of Fort Griswold, 131 years ago, and of the courage of those farmers who had defended the walls against the British under Benedict Arnold. He had spoken of Arnold, saying that no one who had studied the brilliant parts of the man and of his ambitions, could help feeling regretful that love of self, self-absorption and ambition for power had led him into that path which made him the "greatest traitor of all times."

Open Canal Next Year.

Turning from the lessons of history, the president took up the matter of deeper waterways, a movement which he favored, especially the proposed system of inner canals along the seaboard. He said that the Ohio river project would be worth all the money it costs, of the Panama canal, he said he saw nothing which suggests delay in sending our battleships through it a year hence. The president said:

"I signed the Panama bill, as you know. If you were to read some of the strictures on that act of mine, you would think that the executive and congress went around looking for a chance to violate a treaty, and then violated a treaty just for the fun of it. In the matter whether there has been any violation of treaty rights, I think it fair to examine the question up one side and down the other and hear arguments on each side before calling names, even before siding against one's own country."

The president arrived here at noon. He came ashore with Mrs. Taft and several members of his party, who had come over from New York on the Mayflower. Mr. Hilles, Mr. Sheldon, treasurer of the National Republican committee, and Charles P. Taft, brother of the president, did not come ashore. In answer to a question as to whether there had been a political conference on board, President Taft said that he had no statement to make.

Walked With Cane.

The president, with his ankle bound up, used a cane in walking from the boat landing to the automobile. A little later, at a reception in the hotel at which nearly 1,000 persons shook his hand, the president was seated in order to favor his ankle. While he spoke at Fort Griswold he supported himself with his cane.

From the fort the presidential party was driven to the Griswold dock and then boarded the Mayflower, which weighed anchor shortly before 6 o'clock and sailed for Beverly.

The convention was practically brought to a close with the address of President Taft. A short evening session was held to wind up matters which were not disposed of.

TAFT MEN LOSE KANSAS FIGHT

Judge Sanborn Refuses to Enjoin Roosevelt Electors From Ballots.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 7.—The Roosevelt presidential electors won another round in the legal battle to get them off the Republican ticket in Kansas when Judge W. S. Sanborn of the United States circuit court of appeals denied the injunction asked by the supporters of President Taft's candidacy to prohibit the names of the eight Roosevelt electors being placed on Republican ballots in the general election in November. The case was argued in Denver, and the written decision of Judge Sanborn has been received by Morton Albaugh, clerk of the United States circuit court here.

BRYCE AND FISHER BOTH ARE IN HONOLULU.

Honolulu, Sept. 7.—James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, has arrived here on his way back to Washington from Australia, where he spent the summer. He was officially welcomed to the islands outside the harbor by a launch loaded with dignitaries.

Secretary Walter Fisher of the department of the interior, also arrived on the Chiyo Maru and was met by Governor Frear, charges against whom the secretary will investigate. Secretary Fisher said he would proceed in a business-like way with his hearing of the complaints made against Governor Frear's administration of the homestead laws. It is understood secret service agents have been at work here for several months.

Harvest Hands Drown.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—Arthur Hardin, a harvest hand, drowned Thursday in the Red river near Grandin, N. D. He had gone in bathing to escape the excessive heat and got beyond his depth.

WILL OPPOSE SMITH AGAIN

Governor Wilson to Enter Senatorial Fight in New Jersey.

Will Make But One Visit to Minnesota, Unless Plans Change.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 7.—Governor Woodrow Wilson intimates that he probably will take up the senatorial fight in New Jersey in which Former United States Senator James, Jr., is again a candidate. Two years ago he spoke throughout the state in opposition to Mr. Smith.

In announcing a list of Western speaking engagements the governor left but three open dates between now and the New Jersey primaries, Sept. 24.

His attention was called to the fact that if he intended to participate in the senatorial fight, he would have but three days.

"That's enough," he said.

Judge John E. Westcott who nominated Mr. Wilson at the Baltimore convention and is now a candidate for United States senator, called at the summer capital. He told the candidate about the situation in Maine, where he had been stumping. Governor Wilson declared that he understood Judge Westcott would remain in the senatorial fight. Similar word comes from Representative William Hughes and State Senator Gebhardt, also candidates for the United States senate.

Will Meet McCombs.

The presidential nominee will meet National Chairman William F. McCombs in New York city Monday for the first time since the latter went to the Adirondacks to recuperate from his illness. In the evening he will speak before the New York Press club.

On Tuesday, Sept. 10 he will review a parade and speak at the encampment of the United States Spanish war veterans at Atlantic City. On Wednesday he will address the Hudson county Democrats at Jersey City, and on Thursday, Sept. 12, will speak at the New York state fair at Syracuse.

He plans to return to Sea Girt on Friday, Sept. 13, and rest until Sunday, when he will begin his trip to Sioux City, Iowa, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Milwaukee, Columbus and Pittsburg. He said his present expectation was that after this trip he would not visit Iowa and Minnesota or Wisconsin again during the campaign. He said, however, he would speak at Cleveland, Ohio, in October.

See Wilson's Hair Cut.

With the coming of colder weather, fewer seashore folk have been coming to the summer capital, and as a consequence he thought that the back porch would not be a conspicuous spot for him to have his hair cut. While Sam Gordon, his negro attendant, was clipping away, however, a crowd began to gather. They sat on the rail fence until the governor's secretary came to the rescue and dispersed the curious.

WAS WET IN EUROPE, TOO

America has not been the only sufferer from a cold, wet summer, according to Rev. John Walker Powell, D. D., who has returned from a three months' tour of Europe.

Europe has suffered from similar conditions, and so pronounced have they been that the crops have suffered materially.

"I have had a very enjoyable trip," said Dr. Powell yesterday.

"I have, of course, seen the things that tourists usually see in Rome and Florence, in Venice and Paris. I spent a very enjoyable week in London, and also visited Stratford and Warwick, Oxford, Cambridge and the principal cathedral towns of England, besides a day in Walter Scott's country and another in that of Burns.

"The weather has been very cold and wet all over Europe. Italy, of course, was warm, but France, Germany and the British Isles have suffered a very disagreeable summer. In many places the crops could not be harvested on account of the wet, and I heard grave apprehension expressed as to resulting distress next winter.

"In Italy, of course, every one was talking of the war. The Italians were very jubilant over the successful sortie of their torpedo fleet into the Dardanelles, though a stranger could not see that much had been gained by it.

"England is very much stirred up over the two great political issues, viz: Home rule for Ireland and the workmen's insurance act. The by-elections in Manchester and Middlothian were unfavorable to the Liberal party which has fathered these two measures, but were variously interpreted by the British papers in accordance with their political prejudices. The whole country is in a state of great unrest, and it is impossible to predict what political and social movements may result.

"The death of Gen. Booth aroused vast interest all over Great Britain. Newspapers and public men of every shade of religious belief united in paying tribute to his splendid genius and his lofty spiritual aims. His funeral in London was probably the greatest event of the kind since that of Lord Shaftesbury.

"It is good to get home. America can doubtless learn many things from the Old World, but this is our own land, it's people are one's own people and its ways our ways. I shall be glad to get into the harness again after a most profitable and enjoyable vacation."

Marvelous Medicinal Discovery, Which Is Exciting All the Pacific Coast, Introduced Into the Middle West.

More Than 4000 Cures Reported in Pacific Northwest Before Sulphurro Was Placed on the Market, and Good Work Multiplies.

New Medicine a Marvel in Cities All Along Coast

Sulphurro Proves Boon to Multitudes of Sufferers from Many Ills.

SOUGHT BY THE AILING.

How Thousands Appealed to Mr. C.M.C. Stewart for Health-Giving Preparation Until He Was Forced to Place It on Market.

By F. W. Strang.

Sulphurro's fame has already reached this city from the Pacific Coast but this newspaper desires to present in brief outline the facts regarding the remarkable introduction and reception given this new Liquid Compound of Sulphur, and to inform its readers correctly as to Sulphurro's accomplishments. The truth is that literally thousands of persons in the Pacific Coast states and throughout the country have been brought back to health and strength through the power of this remedy.

Ordinarily the introduction of a medicine is most prosaic, but Sulphurro's story is different. Unusual interest attaches to it because the home of the originator, Mr. C. M. C. Stewart, was a mecca for many thousand persons before Sulphurro was placed upon the market. By word of mouth people heard of the new Sulphur preparation, and fairly besieged the Stewart home. Mr. Stewart gave away approximately $10,000 worth through the first eleven months of last year.

He found his greatest satisfaction in learning that Sulphurro was first benefiting and then curing in virtually every case of Rheumatism, and blood, skin and stomach disorder that came to his knowledge. Accordingly his simple directions for its use were followed. With the beginning of this year Mr. Stewart placed Sulphurro before the public formally. Its reception was hearty and enthusiastic from the first. Its friends are now numbered in hosts, for it has justified in every respect and promises which it gave in the beginning.

Druggist and Pharmaceutical Chemist.

Mr. Stewart is almost a life-long pharmaceutical chemist and druggist, having been engaged in business more than twenty years in the Middle states prior to taking up his residence in Seattle. Many years ago he became possessed of the idea that Sulphur, rendered into liquid form, would prove most beneficial as a system-purifier and cleanser of the blood. Marveling at Sulphur's antiseptic and germicidal powers, he pondered over the problem and carried on many experiments, in the face of the well-known fact that Sulphur, under ordinary conditions, is insoluble.

At last Mr. Stewart perfected Sulphurro, with the addition of other ingredients which are fully as beneficial to the human system as Sulphur. Sulphurro is a beautifully clear, cherry-red liquid that is the symbol of purity. There is no deleterious or injurious element used in any process of its preparation. Mr. Stewart is the sole possessor of the formula, and today he goes into his laboratory and compounds Sulphurro with the same personal care and attention that he used when working into the morning hours preparing Sulphurro to give to the callers at his home the next day.

Sulphurro Nature's Own Remedy.

Thus, Sulphurro may be considered Nature's own antiseptic and germicide. It prepares the system for Nature's healing and restoring processes, by eliminating the poisons and germs that produce disease. Such a large proportion of human ills have their root in impure blood that Sulphurro's beneficial effect is far-reaching and often proves a surprise to the patient. A most interesting case of this kind is described on this page—that of Mrs. F. J. Mueller, whose sight was unexpectedly restored through use of Sulphurro.

The extent of Sulphurro's popularity on the Pacific Coast is almost unbelievable. Everyone you meet has personal knowledge of the good work the medicine is doing or has friends who extoll its virtues. Sulphurro takers are not necessarily those with afflictions or disease. Sulphurro is a tonic that makes every one feel better, stronger; it is something your system needs and craves.

Not only in the far western states has Sulphurro such hosts of friends; it is in use in every state in the Union, through the agency of its beneficiaries. Those whom Sulphurro has cured have sent it broadcast to suffering friends. In addition it has been sent abroad to almost every civilized country—England, France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Italy, Spain, Japan, China, the Philippines, and the Argentine Republic.

Hundreds of Letters Praise Sulphurro.

Already letters of appreciation for Sulphurro's curative powers have been received from England and France where it is doing great good. Though Sulphurro has been before the public only a few months, hundreds and hundreds of letters are on file in the offices of the C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Company, 71 Columbia St., Seattle, telling of cures and great benefits Sulphurro has accomplished. A few of these letters are reproduced on this page, but the great majority of them have never been used by the newspapers, being kept to show callers what Sulphurro is doing in similar cases.

Some of these letters are from men and women prominent throughout the United States—business and professional leaders.

This much is certain: Sulphurro is coming to be recognized as the great medicine of the time. From now on you will hear more and more about it and its work from your friends and acquaintances in this city and vicinity.

The "how" and "why" of Sulphurro is interstingly told in the Sulphurro booklet, which accompanies each bottle of the medicine as you buy it at your druggist, or the booklet will be sent free upon request to the Sulphurro offices. When you are writing give names and addresses of such of your friends as you believe would be benefited by Sulphurro.

Woman Blind Most of Life Tells Story of Wonderful Recovery

Sulphurro Brings Back Sight After 37-Year Darkness

Liquid Sulphur Compound Performs Remarkable Cure for Washington Minister's Wife.

BLIND AT EIGHT YEARS.

Happy Woman in Interview for This Newspaper Tells How Sulphurro Brought Back Faculty After Years of Suffering.

By F. W. Strang.

Seattle, Sept. 7.—Among the most remarkable of Sulphurro cures was its restoration of sight for Mrs. F. J. Mueller, wife of a venerable Lutheran minister of Bothell, near Seattle.

To hear Mrs. Mueller's story from her own lips makes the tears well up in one's eyes, so pitiful was her blindness and so joyous is she in the recovery of her sight. Ever since she was 8 years old had her sight been affected, and now she is 54. During the intervening years she had not more than brief intervals when she could see.

Once, after an operation on her eyes, performed by one of the best known American specialists, her vision was cleared and she was able to walk out in the garden and admire the flowers and the sunshine. But when the sun went down Mrs. Mueller's sight went with it, and years of darkness and suffering followed.

Mrs. Mueller had no thought that she would ever be able to see again when she visited Mr. Stewart's home on the arm of her ever-attendant husband. She had become of late years a sufferer from rheumatism. She heard that Mr. Stewart had made a medical discovery by liquifying sulphur in an original compound, and she sought the remedy as relief from her rheumatism.

Her feet were so swollen from rheumatism that she was compelled to wear No. 10 men's shoes.

Mr. Stewart did not even "promise that relief. He gave her a bottle of the preparation, hoping it would lessen her suffering, and he asked that she let him know what progress she made. He sympathized deeply with her in the affliction of her blindness and secretly wished that it might be in his power to restore her sight.

When Mrs. Mueller again visited the Stewart home, not long after, her rheumatism was gone and she needed no guide for her footsteps; her lost sight had returned.

Let Mrs. Mueller tell the story. As joyful as a girl of 16, she fairly bubbles over with exultation as she recites her experiences:

"For more than 37 years I was blind in one eye and 16 years in the other. Sometimes only could I tell the difference between daylight and darkness, and much of the time I had to spend in a darkened room. I thought we had tried every possible cure, and I had settled down to the not pleasant thought that I never could see again. That thought now makes me shudder.

"When I was only 8 years old I suffered from fever. That was where I was born, on the island of Langness, off Schleswig-Holstein; in the North sea. The fever settled in my eyes and I was kept for months in a darkened room. The doctors hardly knew what to say about the case. One of the specialists that examined me wanted to take out one of my eyes; by my father would not let him.

Blind Fingers Learn to Sew.

"Sometimes I could see a little in the years that followed. Then, 23 years ago I came to America—to marry Mr. Mueller, who had come to America before me. In Napoleon, Ind., he had a small church. A year after, in 1890, we moved to Lanesville, Ind., and there I was totally blind, though I learned to be so proficient with my fingers that I could make dresses for my baby without the sense of sight.

"We had not much money. My husband saw some doctors, but they said they could do nothing for me. Rheumatism of the eyes, they said it was. My brother went to Louisville to see a doctor there and when this man said he could help me my brother said he would pay the expenses of my trip.

"When the doctor examined my eyes he told me yes, he could cure me. But to Mr. Mueller he said, whispering, that there was no hope.

"The next morning he performed the operation. When it was over I could see as I had not been able to see before since I was a child. It was beautiful, and I was so happy."

Mrs. Mueller trembled as she told of that operation and smiled with happy recollection of the thought of walking about in the doctor's flower garden when it was over. But her face darkened again.

"In the afternoon a strange feeling came over my eyes and by the time the sun went down I was blind as I had been the day before."

In 1907, at Omaha, Mrs. Mueller was taken to a specialist of note and for a time had partial return of vision. Coming to Seattle two years later the affliction grew worse. Specialists here diagnosed the case as of cataractal formation.

Friends Tell Her of Sulphurro.

"I heard through a friend of Mr. Stewart how Sulphurro was curing rheumatism, so Mr. Mueller and I went to his home to get some of the medicine," she continued. "I followed the directions implicitly, taking the preparation internally and bathing in it with great regularity. The hot bathing water I poured into my eyes, for this seemed to relieve the pain.

"About seven weeks after I began taking Sulphurro I had a strange experience. At midnight I had the sensation of being able to see into the adjoining room. I scarcely knew whether it was real or not.

"I went to sleep and the next morning got up as usual and went out for breakfast. Still I seemed to be able to distinguish some objects around me. My daughter says she saw a film roll back from my eyes.

"When a neighbor woman passed the house and called to me I surprised her by telling her the color of her dress and the number of the buttons on her waist. Then I realized that my sight had returned and I was like a girl again in my joy.

"The first thing I thought of was to let Mr. Stewart know of my good fortune and when I saw him he was as pleased as I.

"Sulphurro is the greatest medicine that was ever discovered," declared Mrs. Mueller, "and to my dying day I shall be thankful to it and to Mr. Stewart."

MRS. F. J. MUELLER, WIFE OF A VENERABLE LUTHERAN MINISTER AT BOTHELL, NEAR SEATTLE, WHOSE BLINDNESS, CAUSED FROM RHEUMATISM, WAS CURED BY SULPHURRO, STEWART'S LIQUID COMPOUND OF SULPHUR. SHE WAS STRICKEN FIRST WHEN 8 YEARS OLD AND NOW IS 55.

Seeing has given Mrs. Mueller a new pleasure in living. It has made her so happy she can hardly control her joy. Her case had attracted wide attention and all Bothall is rejoicing with her at her recovery. Her clear, blue eyes look so strong and well now and she gazes at one with such directness that it is hard to believe those same eyes have been sightless for the greater part of her lifetime.

Hundreds and hundreds of people have come from far and near to talk with Mrs. Mueller and she has been fairly deluged with letters of congratulation and inquiry. Two persons traveled 2,000 miles recently to hear the story from her own lips.

NOTE: No claim is made by the makers of Sulphurro that it is a cure for all blindness, but Mrs. Mueller's story illustrates the power of the new medicine in overcoming rheumatism.

What Is Sulphurro? How Do You Get It?

Sulphurro is the new Liquid Compound of Sulphur whose cures in cases of rheumatism and blood, skin and stomach disorders have made it known to almost every man, woman and child on the Pacific Coast, from Alaska's northern reaches to the border of Mexico, and to many people throughout the United States.

The human system needs the purifying, germicidal influence of sulphur, which the new preparation affords. The grown up generation remembers how sulphur once was the great household remedy, especially for cleansing and purifying the blood. But in its powder form sulphur coats the walls of the stomach and intestines, and retards, in many cases, rather than promotes circulation.

Sulphurro provides sulphur in a form that the system can assimilate. Taken internally it introduces sulphur into the blood, and there the sulphur and other healthful elements composing Sulphurro kill the germs of disease and enable Nature to do her healing work.

The Sulphurro baths are delightful and invigorating, bringing to your home the curative properties of renowned sulphur springs.

A 32-page booklet telling all about the Sulphurro treatment as a common sense health-restorer, and giving much valuable health information can be had free at all drug stores in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior and one accompanies each bottle of Sulphurro as you buy it at your druggist's (50-cent and $1.00 bottles), or a copy will be sent free upon request to the C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co., 71 Columbia St., Seattle, Washington.

RHEUMATISM'S TORTURES RELIEVED

In Sulphurro Humanity Has a Treasure of Priceless Worth.

Seattle, Wash.

Dear Mr. Stewart: I feel it is my duty to tell you that another success won by Sulphurro has been added to the already long list of victories.

During the winter of 1908 I had my first attack of rheumatism. It settled in my hips and legs and it was not until then that I learned what the real tortures of rheumatism were. Night after night I lay crying at the top of my voice, praying for daylight in one breath and death in the next.

Every winter since then I have been having the same experience and with a dread saw each summer pass away. Imagine my surprise, however, when in the month of July, 1911, I was suddenly attacked again. I had to quit work for four weeks when I became some better. On returning to my position, which my employer had been very kind to keep vacant for me, I was not even able to work that week out. Temporary remedies were found in abundance, but a permanent one did not seem to be even in existence.

It was then that my father remembered your already famous Sulphurro. As a last resort before sending me to another climate, he procured a bottle of your wonderful medicine. I had now been laid up about three months and was very skeptical of new medicines. My father made me promise to give the Sulphur a good, fair trial, which I did. In one week I was out of bed and walking around the yard with a cane. At the end of the second week I returned to work and have not lost a day since.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I cannot speak too highly of Mr. Stewart. There is nothing anyone could give that would pay even one small part of the debt I and many others owe him. He has not given any public libraries to us, nor as far as I know has he donated a fortune to the improvement of automobile highways. But he is now, today, giving to all humanity in the form of Sulphurro a treasure of inestimable value.

Yours truly,

MANY BENEFITED IN INLAND EMPIRE.

Letter From Spokane Man Shows Quick Effect Upon Rheumatism.

While Sulphurro originated in Seattle and became known in the Coast cities first, it soon developed a host of friends in Spokane and the other cities of the Inland Empire. B. M. Francis, 801-2 Paulsen Building, Spokane, writes to the C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co.:

"I cannot say too much in favor of your wonderful remedy. For years I had rheumatism in the back, shoulders and arms, and it was while I was practically laid up in Seattle that I heard of your remedy. I have taken Sulphurro and am entirely cured. I have not had an ache nor pain since."

SULPHURRO ENDS STOMACH TROUBLE.

Writer Tells of Suffering, Quickly Cured By New Medicine.

The beneficial effect of Sulphurro in cases of stomach disorders is testified to by Mrs. Jennie Thebo, at Mt. Vernon, Wash., who writes:

"I have used Sulphurro for acute stomach trouble with the greatest benefit. I can now eat a good meal and enjoy it thoroughly. Before I learned of Sulphurro I suffered greatly from this stomach disorder, and would have to confine myself to beef tea for days at a time."

Sulphurro Cures Are a Record of Modern Marvels

Wonderful Letters of Appreciation from Men and Women Who Are Made Well.

DELIGHTED TO TELL OTHERS.

The Communication to C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co. Convincing that Sulphurro Is Great Medicine of the Time.

Seattle, Wash.
The C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co.,
71 Columbia St., Seattle.

Gentlemen—It gives me the greatest pleasure to tell my story of Sulphurro. Although I am under 35 years of age and had always considered myself more than ordinarily strong and healthy, I have every reason to believe that Sulphurro kept me from being a cripple for life.

For six years I had articular rheumatism, beginning in the acute form, with the attacks coming about a year apart; but for the last three years the trouble stayed with me all the time. At first only my feet were afflicted, but after a time it spread all over me until I think every joint in my body was suffering all the pain it is possible for a miserable joint to suffer.

I should hate to have to tell how much ability to cry I developed when the pain got to going. Until lately my feet were so swollen that for three years I have not been able to wear a respectable shoe at any time, nor one anywhere near the normal size. And frequently I could not get my shoes on at all for as much as three months at a time. I was not able to walk more than two or three blocks when I was compelled to stop and rest my feet.

My condition was getting serious and alarming to me. Between January, a year ago, and last July, I had four separate attacks, each worse than the one before, until it got me in a helpless condition, where for days, I was flat on my back, unable to move or turn without some one helping me.

I started on your Liquid Compound of Sulphur, or Sulphurro, about July 10, 1911, following instructions to the letter. Six weeks after commencing the Sulphur treatment I went to the Olympic mountains on a hunting and fishing trip and I was running everywhere over the mountains without any pain or inconvenience at all, and I have had no rheumatism since.

It has been seven months since I commenced taking the Liquid Sulphur and, as during the six months prior to that time I was confined to my bed at least half the time suffering as, I thought, no human being could suffer and live, and as now for seven months I have had no trace of the old trouble, I believe one can safely say I am permanently cured. As I took no medicine but Sulphurro, I am bound to believe Sulphurro cured me, and I am ready and happy to recommend it to any sufferer from the rheumatic disease.

I want to add the warning you gave me. A few days after beginning the remedy my condition was worse and kept getting worse, just as you told me it would. I felt most strongly the natural inclination to stop taking the medicine, and confess that at times I felt as if I had to do so. But, happily for me, I stuck to it until past this aggravating stage, when, to my delight, I could notice an improvement in my condition, which was continuous and quite rapid. I felt and feel that a modern miracle had been performed, for, as I have always said, my rheumatism left me—and left me for good, as I verily believe.

It is, I trust, needless for me to say I am under an obligation to you which I cannot soon forget, and I wish for you and your remedy the success it so richly deserves. Yours truly,

UNFORESEEN BENEFIT OFTEN THE RESULT

Nevada Man Warmly Appreciative of Surprise Which Sulphurro Brought.

Such letters as the following are numerous in the Sulphurro offices, and show that Sulphurro often brings unforeseen benefits to its users. This letter is from N. P. R. Hatch, proprietor of the National Hotel, at National, Nev. He says:

"I have threatened to send you a testimonial for some time past, but it hardly seemed necessary, as everyone who has used Sulphurro appears to be of the same opinion regarding its merits.

"I had rheumatism in every joint in my body—tried all remedies recommended—went to several hot springs, but received only partial relief.

"A friend from Seattle mentioned Sulphurro. I tried it, and haven't had an ache or pain for two months.

"Your booklet says it often cures other ails than the one you take it for. In three days a catarrhal affection of the throat of years' standing was relieved and now is almost cured.

"I cheerfully recommend Sulphurro. You can use any part of this letter you see fit. I bought the first two bottles of Sulphurro in National, and couldn't help but—'boost.'"

MINISTER DECLARES SULPHURRO GODSEND

Rev. J. C. Scott, of Seattle, is one of Sulphurro's most enthusiastic friends. In a letter to Mr. Stewart he writes:

"I have used a 10-ounce bottle of Sulphurro; it is a sure cure for Catarrh, if properly taken. I consider Sulphurro a Godsend to the people."

SKILLFUL TREATMENT OF MEN'S DISEASES

The Northwest's Most Reliable SPECIALIST IN MEN'S DISEASES.

THERE is nothing that speaks for more than actual facts which are everyday occurrences, and when we propose to demonstrate to any man afflicted with any of the diseases that come under our specialty, that we are constantly dismissing cured cases that have been existing in chronic and malignant form for months, it should be certain enough that we do all we claim—cure diseases of the Pelvic System if they are in reach of medical science. Our ability is proven by the professional services we render, and, though we seldom fail to effect a cure under such circumstances, we receive thanks for our best and conscientious services.

Numerous Pelvic Diseases and Their Dangerous Development.

It is not generally known that such a large number of men are afflicted with some Pelvic disease and chronic complications arising therefrom. The most prolific source of chronic troubles in the Pelvic System is from what is considered the simplest contagious disease, and from neglect and improper medical attention it develops into Prostatis and finally Kidney and Bladder affections that become so serious as to be incurable. So many men of all ages begin with a little inflammation which should be cured in a few days. This condition, through improper attention or neglect of treatment allows the disease to incapacitate them for the physical and mental duties of man. Impure blood is a disease that in the primary stage, by our system of treatment is checked in its ravaging course and never amounts to more than a trifling blood disorder, though there are many who are gradually decaying and their misery doubled by the use of injurious treatments. Skin diseases, Nervous Decline, Weakness and associated diseases are equally of a detrimental course if they are not treated promptly and scientifically. What is more vivid than the old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine," to a man whose health is being impaired by a treacherous ailment, and how can a man spend his money more wisely than to save his physical and mental powers?

Varicose and Hydrocystic Enlargement, Wasting, Weakening and Debilitated conditions so common among men, in fact, all troubles peculiar to men, are successfully treated by us, because we have practiced our specialty long enough to formulate scientific methods upon which we can depend, and conscientiously promise our patients entirely satisfactory results.

WE CURE IMPURE BLOOD SKIN DISEASES, ECZEMA, Itching, Burning, Pimples, Blotches and Discolorations of the Skin, Stomach Trouble, Rheumatism.

Blood poison is either specific or non-specific. If specific, it has arisen by the transfer of poison, and it often appears in the form of scrofula, eczema or similar affections. The non-specific form is skin diseases and eruptions which are due to the blood becoming laden with impurities from the whole system getting out of gear so that poisonous matter accumulates in the blood.

In the treatment of all blood diseases, the mistakes too often made are in giving medicines—so-called "blood purifiers"—and in taking patent medicines that are usually harmful because they stop the work of the excretory gland in throwing the poison to the surface, so that the outward sign will disappear for a while, and in so doing the poison in the system increases sometimes to the extent that it attacks the internal organs and becomes fatal. Don't allow the poison to be locked in your system. Have it eliminated, the components of the blood repaired, the tissues restored, and your whole system cleansed so that you will always have pure flesh and blood and robust health. Our treatment is a specific that completely reorganizes the blood corpuscles, by means of which every particle of infectious matter is eliminated. It has been thoroughly tested in the most severe cases and will eradicate every trace of the disease so that a sign never reappears.

Our study and extensive practice in the treatment of all forms of Kidney, Bladder and all Urinary Troubles have familiarized us to the extent that we have attained skill which insures successful treatment in all cases not absolutely incurable. We determine the condition by a scientific analysis of urine, and the severe genito-urinary troubles we have cured by our systematic course of treatment gives us such confidence in our method as to assure good results, and we offer you Consultation Free. Confidential and Private. A personal, thorough and searching examination is required, though if inconvenient to call, write us for information. Office hours are from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., except Sunday, from 10 to 1. We accept no incurable cases and guarantee to cure every case we accept.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The police hope that the city has no worse white slavery than the purported case reported yesterday.

In the last year or thereabouts some half dozen instances have been reported to them which conclusive investigation has shown to be without any more foundation than that of yesterday.

But comparatively few minutes were required last evening to reach the bottom of the case about which a considerable stir was made last night.

Some time during the day Great Northern officials at Superior telephoned to Mrs. Maddigan, who conducts a local employment bureau for women, that they wanted her to hire two girls for the Great Northern hotel at Kelly Lake. The hotel is operated by the railroad company and patronized by men in the railroad company's employ.

Mrs. Maddigan hired two Finnish girls for the places. They were furnished transportation and boarded the afternoon train for Kelly Lake. They undoubtedly reached the hotel and today are likely at work in their new positions.

In substance that is the story in a nutshell. The girls were probably asked at the depot where they were going and upon their statement their questioner apparently concluded that they were victims of a white slaver.

When the woman who reported the case came into the station, Chief Troyer was there, as was the next in command, Capt. Fiskett. Yet they did not go to him with their complaint. Instead they went to a special detective in the employ of the legal department who has little or nothing to do with such cases. Had they gone to the chief or the captain they could have been informed of the actual facts within a comparatively short time.

No time would have been lost in starting an investigation. Chief Troyer declares, and his past activities back his declaration, that he stands ready day or night to turn every resource at his command to running down white slave cases.

Last winter there were two white slave cases in the local courts which attracted considerable attention. One was the May Fisher case. She and another woman, Mabel McNamara, took five girls from this city to a range resort. She was not convicted. But the chief secured her indictment and brought her to trial. He knew of the facts and saw one of the girls in the courthouse while the grand jury was in session. She did not want to appear before the grand jury, but was persuaded to change her mind.

May Harris was convicted of taking two girls to a different resort. She is now serving an indeterminate sentence in Stillwater. All the evidence was secured by the police department.

Some time ago a white slaver was reported in the Union station with three girls. He was brought to the police station. It developed that he was running a hotel in a town in Northern Minnesota. The girls were to work with and under his wife, who had hired them. The character of the man and wife were learned at the town where they had lived for years.

Another time, May Whitney, who runs a roadhouse not far from Hibbing, was reported as having two young girls in tow. The police looked it up. They no sooner laid eyes on the "young girls" than they knew them. One was a woman who had been with May Whitney for years and the other was a woman who was then an inmate of a St. Croix avenue resort.

In another instance a woman of illrepute was reported to have two girls of tender age in charge. She was seen with them on the street. How tender these girls were can be judged from the fact that they had met her in a resort. They saw her on the street and stopped to talk with her. The divekeeper took a street car for Superior and the girls continued their way down the street. The last they saw of her was when she boarded the street car.

About a couple of months ago two girls are reported to have gone from this city to Superior and were seen to enter an evil resort. The case was not brought to the attention of the police at the time. As given there was nothing to indicate that the two entered the resort against their will, making no resistance of any kind. Immoral women not infrequently go from Duluth or Superior, or vice versa. To save trouble and perhaps expense, they have their trunks checked on the train and go over on the same train themselves. There is nothing to show that such was not the case in this instance.

The police recognize that the white slave traffic is the most obnoxious and odious in the country. They are as anxious to stamp it out as any one could be. But they assert that to have white slave stories circulated which are without foundation in fact not only does them an injustice but gives the city a black eye as well. The officials say that the department is not perfect or infallible and add that they recognize that white slavery does exist. But they state that it is decidedly unfair to credit them with laxness in stamping it out. They point out that the people who are making the declarations claim to have full knowledge of certain facts and situations but that their facts fizzle into hearsay and suppositions when their evidence is put to the test.

Indorses Welfare Work.

The municipal committee of the Commercial club at a meeting held lato yesterday afternoon passed a resolution requesting the conference committee to include in the budget the sum of $29,820 for the use of the board of public welfare. The board wants this money for the establishment of a home for women and girls and a work farm and for social center activities. The committee is of the opinion that there will be plenty of additional revenue for this appropriation by reason of the increased valuation of property and that this item should be inserted into the budget in preference to increasing the funds allowed to other departments.

Lost the License.

The wedding of Miss Bertha Fraser, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Fraser of this city to Harry Wasson, which took place yesterday at Chicago, was postponed about an hour owing to the fact that the bridegroom lost the wedding license on the way to the wedding and had to go back and look for it. It was found on the road where he had droped it and the belated wedding took place without further mishap.

SURRENDERS TO SHERIFF

When William G. Lawrence, 2820 West Helm street, learned yesterday that he was wanted by the sheriff on a charge of abandoning his wife and family, he walked into the latter's office and gave himself up for arrest.

About the same time, the September grand jury was indicting him for the alleged desertion of his wife and five children. Lawrence said that he came back this week from Spokane, Wash., where he has been working.

Sheriff Meining took Lawrence in charge, placing him in the county jail. Lawrence is confident that a mistake has been made and that he will be able to show the court and a jury that he was innocent of any wrongdoing.

He will plead not guilty when arraigned under the indictment.

ISLE OF PINES

"THE ONLY PLACE."

I am asked every day by someone what they can do to make a living in the Isle of Pines. I wish to say to all that it is no place for a man to go who is dependent on common daily labor for his support. We have an abundant supply of native labor at $1.00 per day, and good workmen at that. Our American laboring man cannot compete with it. But if you are a mechanic, especially skilled in certain lines you will find an opening.

There is no better place for a man with a little capital. I will be glad to answer any question.

JOHN R. MEINING

Candidate for the Republican Nomination for

SHERIFF

To the Voters of St. Louis County:

I take this method of announcing that I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Sheriff. I have been a resident of St. Louis county for 43 years. I am now serving my first term as sheriff.

I submit for your consideration the fact that during my administration the office has been operated at less expense to the taxpayers of St. Louis county than ever before, taking into consideration the fact that the business of the office has increased greatly during the two years past.

I have a competent office force, and local attorneys as well as those from the range cities are high in their praise of the business-like manner in which the office has been managed. These men are particularly in a position to know for they transact a large part of their business through the sheriff's office.

Now, having proven during my first term my ability and disposition to perform the duties of the office in a competent manner, I ask of you what I believe under the established custom I am entitled to, that is, a re-election for another term, and I respectfully solicit your votes. Yours truly,

JOHN R. MEINING.

CITY JAIL CRITICISED

Grand Jury Says Larger and Better Quarters Are Needed.

That immediate steps should be taken towards enlarging and modernizing the detention rooms of the city jail—particularly the woman's department—was the unanimous opinion of the September grand jury which completed its session today and reported to the district court. The grand jury returned twelve more indictments.

During its three days' session, the jurors visited the city hall and jail, the county jail and the poor farm. In its written report to the court, the jury found conditions very satisfactory at the poor farm and at the county jail "as favorable as possible under the present congested and crowded conditions."

Of the twelve true bills returned this afternoon by the September grand jury, four were not made public as the indicted persons have not as yet been apprehended.

In all nine persons were indicted.

The indictments, made public, were returned against:

Andrew Smith, former treasurer and general manager of the Northland Mercantile company, accused of embezzling $2,000 of the company's money.

Axel D. Kerr, charged with robbery, first degree.

Robert Smith, colored, charged with assault, second degree.

William G. Lawrence, 2820 West Helm street, accused of deserting a wife and five children.

Five counts were returned against Smith, four charging grand larceny, first degree, and one accusing him of grand larceny, second degree.

Axel D. Kerr, the state expects to prove, was the masked robber who, at the point of a loaded revolver, forced Arthur J. Adieham, night foreman for the Interstate Traction company offices on Park Point, to open the company's safe and turn over to him $139.95, all the cash on hand.

Of the four secret indictments returned, one charges grand larceny, first degree, two are for grand larceny, second degree, and one accuses a woman of being the proprietor of a disorderly house.

Would Cross Border.

Washington, Sept. 7.—War department reports today include urgent requests for reinforcements for the border patrol. The war department is considering a suggestion for military commanders along the border that the United States obtain permission from the Mexican government for American troops to pursue into Mexican territory bands of rebel raiders who operate on this side of the line.

KILLS THE DANDRUFF GERM, STOPS FALLING HAIR

Others Imitate And Make Similar Claims But THE GENUINE and ORIGINAL Dandruff Germ Destroyer Is Newbro's Herpicide.

The discovery of the dandruff germ as the cause of all hair trouble is not a recent event. Prof. Unna gave the germ theory to the world in 1887; later Sabouraud, by his experiments with a rabbit, proved beyond a doubt the actual existence of this germ.

On the heels of the establishment of the germ theory of dandruff came the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide. This was the first and original remedy for the destruction of the dandruff germ.

It is a significant fact that since Herpicide has achieved its wonderful popularity, others have changed front and appropriated Herpicide claims, but their preparations have remained the same. Any remedy claiming to kill the dandruff germ is trying to trade upon the reputation of Newbro's Herpicide.

Don't allow yourself to be deceived. You are not taking chances when you purchase Newbro's Herpicide. You are buying a remedy backed up by the praises of your friends and the confidence of your dealer who will absolutely guarantee it to do as promised or refund your money.

You will find Herpicide at all toilet goods counters in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. Applications may be obtained at the better class of barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. S., Detroit, Mich., upon receipt of 10 cents in postage or silver to cover cost of packing and mailing, will send to any address a sample bottle of Newbro's Herpicide and an interesting booklet on the care of the hair.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Presidential Campaign Plans Formed in Minnesota—Needless Confusion May Be Caused By Primary Ballots—Citizens Who Fail to Register Tuesday May Lose Primary Votes.

The Presidential Campaign.

The presidential campaign is beginning to take form in Minnesota.

Col. Roosevelt has come and gone. His reception was not all that the reputed Roosevelt sentiment in the state would seem to demand, but he was given a hearing by a large crowd at the state fair grounds and his friends say they are satisfied.

The Progressives have now determined to open headquarters at the Merchants' hotel in St. Paul and to conduct an aggressive campaign for the colonel up to Nov. 5. Governor Hiram Johnson of California, vice presidential nominee on the Bull Moose ticket, will follow his chief into the state. He will speak at Winona, Sept. 12 and will return to Minnesota in October for several speeches. If Governor Eberhart is renominated at the primary election, Col. Roosevelt will probably return to Minnesota during the campaign. If a progressive candidate is nominated for governor, the colonel will leave the campaign to the state organization.

The Democratic campaign will open the day after the primary election when Governor Wilson will speak at St. Paul. With the impetus given the campaign by the visit of the presidential nominee, Minnesota Democrats believe they will have little trouble keeping Governor Wilson's campaign before the voters. Reports from all over the state are that Wilson's strength is gaining and Minnesota Democrats have high hopes of giving Wilson twelve electoral votes.

The Taft men haven't started anything yet. They are evidently awaiting the outcome of the primary election. If Eberhart is renominated, they will take hope and endeavor to turn the result to their advantage. If Eberhart loses, their work will be cut out for them, but it will be a losing fight anyway. Just now there appears to be little hope of keeping Minnesota in the Republican column. The Taft campaign is without a head in the state, and its body is wasted away.

Needless Confusion.

Another defect in the primary election law is made evident by the publication of the primary election ballots. It is evident that several points in the law are defective and amendments will have to be made at the next session of the legislature. That is to be expected in a law of this kind. Its application always discloses room for improvement.

The ballots provide space for a first and second choice vote for every office, regardless of the number of candidates. As the second choice applies only to offices for which there are three or more candidates, the space for a second choice vote on other offices is confusing. The law prescribes the form of the ballots and the restriction of second choice space on the ballots to offices to which the second choice will apply was evidently overlooked.

• • •

Many May Lose Votes.

Duluth voters who fail to register next Tuesday will be in danger of losing their votes at the primary election.

The law provides that a voter who fails to register before the primary election may vote at the primary only on the presentation of an affidavit of residence, corroborated by the affidavits of two freeholders of the election district in which he lives.

The law also provides that no freeholder may corroborate the affidavits of more than five voters.

Obviously if a large number of voters in any election district fail to register, the available supply of freeholders will soon run out and voters who fail to get two men each to corroborate their affidavits will lose their votes.

The voters who wants to vote at the primary election and wants to avoid trouble will register next Tuesday. Other opportunities to register for the general election will be given on primary election day and Oct. 26, but next Tuesday is the last day for registration before the primary election. Registration next Tuesday qualifies the voter for the primary election and the general election as well.

The poetical stage of the campaign has arrived. From this time on the poets, alleged-poets, near-poets and newspaper writers of verse, who must be unclassified as the poetry, will be as busy with candidates and issues as will the paragraphers and editorial writers. The first effusion in verse to come in the mail at this stage of the campaign is from one who is evidently not an admirer of Teddy. It follows:

'Our convention was an outrage, it would seem.
We fixed things up with a roller run by steam.
This much disgusted Theodore
Who ne'er had seen the likes before
Except when he was engineer and other bosses' groans did hear.

"Dixon ranted, panted, cussed and swore,
Borah raved and caved, and cussed some more,
Haney stuttered, sputtered and cavorted,
Hiram Johnson ripped and snorted,
While the roller run by steam
Did the business it was got for, like a dream.

"To Chicago came our Theodore,
He lit in town with snarl and roar,
He grabbed the lines from Bad Bill Flinn,
He looked things o'er with a vicious grin
And hatred from his eyes did gleam,
When he saw that roller run by steam.

"He pranced around like a frisky colt,
He shaped things up for a party bolt,
The committee he met, he ordered them out,
He sent them back with an angry shout,
He wrote his orders by the ream
To scotch that roller, run by steam.

"Chu! Chu! Toot! Toot! said the roller,
Ripping him up the system solar,
On it went with chu and toot
Guided by our Mr. Root,
Teddy's bosses groan and scream
'Neath that roller run by steam.

AFTER.

"He launched his new party on an August morn,
Great men were present when it was born.
There was McCormick and Perkins of the harvester trust,
J. P. Morgan would help it or bust.
Others were there for woe or for weal,
Included with these was the U. S. Steel.

"Said Teddy to Perkins: 'Turn loose your loot,
Come across now, with plenty to boot.'
He caused Morgan to grunt and groan,
Saying: 'Pay for that forty-eight million loan.'
Each one of them stood firm and pat.
T. R.'s exchequer grew round and fat.

"When business with the others was done,
His near-sighted eyes were gleaming with fun.
He turned to the head of the U. S. Steel
With a red-hot shot right off the reel:
'Come across with your big fat roll,
Pay now, for the Tennessee Iron & Coal.'

"They all dug up, each one in his turn,
They owed him plenty and had money to burn;
Now his campaign is ready to run.
All us plain people will have boodles of fun.
November the 5th will show us the goat;
That is the day we go home to vote.

On the Governorship.

The Cass Lake Times endeavors to make an orderly survey of the chaotic gubernatorial situation, and finally decides that each voter ought to cast his ballot according to his conscience without regard to partisanship. The Times says:

The gubernatorial situation is still a mystery and the voter is ready to cast a ballot for any good man, regardless of politics. In the northern counties the situation is clearly against Eberhart. Sam Gordon had some followers a month ago, but today they are not "cock sure" that Sam is the man they want. Lee says Eberhart's game is up already, and while he is not entirely satisfied of his own nomination, he has hopes. Ed Young is a thorn in the sides of all other aspirants, while Andrist and Ringdal are making wry faces at the other crowd, and have hopes. Two weeks more of mental agony will tell the story; if Eberhart shall receive a majority he will be the nominee of a party so moribund that none of its former adherents dare or desire to go in mourning, and then the free fight will begin in earnest. The voter should not let trifles deter him from making a selection; a democrat, so-called, if he is right, is a better choice than a so-called Republican who is wrong. With partisan feeling out of the contest, go to the polls and vote for the man best calculated to give us a good and reasonable government.

Is Bob a Candidate?

Bob Dunn writes in the Princeton Union:

Several legislative candidates, possessed of more gall than brains, have announced that they will be candidates for the speakership at the next session of the legislature. These legislative "sooners" had better wait until after they are elected.

Is the sage of Princeton callatin' to shy that close-fitting black headpiece of his into the circle after election?

FIRE DESTROYS SUMMER HOME

Residence of Frank L. Young, Near Colbyville, Is Burned.

Fire practically destroyed the summer home of Frank L. Young, half a mile north of Colbyville on the Jean Duluth road last night. The loss is placed at $5,500, partly covered by insurance.

The blaze is believed to have started from the furnace. Two men were sent to fix it early yesterday and it is thought that they may have left some fire in it. The flames had gained such headway that the volunteers were helpless to squelch them when summoned by a settler who discovered the fire. The family had been in the city but was planning to move out to the other house within a few days.

EVERY MANUFACTURER RUSHED WITH ORDERS

many orders ahead to permit of this. But next spring, it is already determined, another story will be put on the entire building and maybe more will be necessary by that time.

The business of the company has grown at a pace that staggers the promoters of the concern, who were optimistic enough at that. More and more help has been required and the company has probably been importing more skilled men, in proportion, than any other concern in the city. Grand Rapids and other furniture towns have been invaded and wage inducements made to the best men to come to Duluth. Even now missionary work is being done to get still more men, and next spring, when more room will have been obtained, an active campaign in this direction will be started. The company needs the men now but has not enough room for them.

The Christensen-Mendenhall-Graham company, which makes wearing apparel, also wants a lot more. Girls at that work are earning as high as $70 and $80 a month, and the company is trying to make them earn more by working extra so that orders may be met. Other shops of the kind are equally distressed for want of help.

• • •

The Clyde Iron works is compelled to work its machinery night and day, and needs more men. In fact they say out there that more men are imperative—it's a case of must.

• • •

The Northern Shoe company has 86 people at factory work now and will put on more before long—if it can get them. That "if" phrase is ever present just now when it comes to talk of increase. The shoe company output for the first seven months of this year is 45 per cent more than that of the corresponding period last year and it is still growing. August was the biggest eighth month the company has had since it started. It has been turning out 600 pairs of shoes a day.

• • •

The Clyde Iron Works is putting in $10,000 worth of new machinery tools in order to meet, in part at least, the demand upon it with the rush of business, and may be compelled to add to its present buildings. It is spreading its business all over the map and is beating out close competition in various parts of the country. Only recently the company shipped eighteen hoisting engines to a firm in San Francisco, and to another firm in Smarts, Cal., shipped two huge cableways, winning in both instances from severe competition, and overcoming the "native son" prejudice with which California is permeated. The prices did it. That the company is going after business with a vengeance is shown by the fact that it has just issued a catalogue to possible customers which is the largest and most complete catalogue in this branch of business that has ever been issued in America.

• • •

The Duluth Corrugating & Roofing company, which is employing over 100 men, is also breaking into business far away from home. Of course the West has long been its territory—all parts of it; but now it finds that the East is its oyster and has determined that with its corrugated sword to open it. Heretofore the company has shipped as far East as lower Michigan points, but recently in competition with the various big firms of the country, it secured a culvert contract from Lancaster, Pa. This is the opening wedge and other deals in the East are pending. The South has for some time been invaded by the Duluth company, and the other day a big deal was closed in Georgia.

• • •

The Zenith Box & Lumber company is doing a big business, but is handicapped by lack of men, and the manager said yesterday that his company can do a great deal more business if a sufficient number of men could be found. He begged The Herald to "shoo" them out that way.

• • •

The Diamond Calk Horse Shoe company, a comparatively new concern, has doubled its business of last year, and now is not only crowded for room, but needs more men. It is not unlikely that this concern will build this fall, and will add new machinery. But men it must have.

• • •

The Zenith Broom Factory at the West end, has been compelled by a great increase of business, which promises to last long and still grow, to increase its building. A great deal of additional machinery will be put in as soon as it can be housed.

• • •

The Duluth Brass works at West Duluth is also in a quandary over the growth of business. Although nothing is given out just yet, there is believed to be no question but that this concern will add materially to its building and that its present force will be easily quadrupled as soon as accommodations for more men can be procured.

• • •

The Duluth Burial company, which makes caskets, is also rushed for its territory is spreading.

• • •

Every concern in the city which manufactures anything might be quoted as asking for more men. The cry is for help everywhere, and good men can get good wages.

• • •

In the accompanying table the needs of as many manufacturing concerns as could be reached is shown. There are numerous ones which could not be located in the time available for the production of this article, but the general demand for more help is taken as indicating that no concern in the city is free from the need. This extraordinary growth of business and the lack of help is looked upon as an indication of the beginning of the greatest prosperity that Duluth has ever enjoyed, croakers notwithstanding. The work is on hand, much more is being turned away, men are wanted and not to be had, big wages are offered, and these conditions scarcely indicate a flatness of business as some on the streets would have others believe.

• • •

"Business has at last raised some sense," said one manufacturer today. "Politics interferes no longer. Before this time when in a presidential year we would ask for money to carry our business, we would be solemnly warned to go easy until after election, and our request would be cut down about 75 per cent, and sometimes not a cent would be forthcoming. That attitude caused hard times. This year nothing of that takes place. We are accommodated as though elections were three or four years off, instead of two months away. I don't believe politics will ever again be such a bogey to business as in the past. Business will control politics rather than let politics control business, or business will totally ignore it. Duluth was never in such a splendid position as it is today, and the coming twelve months will see immense prosperity, and even then the twelve months will be only the beginning of the upward grade."

AMAZING GROWTH OF DULUTH'S MANUFACTURING SHOWN BY STATISTICS

Below is given a table showing the various manufacturing concerns of the city, the number of employes now engaged therein, the number employed on the average and the expectations of employment in the immediate future—if the employes can be obtained. The number of employes here given represent only those who actually work on the production of goods—those who work at it with their hands or with machinery; and does not include the office forces, sales forces, yard men, or any of the numerous people employed in and about a manufacturing concern for packing and the like. It should be emphatically understood these are the artisans and mechanics who produce, only. The list follows:

BULL MOOSE IN MONTANA

not a king. The constitutional monarch of the present time comes nearer being a cross betwen a perpetual vice president and the leader of the four hundred than anything else I know."

"Mind you," the colonel went on, "I am not saying anything against the job of king, but I just wouldn't have it."

The colonel discussed the enforcement of the anti-trust law by the Taft administration and the attitude of the Progressive party toward corporations.

Only Make-Believe.

"The two old parties are fooling about the trusts," he said. "Take the case of the Standard Oil company. The country has come to find out that instead of the government's action being the death of Standard Oil, it was only a make-believe death. I cite the Standard Oil to you as a particular instance of unscrambling that didn't help anybody but the owner of the unscrambled eggs.

"Our purpose is not to unscramble the eggs, but to exercise such control as will prevent any scrambling."

McGOVERN DENIES THAT HE WILL SUPPORT TAFT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—Governor Francis E. McGovern denied the report to the effect that he would support President Taft for re-election, according to an interview printed by the Evening Wisconsin. The governor refused to discuss the political situation any further.

houses, put a stop to the practice. In the cases previously cited, Hayes declared he had disregarded Mayor Gaynor's order.

The letter was placed in evidence. It embodied a declaration, imputed to Mayor Gaynor, that the passing of men, in number, to and from houses harboring women, should be taken as evidence that the houses were disorderly. This, Hayes said, helped support his contention that in refraining from raiding houses where there was no such evidence, he was upholding Mayor Gaynor's policy.

Hayes was on the stand when adjournment was taken yesterday. He made a good witness under direct examination, flatly contradicting the testimony of the police commissioner, who had preceded him on the stand. He insisted that Waldo had given him orders not to molest disorderly houses making an "outward show" of decency.

When Hayes took the stand today the first question was:

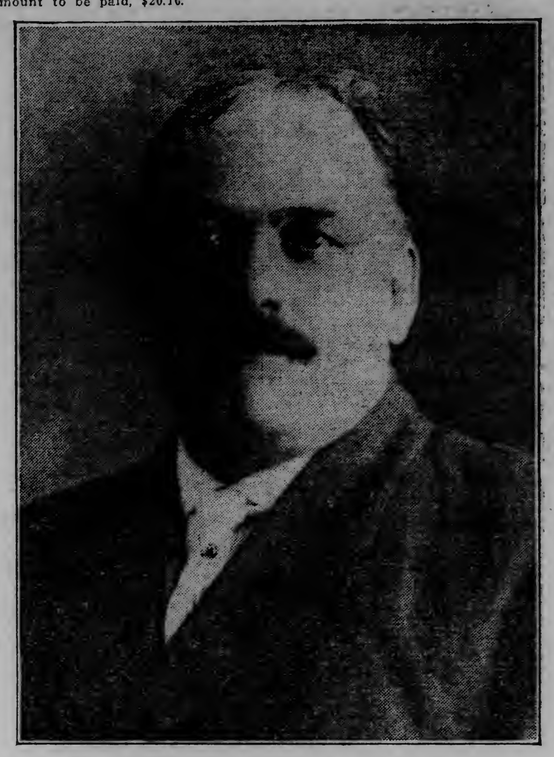

"What did you conceive to be your duty toward disorderly houses when you first went to the fourth district?"

"To proceed against them; get evidence and suppress them. That was my duty until I was ordered by my superior officer to do otherwise."

Hayes said that after Waldo had forbidden him to raid disorderly houses where there was no outside evidence of disorder, he (Hayes) instructed his men not to enter houses to get evidence. He added that he told Waldo what he had done and Waldo approved.

ELECTRO MEDICAL METHODS CURE RAPIDLY

Have you ever noticed how much quicker we move nowadays than we did twenty years ago? At that time we traveled, not with lightning rapidity of electricity, but with the time-wasting horse car. The great majority of doctors are still living in the "age of the horse car" by using the same antiquated methods and medicines, with the same slow results. Electro Medical Methods have cured diseases with the rapidity of electricity. It has done away with most of obnoxious drugs and with the uncertainties of the surgeons' knife. This method healed diseases which all other methods failed to cure.

SPECIALISTS FOR MEN AND WOMEN.

There are few of the specialists who can claim to be masters of diseases of men and women at the same time. It takes more than half a lifetime to become proficient to thoroughly know and understand all the diseases and ailments of both sexes. The Electro Medical doctors have secured the services of an expert, who not only had the greatest and widest experience in diseases of men and women, but who, in addition, is by far the best known Specialist in Electro Medical Methods. The corporation of the Electro Medical Doctors has secured this expert under great expense, and has spent ten thousand dollars in the equipment of the office with the sole object in view to make this office a success and to cure the people better and cheaper and quicker than other doctors could with their old and backward methods. We make a specialty of old and chronic diseases, leaving the acute class and the easily curable to the many noble and able physicians we have.

If you have tried scores of doctors and you have not succeeded in a cure, if you have been discouraged and have given up hopes, we invite you to come and try Electro Medical Methods. You have read hundreds of testimonials of patients we cured; you have seen men and women cured who have been given up as hopeless. Why should we not cure you also?

How We Cure.

Our method of treatment overcomes inflammation and congestion, rheumatism and stomach trouble, kidney and bladder disease, by aiding the tissues of the ailing region to throw off the poisonous secretions and the deadly toxins caused by the ailment. Some of these toxins are more poisonous than the virus of the rattlesnake's fangs. Our treatment completely eliminates every trace of ailment and accumulated poison from the system, and thus allows nature to perform a complete cure.

We will build up your physical strength; brighten your mental faculties; restore your powers by promoting increased nervous energy and good circulation to weak organs. Our methods in men's disorders are just as satisfactory. Varicocele, Hydrocele, Urethral Obstructions, Unnatural Discharges, Blood Poison, Sores, Ulcers, Prostatic Troubles, Painful and Distressing Symptoms that accompany Kidney, Bladder, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Sciatica, Tumors, Stomach Trouble, Prostatic Affections, Piles, Pimples, Eczema and Urinary Diseases cured by painless methods.

We Examine All Deep-seated Diseases With the X-Ray. We make no mistakes in our diagnosis nor any misleading statements. We are here "for good" in fact, the corporation is planning to Erect a Sanitarium in the City of Duluth within the near future where cases of Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Arthritis Deformans, Sciatica and Cancers can be treated and the patient be spared of the exhausting trips to the office they are compelled to make at present. Electro Medical Methods Are Powerful and Painless. They build up the weakest of men and women within a marvelously short time. Consultations Are Free to Every Sick Person; married ladies must be accompanied by their husbands and minors by the parents. Office hours, 9 to 12, 1 to 5, 6 to 8.

6-YEAR-OLD BOY HAS SAVED TWO LIVES

HARRY LASCH.

Master Harry Lasch, just 6½ years old, has twice proven himself a young hero. He is the grandson of Mrs. M. C. Lasch of this city and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Lasch of Forbes, Minn.

Last Sunday Harry was playing near the spring, which had been surrounded with a large wooden barrel and made pretty deep, when his little brother, Clifford, aged 3, fell in head first. Harry grabbed him by his feet and although only a small lad himself, pulled his young brother out of the water before he drowned.

His first rescue was two years ago, when he was just 4 years old, and his little sister, then 3 years old, fell into a creek at Stephens Mine, Minn., and he pulled her out of the water and held her up, although he was unable to get her up the bank and he kept her out of the water until his mother could get down and lift her out.

Master Lasch is now visiting his grandmother in Duluth for a few weeks.

GROWER REALIZES NEARLY $1,500 ON PART OF STRAWBERRY CROP

Two checks on a local bank made out by the St. Croix Valley Produce company to W. D. Terry, a colored agriculturalist residing on a small tract of land near South Range, tells a wonderful story of the possibilities of fruit raising in Douglas county.

The two checks aggregate $1,386.63. The money was paid Mr. Terry for approximately 800 cases of strawberries picked from a plot of ground less than two acres in two weeks' season from July 5 to July 23. In addition to the checks Mr. Terry disposed of berries for over $100 in cash. One of the checks is for $761.10 and the other for $625.53.

"It shows the great local possibilities," said C. T. Robinson, head of the St. Croix Valley company today. "Others in Douglas county and other parts of the northern part of Wisconsin are doing equally as well and in some cases better."

The Douglas County Development association has been informed of Mr. Terry's success and his achievement will be featured in printed matter as an example of what can be accomplished in this county.

Great interest is shown in berry raising in Douglas county this season and the total sum realized by growers is large. Much money can be earned off a very small piece of property as is shown in Mr. Terry's case.

Here Is Another Opportunity To Those Who Failed to Get in at Sunnyside or Parkland

We have just purchased 80 acres adjoining our Parkland Addition, right on the main road and but ½ a mile from two railway stations. We have subdivided it into six 10-acre tracts and four 5-acre tracts.

10 ACRES WILL COST FROM $500 to $600

TERMS, $25 CASH, BALANCE $10 PER MONTH.

5 ACRES WILL COST $300

TERMS, $12.50 CASH, BALANCE $5 PER MONTH.

Six per cent Interest, Warranty Deeds, Free Abstracts, Perfect Title, No Payments If Sick.
COME OUT TOMORROW AND SEE THE DEVELOPMENT WORK GOING ON AT SUNNYSIDE AND PARKLAND.

LOCATION AND CONVENIENCES

Only four miles from the city limits of Superior and two and a half miles from the United States Steel company's Belt Line railway, where land is advancing rapidly in price. There is a reaching to within ½ a mile of us and a fine graded road the balance of the way.

MACADAMIZED AUTOMOBILE HIGHWAY

SIX PASSENGER TRAINS DAILY

to and from Superior and Duluth furnish the best kind of transportation. Two depots are within ½ a mile of us; also daily mail service.

The soil is a rich loam, with no rocks nor waste land. Very easily cleared. About $15 per acre would be a fair average as to the cost of clearing and this is quite a big item when you can figure the bulk of the land around the Head of the Lakes will cost near $50 per acre to clear.

Remember, you have the same opportunity for making big money as other successful growers near here. It rests entirely with you; also remember that we have but a limited number of tracts to sell and if you want one you must act at once.

ON THE IRON RANGES

PIPE NEAR TO MINERS

Hope to Reach Entombed Men Some Time Saturday Afternoon.

No Sound to Indicate Whether They Are Still Living.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fate of Dominico Sereno and Serafina Dominico, the two Italian miners caught in the sub-level of the Ruddy mine about eighty feet below the surface when the heavy rainfall flooded the mine, is expected to be known some time this afternoon as the pipe being driven towards where they were last seen is slowly nearing its destination.

At noon today the drill and accompanying pipe were about five feet from the sub-level, being down about seventy-five feet. Th drill is working in solid rock and progress is slow. A three-inch pipe is being driven right behind the drill, and this will furnish the men air, if they are still alive, and perhaps food can be passed down to them.

No Sound From Men.

Not a sound has come from the sub-level and the fate of the entombed men is just as much of a mystery as it was Wednesday night when the water flowed into the mine and caused the cave-in, shutting off their escape. The pumps are working steadily, and at noon there was but a few feet of water left in the mine. As considerable water seeps back as it is being removed, the work of unwatering the mine is slow. About 2,000 gallons a minute are being pumped out now. When the water has been lowered four feet more, access will be offered through the shaft to the main cap of the drift and thence by the upraise to the sub-level in which the miners are imprisoned.

If the men are still alive when the entrance to the drift is possible, they will, of course, be promptly removed.

Both of the entombed men's families and friends are hoping they are alive, unless, as stated in The Herald, they blasted just before the flood, in which event they were probably asphyxiated by the foul air. Sereno has a wife and three children, while Dominico has a wife and seven children, the oldest being about 10 years.

The pumps at the Monica mine are working and it is expected this property will be unwatered in about a week. It is a huge task, as the mine had about eighty-five feet of water.

The William mine, which had about fifty feet of water in it, is expected to be unwatered in about five days.

POOR HIGHWAYS ARE BLAMED FOR EXODUS

Many Northern Koochiching County Settlers Said to Be Crossing Line.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The absence of good roads, and in some cases the non-existence of roads at all except trails, is compelling many settlers near the border in the International Falls country to abandon their homesteads and to go to Canada, according to John H. Nordby of the state department of weights and measures, who spent the last month in Northern Koochiching county.

Mr. Nordby say that settlers who have been there for ten years waiting for the county or the state to build roads to their lands have become discouraged and are leaving for the West and the Northwest. He states that if Northern Minnesota is not to retrograde in many districts, that road building will have to go on apace.

EVELETH MAN ACQUITTED.

District Court Jury Reverses Petty Court's Ruling.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The district court held a short session Friday morning and an adjournment was taken until Monday morning. The court received the sealed verdict in the case of Henry Holland, the Eveleth laundryman accused by a customer of assault and battery. The verdict was "not guilty." Mr. Holland had been found guilty in the Eveleth municipal court and a fine was imposed. He appealed the case.

A jury was obtained in the case which comes from Ely of Joel Metsapelto, who is charged with assault in the first degree. It is charged that he stabbed William Selig and inflicted a serious wound.

GOOD FOWL HUNTING.

Both Partridges and Ducks Thick Around Winton.

Winton, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coming duck and partridge hunting season in this section promises to be good, both fowl being plentiful.

Ducks and partridges are unusually plentiful this year and, according to rangers who have been in this territory for years, claim they have seen nothing like it in all their experience. The partridges are quite tame.

Owing to the recent heavy rains, swamps, inland lakes and old logging rounds furnish plenty of food for the wild fowl, thus bringing them in the open, insuring easy access for the hunter. For this reason it is expected that the number of hunting licenses this season will be far in excess of any previous year.

The wild cranberry crop around Winton also promises to be better than in previous years.

ECZEMA

Also called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pruritus, Milk-Crust, Weeping Skin, etc.

ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY, and when I say cured, I mean just what I say—C-U-R-E-D, and not merely patched up for awhile, to return worse than before. Remember I make this broad statement after putting ten years of my time on this one disease and handling in the mean-time a quarter of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TO-DAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild, soothing, guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day than I or anyone else could in a month's time. If you are disgusted and discouraged, I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today you will enjoy more real comfort than you had ever thought this world holds for you. Just try it and you will see I am telling you the truth.

BIWABIK DOGS BEING KILLED

Biting of Girl Arouses Mayor Against All Unmuzzled Curs.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The open season for unmuzzled dogs began here at 8 o'clock last night when the mayor issued orders of the police to kill all canines found on the streets without muzzles. Nearly a dozen had been shot up to noon.

This drastic action resulted from Mary Tisdarek, aged 7, being bitten yesterday by a dog feared to have had rabies, while she was visiting Frank Gleboker's home in the Missabe addition. The girl is being given the usual treatment against hydrophobia. The dog was killed and its head sent to the state university to be examined to determine whether it had rabies.

BEAT POLICE TO SLOT MACHINES

Reported Eveleth Raid Was "Tipped" Off, Many Devices Being Removed.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Finnegan says that when he rounded up the slot machines in Eveleth Tuesday he found only five in operation instead of thirty-six as reported to The Herald.

Christ Olson, chairman of the Scandinavian Temperance society committee, which secured evidence concerning the slot machines, claims that he counted thirty-six machines of various styles in operation and so reported to the mayor.

Raid Was Tipped Off.

Olson claims some one had "tipped" it off to the saloon men before the chief of police got around. At any rate the slot machines have all disappeared from the barrooms and bars and the temperance society declares they shall not be permitted to run again.

AGED MAN IS BURIED.

Father of Grand Rapids Man Is Borne to Grave.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Anderson, father of Andrew, Frank and Oscar Anderson of this city, died at the home of his son, Frank Anderson, a few days ago after an illness of six weeks, death being caused by his illness and advanced age, he having been 80 years of age.

Mr. Anderson has been a resident of Grand Rapids only for the past year, coming from the old country to make his home with his sons here.

Aside from his sons, he leaves two daughters, Miss Augusta Anderson of Minneapolis and Mrs. Alice Anderson of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The funeral was held from the home of Frank Anderson, Rev. J. J. Parish officiating, and interment was made in Itasca cemetery.

Musser, late of Duluth but now of Virginia, for $300 for 5,000 booklets on Virginia which Mr. Musser had printed expecting to make the sale to the club. The case is in the municipal court and all the officers and directors of the club are made defendants. City Attorney D. D. Morgan represents Mr. Musser in the suit. The claim is made that the club contracted for the books. W. J. Archer the secretary of the club, asserts that he has no knowledge or record of any contract.

Hicks Case Continued Again.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Jerry Hicks, alleged to have taken about $800 of Great Northern money while in the employ of the company while local cashier, was adjourned again yesterday by Judge Kearney until Sept. 16. INSURANCE RISKS MAY BE CANCELLED

Reported in Hibbing Companies Fear Risks in Many Locations.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—In addition to cancelling the risks at a large number of the locations in the vicinity of Hibbing which are without fire protection, the insurance companies doing business in this section are figuring on cancelling their risks at all the locations on the Mesaba range.

This is the information vouched for by a well-known Hibbing insurance man. Fires, of a questionable origin, not only in Hibbing, but over the Mesaba range are cited as the ground for consideration of this action.

May Soon Announce Plan.

A state insurance adjuster, who has recently finished an investigation of a fire near Hibbing where a number of buildings were destroyed, which originated in an insured unoccupied building, is authority for the statement that several of the most reliable fire insurance companies are considering this plan and that it may be announced shortly. Losses at the locations have been proportionately greater than revenue derived for some time past and recently a number of companies cancelled their risks at locations where there was no fire protection. The new order of things would affect most of the locations in the Hibbing district.

DELAY IN GETTING STEEL HURTS WORK

Contractor on Hibbing School Is Not Making Good Progress.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although offering a premium of $11 a ton on the structural steel that enters into the structural work of the addition to the Lincoln school building in this city, which will cost when completed approximately $250,000, the contractors having the work in charge, according to a member of the school board, are being subjected to delays by their inability to get the necessary structural steel.

The contract calls for the building to be completed Feb. 1, 1913. Delay in securing the steel and general unfavorable weather conditions have materially hampered the contractors. At present it is hoped to have the building inclosed before cold weather sets in and heat supplied by temporary radiation, but if further delay is occasioned by inability to get the structural steel because of the condition of congestion at the mills it may be necessary for the board to grant an extension of time to the contractors. The new building is imperative to the school housing facilities of the district and a condition of congestion is general in the schools of the city at present.

The football team will begin practice Monday night under the direction of Coach Bleeker. The material for the team this year will not be as heavy as in former years, but Coach Bleeker intends to remedy this defect by moulding his team into a speedy bunch of players. Mr. McPheeter will have charge of the coaching of the second team. Games have been secured with several of the range towns, and anyone wishing to arrange games may do so by communicating with Supt. Flynn or Manager Karnopp.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

When you say anything about the weather, knock wood. The weather man may shy at any little thing and send another spell of August weather. Get that! We're afraid of August weather in this country. September has done very well to-date, and the weather man predicts more fair weather tonight. Sunday may be cloudy and unsettled, but there's no rain in sight.

Cold, damp weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:35 and it will set at 6:37 this evening, giving thirteen hours and two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbances centered over the St. Lawrence valley, Eastern Gulf region and Alberta respectively caused showers over Quebec, Northeastern Michigan, Iowa, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, California, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia during Friday or last night. High temperatures prevailed Friday in the Central and Southwestern portions of the Lake region, the Ohio valley and Southern states, but the weather turned somewhat cooler last night over most of the Lake region and Upper Mississippi valley. The easterly movement of the Alberta low pressure condition may result in local showers over St. Louis and Douglas counties during Sunday night and possibly in some localities Sunday afternoon."

FIFTY YEARS AN OBLATE

Father McCarthy, Chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital, Celebrates Anniversary.

Church Dignitaries at Winnipeg, His Former Parish, Do Him Honor.

Rev. Joseph McCarthy, chaplain of St. Mary's hospital, Duluth, celebrated in Winnipeg, Man., a few days ago, the fiftieth anniversary of his induction into the order of Oblate Fathers, and the celebration was attended by many dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church. Pontifical high mass was celebrated in St. Mary's church of Winnipeg, Father McCarthy officiating, with numerous priests assisting. Archbishop Langevin was among those attending and delivered the sermon. In attendance also were representatives of the Grey Nuns who were associated with Father McCarthy in the establishment of the first parochial schools in Winnipeg, and also sisters of the Holy Name society. Father McCarthy was the first priest ever in charge of a Catholic congregation in Winnipeg and many people of all denominations joined in congratulations to the venerable clergyman.

In his sermon, Archbishop Langevin said that he, as a brother Oblate of Father McCarthy, had many pleasant recollections of the time when the latter introduced him to the people of

REV. JOSEPH McCARTHY.

Winnipeg. He expressed the hope that all of the priests and laymen would receive the grace of fulfilling their respective duties in the worthy manner that had been exemplified in the life of Father McCarthy. Following the ceremony the clergy were entertained at dinner in St. Mary's rectory in honor of the Duluth priest.

Rev. Joseph McCarthy was born in Dublin in 1839. He was educated there and in 1860 he joined the Oblate order. In 1862 he was sent to Canada as professor in St. Joseph's college, Ottawa. In 1867 he went to the Red river and was ordained to the priesthood by Mgr. Tache on Jan. 24, 1869. He then lived at the archbishop's palace, being sometimes employed as secretary to the bishop. After his ordination he was entrusted by Mgr. Tache with the task of laying the foundation of the St. Mary's parish, Winnipeg.

In the later seventies, Father McCarthy did a great deal of missionary work being stationed at various points.

In 1881 Father McCarthy returned to Winnipeg and became secretary to Archbishop Tache, which position he held until 1888, when he was again attached to St. Mary's church. In 1894 he received many tokens of esteem from the clergy and citizens on the occasion of his silver jubilee. In 1896 he went to Ireland to make a study of the separate school question. In 1904 he was again in Ireland and shortly after his return he was transferred to Duluth.

Next Meeting at St. Paul.

About thirty have signified their intention of joining the new lodge, and it is thought that in about two weeks it will be formally instituted.

George H. Vivian of Duluth has been spening a couple of days in Ely.

Miss Elizabeth Western has been appointed assistant to the city clerk. The business of the city has grown so that it was deemed advisable to have additional help in the office.

MANY WANT MAINS.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The water and light board were besieged with requests at the last meeting for extension of water mains. The new purchasers of lots in the Park addition were present and asked for the extension of main to their residence there. Residents of the Euclid addition were represented by a spokesman asking for a water line into their addition. Frank Ambrodish asked for a sixty-foot extension to take care of three families near the Missabe depot. The water board promised to meet with some of the petitioners today and look over the situation. The superintendent of waterworks reminded the commission that the temporary boilerhouse now situated at the corner of Chestnut street and Central avenue would soon be a nuisance to the paving crew and the same will be moved at once. The regular monthly payroll and bills were passed for payment.

FALSE ALARM CAUSES FIREMEN LONG RUN.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — A fire alarm about 6:30 last night gave the fire department a long run to Hayes and Hacket's addition, but they found the reporting box which registered the alarm had been undisturbed. The fire alarm system since the electrical storm of Monday evening has been very unreliable. The distance covered in the run was about nine or ten blocks and was not relished much by the department when it was learned there was no fire at all.

HIBBING AUTO RACES ARE BEING CONSIDERED.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Healy is in Minneapolis trying to interest automobilists in an automobile race meeting here Sept. 20 and 21, hoping to induce Twin City motor owners as well as Duluth automobilists to come here. It is planned to have a one-mile race, free-for-all, a five-mile race and a three-mile event, besides motorcycle and bicycle races.

Last year's auto contests in Hibbing were a big success and brought a large crowd to the city. Liberal purses will be hung up for the events in the coming speed meeting here.

GOOD TIMES IN THE WEST

Roland H. Hartley Here From Washington to Visit Brothers.

Predicts Taft Victory in Coast States—Crops Are Enormous.

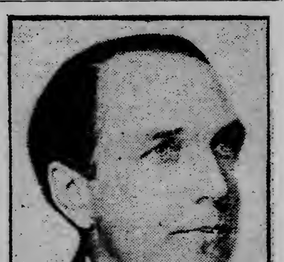

Roland H. Hartley of Everett, Wash., formerly of Minneapolis and Cass Lake, arrived this morning from the West to visit his brothers, G. G. Hartley and Heber Hartley and their families, and to attend to business matters. Mr. Hartley is in the lumber business in Eveleth.

This is Mr. Hartley's first visit to Duluth in three years. He says that the West is in splendid shape financially and commercially, and says that it is on a thoroughly substantial basis. Laboring men and skilled mechanics, he says, are no longer of the floating variety, but are actual residents of the various communities of the coast, most of them owning their own homes and staying at work.

"They are well paid," said Mr. Hartley this morning, "and I notice that when men are well paid times are good. That is really what keeps money in circulation and creates business."

He spoke of his journey eastward and the fine crop and grass conditions it revealed to him in a most enthusiastic way. Said he:

"Right from the coast until I reached here there was nothing but the most beautiful verdure to be seen. In the West, where, at this time of the year, one usually sees only the most distressing dryness, the grasses are green and vital. Then when one reaches the grain country the most splendid crop of years flanks the train on either side clear into the cities. It's inspiring to look at and must be more than that to those whom it directly benefits."

Mr. Hartley wears a Taft button in the lapel of his coat and this suggested politics. He was willing to talk about it too. Said he, when asked what effect the Bull Moose movement has on the coast:

Says Taft Is Strong.

"Taft will carry Washington without a doubt, and he will carry Oregon too, I believe. In Oregon, you know, a great deal of wool is produced and the president's vetoes of the wool bills suited that state down to the ground. Out West too, people like a man who has the stamina to do what he believes is right regardless of opposition to him, and President Taft has certainly showed that quality. The West recognizes also that never before in the history of the country has there been a business recovery of such unusual scope and strength in the face of a presidential campaign, and they realize that that means confidence in the administration and the hope of its continuation. They do not like to experiment when they have conditions such as exist now—bettering all of the time, and surely showing greater things ahead.

"Why should they? What better things can any other administration promise than we are now approaching under the present administration? If there could be benefits by a change then there would be an argument in favor of one; but no benefits greater than the Taft administration; not inly promises, but which are in plain sight, can be offered by either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Wilson, so we of Washington can see no reason why we should support either. Washington hasn't much use for such a double-crosser as the colonel and will have none of him. I believe the feeling that way is general on the coast except in California, where there is a most peculiar situation. Mr. Wilson is much stronger on the coast than is Mr. Roosevelt, but I firmly believe that President Taft is the strongest candidate of the three.

"I have nothing against Mr. Wilson. I believe he is a good man, but his theories are untried and he has had but little practice in administration of any kind except as a college professor. One can read and write books about things and have the theory down to a fine point, but can be useless in practice. I remember when I was learning to ride logs as a river driver in Northern Minnesota that before I tried it I could tell about how it was done, could tell just how to place the feet on the log and how to maintain a balance; but I noticed that I had to fall off a lot and wet my head a great many times before I mastered the practical side of the art. A correspondence course in riding a saw-log or in running a government is great for the development of the theoretical side, but one has still to learn the practical side of it. Mr. Wilson's theories may be all right but I don't feel like casting my vote to give him a chance to try them on the country and the country's business."

MANAHAN AND HIS SOAP BOX HERE.

James A. Manahan, candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large, arrived in Duluth this morning.

This evening he will introduce an innovation in campaigning. He will make open-air speeches at Twentieth avenue west at 8 o'clock and at Second avenue west and Superior street at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Manahan is a Progressive of Progressives, with a ready gift of oratory and decidedly novel ideas on public questions. He will carry his campaign to the voters, and should have good crowds at his meetings tonight.

RECORDS FALL AT STATE FAIR

Race Horses Make New Time in Great Western Events.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 7.—Pacing the three-quarters in the remarkable time of 1:32, Minor Hein, 1:58½, spoiled a chance of breaking the world's record of 2:03¾ for a pacing team, held by Hedgewood Boy and Lad Maud C., when he broke, 250 yards from the finish. His teammate, George Gano, never lost his stride, however, and the team finished the mile in 2:01, one second better than George Gano's record alone. Because of Minor Heir's break, however, the judges refused to allow the record to stand as official. Dazzle Patch, a son of Dan Patch, world's greatest pacer and a stable mate of Minor Heir and George Gano, owned by M. W. Savage, however, had better success today, lowering his own and the world's record for 2-year-olds' half-mile pace, going the distance in :58½, one second better than the time he made Wednesday. Dazzle Patch, driven by Ed McCarr and paced by a runner driven by Charles Dean of Palatine, Ill., also paced the Savage team, made the first quarter in :28½.

Minor Heir and George Gano for three-quarters of the way went in admirable style, taking the quarter in :30½, the half in 1:00½ and the three-quarters in 1:32.

Shortly after they entered the stretch, however, Minor Heir went off his feet and Driver McCarr was not able to get him righted until just before the wire was reached. George Gano never relinquishing his stride and coming down the last quarter in :29, though hampered by his mate's running.

Echmore, a black horse, owned by John Clifford, took the 2:16 trot for the Minneapolis purse, $3,000, the feature event of the card today, defeating Jean Arion, a bay mare owned by M. W. Savage, in the sixth heat, after each had taken two firsts, and Tommy Finch, a bay horse owned by George Castle, had take none. There were fourteen starters in this event.

Summary:

2:25 pace, half-mile track, purse $1,000, three in five—Henry H., b. g., by Gregory the Great (Dean), won; Shamberry, ch. h., by Allerton (Ayers), second; Miss Dora Patchen, br. m., by Joe Patchen (Fenelon), third. Best time, 2:15¾.

2:16 trot, purse $3,000, three in five—Echmore, blk. h., by Baron More (Kerr), won; Jean Arion, b. m., by Arion (McCarr), second; Tommy Finch, b. h., by Silver Finch (Castle), third. Best time, 2:09¼.

2:17 trot, purse $1,000, three in five—Baron Belfry, b. h., by Baron Posey (Sherman), won; Pilot A., ch. g., by George A. Fuller (McDonnell), second, Dean Patch, b. h., by Norchem (Myers), third. Best time, 2:13½.

ORVILLE WRIGHT IS AT WINDY CITY

Dean of Air Pilots Is on Hand for Aviation Events.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Orville Wright, inventor of the aeroplane and dean of air pilots, joined the notables in the aviation world gathered in Chicago for the forthcoming aviation events of the Aero Club of Illinois.

He visited the various aerodromes yesterday.

The first flight of the Deperdussin monoplane, upon which France bases her hopes of taking home the Gordon Bennett trophy and the world's championship in aviation, failed to show the expected 100 miles an hour.

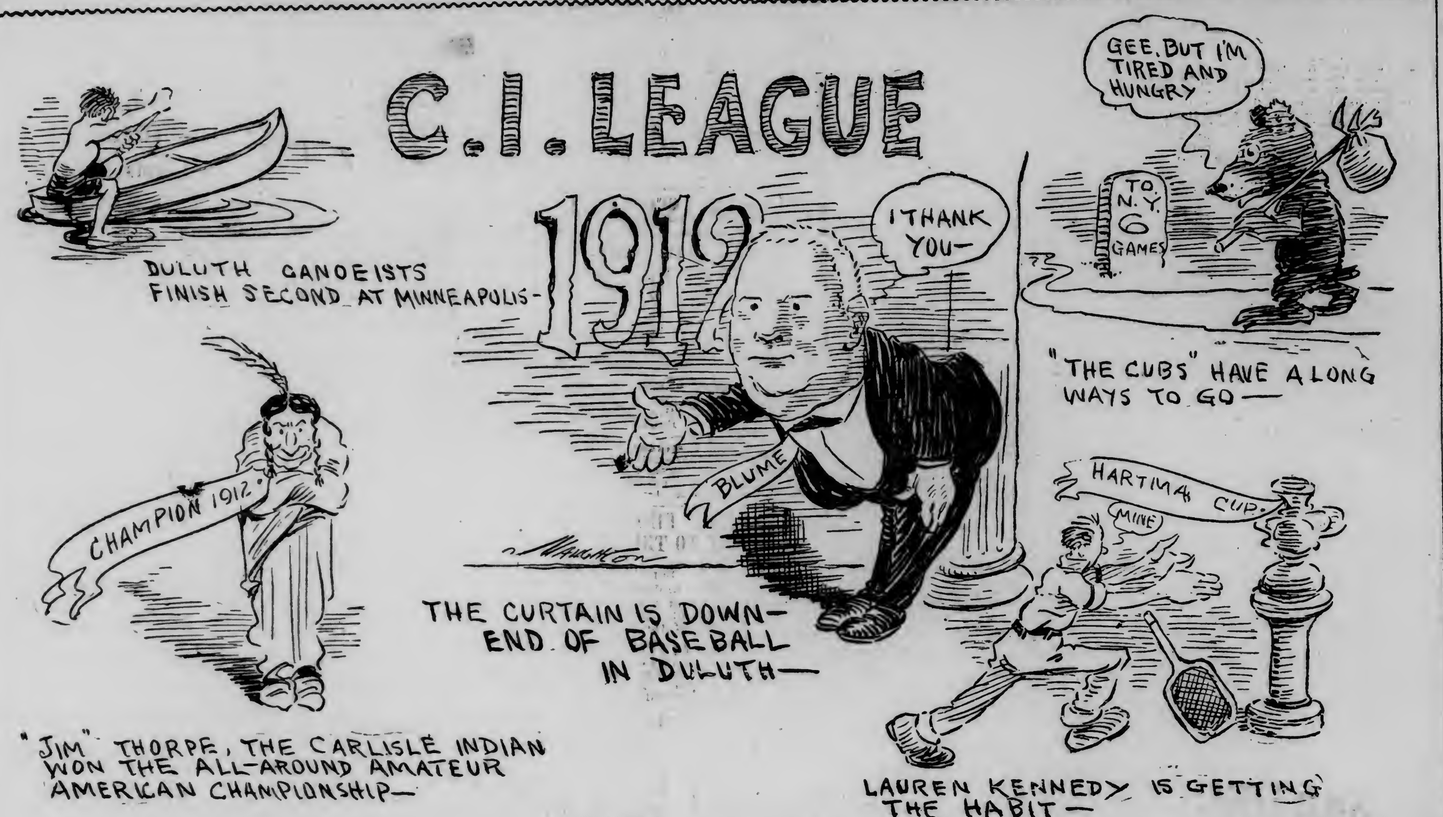

Jules Vedrines required exactly two minutes and thirty seconds to complete the 4.14-mile course, a rate of ninety-six miles an hour.

He came down after three laps. Maurice Prevost later completed two circuits of the field at ninety-six miles an hour.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST

BEGINNINGS OF BASEBALL

Old Knickerbocker Club Was the First Organization in America—Its Playing Rules.

In 1842 and '43 a number of gentlemen used to get together afternoons to play baseball, the progeny of English rounders and American genius, on a plot of ground in Twenty-seventh street, New York, later occupied by the old Harlem railroad depot.

Retreating before the relentless northward march of the building contractor, they moved up to the north slope of Murray Hill, "between the railroad cut and Third avenue." These informal meetings were so popular that in the spring of 1845 Alexander J. Cartwright, an enthusiastic player, proposed organization. So the famous old Knickerbocker club came into being. As it was evident that the field on Murray Hill would not long be available, a party crossed the Barclay street ferry and explored the Jersey country for a playing ground, finally settling on the "Elysian Fields," scene of many a spirited battle.

The Knickerbocker rules adopted Sept. 23, 1845, are probably the first official playing code the national game ever had. Omitting clauses of club government, the actual laws of play were:

The bases shall be from "home" to second base, forty-five paces; from first to third base, forty-two paces, equidistant.

The game to consist of twenty-one counts, or aces (runs); but at the conclusion an equal number of hands (innings for each side) must be played.

The ball must be pitched, and not thrown, for the bat.

A ball knocked out of the field, or outside the range of first or third base is foul.

Three balls being struck at and missed, and the last one caught, is a hand out; if not caught is considered fair, and the striker bound to run.

If a ball be struck or tipped, and caught either flying or on the first bound, is a hand out.

A player running the bases shall be out if the ball is in the hands of an adversary on the base or if the runner is touched with it before he makes his base; it being understood, however, that in no instance is a ball to be thrown at him. (In "rounders" a runner was out if hit with the ball by a fielder, or if the ball was thrown into the hole at "home" while he was off base.)

A player running who shall prevent an adversary from catching or getting the ball before making his base is a hand out.

Three hands out, all out.

Players must take their strikes in regular turn. (Here is the primeval expression for the modern "batting order.")

All disputes and differences relative to the game to be decided by the umpire, from which there is no appeal.

No ace (score) or base can be made on a foul strike.

A runner cannot be put out in making one base when a balk (undefined) is made by the pitcher.

But one base allowed when a ball bounds out of the field when struck.

SEASON OPENS FOR WATERFOWL

Prairie Chickens May Also Be Shot—Ducks Are Plentiful.

The duck and chicken season opened on the stroke of 12 last night, or, rather, when the clock stopped striking and it was this morning. And there were sounds of banging guns even at that hour up St. Louis river.

The birds will have a job on their hands or feet to protect their lives now that the muzzle is off and the hunters are free to kill. Scores of hunters from this section have already started out after game, and it is expected that tomorrow every piece of water in this vicinity, and the St. Louis river in particular, will be alive with men after ducks.

Ducks are plentiful and have been for several weeks. Duck hunters have from now until Dec. 1 to kill, and then five days to get the birds on hand shipped to their homes. No more than fifteen ducks can be shot in one day if one wishes to obey the law, and no more than fifty may be found upon a person at any one time.

The season for prairie chicken, grouse and plover opened at the same time but closes earlier. A number of Duluthians will visit the prairie country in search of chickens, and it is expected that they will be well rewarded, for it is claimed that prairie chickens are more numerous this year than for a long time. Some are to be found even around Duluth.

BASEBALL IN PENINSULA

Season of the Iron-Copper Country League Drawing to a Close.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schedule of the Iron-Copper Country Baseball league will be completed next week and the championship stands between Ishpeming and Negaunee. These two teams, with Calumet, are bunched with but a few games between the third and the first teams. Ishpeming leads Negaunee by two games and Negaunee leads Calumet by two games. Marquette is hopelessly on the bottom of the heap. Calumet, with what is now the fastest team in the league, struck its winning streak too late in the season to hope to overtake the leaders. Ishpeming will use Lang, said to be a Comiskey twirler, in its final games with Ishpeming next week, while Ishpeming will use one of the star pitchers of the Milwaukee team in the American association. The champions will meet the champion Escanaba team of the Wisconsin-Michigan league.

The league next year will likely come under the protection of the national commission. Calumet, Ishpeming, Marquette, Negaunee and Escanaba, with Crystal Falls, Menominee and Hancock possibilities, will make up the league next season. The salary list of the four clubs this season has run as high as $1,600 each, with but two games per week for each club. Negaunee touched the $1,600 mark, while Calumet reached $1,300 and Ishpeming $1,400. Negaunee is out about $2,000 on the season. Ishpeming about the same, Marquette $1,000 and Calumet has about broken even.

This season, however, has merely been a sort of tryout for the game in this part of the country, where there has been no professional baseball for years. The clubs can hardly lose money, with the same attendance next year, if the league gets protection, for a great deal can be realized from the sale of players that is being lost this season. Catcher Cooper of the Calumet club, formerly with Dubuque, Iowa, and owned by Comiskey, has been called to the White Sox. Cooper, however, has just been declared insane at his home in Ohio, after a serious illness in Calumet. Hanley of Marquette university, Milwaukee, finished the season with Calumet. Rogers, University of Michigan catcher, finished with Negaunee.

FOOTBALL BOYS NEED MONEY

High School Team Faces Shortage in the War Chest.

The athletic board of control of Central high school met yesterday to consider the football situation, but very little was accomplished except to find out that the matter of financial support of a team is a grave one.

T. F. Phillips, faculty manager, and Chauncey Colton, coach, have refused to serve another year, and the filling of these positions and that of a student manager, together with the matter of grounds must be dealt with when the board meets again, which will be next week.

It is believed unlikely that the board of education will give the team financial support. Therefore it is considered to be up to the student body to supply the war chest, and if this is not done there will be no team. It is believed that the school never has had, since the days of the late '80's and early '90's, such fine raw material for a team as it has now. Most of the veterans have left, but some splendid new material is in the recruit squad with eagerness to make the team should one be formed.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS ARE BIG DISAPPOINTMENT THIS SEASON

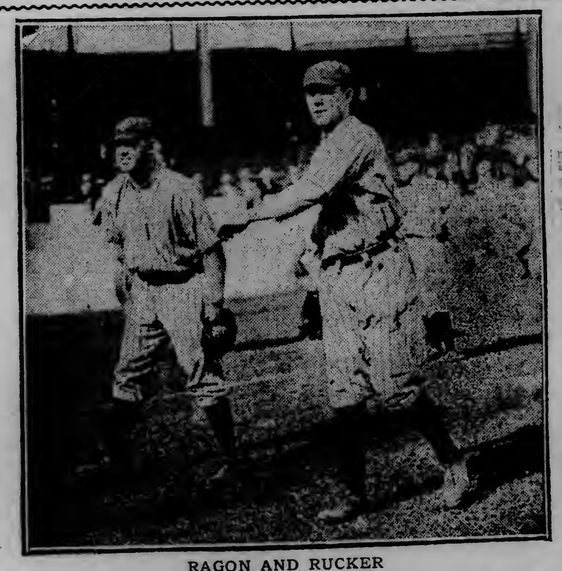

GEYER.

The St. Louis Cardinals have been a disappointment this year. Judged by the showing they made last year they were expected to be a factor in the race for the pennant. Bresnahan's pitchers, however, have not been doing very well and his outfield has been very weak with the stick. He has a good pitcher in Geyer, who came to him from the Columbus club. Geyer beat the Giants in New York, but was beaten by them later, retiring from the game after the fifth inning. Geyer won nine games and lost six last year. The Cardinals outfield is especially weak, not only as fielders, but as batters. Lee Magee, comparatively a newcomer, has won a place in the outfield this season. Last year he batted for .261. In Mike Mowrey, Bresnahan has a pretty good ball player, but not a wonder. He is a fair hitter and a good inside man, and has had experience. He was born in Chambersburg, Pa., March 24, 1883. In 1906 he played ball with Baltimore in the International league and in the same year went to Cincinnati and stayed there for three seasons. He then joined the St. Louis team in 1909. There has been some talk of trading him to Boston recently, but nothing so far has come of it.

MAGEE.

TWO STAR PITCHERS OF THE BROOKLYN SUPERBAS

RAGON AND RUCKER
Of Brooklyn.

In Nap Rucker the Brooklyn Superbas have one of the greatest southpaws in the world. With a winning team Nap would win about 90 per cent of his games. As it is, with a losing team, he is always up among the leaders of the National league pitchers. In Ragon, Dahlen has a good man. He held the Giants to one run in eight innings this week only to have Rucker go in in the ninth and lose the game. At that it was not Rucker's fault. It was the errors of the Dodgers that tossed the game away. Reagon has pitched some fine games this season—also some poor ones. In Pittsburg they say the Superbas will be in the first division next year, judging by their showing in that city this year.

GEERS WINS BIG FEATURE

"Pop," Behind Archdale, Gets Championship Trot at Charter Oak Park.

Veteran Driver Shakes Hard Luck and Beats Out the Favorite.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 7.—"Pop" Geers, after playing in hard luck in two races, carried off the honors at Charter Oak park behind Dudie Archdale, in the free-for-all championship trot. He won the big race, heading Billy Burke, the favorite, in straight heats. In the 2:09 trot, which went six heats, Cheney, a little mare driven by Jack Fleming, had the courage and stamina to outlast fast company, after making a mediocre showing in the first three heats. Geers, behind Anvil, had two of the three heats to his credit when the stallion went lame and was withdrawn. Geers' mount in the 2:07 pace, Early Thacker, proved a tail-ender, but when the veteran piloted Archdale to victory in the final race, he was called before the grandstand and presented with a floral horse shoe.

After Anvil was pulled out of the 2:09 trot, Cheney, Helen Stiles and Oakdale were left to fight it out. Cheney proved too speedy, and took the next three heats.

The 2:07 pace went to Baron A., who was a trailer in the two initial heats.

In the 2:15 trot, Ethel Lyon looked like a winner. She took the first heat in snappy form, but acted badly in the starts. In the second heat Starter Newton was finally forced to ignore her and she was left at the wire. Dorchester then carried off the honors, winning the next three heats.

DOUBLE-HEADER AT BALL PARK

Duluth-Superior League Will Bring Season to a Close.

The Duluth-Superior league will wind up its season tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park, when there will be a double header.

The New Duluths and the Y. M. S. team will play and directly after the game the New Duluths and Jeffersons will meet. The first game is at 2 p. m.

The Jeffersons and the Y. M. S. teams are tied for first place and the games tomorrow may settle the championship. As the teams have their followers, a large crowd is expected out to witness the games.

If both teams should win or both lose, an additional game will be needed to decide the championship.

MAY CAPTURE CALVERLY CUP

Northland Golfers Have a Chance to Win It Permanently.

If Duluth golfers win the contest today at the Northland links against the Houghton players, the handsome cup put up by W. D. Calverly of Houghton will become the property of the Duluth club. Duluth has already won three of the contests and Houghton has won two. This is the second time the two teams have met this season.

The Houghton golfers here today are Messrs. Pryor, Biern, Worchester, Thompson, Cairns and Nichols. The cup is a handsome one, composed of silver with a gold-lined bowl, and stands almost a foot and a half high.

SENATORS AFTER SECOND PLACE

Washington in Determined Effort to Break Red Sox Winning Streak.

Boston, Sept. 7.—The senators today went into the game with the Red Sox—the last of the present series—with the hope of stopping Boston's succession of victories, which not only have increased the Red Sox' lead in the American league pennant race, but also forced Washington from second to third place.

Boston's victory yesterday, with Joe Wood besting Walter Johnson for his fourteenth consecutive victory, attracted no greater crowd than that expected to see today's game. Bob Groom for Washington and Hugh Bedient for Boston were the probable twirlers for today. Fair weather was in prospect.

Washington's fight now admittedly is to take second place from the Athletics. Boston, practically assured of the pennant, is out to create a new American league record in the number of games won in a season. The Red Sox to date have won 92 games. The record is 102 games, made by Philadelphia in 1910. Of the 25 games to be played Boston must win only 11 to attain the new mark.

POOR BALL CLUBS IN BIG LEAGUES

"Bushers" Not Confined to the Minors This Year—Only Five Teams Playing Consistently Good Ball.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

This is a peculiar year as regards weather, politics, finance and a great many other things, but it is the strangest year that modern baseball ever has known. The weather has had an immense influence over the baseball season, and possibly it is the chief reason for the freakishness of the game. For, primarily, the freakishness was started by peculiar training conditions. Not one club out of the sixteen major league clubs that went South this spring found even half-way decent training weather. Every team complained, but it was evident at the start that Chicago and New York, in opposite leagues, with Texas-trained teams, were far and away the better in condition. McGraw had a pitching staff in fair shape. Callahan had three pitchers working well, and Cincinnati with a weak pitching staff, had the men primed up for the task.

In this, Henry O'Day accomplished something that was a surprise to every student of the game. His team had as hard luck as any with the weather, but O'Day knew that the weak point of his team was pitching, and he devoted the training trip to working with pitchers, so he got away well, his weak pitchers in superior condition, outpitching men much their superiors. The result was that the three teams went out and spread-eagled their leagues for a time—and stuck out in the lead so long that actually some thought the White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds had a chance to last through the entire route. There never was a real chance, because both were running far beyond their speed. McGraw's team, with a lot more strength, both in pitching and base running, kept on going because not one of the other managers could get pitchers into condition at the right time to stop them.

The fact is that never since the national agreement was signed have there been so many wretched ball clubs in the major leagues. New York, Chicago and Pittsburg in the National are very fair clubs. Philadelphia is a strong club playing weak ball. The others are bad ball clubs. Boston and the Athletics in the American are strong, consistent teams — the others are patchy, weak in spots, strong in others. The other teams are bad.

This is not my opinion. It is the consensus of opinion of almost every veteran player in the two leagues. The managers lament lack of material. The players say they never saw such poor excuses for players coming up and so few really making good even while they hold the jobs. And the teams are showing it by playing erratic ball, bad ball, wild and at times brainless ball.

This would have been about the easiest season of the last ten years for some consistent team, not a strong one, but a steady and regular team, with four pitchers just a little above the average and all in condition, to win a pennant from the stronger clubs.

Perhaps if the managers had known when the season started how much weak pitching and wild pitching there would be, almost any one of them could have picked up a team that would have been in the fight. For it has been a weak pitching year all around, with a few notable exceptions. This condition is puzzling the managers and the players themselves. I was talking the other day to one of the best hitters in the American league and he remarked:

"I never saw so much bush-league pitching in my life. Even the good pitchers are off, and it is a shame to take the money hitting them. I don't understand it."

Thereupon I questioned four National league players of long experience, men on different clubs, and without any one of them knowing that I had talked to the others, they told me just the same thing.

There are just at present, sixteen major league managers worrying and puzzling as to how to get pitching that they can rely upon. Usually by this time of the season the managers of about three of the leading teams have at least two pitchers in such shape that they can rely confidently upon winning a certain game. This year only six pitchers in the sixteen clubs can be figured as practically sure winners. To have even one pitcher who can be depended upon is a huge asset to a manager; to have two this year is remarkable. For instance, when Chance had Brown, Overall, Pfiester and Reulbach in shape, he figured Brown practically a certain winner, and pitted him against the hardest pitchers in each series. It was Brown vs. Matty, Brown vs. Camnitz, Brown vs. Rucker, Brown vs. Moore. That cut Brown's percentage of wins, of course, but in five out of seven games Brown won, and gave the Cubs the advantage of the series. This season he hasn't one man he can be certain of, which ruins his figuring. McGraw had three 5 to 3 bets in pitching, Griffith one 2 to 1 shot and one 5 to 3, and so on.

Which brings us down to the point. I want you to study these facts and see how the wise manager affects the pennant races. Just now every one is giving Clark Griffith credit with being the wise manager of them all. He is a smart clever, scientific manager. He was the same at Cincinnati, where he failed. Griffith told me a year ago last spring that with one air-tight pitcher he could come near winning the National league pennant for Cincinnati. He didn't have one, as the whole staff failed him. This year he has Johnson and by wise handling of his air-tight pitcher he still is up there fighting for the flag.

On the other hand, Jimmy Callahan is being roasted in Chicago because of the failure of the White Sox. Yet Callahan and Griffith had exactly the same theories and the same systems. Callahan knew when the season started that he had an uncertain and patchwork team going on enthusiasm and likely to explode at any moment. He relied upon holding up in the race by using Walsh as often as possible and winning with Scott, Lange and the new men to help out. Unfortunately Scott and Lange were both disabled, the youngsters after a flash began to fail, and Walsh was compelled to carry the extra burden, which resulted in overworking him.

Then, with the little difference in Walsh's pitching and the weakening of the others, the team lost heart and went to destruction. If Groom, Hughes and Cashion had been laid up the same way that Lange, Scott and Benz were and Griffith had been compelled to overwork Johnson, Washington would be in just the same fix as the White Sox now are.

McGraw deserves great credit for keeping his pitching staff going and he certainly is clever at picking pitchers. Chance, who hasn't had a real pitching staff all year, really deserves more credit, for he has developed the weak staff into a formidable one and, if Brown could by some miracle come into top form just now, the Cubs could wade through to victory almost beyond doubt. Fred Clarke is up against much the same proposition that Chance is, and is compelled to guess pitchers' condition from day to day.

Boston's Red Sox are lucky in one thing. It does not strike me that Stahl picks pitchers well, but then, he hasn't much choice. He has four who are pretty close together in ability and his use of Wood is good. The team is covering his pitching weakness by its hitting and fielding strength. Connie Mack, who has been one of the wisest in selecting pitchers, finds himself against a new proposition. He has only Render in reliable shape, and what is worse, just when one of the others seems to settle into form he is likely to pitch a bad game. The pitching staff is not nearly as reliable as in former years and seems unable to get started on the spurt that now will be necessary to get them up to Boston.

The pennant races in both leagues are being decided by the judgment of managers in choosing their pitchers, and if you look them over and study their selections you'll see that the six managers who rank highest in that regard are leading the six top clubs that are still in the races. I would add to this list Callahan and O'Day, who rather are unfortunate than erring. O'Day got everything out of his pitching staff that it had in it and Callahan was more the victim of hard luck that upset his plan of campaign than a victim of bad judgment.

In the American league it looks more and more like Boston, for with the stretch in sight the Red Sox still are moving fast and holding grimly to their lead, while the Athletics are slipping up on easy games.

In the National, New York is fighting with the desperation of a frightened team, while Chance keeps his team battling onward trying to close the gap, and Pittsburg still hangs on. The Giants are resorting to desperate methods to win now that they are alarmed over losing out after thinking all year that it was a cinch; they are going back to the old McGraw tactics. If you do not think so, just watch the hit by pitched ball column in their scores during the next fortnight. Will the umpires let them go to first if they are hit purposely? The only reply is that O'Day is managing Cincinnati and he was the only umpire who ever stopped them.

CUBS WIN FROM REDS IN LAST INNING RALLY.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 7. — Chicago won an uphill battle from Cincinnati in the ninth inning, finishing 6 to 5. The locals contributed two errors in this round and these, coupled with three hits by the visitors, netted the latter three runs and put them one run to the good at the finish. Sheckard, Cotter and Phelan hit timely. Fromme forced a run over the plate in the fifth by giving Ritchie a base on balls with the bases full. Score:

LEADERS WIN BOTH GAMES OF DOUBLE BILL.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7. — New York again won both games of a double-header here, giving them five out of six contests in three days in this city. New York won the opener by hitting Rixey's delivery hard in the third and fourth innings. Tesreau pitched in grand style and after the game was given credit by the official scorer for a no-hit victory, although previously one hit had been recorded against him. The disputed play came in the first inning. Paskert hit a fly near a platform for which Merkle and Wilson ran. Each fielder got under the ball. Then fearing a collision they permitted the ball to drop to the ground. After the game, the official scorer reversed his decision on the play and decided to cross out the hit for Paskert and give Merkle an error as the latter said he had touched the ball when he saw that Wilson would not run into him. The second game was hard-fought, each team using three pitchers. New York won in the ninth on an error, two singles and a sacrifice. The scores:

TIGERS FAIL TO HIT AND LOSE TO ST. LOUIS.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—Detroit could not hit Hamilton, but after giving his ninth base on balls in the eighth, he was taken out and Allison finished, keeping St. Louis safe in the lead. Hamilton also had two batters. Wheatley, a recruit, pitched the first seven innings for Detroit. Score:

St. Louis	000100300	4	11 0
Detroit	001000010	2	4 0

PHILADELPHIA TAKES ANOTHER FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 7.—Philadelphia defeated New York again, 4 to 2. McConnell easily outpitched Crabb, but the breaks favored the Athletic recruit. New York made only two runs on fourteen hits, and six passes, and an error by Collins let in one of these runs. The visitors won in the ninth when Baker singled and McInnis attempted to sacrifice. Chase threw wild to second to force Baker, and when Lelivelt let the throw go through him, Baker scored and McInnis reached third. Barry scored McInnis on the squeeze. Score: R. H. E.

Jackson opened the eleventh with a pass, LaJoie singled, Birmingham bunted to Benz, who tossed the ball to first wild. Jackson scoring. Graney sent a long fly to Lord, who made a beautiful running catch, and then threw wild to third to catch LaJoie, who kept on running from second and scored. Another single scored Birmingham. WOOD BEATS JOHNSON IN GREAT PITCHING BATTLE.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7.—Joe Wood beat Walter Johnson, winning his fourteenth straight victory in a spectacular pitchers' battle, which Johnson sought in the hope of protecting his American league record of sixteen consecutive wins. The score was, Boston, 1; Washington, 0. The lone tally came in the sixth inning with two out. Speaker hit into the crowd in left field for two bases. Lewis, next up, knocked into right field for a double, a hard fly which Moeller was barely able to touch, Speaker scoring. Washington had more opportunities to score than Boston, but Wood was at the top of his game in the pinches, striking out nine men. Johnson fanned five, three of these being consecutive outs in the fifth. The Senators filled the bases, two men being passed in the third, and Wood fanned Moeller for the third out. Washington had runners on second in the sixth, eighth and ninth, but they could get no farther, Wood fanning men for the last out on two of these occasions. Score: R. H. E.

AUTOMOBILES

AUTO TOURING AT SMALL COST

Indianapolis Man Finds Motoring Averages About 2.1 Cents Per Mile.

Actual cost of motor car touring is a matter of particular interest to automobilists. So few people keep absolutely accurate accounts that the expense of the average tourist heretofore has been difficult to obtain.

For this reason the trip finished this week by F. J. Sleght of Indianapolis bears special significance. For 2,086 miles Mr. Sleght, with three companions, drove his car through the states of Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, and the average cost per mile per passenger was a very slight fraction over one-half of 1 cent.

Mr. Sleght and his party left Indianapolis three weeks ago with Canandaigua, N. Y., as his terminus. Throughout the trip Mr. Sleght kept an accurate record of gasoline and oil consumption, charges for storing, washing and polishing, as well as incidentals and hotel expenses. A touring party can make hotel expense a variable figure, so the real cost of the trip is that incurred by the motor car.

The route, which covered 2,086 miles led through Marion, Ohio, Ashtabula and Cleveland; Erie, Pa.; and Buffalo and Canadaigua. Two weeks were spent in and about this New York town and the return trip was made via Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland, Elyria, Fort Wayne and Muncie. On Wednesday the longest day's run was made, 277 miles, from Elyria to Indianapolis. In the entire distance a total of 134 gallons of gasoline was used, an average of 15½ miles to the gallon.

Twelve gallons of oil were put into the engine, more than was necessary, but every motorist knows that an excess of motor lubricant is safest on a long tour. The average for this distance is the only factor in the expense record which does not explain itself. When Mr. Sleght left Indianapolis his engine contained two gallons of fresh oil. After running 400 miles it was drained from the crank case and two fresh gallons supplied. This was repeated twice again, so that a complete change of oil was made every 400 miles. This accounts for eight gallons, while four gallons were consumed in the pints put into the motor each morning, and that used on spring shackles and other parts.

The average cost of gasoline was 18 cents per gallon and that of oil 60 cents per gallon, so that the total cost of the former was $24.12 and the latter $7.20. For storage at night, washing and other incidentals there is an item of $12.49. While at Canandaigua Mr. Sleght had a private garage at his disposal so he had no storage expense.

The total cost for the operation of the car, therefore, was $43.81, an average of 2 1-10 cents per mile. For four people, this figures out a little over ½ cent per mile per passenger.

This shows that motor car touring is by far the least expensive form of traveling. Mr. Sleght had but one puncture on the entire trip and that after he had traveled 1,800 miles. It is safe to say, therefore, that a levy of 1 cent per mile per passenger on a tour of this kind would cover not only the actual expense but also the cost of wear and tear on tires.

WOMAN AN ENTHUSIAST IN MOTORCYCLING.

Among the women who rode to the F. A. M. convention at Columbus, Ohio, in the national tours was Mrs. W. R. Dreher of Toledo. Mrs. Dreher made the trip to Toledo — and enjoyed every minute of it. She joined the Chicago tour en route, and, riding at the side of Mr. Dreher, easily maintained the pace set by the tourmaster.

Mrs. Dreher found the motorcycle simple in its operation and managed her machine easily from the very first day of her motorcycling experience.

"Motorcycling is the best fun in the world," she says, "and it brings health as well as pleasure."

Mrs. Dreher makes many trips through Ohio on her machine and is often seen on the streets and boulevards in Toledo.

Back From Auto Trip.

PLAYING FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Evans and Travers in Finals of the National Golf Tournament.

Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 7.—Charles Evans, Jr., of Edgewater, Western champion, and Jerome Travers of Upper Montclair, twice holder of the national title, met today to battle for the national golf championship.

Travers was able yesterday to use his wooden clubs to advantage for the first time during the tournament. His iron shots, however, have been accurate all week and he said before play opened today that he expected to put up one of the best games of his career.

Evans has been a trifle off in his putting, but his driving and iron shots throughout the tournament have been almost perfect.

Evans and Harold H. Hilton of the Royal Liverpool Golf club, former national champion, tomorrow will play off their tie for the low qualifying medal.

STAGELAND

AT THE LYCEUM

According to the stage fashions, telephone girls will be much in evidence this season. There is one in David Belasco's new play and George Broadhurst has one in "Bought and Paid For" to be presented at the Lyceum for one week commencing tomorrow night under the direction of William A. Brady (Ltd.)

In this noted play the telephone girl marries a millionaire whom she does not really lose. She respects him. Incidentally, her marriage makes things easier for her sister and brother-in-law and their baby.

The respect is soon shattered when the wife discovers that her husband is a drunkard. Under these conditions he is an unspeakable brute, and the extent of his brutality is clearly shown in the second act when he returns home in a maudlin condition, and resenting his wife's repugnance for him in this condition boasts that she is "Bought and Paid For." Then he breaks down the door of the room in which she has locked herself. In the third act she begs him to reform and threatens to leave him unless he promises to do so. He refuses and the wife hands back the jewels and the wedding ring and departs. The curtain falls on the husband calling up a detective agency. "No, no," he says, irritably. I don't want anyone watched. I want you to protect someone." The last act shows her living in humble circumstances with her equally reduced sister and brother-in-law. She is a poor shop girl now living on $7 a week, and hanging on to a strap in the subway twice daily. The brother-in-law, who has a fresh idea every half hour, evolves a scheme to bring the husband and wife together. He succeeds. They really love each other and are pining for each other. All is forgiven. They are reunited. She goes back to furs, automobiles, French maid, jewels, and her discarded wedding ring. The remark of her brother-in-law is true indeed. "Say, you make Laura Jean Libbey look like a piker." This same fellow is the joy of the play. He is an inspiration in character study. An ungrateful sponge, he takes all his wealthy brother-in-law gives him, coolly ascribing the opulence to his own worth and industry. The names of the New York cast have been published before. The production is elaborate and complete.

The Sheehan English Opera company will come to the Lyceum theater for two nights commencing Monday Sept. 16, opening the engagement with Verdi's immortal masterpiece "Il Trovatore."

So much has been said of the great artists that comprise the Sheehan English Grand Opera company and so well known is the opera of "Il Trovatore," that it seems almost useless to go into details. Of all the world's operas "Il Trovatore" is the most operas are taken from its tuneful melodies. Almost every street organ depends upon "Il Trovatore" for its melody.

The "Anvil Chorus" is one of the most beautiful numbers ever put on any stage. This setting represents a gypsy camp in the mountains surrounded by rocks and ruins on all sides, in the clearing are numerous anvils, with their electrical effects, used in making the armor for the soldiers before going to the wars.

The famous "Miserere," in the tower scene, is beyond description. It must be seen and heard to be appreciated. The tower of the prison overlooking the rocky coast of Spain is a most impressive sight. As for the music, whom one recalls the great trio at the end of the first act, the world renowned "Al Quella Pira," said to be the greatest tenor solo ever written, the fine baritone solo "Il Balen," the great duet between the soprano and baritone and dozens of others, it is easy to realize why "Il Trovatore" has been for fifty years the most popular opera the world has ever known.

On Tuesday night "The Chimes of Normandy" will be sung.

"The Chocolate Soldier," with a special company of eighty and orchestra of twenty-five will be an early attraction at the Lyceum. Miss Pena Vicienne of Duluth is singing the leading role in this company.

• • •

One of the features of the programs to be presented by John Philip Sousa in this season's tour of Sousa and his band, which will include their appearance here at the Lyceum this fall, will be a new suite by Mr. Sousa, written on lines suggested by incidents connected with his recent "tour of the world," and entitled "The Tales of a Traveler."

It is in three movements, each of which is illustrative of the characteristics peculiar to the different parts of the world selected for portrayal in music.

"Officer 666" is the busiest policeman in the world—and the funniest. The famous sleuth who answers to the roll call when these numerals are pronounced will be here when Cohan & Harris present "Officer 666" at the Lyceum in November.

This farce is by long odds the best entertainment that has been offered metropolitan audiences in many seasons, a fact proved by its run of a year in New York and nearly that length of time in Chicago.

What should prove to be without question one of the finest engagements of the theatrical season will be the appearance of the Gilbert & Sullivan Festival company at the Lyceum in a revival of Gilbert & Sullivan's best operettas, "The Mikado," "Pinafore," "Patience," and The Pirates of Penzance," exactly the same company which but recently completed a record breaking season at the Casino theater, New York.

An especial interest attached to these revivals is not only their restoration but the magnitude of the company presenting them, which is one of exceptional excellence containing as it does such well known artists as De Wolf Hopper, Blanche Duffield, Eugene Cowles, George MacFarlane, Kate Condon, Arthur Aldridge, Viola Gillette, Alice Brady, Arthur Cunningham and Louise Barthel.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Gus Weinberg, well known to Duluthians from his many visits here as the Burgomaster, and in other musical comedies, will be the headline attraction next week in George Hobart's German playlet "Mein Liebchen," translated for those unfamiliar with the German as "My Loved One." This is Mr. Weinberg's first essay in vaudeville and he has a role that suits him splendidly. It allows for the irresistible humor made so well known through this comedy actor's efforts in "The Burgomaster" and it also allows of a suggestion of pathos that, according to the critics, Mr. Weinberg handles splendidly.

The story of "Mein Liebschen" deals with an old German musician forced to give up his playing and thereby his livelihood because of a nervous affection of the arm. His daughter goes to work in a department store and the owner falls in love with her simple charm and grace. The old father is told that the man's interest is not such as to honor his daughter and his distress and sorrow until things are straightened out provide the "Heart interest" which Mr. Weinberg is pleased to show his audience that he is capable of interpreting. "Mein Liebchen" combines all of the things that a vaudeville audience delights in, humor, a heart interest, pathos and a happy ending. The sketch has been most carefully produced and has been giving delight in the cities on the Orpheum circuit where it has been produced.

A scottish ventriloquist in kilts and a' is Howard, who will appear at the Orpheum next week. The performer appears as a dentist awaiting a "victim." The first to enter is a wee laddie with a toothache. Accompanying him is a fresh youngster who is anxious to see the fun. The little manikins are marvelous bits of mechanism and Howard handles them wonderfully. At times the three are talking at once apparently, one sings a song and as a climax one walks down into the audience and speaks from there. Ventriloquism is fascinating and the act as presented by Howard next week at the Orpheum is a novel and most attractive one.

Caricature enables the writer or artist to show most vividly the dominating characteristics of the victim and it is in caricature that La Petite Mignon, will next week present well known players to Duluthians. Mignon's methods of mimicry enable her to present prominent stage favorites with a sure and incisive touch of caricature that has made her act a popular one.

A feature of the act of Dane Claudius and Lillian Scarlet is a musical presentation of the songs that stirred the heart of the nation during the time of the Civil war. The songs presented by this interesting vaudeville team are not the patriotic songs of our country, but the songs commonly designated as songs of "heart interest," songs that gallant young soldiers sent back home for their best girls to sing during their absence. The act, of course, has songs familiar to the audience like "Clementine" and "Old Dog Tray" and "Darling Nellie Gray" and others but also included are "Wait for the Wagon", a song of 1854, the "Blue Bell" of that period. It was a march song that swept the country. Others of the time are "Grandfather's Clock," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "Ole Dan Tucker" and "Billy Boy." The songs are played in costumes of the period in a stage setting that suggests the atmosphere of America during that time of distress and trouble.

The Two Alfreds are described as the head to head musicians, not, however, head to head as the summer girl and her young man in a hammock but one of the Alfreds rests his head on the other's head and extends his feet into the air. In this perilous position the two Alfreds play banjos and such instruments. The balancing feats accomplished are wonderful and the act given is an interesting one.

"Ocean Breezes" is a musical sketch presented by Maud Ronair and Joe Ward and with smart dialogue, clever dancing and catchy songs they offer a most pleasing twenty minutes' entertainment.

The Aerial Sherwoods in startling stunts in mid-air will provide the thrilling pleasure for the lovers of startling gymnastics.

World events in the motion pictures and the Orpheum concert orchestra will complete the bill for the week. The first performance will be given Sunday afternoon and the bill will be repeated every afternoon and evening during the week.

Miss Jessie Busley, recently a prominent member of the old New Theater company and previously the star of "In the Bishop's Carriage," is in vaudeville playing a delightful little comedy. Miss Busley has just signed contracts to appear over the Orpheum circuit beginning early in October.

On Monday last at the Palace theater, Chicago, Miss Adrienne Augarde made her initial vaudeville appearance. Miss Augarde has just retired from the title role of "The Rose Maid" to make a tour of the Orpheum circuit.

James J. Cullen is about to begin his fourteenth annual Orpheum circuit tour. "The Man From the West," as Mr. Cullen calls himself, seems to have an inexhaustible supply of songs and stories and the most recent edition always seems to be the best. His past impressions seem to recommend for the future.

A marvelous exhibition of electrical resistance is given by George H. Watt, who has just come from Germany to play a tour of the Orpheum circuit. Watt has thoroughly mystified the medical fraternity by permitting 500,000 volts of electricity to pass through his person without its doing him the slightest harm. His performance consists of various scientific demonstrations with current. His experiments, however, are of a spectacular nature, therefore exceeding amusing.

• • •

Two comediennes, both about to inaugurate Orpheum circuit tours, and both exceedingly and deservedly popular in vaudeville, are Nellie Nichols and Mary Elizabeth. They both receive the same classification but their methods are entirely different, though equally fetching. Miss Nichols claims to be the only Greek comedienne on the stage and Miss Elizabeth is the young woman whose identity is shrouded in mystery.

AT THE EMPRESS

For the week commencing Sunday afternoon, the patrons of the Empress are promised one of the strongest vaudeville and picture programs of the present season. The management of the Empress is making every effort to offer only the best talent obtainable and the large crowds that are in attendance at each performance are ample proof that the theater-going public appreciate the excellence of the entertainment offered them from week to week.

The Scharr-Wheeler Trio, sensational comedy bicyclists, will be a special feature on the coming week's bill. This attraction is spoken of by performers and public alike as being one of the greatest cycling acts in existence. The Scharr-Wheeler trio comes to Duluth from the Palace theater, London, and is the season's latest importation. It was a permanent fixture at the London Hippodrome for six months, and Paris, too, voted it a great success. Two clever men riders and a winsome young miss comprise this aggregation and their feats upon the bicycle promise to put the capstone upon all previous exhibitions of bicycle-riding presented at the Empress. In realms of the cycle world, the name Scharr-Wheeler is as famous in America as in Europe for American theater-goers who have not seen this famous trio have at least heard of their wonderful feats. This act is full of thrills and the daring riders perform sensational and hair-raising feats with rapidity that is bewildering. In addition to the sensational features of this attraction, one of the trio is a very clever pantomime comedian and keeps the audience in very good humor with his funny antics. The following is a notice from the St. Paul Pioneer Press: "The show at the Empress this week is easily one of the best of the present season. Heading the bill is the Scharr-Wheeler trio, sensational cyclists. This trio is composed of two men and a clever young woman, who perform some wonderful feats on the bicycle. Their novelty is easily one of the best ever presented in St. Paul. Their work is all being done in an exceptionally graceful manner and this combined with the speed with which they accomplish their various feats makes theirs one of the most interesting bicycle acts before the public."

An exceptionally versatile pair of entertainers are De Voy & Dayton, who will offer a singing, talking, dancing medley of mimicry. Each of this clever pair is an adept at the above mentioned styles of entertainment and they will no doubt create a decidedly favorable impression during their coming engagement at the Empress. In addition to being a comedian of more than ordinary ability, Mr. De Voy is a writer of note and has written most of the material used by Miss Dayton and himself. De Voy & Dayton have won an enviable reputation for themselves on the various vaudeville circuits all over the country as entertainers of class and the patrons of the Empress are promised fifteen minutes of solid entertainment by this attraction.

The third vaudeville attraction for the week will be Eddie Hill, who is heralded as being one of the very best singing and talking entertainers in vaudeville. Personally Mr. Hill is a pleasing, well-groomed young fellow with a graceful stage presence and a quietly humorous manner. He tells his jokes in a refined and intelligent style which adds greatly to their effectiveness. Aided to this and of equal importance is the fact that he has excellent material and plenty of it. In addition to his ability as a comedian, Mr. Hill is blessed with a pleasing voice which he uses to excellent advantage in the rendition of several of the late popular airs.

A special photoplay feature for the week will be "Coronets and Hearts," a stirring dramatic release produced by the Vitagraph company. This beautiful film tells a story of a young English nobleman, who, while visiting this country, falls in love with a beautiful young heiress. He proposes and is accepted but upon advising his father of his intended matrimonial venture, he is told that he must marry for money. Later Lillian learns of this and spurns the young earl. He being heartily ashamed of himself, relinquishes all claim to his title, goes West to become a rancher. Several years later he saves a train from being robbed by a band of desperadoes and it happens that Lillian and her father are passengers on this same train. It is only natural that the young man is forgiven and all ends well. This is produced with infinite care by the Vitagraph company, and is one of the best dramatic films ever presented by them. Simla, one of the hill towns of India, is shown with all its grandeur by the Edison company. This picture is a most beautiful one and all lovers of travel pictures will take rare delight in this offering. "The Live Wire," a breezy Western comedy by Pathe completes the picture program for the week.

She will be supported by Charles White, Jane Gordon and A. Karpe. Miss Harned is now at work upon a four-act play.

London newspapers are calling attention to the fact that H. B. Irving's appearance at the Drury Lane theater in September, when he will be seen in the role of Nobody in "Everywoman," will be another instance of a son following in the footsteps of a distinguished father. It was at Old Drury that the late Sir Henry Irving played his last London season in the summer of 1905.

• • •

Like father, like son. For a number of years Robert E. Graham acted under the management of Henry W. Savage. He originated the role of Popoff in "The Merry Widow." Last week Robert E. Graham, Jr., was engaged by Mr. Savage to play an important part in this season's production of "Excuse Me."

• • •

Otis Harlan, who has the comedy role of the detective in Henry W. Savage's production of the Franco-Scotch operetta, "Little Boy Blue," reads all of the "detective" stories upon which he can lay his hands. He does it seriously too, because he says such literature is of great assistance to him in his portrayal of Dupont. The sleuth in "Little Boy Blue" is supposed to be funny, and, according to Harlan, the detectives he has encountered in the course of fiction he is now following are funnier than any characters he has ever seen on the stage.

• • •

Thus far only English actors have played the part of Nobody in "Everywoman." H. Cooper Cliffe and Frederick Warde to whom it was entrusted last season are both Britons, and in the London production of the modern morality play, H. B. Irving, son of the late Sir Henry, will have the role. That it might not come to be considered as exclusively the right of our actor cousins, Henry W. Savage has engaged Wadsworth Harris for one of his American companies this season. But in Harris' engagement there might be said to be shown an unwillingness to depart from a young but healthy tradition—he is a native of New England.

Pretty Mothers

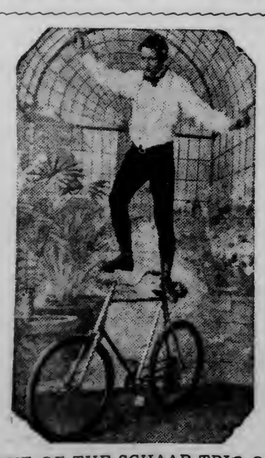

Health is the foundation of all good looks. The wise woman realizes this and takes precautions to preserve her health and strength through the period of child bearing. She remains a pretty mother by avoiding as far as possible the suffering and dangers of such occasions. This every woman may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. story of love and adventure during the great Sicilian earthquake. "Wooing Dorothea," by Jessie A. McGriff, is an Atlantic City love story of an original type. Other noteworthy short-stories are "The Movable Feast," by Hulbert Footner; "Sanctuary," by John Fleming Wilson; "Seventy-Times Seven," by Lizette Woodworth Reese; and "In the Kingdom of Not-in-the-Least-Bit-Like-It," by Kate Masterson. The "Short-Story Masterpiece" is "In Exile," by a Russian writer, Anton Chekhov. As usual, there is an introduction by the editor.

The September Metropolitan is a summer fiction number with a variety of entertaining stories by W. W. Jacobs, Melville D. Post, Allen Sangree and others. The lighter vein is continued in the articles, which are mostly of a picturesque, descriptive character. These include a brilliant description of the Yosemite Valley by Robert Haven Schauffler; a new development of the art of dancing by Bliss Carman; "A Glance at Rodin," by Carl Hovey, and "The Price of Fish," by W. D. Steele. These articles are enhanced by many handsome illustrations.

The Popular Science Monthly for September contains the following articles: "Research in Medicine," by Prof. Richard M. Pearce; "Wind-graved Mesas and Their Message," by Dr. Charles R. Keyes; "Old Lamps for New," by John Mills; "The Revival of Economic Orthodoxy," Prof. S. M. Patten; "George Marcgrave, the First Student of American Natural History," by Dr. E. W. Gudger; "The Real Problem of Commission Government," by Oswald Ryan; "Genius and Hair Color," by Charles Kassel; "The Nature of Hunger," by Prof. W. B. Cannon; "The Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Royal Society"; "The International Eugenics Congress."

The leading place in the Engineering Magazine for September is given to the second article of the series by Edwin C. Eckel on the iron ore reserves of America. In the first article, appearing in last month's issue, Mr. Eckel directed attention to the general principles which justify and render necessary the ownership of reasonable ore reserves by iron and steel manufacturing companies. This second article is restricted to a consideration of the actual ore situation in the United States, and how future development of the iron industry is likely to be affected by the gradual exhaustion of high-grade ores.

In Harper's for September Arnold Bennett contributes his sixth article on "Your United States," in which he waxes enthusiastic over baseball and gives his impression of a football game. Albert Bigelow Paine, continuing his biography of Mark Twain, tells in Twain's own words the story of how he went back to the Mississippi and how he was recognized; also of when Twain impersonated Gen. Sherman. Mme. De Hergermann-Lindenerone (formerly Miss Moulton) tells of a visit to Garibaldi which was arranged for her by American friends in Italy. A notable article in this number is "Trouville—a Paris By the Sea," by Harris Rhodes, with illustrations in tint by F. Walter Taylor. Another feature is "The Balking of Christopher," a story by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, with illustrations in color and black and white by W. H. D. Koerner.

The current number of Life is full of pictures about baseball. The cover is a small boy looking at a large game. The first inside picture shows a man who has temporarily forgotten himself and has once more become a boy again. There is a stirring piece of verse by Arthur Guiterman, "Dorian's Home Walk," almost as good as "Casey at the Bat." Mr. Gibson has a center page cartoon. The dramatic season also opens in this number of Life, which appears to keep up its batting average very well. In fact, among humorous papers, Life carries the pennant.

Is the issue of Harper's Weekly for Aug. 21 appears an interesting article by George Marvin upon Dr. Morrison, the Australian who has recently been appointed advisor to the Chinese government. Edward Hungerford writes upon "When Woman Travels." Other articles in this issue are: "The Needs of Our Army," by Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war; "The Dollars Behind the Diamond," by Edward Bayard Moss; "The Railways and the Public," by A. Maurice Low; "The Apotheosis of La Boxe," an amusing story of a new French sport, by William Inglis.

ATLANTIC CITY IN SEASON AND OUT

The "Board Walk" City a Study in Black and White —Irregularity of Work Reaches Its Climax There —Jersey Town Faces Unique Problems.

By MARGARET L. BRETT.

(The Service The Survey Press Bureau)

Atlantic City, viewed by the charity organization worker, becomes a study in black and white. On the avenues are the visitors, served hand and foot by an army of blithesome negroes. In the alleys throng negroes who are taken care of when necessary,—which is often, by the resident whites. "In season and out of season"—that is Atlantic city. "In season", relatives and and acquaintances are urged to come to this El Dorado, and come they do in battallions, happy with the vision of picking up like shells from the beach gold that the visitors waste. And then they wake up. "Out of season", a city of 300,000 all of a sudden in the moisture of a cold wave has dissolved to 100,000 and in two weeks the recently arrived are paying room rent with promises and subsisting on the sea breezes.

We tided over one youth and girl who came to Atlantic city for their honey-moon, evidently under the impression that the railroad ticket included indefinite shelter and sustenance for their supplies ran out in one gay thoughtless week. On Sunday evening they spoke to the minister, who found for them cheap lodgings and assumed the rent. Next night they decided that to return home without funds would be a disgrace. The following day they both got work and the bride bravely wrote for her trunk. Her position held out for a week; the boy's for three days. The next Sunday night, with hearts bowed down, they humbled their pride, let us telegraph their parents to prepare a welcome, and accepted the railroad fares which ended the honeymoon.

One Philadelphia youth left a good job as a stenographer, which he had had for two years, evidently relying on somebody's advice, that all you had to do in Atlantic city was to stroll along the broadwalk and decide in which hotel you would rather be an amanuensis. During a short sojourn he accumulated broadwalk feet, nervous prostration and a plentiful lack of clean linen, all of which he took back with him to the city of steady jobs.

Irregularity of employment, the most serious problem of modern life, reaches its climax in Atlantic city. None of her occupations is of the industries: the population is continuously changing with the seasons. The resort in 1880 was a marshy island dotted with cottages. But there was an incomparable beach with a magic climate and through the efforts of railroads and natives the town thrived. Fashion came. Hotels were built until the streets are shaded with sign-boards. Shops sprang up along the famous boardwalk, while amusements of all sorts were devised for the entertainment of the guests. The boundaries spread so that today the resident population is 46,150 and the average transient 130,000.

To those whose occupation is out of doors, the weather is the actual employer. Atlantic city, because of its situation, receives the full effect of every passing phase of the elements, and chair-pushers or flower-vender, the cement-worker or slate-roofer is buffeted by northeasters. The fishermen also, suffer alike from seasons and climate conditions, although to a lesser degree.

Yet in ignorance of these drawbacks hundreds arrive monthly to seek employment. The few fortunate ones drift about from one lodging house to another until some temporary work is at last found; the many unfortunate finally become stranded and appeal to charity for transportation back home.

When the city first commenced its development, no thought for the housing of the serving class was given. Huddled at the back of luxurious hostelries, the present living quarters of the poor man is precisely the outcome of what such a planless plan should be—two-room shacks, worn out homesteads, ill-constructed houses, all cellarless and few sanitary, situated with no regard for established thoroughfares or other buildings, their accesses from a labyrinth of alleys, lanes and streets. Within the last few years rows of six-room brick houses are gradually taking the place of the wooden shanties. The rents for these are high and are raised in the summer. Still, the tenant with that understanding in view always hopes to make up the deficiency by renting rooms with the "privilege of the kitchen" throughout the open seasons.

The worst living conditions are found among the families of the bay fishermen. With few exceptions they abide in houseboats hauled up on the marshy islands of the inlet. For the most part these boats are neither sanitary nor weather proof. Many are so low that it is impossible to stand upright in them. Others are so narrow that one has to squeeze between the pieces of furniture. The parents and any number of children sleep in one bed, while during the winter ventilation is unknown. In one houseboat sixteen feet long and four wide, lived a family of six. A bed occupied precisely half of the interior, an oil stove and wooden bench the other half. What dishes and provisions there were got thrown together in a pocket-like cupboard under the fore part of the boat. In order to wash, to cook or to comb her hair, the woman was obliged to kneel. Should it happen that during the night the father rolled unregardedly, one or two children tumbled over the edge of the bed.

A small body of philanthropic persons maintain such institution for relief as there are. The county almshouse is neither large enough, nor is it connected with a hospital for chronic cases, a very much needed place, as the two hospitals (one supported by annual contributors, and the other municipal, treat for acute illnesses only. The organized charities, founded in 1909, does the greater part of the relief work. The last two years it has handled the city appropriation fund. The Salvation Army conducts an industrial home and the Volunteers of America a transient lodging house for men and women. One day nursery does excellent work, but is far from sufficient.

With the large colored population, nearly two-fifths of the whole, the lack of proper facilities for combating tuberculosis is a serious question. Absolutely no provision is made by either city or county. However, the city holds the lowest record for infant mortality in New Jersey.

A city which is host to more public weal conventions than any other in the United States should adopt the motto "Charity Begins at Home". New Jersey's distinguished governor has recently urged Atlantic city to cultivate a moral spirit, and laid the corner stone of a Y. M. C. A. building erected for that purpose. A sanitary spirit is necessary too. Opportunity invites somebody to lay the corner stone of an institution founded to study and solve Atlantic city's unique problem of poverty.

SOUTHERN METHODIST ACCUSED OF HERESY.

Shelbina, Mo., Sept. 7.—Charges of heresy have been made against Rev. J. C. Handy, pastor of the Methodist church at Mexico, at the Methodist Episcopal church, south, conference in session here. The charges were made by Rev. J. O. Edmonds, a superannuated preacher residing at Mexico, and he asked that a committee be named to investigate.

Bishop Mouzon appointed Rev. R. H. Cooper, W. A. Hanna, H. I. Cobb, W. L. Scarborough and J. M. Bone as the investigating committee. Rev. Handy is a brilliant scholar-preacher. There is considerable doubt of the charges being sustained.

DULUTH'S MANUFACTURING ACTIVITY.

The Herald prints tonight about as interesting an item as it has had in a long while.

It is a sort of sequel to the series of Duluth "talking points" that has been running in this newspaper, and it describes the present condition of the manufacturing industries of Duluth.

Every one is prosperous. Every one, apparently, is running at its full capacity—or would be if it could get the men.

All labor in these lines is fully employed, and there is work for many more. Wages are good, and the manufacturers are busy and prosperous.

Pay rolls are the foundation stones of a city's economic prosperity. The more pay rolls, the more people. Duluth's foundation, by this showing, is being built broad and strong.

And do you realize that if everybody bought Duluth-made goods—if everybody would "DO IT FOR DULUTH"—there is hardly one of these manufacturing establishments that wouldn't have to double, treble or quadruple its capacity within the year?

Law of Compensation.

A Scotch scientist says he can produce life by chemical combinations. Which is only equitable, seeing that chemical combinations also have been found capable of producing death.

DULUTH'S BANK DEPOSITS.

As disclosed by the quarterly statement advertised in The Herald last evening, the deposits in Duluth's banks amount to $26,418,134.09.

This is by far the largest amount ever on deposit in Duluth at one time. It is an average of more than $330 for every man, woman and child in Duluth; and few communities are so rich.

These figures show a solid prosperity, and they show that this prosperity is growing. They are an answer to the knocker, a deathblow to the calamity howler, and an inspiration to the hopeful.

Duluth is going ahead in every line, and its progress in the next five years will be worth watching.

If.

If little business took half the interest in government affairs that big business does, there would be mighty poor pickin's for the professional political grafter.

THE MEGALOMANIAC.

Roosevelt's madness increases.

Yesterday he said that every man who is against the third party—that is, against ME—is "the ally of Wall Street, the ally of privilege, the ally of bossism."

Among the allies of Wall Street, privilege and bossism that might be named are William Jennings Bryan, Louis D. Brandeis, Robert M. La Follette, Dr. Charles W. Eliot. These and many other men of highest standing, as well as the great mass of the people, have been so silly and deluded as not to join those apostles of virtue and freedom Messrs. Flinn, Perkins, Munsey and Woodruff in the Bull Moose ranks.

Being against ME is the highest sort of treason.

Being for ME covers a multitude of sins.

Those who are against ME are traitors, though hitherto their lives have been stainless.

Those who are for ME are patriots unspotted, though hitherto their allegiances have been no matter how atrocious.

Aid To Oratory.

Another month and the campaign orators will be able to increase their vocabularies by the addition of fresh terms from the gridiron.

DEFEATING TYPHOID.

Typhoid fever, one of the world's greatest scourges, may vanish in the light of science.

The discovery of the typhoid bacillus, the true indictment of the housefly as its carrier, and better sanitation in milk and water supplies have done much; and now much is claimed for anti-typhoid vaccination.

Word comes from Europe through the London Lancet that a new vaccination for typhoid by means of living bacilli is proving a success. Manifestly it is a great improvement over the present method of vaccination by means of killed bacilli.

Lieut. W. Broughton-Alcock of the British royal army medical corps reports in the Lancet the results of experiments by Dr. Elie Metchnikoff and Dr. Besredka. First they proved by experiments on chimpanzees that weakened typhoid bacilli, given by the mouth in large quantities, prevented subsequent infections which produced typhoid fever in chimpanzees not so treated.

When the experiments were made with human beings equal success followed, it is asserted.

Vaccination with killed bacilli is decidedly uncomfortable, according to all accounts. If it "works," as it usually does, the vaccinated person is ill for a few days, and often has to cease work.

It is said that the new vaccination with live bacilli produces none of these subjective symptoms. Lieut. Broughton-Alcock thus describes a first dose of the new vaccine, about five hundred million typhoid bacilli, upon women of varied ages from twenty to fifty-seven and of varied weights: "With one exception of a young woman of small stature, whose temperature rose to 38 degrees centigrade during the first forty-eight hours after the first injection, but which was unaffected by any subjective or objective symptoms, there was no rise of temperature, no headache, lassitude or other subjective symptom, and each continued in her ordinary occupations without restriction."

The doses are large. The first dose for a woman is half a billion bacilli, and for a man three-quarters of a billion. A week later a second dose of twice these numbers is given. Which is a considerable quantity of germs to eat, and doubtless the unpleasant suggestion the idea conveys will cause the anti-vaccinationists to experience qualms which will react in vigorous protests against the plan.

In the cases of seven hundred and fifty persons who have been inoculated by the new methods, according to the Lancet article, there were satisfactory results "with no general reaction, and only an insignificant local reaction following the injections." It is added that "the patient is in no way obliged to change his daily routine of living. These results are in marked contrast with my experience following the injections of the same number of killed bacilli in the vaccine of Wright-Leishman."

To destroy typhoid is to give the world a great boon, so the Lancet's report is of vast interest to humanity.

And the Unsinkable Steamship.

As a bossless party, the Bull Moose outfit is in the same class with the old-time painless dentistry.

PARTY TRADITION AND CURRENT FACT

Allen Kline has an interesting piece in this month's Forum in which he traces party tendencies and arrays them against industrial facts.

He finds the Democratic party by tradition to be a party whose principles are well expressed by the old idea that "the best government is that which governs least," that it shrinks from such a strong central government as the situation calls for to meet problems which are national in fact, and that therefore it will be unable to meet the situation that industrial development has created.

On the other hand, he finds that the Republican party tradition, running back to the Federalists of Hamilton's time by almost direct descent, would allow it to handle these big problems successfully if the party were not so entangled with the special interests which do not want the problems treated successfully—or at all.

And, he says, unless one or the other party "undergoes a radical transformation in the near future," the rise of a new party will be the natural outcome. It will not be, however, "for the purpose of serving the ambitions of any man or group of men. It will not be the self-created refuge of political renegades and malcontents; for if diverted to such ends, it will perish in the beginning." No further comment than this is needed to dispose of the "new party" which Roosevelt's balked ambition has brought into being.

What Prof. Kline says of Democratic tradition is true. How true is it of the party today? Of what force is this traditional fear of a strong and effective government?

None at all. Otherwise, the Democratic party would not have nominated as its candidate for president a man who is as free from the chains of such tradition as any other man in the land. It would never have nominated a man who believes that the powers of government should be exerted for the common good if as a body it was hampered by ideas that, however natural in a day when a successful revolt from a strong central government—that of Britain—had just been made, are anachronistic and foolish in the face of the great national problems that confront the American people today.

It is true enough that Democratic tradition is against a strong central government, and therefore in favor of leaving as much as possible of the public business to state governments that are closely within reach of the people. It is also true that Democratic tradition holds that government should merely govern—that it should be only a big policeman and tax-gatherer—and therefore it is against exerting the powers of government for the control of industry.

Perhaps a few leaders of the elder school are still loyal to this tradition.

But in point of fact the change which Prof. Kline suggests is needed actually has come about in the Democratic party. Otherwise it never would have nominated Woodrow Wilson. And the change is another interesting indication of the wider change that involves it.

Pick at random a hundred men who call themselves Democrats. Take a poll on whether the Federal government should exert itself to bring about industrial liberty, or whether the government should remain mere policeman and tax collector, letting Big Business, under the cloak of individualism, continue its oligarchical and extra-legal abolutism. How many votes would there be in that hundred in favor of Democratic tradition? Hardly one.

Then tradition has been discarded as a man discards a worn out garment; and under the leadership of Wilson the Democratic party at this moment is the "new party" which Prof. Kline correctly says, in an article obviously written some months ago, the nation needed.

Or Can't She?

Topeka is complaining of a pest of blackbirds. Why doesn't Topeka Kan them?

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT CAN DO.

The Panama canal is going to be a very useful thing as an adjunct to transportation.

It is going to make the world still smaller, and by cheapening transportation costs it will make humanity's lot much better.

But the canal is going to be even more useful because it will show what the government can do.

In the face of the inefficiencies, brutalities and oppressions of private ownership and control of many of the processes which serve society, it has long been argued that the only thing government can do is govern; that all transportation, mining and industrial enterprise must be left to private capital.

It was only by accident that such an enterprise as the postoffice was not left to private capital, also; and if it had been it would be costing ten cents to send letters instead of two.

But for the comfort of those who have fancied that perhaps the government in the long run would do some of these things quite as well as capitalists seeking only profit, listen to this description of what has come about in the canal zone. It is taken from the September Scribner's magazine:

"In all this wide, wide world the most orderly community is that of the Panama canal zone. Here is the least crime; here are the fewest misdemeanors, the least exercise of the functions of the courts, the most industrious, the fewest idlers, absolutely no poor, equally conspicuous the absence of the rich.

"With its steam shovels working like sentient beings; its locomotives rushing about like screaming busybodies; its cement buckets skimming over the earth and riding the air to perform their varied tasks; with the long dirt trains weaving and turning on their tortuous tracks like pythons; still the most persistent impression is of beauty, orderliness and propriety.

"The greatest public work the world has ever seen is carried on not only with unremitting diligence, enthusiasm and honesty, but with elegance, a high standard of living, and a morale to which the oldest and most opulent cities have never attained. These are the words of truth and soberness. The problems of the engineer are greater than man has ever before encountered but in kind. The cubic yards of dirt and cement transcend experience, but only in bulk. It is the organization that is without precedent in the whole history of public works—it is this that is the eighth wonder of the world. In this organization there is no detail so minute not to have received attention; from the most puzzling problems in engineering to the American youth's love of ice cream, nothing seems to have been left unconsidered. This elaboration of detail has doubtless been gradual; but to the visitor coming upon its completeness today, the impression is staggering, and not unmixed with envy."

And a mere preliminary to all this was the changing of a plague spot, infested with dreaded fevers, to the most healthful place in the hemisphere.

This impressive work, it is well to remember, is being done by Americans, and by Americans who are agents of the government of these United States.

Maybe Congress Will Investigate.

Is there any connection between the fact that this is a presidential year and the unusual number of train robberies that are reported?

PROTESTING TOO MUCH.

Theodore Roosevelt's reply to the charge that trust money financed his 1904 campaign contained eighteen thousand words.

Men of known honesty do not need to defend themselves in eighteen thousand words against charges of dishonesty.

Except Maybe In New York.

The French say that "what cannot be said can be sung, and what cannot be sung can be danced." But it would tax even Gertie Hoffman to show some political opinions. And besides, she wouldn't dare.

FIDELITY IN SMALL THINGS.

Every great thing is made up of small things. The earth is made up of atoms. The great river is the contribution of a thousand brooks, fed by countless raindrops and a myriad of springs. The greatest fortune in the world is made up of pennies piled on pennies, of dollars piled on dollars.

Every great career is the product of innumerable acts of toil, of self-denial, of patient attention to details.

A railroad spike is a little thing, but if it breaks or comes loose it might wreck the finest train and kill a hundred people.

A screw is a little thing, but the lack of it may stop or destroy a great machine and interrupt its work.

Real success is based on a capacity for the patient conquest of innumerable details. Peace, prosperity, the well-being of humanity, often depend upon somebody's careful attention to small things.

He who is faithful in small things can be trusted with great things. He who is faithless in little things will be untrustworthy in great things.

H. H. Windsor tells in Popular Mechanics Magazine this homely little tale of human fidelity to duty: "The train in which I was riding the other day was delayed by a block signal. We stopped in a freight yard and the view from my window was quite uninviting, with long rows of dingy cars, many of which were battered and needed painting. Snow which had fallen the night before had partly melted, and directly opposite the window was a pond of the liquid slush, about the length of a freight car and six feet wide. One set of trucks of a box car came opposite the middle of the big puddle, and could only be reached by wading.

"Presently a figure came down the track carrying a can of oil and a bucket of waste. It was the car oiler. He was poorly dressed, his shoes had burst open at the sides, and — well, he scarcely answered to the picture we paint of the stuff from which heroes are made. As he advanced, each axle box was opened and oil or waste put in as required. What would he do with the box at the middle of the pond? He came to the water, hesitated only an instant, and then waded in, the icy liquid coming up to his shoe-tops, for it was deep.

"The box was opened; it required little attention, only a few drops of oil, and then he passed on to the next.

"He might have taken a chance on that one single box; the probabilities were all in favor of the car going through to the next division station without causing any delay or damage. On the other hand, the box might as likely have been dry, and when the train had traveled ten or twenty miles have gone hot, compelling a stop not on schedule, at a place where another train following expected a clear track, and a wreck been the result.

"The semaphore drops, our train gets under way, and the last glimpse of our unknown, faithful worker reveals him diligently packing waste around the axle of a coal car; but his graphic demonstration of faithfulness in small things was very satisfying, and worth taking home."

This humble worker in his oil-stained and ragged clothing, and with his shoes gaping open in the chill, icy slush of that pond, was as truly a hero as the soldier who guards his post faithfully. He was faithful in a little thing on which great things like human lives might depend.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS

Mercenants Will Not Lose.

Cokato Enterprise: The most important bill, the one most directly concerning the general public, which was passed during the recent session of congress, was the parcels post provisions. After Jan. 1, 1913, fourth class mail matter will include all kinds of merchandise. If there are objections to the new law, it certainly has some advantages. While merchants generally did not approve of the bill, much can be gained by systematic work and wide-awake merchants can derive profits from the new law. The local merchant, according to the zone rates, can deliver a bill of goods to his customer fifteen miles in the country much cheaper than a Chicago firm. Most people prefer to trade with the home merchant and see what they are getting. Much depends upon the merchant to advertise his goods and offer the same attractions of the mail order houses. This done, the merchant will suffer little more than he has from that source.

Poor James.

Hinckley Herald: Vice President Jim Sherman of the Republican party is the biggest joke which has been palmed off on the American people since our government was formed.

Will Be Extended.

Willmar Tribune: Besides the party ballot, every voter will be given a non-partisan ballot. Oh, marvel of progress! Regardless of party division every voter may make his vote effective in the choice of judges and school officers. The two having the largest vote for each office will appear on the general election ballot. The superintendent of schools and judge of probate are included on this ballot. This non-partisan ballot idea will no doubt be extended to include county and state officers in time, and when it is there will be more trouble for the manipulating politicians.

The Vermont Result.

Winona Independent: It will be noted that the Democratic vote in Vermont has very largely increased at the expense of the Republican vote, and that the new party vote has also been entirely at the expense of the Republican party. The contention of the Democrats that none of their votes would go to the third party is thus being borne out by the returns from Tuesday's election in Vermont.

Charges on Foundation.

Cambridge North Star: Hon. C. A. Congdon, who has served two terms in the state legislature, has written a letter to the daily papers in which he discusses, among other things, the brewery control of politics in this state. We have never seen so forceful a presentation of the case as Mr. Congdon has made, and when it is considered that he is not an irresponsible demagogue, but a man of great affairs, and one of the wealthiest in the state, our readers will realize that the charges he makes must have a firm foundation upon fact, else he would have before this time been sued for libel and slander. The breweries, however, learned a lesson in the recent senatorial investigation, and in all probability will never again, officially, attempt to justify their unwarranted meddling in politics.

They will continue to meddle, of course, until the people put them out of business, but they will not use an official apologizer again for a long time.

Have a Motive.

Long Prairie Leader: Which are the newspapers that are loudest in their condemnation of the second choice feature of our new primary law? For the most part they are stand-pat, trust-owned papers like the Duluth News Tribune, and they oppose the second choice feature because the second choice means rule by the majority and that is just what the Tribune and other papers are afraid of. They do not want majority rule. What they want is a divided field against Eberhart, so that he will receive a plurality over the Progressive candidates. In a recent editorial the Tribune declares that the second choice provision was evolved so that a considerable field by combining their second choice vote might defeat a more popular first choice candidate. Granting for the sake of argument that this is true it is only necessary to point out that if the field can nominate a candidate that way then the field is in the majority and majority rule is all we want. If the majority rule there can be no kick coming except from the Tribune.

The People's Talk.

Biwabik Times: The News Tribune has sized up the political situation in the state by getting expressions from a few more than a hundred country newspaper editors. From the showing made it draws the conclusion that Minnesota will remain in the Republican fold. It's none of our business, but that's not the way the people are talking, and we have learned that in politics it is pretty safe to judge by the way the people—the voters—are talking. Based on this the Republicans will get about as many votes as the Prohibitionists.

The Young Voter.

Austin Transcript: Five million first voters, estimated for next November, make a host worth cutting bait for. More than one and a quarter million of these are women and newly naturalized citizens. In several states women for the first time will vote for president. This is a vote worth bidding for, let alone the more than three and one-half million males enfranchised by age. Alert campaign managers are finding that the young America vote is quite independent of the traditional faith of their fathers.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FOR COMFORT OF TOURISTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

This is my first season in Duluth and my first impression was a very good one, but after two weeks I find it has not many advantages for the tourist.

Women alone here who seek relief from hay fever have no places along the shore of Lake Superior where they could while away many an hour if there was a shady spot, sodded and a few benches where one could rest, and breathe in that good air from the lake that is so beneficial to a hay fever sufferer.

The Master's Touch

"And He touched her hand, and the fever left her; and she arose and ministered unto them."—Matthew, viii, 15.

"He touched her hand and the fever left her."
He touched her hand as He only can,
With the wondrous skill of the great Physician,
With the tender touch of the Son of Man,
And the fever pain in the throbbing temples
Died out with the flush on brow and cheek;
And the lips that had been so parched and burning
Trembled with thanks that she could not speak;
And the eyes, where the fever light had faded,
Looked up—by her grateful tears made dim;
And she rose and ministered to her household—
She rose and ministered unto Him.

"He touched her hand and the fever left her."
Oh, blessed touch of the Man Divine!
So beautiful then to arise and serve Him
When the fever is gone from your life and mine;
It may be the fever of restless serving,
With heart all thirsty for love and praise,
And eyes all aching and strained with yearning
Toward self-set goals in the future days;
Or it may be a fever of spirit anguish,
Some tempest of sorrow that dies not down
Till the cross at last is in meekness lifted
And the head stoops low for the thorny crown;
Or it may be a fever of pain and anger,
When the wounded spirit is hard to bear;
And only the Lord can draw forth the arrows
Left carelessly, cruelly rankling there.

Whatever the fever, His touch can heal it;
Whatever the tempest, His voice can still;
There is only joy as we seek His pleasure;
There is only a rest as we seek His will—
And some day after life's fitful fever,
I think we shall say in the home on high:
"If the hands that He touched but did His bidding,
How little it matters what else went by!"
Ah, Lord! Thou knowest us altogether,
Each heart's sore sickness, whatever it be,
Touch Thou our hands! Let the fever leave us—
And so shall we minister unto Thee!

Life in the City.

A snug city flat, with a dumb-waiter shaft,
With a janitor not too much bent upon graft,
With a bath and a kitchenette showing some class,
And a nice little, neat little stove that burns gas;
With the "movies" near by and a drug store at hand,
Oh, who could desire to "go back to the land"
From a right little, tight little flat that is neat,
With a delicatessen store right down the street?

Forcing Prosperity Upon the Railroads

John S. Pardee in the American Magazine.

One simple fact. When we started to regulate them, the railroads were paying dividends on $38.50 of every $100 of stock outstanding. And on so much of stock as drew dividends, the average rate was 5% per cent. At the last report they were paying dividends on $67 out of every $100 outstanding, and the average rate on that was 7.4 per cent.

Another simple fact. In all their years of happy independence down to 1899, all the railroads in the United States had accumulated a surplus of $194,000,000. In the next ten years, when regulation was doing its worst, they increased their scanty hoards to $800,000,000.

With regulation, disastrous rate wars ceased. From the primitive scale of 4 or 5 cents per ton mile, there had been a rapid descent during the middle of the century. Thirty years ago it was a marvel that the rate was approaching 1 cent a ton. That was the bogey score, something like ten seconds flat, or a mile in two minutes. All three marks were passed about the same time. The rate slid under the 10-mill line in 1889. Ten years later it had slipped down and down to the subzero of .722. Twenty-five per cent below the theoretical line of possible profit fixed by earlier statisticians!

That was in the splendid days of unrestricted railroad management, the glorious days of chivalry when any gentleman had a right to stick another gentleman under the fifth rib without offending the rules of the game. Those were the days when every freight solicitor was playing Kilkenny with every other. Happy, happy days!

When regulation set in the decline was stayed. The average rate crept up to .75 per ton mile in the next ten years. It advanced because published rates were maintained, because commodities were shifted to higher classifications, because in the natural course of development the profitable short haul filled in the earnings in larger degree, because with the progress of industry the proportion of manufactured products rose in comparison with raw material; and in some cases because of a positive lift in rates. But the tendency has been and still is to advance. It may not look like a very great gain, from a low point of .722 to .75 in ten years. But it bulks quite a sum in units that are measured to the fifth decimal place on one hand and the thousand millions on the other.

Young Jack Thayer.

New York Evening Mail: The striking heroism of little Jack Thayer, one of the Titanic survivors, was related by Dr. Arthur J. Smith as an inspiration to the young people of the churches to do valiant deeds during the summer in open air and tent work.

"Little Jack," he said, "when his mother was put in one of the lifeboats, refused to go with her. He told them he would stay with father and let the women be saved. No persuasion could induce him to go in the boat. Clasping his father's hand he was seen awaiting the sinking of the ship.

He was found unconscious in the water by one of the lifeboats and awoke in his mother's arms. The first thing he said as he opened his eyes looking at his mother, and then at the others about, was this:

"I stayed until the last, mamma; I tried to be a man."

Real Glory.

It may be you will fail to climb
The highest pinnacle of fame,
And down the corridors of time
May not go thundering your name.
But if a few shall some day say
The while they pause beside your bier,
That you made rosier their way,
You will not have toiled vainly here.

You may not with the heroes stand,
Or deck with medals fine your breast;
You may not rise to rule the land
Or conquer in a money quest.
But if, when you have passed away,
A few shall mourn you as a friend,
And "We shall miss him," sadly say,
You've all the glory earth can send.

For medals cannot pierce the veil
Through which must pass the souls of men;
Fame only is an earthly tale
Told here, but never heard again.
But if a few shall some day say,
The while they mourn beside your bier,
That you made easier their way,
Be not afraid, the Lord will hear.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Castles in Spain.

They represent a form of real estate ordinarily quoted low in the world's markets. A practical age discounts the unsubstantial and has small patience with fancies. Dream houses may do for poets or ne'er-do-wells, but not for busy, well-ordered people of affairs.

Yet the probability is that most of us, whether consciously or no, are property owners in that dreamy, far-off country beyond the horizon. We all spend more or less time in our Chauteaux de Espagne. Children, especially, in the exercise of their imaginations, habitually invest coming scenes with splendor and people them with fairies.

But children are not the only visionaries. Most of us older and wiser folk share their expectancy. There is a good time coming, we assure ourselves, and paint the future in bright colors from a liberal palet. Like those optimistic ones of whom the prophet Isaiah spoke we feel that "Tomorrow shall be as this day and much more abundant." Whatever the past has had of meagerness or pain, through a blessed vitality of the human spirit, a better expectation is cherished for days to come.

You may reckon hope a very unsubstantial diet if you will, but in its power to sustain life there is nothing in the world to equal it. Most of the sons of men live out their days under its inspiration. It can provide a bit of blue in the gray sky of the hardest worked and most circumscribed life, making both the labor and the limitation tolerable.

The bearer of the dinner pail who nightly "homeward plods his weary way" to cramped and hired quarters has a vision of his own cottage by-and-by with a table spread by his own hearthstone. The clerk, condemned to drudgery, foresees his name some day on the letter heads of the company and cheerfully endures his discipline. Dick Whittingtons everywhere are going to be lord mayors of countless Londons and that is why they can trudge along life's dusty highways content with poverty and rags. It is a blessed provision of our human inheritance that we are, when in normal health, optimistic and persuaded by great and unceasing hopes.

Moreover this hopeful imaginative mood has a very great practical value. The builders of air castles have given us gifts beyond our casual thought. The benefits of even our solid material civilization have come from visionaries. It was not merely a swinging chandelier that Galileo saw in the old cathedral, but the pendulum that runs all our clocks. The steam escaping from a Scotch boy's tea kettle became through his adventurous imagination the power that turns the wheels of the world's commerce on land and sea.

It is not necessarily to one's discredit that his day dream is never realized, there is only half a truth—if indeed as much as that—in the grim adage which asserts that hell is paved with good intentions. Whatever else may bring men to doom, their right purposes will never do so. The reach of every good man will far exceed his grasp to the end of the chapter.

In this present world men are prisoners of hope. We are beguiled along the way of life as children are allured on a journey. One pleasant prospect after another is held before us till we reach the journey's end. Nor shall we finally be disappointed. The universe is not built on deceit. Illusion, which is a principle of providence, is by no means the same thing as delusion. The airy castles of our dreams shall one day stand in solid reality. Meanwhile, in the brave words of Stevenson, "It is better to travel hopefully than to arrive and the true success is to labor."

THE PARSON.

The Meaning of Vermont

Comments by the Press.

Des Moines Capitol (Rep.): The result of the Vermont election yesterday carried to its logical conclusion throughout the nation means the election in November of Woodrow Wilson for president.

New York Times (Ind. Dem.): The Taft Republicans and the Roosevelt Progressives may share between them the disappointments of the voting in Vermont yesterday, and for them they are bitter enough. For the Democrats the figures justify not merely the hope but the firm belief and full confidence that Governor Wilson will be elected president in November.

Cleveland Plain Dealer (Ind.): Inconclusive at it is, the Vermont result bears out what the Plain Dealer has said repeatedly, that the fight for the presidency this fall is between Governor Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt. The gentleman now resting at Beverly is out of the contest almost before it begins.

Springfield Republican (Ind.): Governor Woodrow Wilson will be the next president of the United States—such is the message from the voters of Vermont. Vermont alone, of course, speaks thus, but in so far as the state speaks at all to the other states of the Union, a Democratic victory in the country at large in November has been forecast.

New York Globe (Ind. Progressive): The Vermont figures do not suggest where Col. Roosevelt is to get electoral votes. If the Democratic party elsewhere holds together as it has in Vermont, and the Republican party is split down the middle, it does not appear how there is a chance for the new party. It has failed in its effort to attract Democratic support, and presents itself, in Vermont at least, as a faction of the Republican party.

New York World (Ind. Dem.): The Vermont returns spell Woodrow Wilson's triumphant election to the presidency, with William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt stoutly contesting for the honor of finishing third.

New York Evening Post (Ind.): Our good neighbor, the Tribune, very naturally, points to the Vermont returns as showing that Roosevelt has no chance of election; but what it goes on to say about the indication the same figures afford as to the chances of Taft and Wilson is only not comical because it is so pathetic. "If in other states," says the Tribune, "the Democrats can hold their vote together as well as they have done in Vermont, and if the Progressives can divide the opposition in the same proportion, they will probably give the victory to Mr. Wilson." That "probably" is delicious. If the Democrats simply poll their full vote of 1908 "in other states"—and they have done decidedly more than this in Vermont—while Mr. Roosevelt takes away 35 per cent of the Republican vote, leaving Mr. Taft only 65 per cent, how many electoral votes does our friend the Tribune think would be cast for Mr. Taft? Just 144; Mr. Wilson would have the other 387.

"A People's Campaign Fund for a People's President."

The slogan is being taken up by progressive citizens of the Northwest. The fund is growing. A substantial gain has been made during the last week.

But the men who can afford $1 to $5 aren't as numerous in the list as they should be. The man who can afford $1 or $5 to assist in electing a progressive president of the United States is just as much interested in obtaining that kind of a president as is the man who can afford $500, and should be as willing to assist in the campaign for progressive principles.

Woodrow Wilson is the common peoples' leader. The common people of the nation must look to him for the restoration of the government to them. They are men most concerned in the campaign that is now on for the dethronement of special privilege and the restoration of government by the whole people.

Governor Wilson is dependent largely upon contributions in $1 to $5 amounts for his campaign fund. There will be many larger amounts contributed by individuals, but the bulk of the fund will be made up of the small amounts contributed by ardent progressives who can afford no more.

Governor Wilson wants every man, rich or poor, to have an equal share in the government. The poor man's contribution is necessary for the triumph of his cause. The man who can afford only a small amount should not neglect to contribute that amount.

Every dollar will do its part toward furthering the progressive cause. The Democratic national committee has put itself to the task of making every dollar count for its full value in the campaign. There will be strict accounting of the Democratic campaign fund, and full publicity as to its source and its expenditure. Governor Wilson and the Democratic national committee do not fear the white light of publicity, for their campaign will bear full scrutiny.

The campaign has two months to run. Governor Wilson and his cause must be called to the attention of voters in every part of the United States. Much money will be needed for legitimate purposes. Every man who wants to see Governor Wilson elected should do his part. If he can afford $100, he should contribute that amount. If his purse will not allow him to contribute more than $1, his dollar will be received and appreciated by the committee.

Contributions should be mailed to "Wilson Campaign Fund, Herald Office, Duluth, Minn." Each contribution will be acknowledged by publication in The Herald. The lists will be sent to the Democratic national committee, and each contributor will receive a handsomely engraved receipt, suitable for framing.

The campaign is on. Now is the time to contribute.

ROOSEVELT AND PENROSE

By SAVOYARD.

It makes not a bit of difference whether Standard Oil financed the Roosevelt campaign of 1904 to the amount of $125,000. It makes not a bit of difference whether Roosevelt's letter to Cortelyou, the latter part of that year, was to make an alibi in anticipation of the present situation—the fact is universally conceded, and nowhere and by nobody challenged that the monopolists, whom Roosevelt denounced as "malefactors of great wealth," contributed lavishly of their dirty dollars to the Roosevelt cause. The Republican party was their party; its candidate was their candidate; the Dingley tariff was their tariff, writ by them, enacted by their congress, approved by their president. It made them tax-gatherers and added immensely to their enormous and monstrous ill-got gains. In 1904 the paramount issue with these men was whether a candidate should be elected president who would not go "a-projekin' wi'" the tariff. They knew Parker would advocate tariff revision, radical and downward. They believed that Roosevelt would not touch the tariff. They overloaded Cortelyou and Bliss and Penrose and Odell and every other campaign manager of the "Party of Great Moral Ideas" with campaign boodle. They carried the election. Their graft in the tariff was continued and they enjoy it to this day. Roosevelt never disturbed it for one moment, and is was for their behoof that that same Roosevelt cast an anchor to windward in his present platform, which begins: "We believe in a protective tariff."

It is enough to make an honest man fall into the bad habit of cussing when he contemplates the miserable subterfuges that are resorted to by the elect and redeemed of Armageddon as they come to explain away the Harriman boodle. Now we all know that a vision appeared to Harriman, and a voice, or rather a letter from Roosevelt, prayed him, saying: "Come over into Macedonia and help us." Harriman went over and contributed help to the amount of $250,000—all gathered from "malefactors of great wealth," some of it embezzled funds of an insurance company. The Roosevelt crowd now say that the Harriman boodle was employed to elect Higgins—who was on the ticket with Roosevelt—governor of New York, and therefore Roosevelt's hands are clean of that filthy dough, though it was raised at his instance and request.

Suppose Roosevelt and Higgins had been passengers on a leaky craft in a storm off Cape Cod, and the skipper had put the pumps to work and thus saved the ship. When they landed at Boston we see Teddy going down the gang plank and notifying the reporters that the pumps were of no use to him—they were for Higgins.

But to my mind the most miserable of all the miserable scenes that have been pulled off in American politics are the relations of Roosevelt and Perkins. You recall the Herbert Knox Smith letter in which the author gives tidings to Roosevelt of the status of the sham octupus chase. Perkins made a threat that the Pierpont Morgan group would withdraw support from the administration if their pet octupus, the Harvester trust, was disturbed. Roosevelt ate the leek, a habit he has, a dish he is fond of. That particular octopus was let alone, the papers in the case being carted from the department of commerce and labor and stored in the House. Taft is now chasing the Harvester octopus, by the way.

Well, Perkins sought to nominate Roosevelt as the candidate of the Republican party at Chicago in June of this year and contributed prodigally of his millions to that purpose. Roosevelt tells that he was surprised that such a man should lend him aid. Why this surprise? Roosevelt sought to convey the idea that it was amazing that a "malefactor of great wealth" with both pockets full of dirty money, should come into his camp and enlist under his standard. That is the "surprise."

Perkins comes along and backs it up. Interpreted, here is about what he said: "I know I am unworthy; I know that my great wealth is spoil my government allowed me to levy on the plain people through the tariff and other means of legalized and illegalized graft, but I have children, and want you to smile on my money, bless it and cleanse it." Delighted was Teddy, and the alliance was consummated. If Teddy had been fit to captain at a real Armageddon he would have made this admonition: "Go sell all thou hast and give to the poor. Then come and follow me." Then he would have had a perfectly redeemed convert, a thoroughly disciplined henchman, with a harp in his hand and "Onward, Christian Soldiers," his war cry.

It seems that this history was edifying to the "yallers." I will say this for Hearst, that, though not original, his idea of having evermore represented in his columns is good and it is a pity that he does not carry it out. He gives his best and strongest pen to Roosevelt and there is no serious objection to that. He supports his candidate to the Republican national committee, and that is proper. But when he says his paper will support Wilson the town clock takes on a broad grin. His first choice is Roosevelt, his second choice Taft, and he would leap with delight if Wilson did not carry a state. Perhaps he is "supporting" Wilson after all, for his opposition is a valuable asset to any cause or to any man.

Well, here is the way Hearst "supports" Wilson. His paper came out with a tremendous editorial laudatory of this Mr. Perkins after that gentleman's conversion and enlistment as a "Christian soldier." It is a masterly production, or would be if there were not quite so much of the maudlin mixed up with the cant of it. The man who wrote it is a genius and vindicates Dean Swift, who argued that the imagination is of superior dignity to the memory and entitled to greater heed, as when our man illustrates a paper on Perkins by citation of Jacques Coeur. Next he will be putting James II and Titus Oates in the same basket.

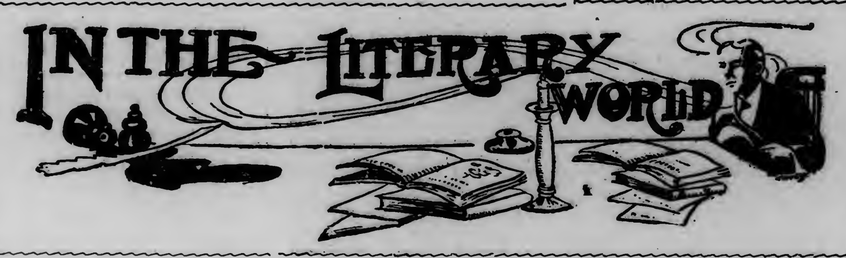

Jacques Coeur succored his country; George Perkins battened off his country. Jacques Coeur was the victim of a bad king; George Perkins was the favorite of a bad president. Jacques Coeur found his country prostrate harried by Armagnac and Burgundian, after the realm had been devastated and its crown seized by as precious a scoundrel as ever won the title of hero in the red glare of bloody battle. Though in sublime classic we enjoy him as the boon companion of Sir John Falstaff, Henry V never perpetrated a treason, never committed an atrocity, without appeal to Heaven for aid. He got up the battle of Agincourt. If he were alive now and a citizen of our country he would set up an Armageddon. Jacques Coeur, a man of vast wealth, gained in lines of legitimate business, poured from his coffers to build up waste places and supply the treasury. Perkins, on the contrary, gathered spoil from a people oppressed by laws which corrupt congresses had enacted to unjustly enrich the class of which he is a distinguished exemplar.

Then this editorial, for some reason or other, calls attention to Disraeli and very justly says: "He made millions for England in his purchase of the Suez canal bonds and hundreds of millions in other ways."

We have a canal on our hands and it cost some $40,000,000 to begin it. Pity we did not have a Disraeli to make that trade. Millions of intelligent and patriotic Americans believe that transaction reeks with corruption, depravity and knavery. Other millions of our best citizens fear it is so.

One of these days the truth is going to be divulged—all of it. Let us hope it will not be quite as rotten as the campaign fund of the God and Morality party in 1904 when Theodore Roosevelt gained the election for president of the United States.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

FRESH AIR AND HOW TO USE IT. By Thomas Speer Carrington, M. D. Illustrated. New York: The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 105 East Twenty-second street. $1 postpaid.

Here is a book that it would profit the nation to have in every family in the land. It is a book that it will profit every family to read, digest and act upon.

Fresh air is the greatest healing agency in all the world. It is cheap, it doesn't cost a cent, yet millions suffer because they lack it.

This book not only tells why fresh air is a great healing agency—the only real panacea that ever existed—but it tells how to make use of it, in a practical and easily understood way. The author aims to show how an abundance of fresh air is within the reach of every one, whether he be a millionaire owner of a country house or a dweller in a city tenement. Probably no more complete compendium of information on how to get fresh air in the home at all times has ever been published.

Some of the topics treated are these: Window tents, home-made and "boughten"; roof bungalows, with suggestions for building; temporary fresh air porches for country use; wall houses and iron frame houses for city use; tents and tent houses; open air bungalows and cottages; roof playgrounds for children; clothing, bedding and furniture necessary for outdoor living and sleeping.

The book contains 250 pages and 150 illustrations. It is published as cheaply as possible by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis as a part of its campaign for the prevention of disease.

A MANUAL ON THE RULE OF THE ROAD AT SEA; and Precautionary Aids to Mariners. Second edition, revised and enlarged. By Daniel H. Hayne of the Baltimore bar. Baltimore: The Co-operative Publishing company. $5.25.

This volume, we should judge, is an exceedingly valuable thing to have in the hands of the owners, masters and sailors of ships of all kinds. There are certain "rules of the road," part understanding from and part legal enactment, intended to safeguard ships and their cargoes, crews and passengers. Most of these are well known to mariners, but the why of them, and therefore in some cases the urgency of consistent obedience to them, are not so well known. This book is by a lawyer, well versed not only in the rules of the road but in the law as applying to them, and the author has made his book strikingly valuable.

Mr. Hayne truly says: "Notwithstanding the navigator of one vessel may endeavor to skillfully apply the rules and practices of good seamanship, he or she may come to grief for little, if the navigator of the other vessel is indifferent, negligent or unskillful. Many serious accidents now occurring may be averted by careful co-operation and uniform and prompt application of the rules." Therefore the author's intent is to promote a wider and more thorough understanding of the rules devised to guard against accident, and a more general observance of them.

While it is manifestly designed for the use of real mariners, owners and operators of motor boats and yachts will find it of value, since, in conjunction with the rules, it affords a complete compendium of their duties and responsibilities. It will be found full, exhaustive, lucid and interesting.

THEIR YESTERDAYS. By Harold Bell Wright, author of "The Winning of Barbara Worth," "The Calling of Dan Matthews," "The Shepherd of the Hills," etc. Pictures by F. Graham Cootes. Chicago: The Book Supply company. $1.35 net.

This author of several novels that have been widely read, much more widely than many better ones, had a pretty fancy for this new book, and he has worked it out rather prettily. It is a book of dreams rather than of action, and it may be that it will prove to have overmuch preaching, some of it slightly platitudinous, for the class of readers that made his former works so profitable; but there is much of life in it, and that should save it. It is a more ambitious effort, perhaps, than any of his previous books.

It aims to be, apparently, an epitome of love and life. The sermonizing is sweetened with good sentiment, and it is not hard to take. The story—what story there is—is about two people and the "thirteen truly great things of life." The people aren't named, but the truly great things are: "Dreams, occupation, knowledge, ignorance, religion, tradition, temptation, life, death, failure, success, love, memories." Why not, pray, motherhood, hunger, ambition? But it is hard to expect any author to get all the truly great things of life in one book.

A man and woman who have been boy and girl sweethearts drift away from the old place and live parallel but separated city lives, bound insensibly to each other and to their better selves by the memories of their yesterdays together. Separately they experience most of these truly great things, and later some of them together—which makes the story.

THE COURT OF ST. SIMON. By Anthony Partridge, author of "Passers-By," "The Distributors," etc. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25 net.

Once again Mr. Partridge deals with an organization of brilliant criminals, this time with the Apaches of Paris; and he has written a profoundly interesting and vigorous romance, with some original and captivating people in it. "St. Simon" is a picturesque French count who takes his amusement by participating in the operations of a gang of subtle criminals. His part in it is harmless enough, as he is content to have his underlings waylay people who have gained riches through unfair means and making them disgorge in the interests of the poor. He travels with a beautiful Apache girl, with whom he maintains relations purely platonic, though not so by her will. He offers an insight into the workings of his crew to a jaded English youth, who professes to be immune to sensation, and thereby makes trouble because the young man loses his nerve and informs.

The count falls in love with a beautiful English girl, sister to the young man. They marry, but he does not tell the girl what he has been. She abhors untruth, and when she finds out blames him for lying and for destroying her brother. This, and the vengeance of the Apaches, sets up a desperate situation, and exciting events follow thick and fast. No reader, once started, will lay down the book until it is finished.

THE GIFT OF ABOU HASSAN. By Frances Perry Elliott, author of "The Haunted Pajamas." Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25 net.

To appreciate and yet not spend extravagant sums of money. She proves her point ably and presents it entertainingly. Special articles contributed to the September Companion are: "The Town That Had No Slums," "Three American Duchesses," being an intimate account of the duchess of Manchester, the duchess of Roxburghe and the duchess of Marlborough; "What Men Have Meant in My Life," being an extremely personal article by a great professional writer; "How I Sing 'The Rosary,'" an article of advice to singers by Ernestine Schumann-Heink, a great operatic and concert star, and "Playing Fair," a practical talk to business girls, full of stories of actual cases and other real material.

The September American Magazine contains a lively political article full of interesting information and stories never before published about the Chicago and Baltimore national conventions. Another interesting contribution is a vivid account of lion hunting by Stewart Edward White, who has recently returned from a year's hunt in Africa. In the same number are articles by Ida M. Tarbell, Walter Prichard Eaton, the theatrical expert; Sir Francis Vane, who wants all the children in the world educated to disbelieve in war, and John S. Pardee, who shows how railroads have prospered through government rate regulation. Fiction of vitality and human interest is contributed by H. G. Wells, W. J. Locke, Zona Gale, G. W. Ogden and Maud Porter.

The Strand Magazine for September contains a recently discovered story by "Ouida," entitled "The Marriage Plate." This story, we are informed, was written many years ago, but for some reason or other was never published. The manuscript remained in the hands of a friend, who placed it at the disposal of the Strand Magazine. It is a most characteristic story, which exhibits all "Ouida's" well known powers of description, and also the passionate love of animals which is so often conspicuous in her writings. The little story might be a companion to "A Dog of Flanders." Other fiction in the September Strand includes stories by E. Temple Thurston, Arthur Morrison, Richard Marsh, Bart Kennedy and other well known writers.

The Wide World for September contains an interesting selection of stories gathered from all quarters of the globe. Capt. A. H. Trapmann relates his experiences while passing "Through the Forbidden Country"—the hinterland of Cyrenaica, in Northern Africa, the stronghold of the mysterious Senoussi sect, a region which not half a dozen white men have traversed. Capt. Trapmann went with an emir of the sect to whom he had rendered certain services, otherwise his life would not have been worth an hour's purchase. "The War Dance of the Spokanes" is ably described and illustrated by Clair Hunt of the United States Indian service.

The September Popular Mechanics Magazine contains in all 322 articles and 280 illustrations. Topics of vital interest, such as "The Control of Floods," "The Future of the Dirigible," and "Curing Speed Mania," are discussed, editorially, by H. H. Windsor. The "Around the World Wireless" plan, now being carried out, is described by Frederick Minturn Sammis, Marconi's chief engineer in America. A most interesting article by Dr. A. F. Zahm treats of "European Aeronautical Laboratories." An effort is being made to establish a similar institution in the United States.

The human side of the big political boss is revealed in George Randolph Chester's new novel, "Sledge's Way," which is appearing serially in The Popular Magazine. Sledge conducts his wooing in the high-handed fashion that he runs his political machine. Naturally the girl objects. But Sledge is a man who doesn't understand the word "defeat." The story is brimful of laughs and ought to make an even better play than "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

In the September St. Nicholas the editor of the St. Nicholas league compliments the members on the fact that in each department of the competition the work is of an unusually high standard. While it is all uniformly good, the wielders of the pen and brush may justly be mentioned first. They stand at the head of the prize-winners with an array of two gold and five silver badges to their credit. Of this honor they may justly be proud, the editor declares, for the drawings considered worthy of reproduction in the issue are remarkably clever, both in arrangement and in treatment—two or three, in their technical excellence, compare favorably with the work of experienced illustrators. "In fact, the task of sifting and selecting the prize-winning drawings from the great mass of material and submitted was almost like choosing the winners of the Olympic meet—each represented the finished work of one well qualified to compete."

An interesting pictorial feature of the September Century is the reproduction of two semi-Gothic mural decorations by Robert Winthrop Chanler, selected from a group of eight panels recently completed by Mr. Chanler for a room in the country house of Harry Payne Whitney at Westbury, Long Island. In making such decorations as these the artist carefully prepares his canvas, building it up with black paint, coat on coat, very much as a carriage painter might build up a panel with successive layers of paint. The drawings are then embossed, or painted in high relief, on this specially prepared canvas in a medium composed of aluminum, silver and Chinese white. The general effect of the decorations, though in a totally different medium, resembles that achieved at Pissay in the black and white Savonnerie tapestries of the Seventeenth century.

No one can better describe the salient features and dramatic incidents of a great spectacle than Richard Harding Davis. In the September number of Scribner's Magazine he describes "The Two Conventions at Chicago"—the regular Republican convention and the Orchestra hall convention at midnight that marked the birth of a new party. Mr. Davis was accompanied by the artist Wallace Morgan, whose sketches give a vivid impression of the personalities. The humor and the vivacity of both author and artist make these historic conventions a realtity. It is not a narrative but a picture. The remarkable letters of George Meredith, in this second instalment, contain a number to his friend of many years, John Morley. He writes with great frankness, particularly about the Franco-German war. The letters to Stevenson are of keen personal interest, showing how early Meredith appreciated the great art of the younger writer. There is also a Sonnet to Carlyle on his eightieth birthday. In a letter to a critic, Meredith expresses a strong appreciation of Carlyle and defends him from ill-considered charges.

The September Atlantic opens with a sympathetic but acute characterization of Mr. Bryan, which, while it takes honest note of the limitations of his intelligence, gives warm praise to the citizen who "in the making of the American nation out of materials of twenty years ago has been the largest personal factor." A paper in this issue apt to attract especial attention is "The Automatic Citizen," by Thomas R. Marshall. The Democratic candidate for the vice presidency is so little known by his countrymen generally that this essay, giving his philosophy of citizenship, is particularly timely. Those who are interested in the question of Japanese exclusion may well read with care Arthur May Knapp's paper, "Who Are the Japanese?" which furnishes a novel argument, ascribing to them an Aryan origin. This is a topic on which pride of race may well listen to reason.

• • •

The leading article in Woman's World for September is "The Country Mother," by Willet M. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture, a thoughtful and valuable discussion of the relation between eugenics and improved farm life. Herbert Kaufman contributes an illuminating editorial called "A Confession," which every pessimist concerning modern womanhood ought to read. Other articles for the month are, "How to Write a Short Story," by Maude Radford Warren; "The Cure for the Commonplace," by Frank Crane; "Walking from Weakness to Health," by William J. Cromie, instructor of gymnastics in the University of Pennsylvania.

Myrtle Reed, in one of her last pieces of writing called "My Solution of the Servant Problem," tells the remarkable and true story of Annie, the servant who received $1,000 in Myrtle Reed's will. This story is in the new September number of Harper's Bazar, in which are thirty-four other stories and articles besides the regular departments and five pages of fashions. Kate Douglas Wiggin writes "Three Literary Recipes,' a whimsical take-off on the cooking kind. Three short stories are "The Most for Mifflin," by Frances R. Sterrett; "The Shadow of the Angel," by Elizabeth Jordan; and "The Mother of the Bride," by Leslie Davis.

That popular writer of fiction, Harold MacGrath, has a characteristic novelette of romantic adventure in September Ainslee's entitled "The Rebel Nightingale." The "Nightingale" is an American prima donna, beautiful, vivacious, and, of course, with a wonderful voice. She is "rebel" because of what she supposes to be the unfaithfulness of the man she loves, and he has added to her grievance against him by abducting her, as she thinks, on the eve of her appearance in a most important role.

• • •

"Men Who Dared," by Forrest Halsey, opening novelette in Young's September number, is a realistic story of penal life that strikes deep into the heart of every man or woman who longs for justice. "Their Wedding Gifts," by Nalbro Bartley, is a story delightfully original in plot. It records the honeymoon journey of a young couple and confronts each with a "past." "Rene L'Estrange," by Victoria Morton, is a gripping tale of life—realistic, tense, terrible, yet tender. "The Drug," by Margaret Widdemer, is a most unusual presentation of vital emotions.

The September Lippincott's table of contents proves a strong plea for the diverting quality of American fiction. The complete novel is "The Ranch of the Blue Sea," by J. W. Muller. This is the first long story by a writer whose short-stories have brought him rapidly to the front during the past few months. "The Ranch of the Blue Sea" tells the story of John Forsyth, a shrew, unscrupulous speculator, who has come a cropper financially and has been stripped by his creditors, narrowly escaping a prison sentence as well. "Beautiful Sebastiana," a short novelette by Marie Van Vorst, is a

The bustle of getting the young folks ready for college is subsiding for most every wardrobe is completed and the last few days are being filled with good times before the season's work commences. September brides are coming in for their share of attention and some who will be married next month are being entertained.

Miss Josephine Carey was hostess at a delightful musicale last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Barnes, 25 South Twenty-sixth avenue east, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Fischer of New York. OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Why Do Girls of Today Seek to Hide the Charm of Youth?

What has befallen our girls, or aren't there any real girly girls these days?

I am prompted to ask the question because I see more youthfulness and girlish charm in grown women, wives and mothers, oftentimes, than in the 16 and 18-year old misses who make themselves conspicuous everywhere by lack of simplicity and freshness.

Most of our young girls, the country over, are overdressed, supercilious creatures, all hat and hair and airs. Take their heads off their slender necks and set them in a row and I'll wager you would take them to be nearer 30 than 20.

It is a shame that this is so and that the tendency to conceal one's youth increases. While to "grow up" has ever been the ruling passion of adolescence, it used to be accomplished by slower stages. We used to have girl-babies, little girls, just girls, big girls, and finally young ladies. Now, it appears that we have babies for a brief period and next, presto! very sophisticated, world-weary little ladies.

Why, when one's hair is soft and pretty and easily arranged in simple fashion, stuff it with "rats" and pile it with puffs and braids of false hair? All individuality and all girlishness are lost thereby.

Why, when one is but 18 or 20, affect a cold, bored, mistrustful expression? Youth should be frank, friendly smiling. Youth is the time to form the habit of pleasant expression by word of mouth and by feature.

Why, when there is so much charm in girlish gowns and hats—in beauty unadorned—array your young bodies in clothes that put your youth to shame and make mock of your innocence?

Why, when youth is so fleeting, strive to cheat it of its brief reign? You will not believe it at this moment, but it won't be long before you will be regretting every effort to be done with it.

Almost before you know it, you will be wishing you were young. You will wish to look young, to be thought young, and, more than all, to feel young. You are bound to mourn for your vanished youth, but how much more so if you deny it!

Sad is the spectacle age presents trying to simulate youth. Even sadder is the figure of youth aping old manners and stilling its exuberance and naturalness to appear to know it all.

Don't miss your youth, whatever you do. Prolong it to the last moment, and in the prolonging know that there are thousands envying you, and thousands who would miss something very sweet and wholesome out of life were the girls to disappear.

FIRST GROUPS OF CAMP FIRE GIRLS OF AMERICA ARE ORGANIZED IN DULUTH

MISS MAE ANDERS, Guardian of Camp Fire Girls.

FIRE MAIDEN MAKING FIRE WITH STICKS.

THE HAND SIGN OF CAMP FIRE.

SECOND POSITION IN HAND SIGN.

TWO groups of Camp Fire Girls of America were formed yesterday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association by Miss Mae C. Anders, guardian officially appointed by the national council and Miss Emily Ledward, who will soon be a guardian. The girls are in the grades at the Jackson school.

The Camp Fire groups are being formed all over the United States and the Duluth girls are eager to form their bands and commence on the fun and work of the order.

The law of the Camp Fire girls is "Seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work and be happy."

The girls in the Duluth bands have not chosen their name as yet, but they will soon.

The wood gatherer is the first degree to which any girl is admitted and the national organization is sending each one of the new girls a little silver ring, symbol of the degree, which she cannot sell, or give away. These little rings are ornamented with a fagot of wood.

Symbols and signs all add to the pleasure and attractiveness of the order and higher orders are obtained upon earnest endeavor on the part of each girl herself, and there are certain requirements which must be met before any girl is given the higher degrees.

The requirements, if met, faithfully give a broad and useful education on practical lines in an interesting manner and the lessons are thoroughly enjoyed.

To reach the second degree or become a Fire Maker one must have been a wood gatherer for three months, and attain the following requirements: Help prepare and serve with other candidates two meals for the Camp Fire; to mend a pair of stockings, a knitted undergarment and hem a dish towel; to keep a written classified account of all money received and spent for at least one month; to sleep with open windows or out of doors for at least one month; to refrain from sodas and candy between meals for at least one month, and to know what to do in the following emergencies: Clothing on fire, open cut, frosted foot, fainting, etc.; to commit to memory any good poem or song not less than twenty-five lines in length; to know and sing all the words of "America," and other practical work.

Honors are won for the fulfillment of additional elective honors and strings of beads are presented for the following honors: Health, bright red; homecraft, orange; nature lore, sky blue; campcraft, wood brown; handicraft, green; business, black and gold, and patriotism, red, white and blue. Each girl may win seven chains of beads.

The torch bearer is the last rank and the winner of this place is appointed as the guardian's assistant.

No fee is required by the national association. There is an official outdoor suit, an official swimming suit and an official ceremonial dress, but none of them is required. The cuts show girls in the ceremonial dress.

The girls in the group of which Miss Anders is guardian are: Cecilia Budden, Gladys Smith, Madeline Roof, Harriet Nixon, Gladys Rittman, Elsie Carlson, Geneva Chubbuck, Marie Hagyard, Mary Bradt, Ebba Shogran and in Miss Ledward's group are Lucy Priley, Lottie Pierce, Sarah Plotkin, Hazel Chubb, Joyce Copper, Effie Esse, Olga Randall, Theresa Andrianne, Esther Ramseyer, Olga Youngdahl and Edna Stone.

They will meet every Friday afternoon after school at the Y. W. C. A. building or out of doors somewhere, the place to be chosen later.

DULUTH GIRL WINS MUSICAL SCHOLARSHIP

MISS FRANCES BERG of this city, a young pianiste who has given promise of great ability and understanding, has won the yearly scholarship at the College of Music, Cincinnati, Ohio, and will study there this season under Albino Gorno, one of the finest teachers of piano in this country.

Professor Gorno heard Miss Berg play during her examination and offered to take her as one of his pupils, an exceptional honor, as he teaches only pupils of unusual ability and promise and takes but a limited number.

Miss Berg took the examination with a large number of other applicants and was informed the same afternoon that she had won.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Dworshak has given Miss Berg all of the training in piano work that she has had, commencing with her when she was quite young and the honor which the pupil has won has reflected credit for the teacher. Mrs. Dworshak also studied at the Cincinnati College of Music.

Miss Berg was an active member of the Matinee Musicale and prominent in all musical circles and her playing has been a feature of many programs during the last few years. Last spring a testimonial concert was given for her by other musicians of the city interested in her work and all are glad of this honor which has come to her, as well as the fine opportunity to study with an excellent master.

She has an unusual appreciation of the works of the best composers and her work has shown individuality and power.

MISS FRANCES BERG.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

ARTHUR HARTMANN.

Hungarian Violinist Will Be Heard in Concert Tuesday Evening.

THE coming of Arthur Hartmann, the great Hungarian violinist who will play in recital here Tuesday evening at the Pilgrim Congregational church will be the event of the week in musical circles. The opportunity to hear this great artist is eagerly accepted and there is no doubt but that he will be greeted by a capacity audience.

Andre Dorval, a pianiste of note will accompany Mr. Hartmann at the piano, making an artistic background for the violin work.

Of Mr. Hartmann the Chicago Tribune says:

"If we call Arthur Hartmann a great artist we base our judgment on the esteem in which he was and is held by men like Grieg, Sinding, Saint-Saens, Guilmant, Debussy, Hugo, Kaun, Leschetizky, Franz Ries, Richard Strauss. From each one of the above named, to mention the most universally known, Hartmann can show letters, photographs and autographs, all inscribed to 'Meister Hartmann.' Queen Carmen Sylvia herself gave him a large photograph with the following inscription in English and in her own hand writing:

"'To Arthur Hartmann:

"'In rememorance of many beautiful hours spent with the Maestro.

"'(Signed) Elizabeth, and in brackets '(CARMEN SYLVIA.)'"

Mr. Hartmann's concert is being arranged by Ernest Lachmund of this city.

NEW BRANCH.

Piano Teachers' Round Table Feature of Matinee Musicale.

A PIANO teachers' round table, a new branch of work in the Matinee Musicale, was decided upon at a special meeting of the board of directors of the club held Friday morning at the home of Mrs. George S. Richards, 212 South Sixteenth avenue east, president.

Miss Josephine Carey was made chairman of this department of the club and the initial meeting will be held next Monday morning at the Young Women's Christian association at 10 o'clock.

Particular benefit is expected by teachers of piano who have desired co-operation and their work will be outlined for this year at the meeting Monday.

Circulars stating the aims of the club, its outlined work for the year, the artistic recitals and special attractions and adding an invitation to join the club were mailed to 1,000 who are not already members of the club.

The object of the club is to advance the interest and promote the culture of muscal art in Duluth and especially to promote the musical improvement of the members, to develop and encourage home talent, and to raise the musical standard generally.

That organization can accomplish what individual effort cannot is one of the basic ideas of the club which has made steady growth for twelve years, and progress in the class of work done will go on with the increase in membership without the increase of the dues for the year.

The philanthropic and extension work of the club has come to be a big thing. Taking good music to charitable institutions will be the work of a special committee with Miss Ruth Rogers chairman, and previous to the orchestra programs to be given here special programs will be given in the public schools.

The other lines of work and the programs for the year were also outlined in the circulars.

The effort to increase the membership of the club over 1,000 will be pushed by all the present members.

Linnaea Meeting.

The postponed meeting of the Linnaea club will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Figraeus, 4709 Pitt street, Lakeside. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Bush.

Silver Guild.

The Silver Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Josef Lonegren, 1130 East Third street. This will be the first meeting of the year and a full attendance is desired.

Training Class.

A meeting of the training class for civic work will be held at the library Monday afternoon, Sept. 9, at 2 o'clock.

STEAMSHIP MEN OBJECT TO LIFE SAVING RULES.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Representatives of many steamship companies have assembled here to protest to a conference of United States inspectors against the blanket regulations for life saving equipment promulgated as one of the results of the Titanic disaster. The companies operating upon inland lakes and over ocean routes close to shore, contend that such stringent regulations as apply to ocean going ships should not be applied to them.

REPENTS OF HIS ACTION

Aged Illegal Beneficiary of Will, Conscience Smitten, Writes Calumet Woman.

Heiress Going to France to Claim Money She Was Cheated of.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Marie Gillet, a widow, a resident of this city for forty-three years, will leave Monday next for Ronchamp, near Paris, France, in response to a request from an aged priest, who, according to Mrs. Gillet's story, and a letter from the mayor of Ronchamp, written at the request of the reverend father, which she has in her possession, swindled her out of a large sum of money years ago by making himself, instead of her, the beneficiary of a will, and who, conscience-smitten, now asks foregiveness and has summoned Mrs. Gillet to Ronchamp.

It appears that when Mrs. Gillet was 7 years of age, residing with her parents at Ronchamp, her mother was informed by the child's great-uncle that he intended to make the child his beneficiary. When on his deathbed he called in a priest to make his will, the priest in question having civil as well as religious authority.

Made Himself Beneficiary.

The priest, however, instead of making the child the benficiary made the will in his favor. The swindle was later discovered by the mother of the child, who dared take no action, and years after she informed her daughter, then in America, of the facts. No action was taken by the daughter to recover as it was thought it would be needless. The priest is now 88 years of age. The money involved is 100,000 francs ($20,000). Whether Mrs. Gillet will recover any of this amount she does not know, but will make an effort to do so, not being in the mood to grant the desired forgiveness until she receives part or all of the money. Her expenses abroad will be paid and she has been told to spare no comforts in reaching her destination.

RAILROADS TO MAKE DISPLAYS

Lines Traversing North Dakota Interested in Bismarck Exposition.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With exhibits from various counties already arriving, and workmen putting on the finishing touches to the four handsome buildings that will house the displays at the second annual North Dakota Industrial exposition, the land show structures are manifesting a spirit of activity that will increase until the gates close on the exhibits Saturday night, Oct. 12. North Dakota's crop this year is the very best in its history and the cream of the harvest will be shown at the industrial exposition.

All of the railways traversing the state will be represented at the exposition. The Soo Line has contracted for double the space it used in 1911, as has the Northern Pacific. The Milwaukee road has also contracted for the same amount of space used by the other roads, and the Great Northern is collecting samples of grain along its branches and main lines for exhibit purposes. President Pennington of the Soo, President Elliott of the Northern Pacific and President Earling of the Milwaukee are planning to visit the exposition in person and President Gray of the Great Northern will attend if he can possibly do so.

Every day will be a special day, and many special trains for various occasions have already been chartered.

MAKES APPEAL TO THE FARMERS

Roosevelt Urges Them to Stand With New Party on Tariff.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 7.—Coming into North Dakota, which state Senator La Follette carried in the primaries preceding the Republican national convention, Col. Roosevelt made a particular effort yesterday to win over supporters of Progressive principles from the Republican and Democratic candidates. He criticized Woodrow Wilson for his stand in regard to the Progressive proposal for an interstate industrial commission to regulate large corporations. He appealed to the farmers of the state to stand with the new party on the tariff issue. In all of his speeches he drew the line sharply between the supporters of the Progressive ticket and all others.

The colonel was whirled across North Dakota by a special train to keep pace with a relentless schedule. He made half a dozen speeches. He stopped for an hour in Grand Forks in the morning, put in most of the afternoon in Fargo and last night made a brief address at Jamestown. He also spoke to crowds which met him at tiny stations along the way. The colonel reminded his hearers that he was a citizen of North Dakota in former years, and said he had come back to speak for the party, "which is trying to put into effect the principles that were ground into me here."

In Fargo, Col. Roosevelt spoke first to a large crowd in Island park, composed largely of farmers who had come to Fargo from the surrounding sections to hear him. The Progressive state convention was in session in Fargo, but when Col. Roosevelt arrived the delegates went to the park, although he had agreed to address the convention later. When he at last reached the convention hall, he found it almost empty, but close upon his heels the delegates trooped in to hear him again.

Convicts Punished.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 7.—E. G. Robinson and Frank Erwin, two men who escaped from the North Dakota penitentiary recently, and who were caught, were given a hearing under court martial, and were each sentenced to twenty days in solitary confinement, and sixty days in striped suits.

TWO LECTURES BY PRESIDENT McVEY

Head of North Dakota University Speaks at University in Norway.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Franklin McVey of the University of North Dakota delivered two lectures on Sept. 4 and 5 upon "The Evolution of America" and "Recent Industrial and Social Conditions in the United States" before the Royal Frederick university at Christiania, Norway, that brought Norway and the Northwest close together in thought.

The Royal Frederick university is now one year past the century mark in age and is the principal seat of Norwegian culture. It has a student body numbering 1,500, a faculty of about 100, a library of 25,000 volumes and an extensive museum.

Two Countries Related.

In opening the series of lectures President McVey called attention to the famous sea going craft of various kinds preserved in this museum, among them being types of the kind that carried Lief Ericsson and his bold followers to America five centuries before the time of Columbus. "Norway and North Dakota," he said, "are very closely related by virtue of the contribution of sturdy sons and daughters that have been sent out to help in settling and subduing our broad prairies. It is befitting, indeed, that North Dakota should present her respects, especially in view of the fact that the brotherhood of scholarship knows no boundaries of states or differences in languages or customs."

In discussing the evolution of America, President McVey placed special emphasis on the frontier as a factor in national development. Naturally, in a society of this kind, the exploitation of natural resources began early and has continued to the present time. To show the nature of the task undertaken in America, a contrast was drawn between the conditions existing in England and in America at the close of the eighteenth century. The result of these conditions was a society with ideas that were strongly individualistic and one in which there was small tolerance for restraint from the hands of government.

Cites Marked Changes.

The second lecture was devoted to a discussion of present day tendencies in America. Attention was called to the marked changes that had taken place in the views of the American people. The year 1900 might be regarded as the beginning of a new era in the United States, marked by the demand for larger participation of the people in the affairs of government and the consequent advocacy of the referendum, the initiative and the recall. While a plutocracy has arisen, there is yet no great proletariat recruited from the middle class.

Speaking of immigration President McVey said that the addition of a strong and sturdy people to the national stock is of great good and that immigration laws should be based upon the desirability of the immigrant. Among the new factors in family life, divorce was spoken of as being not necessarily a great evil or a menace to national life. It may mean the clearing of the air, the refusal of women to put up with the injustice, the indignities and the immoralities that they have suffered without protest for thousands of years.

The increase of prices and the general high cost of living is an influence that has much to do with the difference in family life in Europe and in America.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS

Sustained This Year in Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Upper Peninsula has suffered during the year 1912 the greatest amount of fire loss in a decade, according to W. S. Wright of Marquette, insurance adjuster in the Upper Peninsula for a majority of the companies operating in this territory.

"Ontonagon and Calumet alone have handed us losses amounting to $100,000 for two fires," said Mr. Wright, "and the small fires will make this total considerably more. In seven fires the insurance companies have suffered losses amounting to $200,000."

The Ontonagon loss was D. J. Norton's mill and the Calumet loss was the Bollman block. The biggest loss of the year thus far in the Upper Peninsula was at Marquette, where two large buildings were destroyed during the summer with a loss of $75,000. The Ontonagon and Calumet losses are next in rank.

Corps of Instructors to Coach Minnesota Soil-Tillers.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—The West Central Development league met here Friday to consider the proposition of placing agricultural experts in counties of that district, which are to take advantage of the federal aid extended in furnishing half of the expense of such men.

It was arranged to have a district superintendent supplied by the state agricultural college, who will have charge of a corps of workers to go among the farmers in each county. One expert agriculturalist will be stationed in each county.

DR. CREEGAN NOMINATED.

President of Fargo College Bull Moose Gubernatorial Candidate.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—Dr. Charles C. Creegan, president of the Fargo college, was nominated for governor at last night's session of the North Dakota Progressive state convention. Republican candidates for other state offices regularly nominated at the state primaries in June were re-nominated by the Progressives except in the case of candidate for commissioner of agriculture and labor, which was left in the hands of the state central committee. Until Thursday night there was a question as to whether or not a state ticket would be put in the field by the third party and such action was influenced by the wishes of Col. Roosevelt, who urged the selection of a full Progressive ticket in North Dakota. Among the delegates to the convention were twenty-five women who showed great interest and took an active part in the proceedings.

FEEL SHAKY, BILIOUS, HEADACHY, OR CONSTIPATED? TAKE CASCARETS

Sick headache! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generate in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organisms are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too—they love them because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

A revival of interest in the Duluth realty market was apparent in the week's transactions, which disclosed one of the largest close-in acreage deals in years. On top of this were rumors of other big deals in the air. The general lull which has pervaded the local market during the past few months seems to have given away to a period of active trading in all classes of property.

Dealers at the present time are particularly optimistic and ambitious. Inquiry, they say, continues to hold strong and what is better real live deals are beginning to shape themselves. What were vague rumors a few weeks ago are now becoming realizations. Property holders who would not sell earlier in the season at the then prevailing prices now appear anxious to trade.

The most important deal of the present week was consummated yesterday in the transfer to the Minnesota company from the Ohio company of a 560-acre tract in the Lester river district, immediately adjoining the city to the north. The exact amount involved was not given out but it has been generally understood that the prevailing price of acreage in that vicinity was close to $200 an acre. Some has been purchased for $150 an acre.

The new owners, the Minnesota company, are local investors, who will subdivided the tract and put on the market in two, three and five-acre parcels. The Alliance Real Estate corporation will soon launch a mammoth selling campaign. It will be put on as soon as a subdivision survey is completed. George E. Lynott and C. J. O'Donnell are officers in the Minnesota company which has taken over the tract.

The property which changed hands is situated in sections 28, 29 and 30, township 51, range 13. It is within one mile of the state demonstration farm and one mile and three-quarters from the Lester park street car line.

The new acre tracts are expected to appeal to homecrofters and the selling campaign will be directed largely towards those Duluthians who want to get back to nature and own a plot of ground of their own, according to Mr. Lynott. The success of the same promoters in disposing of the Exeter farm tracts in the near vicinity was partly responsible for the present deal being closed.

Mr. Lynott yesterday stated that there were other large deals in the air and that developments could be expected within the very near future. The deal which has just been closed is considered to be one of the largest of its kind in years around Duluth.

VACANT HOUSES AND FLATS BEING RAPIDLY FILLED

Better Class of Homes Are in Very Great Demand.

Additional Stories Will Be Added to Two Office Buildings.

While there promises to be no scarcity in houses and office buildings in Duluth this fall, local rental agents declare that before the cold months come all of the better class of residences now vacant will be taken and that the less modern buildings will be in demand.

"In spite of the fact that there have been many new houses erected in Duluth during the past season," said J. L. Cromwell of the Massachusetts Realty company yesterday, "there are indications that nearly all of the vacant houses will be filled this fall.

"Already people are coming in from their summer homes and other places and are settling down for the fall and winter season. The houses are filling up and the situation from the standpoint of the rental agencies is most encouraging.

"The modern houses are, of course, the first to be picked up. The demand is behind the supply. The less comfortable buildings are the last to be taken. Right now there are plenty of desirable houses, flats and apartments to be rented, but how the situation will look a month from now is a matter for conjecture. It is safe to assume that there will be somewhat of a scarcity in the line of the better class of residences."

Office buildings in Duluth are fairly well filled, according to Whitney Wall, local office building manager. "There is little change in the situation to be noted," said Mr. Wall. "If business is good there should be but few vacant office buildings in the city."

An encouraging feature in the office building situation lies in the fact that the buildings of additions to two of the larger office buildings in the city is now under way. Six stories are now being built on the Fidelity building and plans are now being prepared for two additional stories to the Providence block.

WET WEATHER HAS HELD BACK BUILDING OPERATIONS

Permits to Date Show Slight Decrease—Big Jobs in Sight.

Two Stories Will Be Added to the Providence Building.

Delay occasioned by cold weather, rain and unsettled conditions is thought to be responsible for the summer laxity along building lines, as indicated by the building permits, which are considered a good barometer of conditions of the building trade.

Up to Sept. 1 there had been issued this year from the office of the city building inspector a total of 893 permits, representing an expenditure of $1,736,851. This is $59,770 under the figure for 1911 during the same period. On Sept. 1, 1911, 1,005 permits had been taken out, covering improvements costing $1,736,621.

In some lines, contractors say they have experienced difficulty in getting labor. The condition is said to be general, other cities reporting losses this summer. In Duluth, August permits showed a decrease of $71,122, as compared with the corresponding month of 1911. In August, 1912, 126 permits were written, the improvements to cost $207,788. Last year in August, 127 permits were issued for work estimated at $278,910.

The outlook, however, is far from discouraging. The big things have been held back late in the season and this fall will see considerable new construction work, which will materially boost the 1912 building record.

Announcement was made today of the completing of all arrangements for the building of two additional stories on the Providence building on the southeast corner of Fourth avenue west and Superior street. The improvement, according to J. J. Wangenstein, architect for the owners, the Providence Improvement company, will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. Plans will soon be in the hands of the contractors for figures.

The Providence building, which is now six stories high, will, besides carrying the two new stories, undergo a number of interior changes. The building will be redecorated throughout and new passenger elevators of the most modern type will replace those now in use.

The addition will follow the same construction as the present six stories. It will be practically of fireproof construction. The new offices will be elegantly furnished, it being the aim of the owners to make the Providence block one of the real modern office structures of the city.

The West end is enjoying a healthy building campaign at the present time. Announcement which was recently made of the new Patrick Knitting mill and garment factory to cost $100,000 has given stimulus to other concerns to look to the western end of the city for manufacturing sites.

A small factory is now being built by Winkler & Winkler, candy manufacturers at 2115-17 West Michigan street. It will cost about $12,000 and will be of brick, three stories high.

The $20,000 Mohaupt building at 2022-24 West Superior street is rapidly nearing completion. It will be used to house a 5-and-10-cent store on the first floor, the second story to be devoted to offices and flats.

About twelve new houses have been built this season in the new Fairbanks division, which extends from Fifth to Eighth street, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-eighth avenues west. Last week foundations were laid for five more.

• • •

Architect J. J. Wangenstein will have plans out next week for the new fireproof manufacturers' building to be erected by T. W. Wolf on Second avenue west and Second street this fall at a cost of $75,000 to $100,000. Bids will be called for in the near future.

The same architect expects to let the contract next week for the construction of a brick flat building to be erected at Second avenue east and Third street for August Kehtel at a cost of about $10,000. The plans have been prepared and are now out for figures.

• • •

In competition with nine other bidders, Otto Johnson landed the contract awarded this week by the county poor commission for the construction of a horse barn at the St. Louis county poor farm. The new building will be of concrete and frame construction and will house twelve horses. Contractor Johnson's figure was $3,458.55. The excavation work was not included in the contract.

• • •

The Midway Lutheran congregation is taking bids for the erection of a new $8,000 church building either this fall or next spring at Midway. It will be 32 by 64, brick on a concrete foundation.

• • •

The plans for the brick school at Remer, Minn., to cost $18,000, have been prepared by Architect E. F. Broomhall and are out for figures.

• • •

J. T. Stack is having plans prepared for a two-story frame and stucco residence at Fourth avenue east and Third street.

BARNES-KING INVESTORS ARE LIKELY TO FARE WELL

Purchases of New Properties Are Expected to Prove Profitable.

Report That Anaconda Made Offer for Butte-Alex Scott.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the Barnes-King company does not bring back some of the money which people in various parts of the country invested in that concern a few years ago it will not be the fault of the president Charles W. Goodale and his associates. Mr. Goodale, who is manager of the mining and smelting department of the Boston and Montana properties of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, is one of the best and most conservative mining men in the country, and since he assumed the presidency of the Barnes-King company he has devoted a considerable portion of his time and energy in directing the examination of properties which might prove a profitable investment. Only a short time ago it was announced that the North Moccasin had been secured on very liberal terms and now comes the announcement that the company has also taken over the Piegan-Gloster property under very favorable terms. The agreement which has just been executed requires the payment of $5,000 down and the balance of $120,000 in payments as follows: $5,000 on Sept. 20, 1912; $25,000 on July 20, 1913; $25,000 on Jan. 20, 1914 and $60,000 on July 20, 1914, making a total of $125,000. There is an agreement that after the second payment if the development is sufficiently encouraging the company has a privilege of paying $75,000 on or before March 20, 1913, and receive title thereby saving $25,000 on the purchase price. The two deals made are considered not only very important, but of such character as to give the stockholders every hope of getting a fair return on their money. The Piegan-Gloster property is located near Marysville, just a short distance out of Helena, amid the midst of properties which have produced millions, and which are today making a profit. The property includes about 160 acres of patented ground, and several claims held by location and covers about 9,000 feet along the Piegan-Gloster vein. Near the middle is the old Gloster mine, which was actively worked from 1880 to 1888, down to a depth of 600 feet, and produced several million dollars in gold and silver. It is believed that by modern methods of treatment a good deal of ore left in the workings, or which may be developed by deep exploration, will yield a profit, but this cannot be verified as the mine is full of water.

Piegan Claim Good.

The Piegan claim which has been worked by tunnels, has yielded about 20,000 tons of fair grade ore and the company's engineers report 23,000 tons in sight, assaying $8.50 per ton, which should net profit of about $90,000. Besides these known ore bodies there are possibilities of finding others in such an extent of mining ground. There is not any milling equipment at the mine, but the old Gloster mill building there is ample room for any machinery which may be required. However, extensive development work will be conducted before any attempt is made to equip the mill which contains a fine engine which has not been used much. Like other properties in some parts of the West, financial difficulties were encountered just about the time the prospects were brightest, and capital was not available, so the property closed down in 1888.

Davis-Daly.

The Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company is gradually coming to the front and the recent opening up of another body of good ore has created quite an increase in the price of the stock. The recent strike is a four foot vein, on the 1,900-foot level and there are at present two feet of six per cent copper. A few months ago the same vein was cut on the 1,700 foot level and the fact is particularly gratifying to Manager Fisher to encounter the vein, 200 feet deeper, as it indicates that the vein continues at depth. The vein was encountered about 410 feet northwest of the shaft. Cross-cuttings is being continued and it is expected to reach the second known vein in a short time. Although in years past, when Heinze was at the head of affairs, the Colorado was boosted as a great property, the mine was never in as good condition as it is today, and there never was a time when the company was more than making expenses until the present. The work of driving the crosscut from the original mine of the Anaconda company under contract for the purpose of exploring the ground under the Silver King is progressing, but it will be some time yet before it is completed. The leasers at work in the Silver King are said to be considerably more than making expenses and the Davis-Daly management expect to find a good body of shipping ore after the cross-cut from the original mine is finished.

Great Falls Smelter.

The work of constructing the new Great Falls smelter is expected to be commenced within a few weeks. The material was order some time ago and it is now due to arrive. Just as soon as the material arrives a large force of men will be put to work and advantage taken of the fine weather to push the work along with all speed.

Butte Alex Scott.

The fine showing which has been made by the Butte Alex Scott company's property during the past few months has attracted the attention of mining men throughout the country, and more than one offer has been received looking to a purchase of the mine. It is reported that the Anaconda Copper Mining company has made an offer for the property, but this will not be either confirmed or denied at the office in this city, the reply to an inquiry being that nothing is known of any such offer. The Butte Alex Scott is undoubtedly making a fine showing. It is shipping 250 tons of ore each day to the East Butte smelter, and the returns are giving a handsome profit over and above the operating expenses.

Bullwhacker.

Patrick Clark, the millionaire and principal owner of the Bullwhacker mine, has issued a circular in which he announces that he is satisfied after many experimental tests that the ore can be treated by a leaching process with profit. In his circular Mr. Clark says: "We have decided to erect a small experimental plant to treat the ore by the leaching method and, if successful, increase the capacity to the full limit of the mine's production. In this way we hope to make the property a valuable one for many years to come. This method of treatment from present indications will cheapen the cost of treatment very materially." At the present time the Bullwhacker is under lease, and according to reports given out some fine ore is being treated at East Butte smelter, Mr. Clark has been in the city for several days and has made a personal inspection of the property.

PRODUCTION AT GREENE-CANANEA

September Output Expected to Be Highest in Company's History.

Cananea, Mexico, Sept. 7.—The production of the Greene-Cananea company for the month of August was in the neighborhood of 7,000,000 pounds of blister copper, a heavy gain over the preceding month. The production for the month of July was 6,100,000 pounds. The operation of the two new converters of the Great Falls type, for a portion of the month, is responsible for the increase. The converters were installed during the month and both have been in operation about ten days, while one was in use for about twice that time. The increased converter capacity of the smelter will be responsible for greater gains, the September production, no doubt, exceeding any other month in the history of the company.

The work at the Superior-Bonanza property, near Imuris, which is being done by the Cananea company, is progressing nicely. Most of the work is being done on the new tunnel, which will attain depth of some extent when the hill is entered. Some liberal work is also being done, which is showing up the property to some extent. The company is installing a new air compressor, which was shipped over from Cananea last week. Several new houses are also being constructed for use of the men.

Work on widening out the shaft of the Calumet & Sonora company from the surface to the 400-foot level has been commenced and considerable headway is being made. The shaft will be widened sufficiently to permit the operation of two skips instead of one, as at the present time. The drift on the 300 level to cut the ore body at a point 400 feet south of the station, is progressing nicely.

TO RESUME WORK IN ALPHA GROUND

Operations Will Be Conducted Through the Giroux Shaft.

Ely, Nev., Sept. 7.—From the work that is being done it is believed the Giroux is preparing to resume operations in the Alpha territory, working through the Giroux shaft. Until now the only operation carried on at the Giroux shaft is the pumping of water from the 1,400 station to the 1,200 and from there to the surface. This is being done on the theory that the area from which the water is coming will eventually be drained by steady pumping and then work will be resumed in the bottom of the shaft to put it down to the 1,800-foot point and 1,400 crosscut will be continued into the Alpha ground.

On the 1,400 the face of the crosscut is now in the soft formation that was encountered in sinking the Alpha and which was responsible for the caving in of that shaft several years ago when four men were imprisoned on the 1,000 level for six weeks. In the Alpha the formation was dry and very much like fine ashes, and in timbering the shaft great care had to be used to make the lagging absolutely tight, as the fine dirt sifted through all cracks and knot holes.

It is believed that, in spite of all precautions taken to make the lagging absolutely tight, so much of the dirt sifted through that a big hole existed behind the lagging just before the caving of the Alpha shaft and that the sudden dropping of a large quantity of dirt from the roof of the hole caused the wrecking of the shaft, the death of two men and the imprisonment of the other four.

On the 1,400 crosscut this formation is saturated with water, and it is reported that the last set of timbers that was placed in the 1,400 crosscut proved to be very expensive, and for that reason, following the theory that the water would drain off, further work was suspended for the time being.

At the Morris-Bunker Hill group a big force of men is employed and there are probably 300 men working underground extracting the 1,000 tons of ore that is being sent to the McGill concentrator daily. The work of developing further the extensive deposits in this part of the property is being continued, while the production is being maintained according to the contract with the Steptoe company.

GAIN IS SHOWN IN EARNINGS

Increase in Shipments From Chief Consolidated—Much Prospecting Ahead.

Salt Lake, Utah, Sept. 7.—The heavy tonnage of ore which has been billed out from the Chief Consolidated mine during the past few weeks is causing some little surprise among the mining men of the state, but those who have been keeping close tab upon this property have been expecting just such a record as this mine is now making.

The Chief Consolidated is undoubtedly one of the coming bonanzas of Tintic, and there are several reasons why big things can be expected of this mine. In the first place, the extensive mineral ground which this company owns is undoubtedly traversed by four distinct ore zones, while most of the other properties of the district are located upon but one zone. Of course, the Chief Consolidated people have a large amount of work ahead of them before these four zones are prospected, but they are right on the job all the time and are pushing out in half dozen different directions upon almost as many different levels, and while they are doing but little talking, the fact that the mine can be called upon for an output of from twenty-five to thirty carloads of ore each week is sufficient proof that some big ore bodies have already been located and that it is not necessary to depend upon any one stope or any one level for the present tonnage.

It will perhaps take years to finish the drifts and complete the other work which has been mapped out by the management, but from the looks of things the Chief Consolidated has passed through its period of uncertainty and is almost ready to take its place among the dividend payers. When Walter Fitch came to Eureka and undertook to put the Chief Consolidated ground upon a paying basis, many people were of the opinion that he was up against a hard game, but he had all kinds of faith in the productiveness of the Tintic limestone and was willing to back up his judgment with the cold cash. In the matter of development work he is exceptionally progressive in his methods, always keeping well ahead with the prospecting, but when it comes to taking down the profits he is equally conservative. There must be about $250,000 in the company's treasury before Mr. Fitch will consent to a dividend, but the bulk of this money has already been secured.

SHATTUCK MINE LOOKING GOOD

Engaged in Developing and Blocking Out Richer Ore Bodies.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 7.—Shattuck is now engaged in development work chiefly on the fourth and fifth levels. It was on the fourth level that the strike of ore which has been declared to be the richest ever known in the camp was made and the development on the fifth level is on the lower part of this same ore body. This work, this ore body, is in the same fault as that which was found in a recent strike in the Copper Queen's southwest holdings.

It is said that the Shattuck is anxious to do some deeper exploration work but is not able at this time to secure the men required for this and hence is not increasing its force.

Cutting of 4 or 5 per cent ore is common in the Shattuck and little or no attention is paid to it. Developing of richer ore bodies and blocking these out for subsequent shipping is the work in which the Shattuck forces are now engaged. They are shipping only enough to pay for the continuance of development reserving the deposits for reduction in their own smelter when completed.

Relative to the new smelter to be built by this company it is stated that plans and specifications are completed, that representatives of steel houses are expected in the district within a few days and that the contract for structural steel will probably be let about the middle of the month. Following the letting of that contract ground breaking may be expected to speedily start.

HEINZE STILL HOLDS CONTROL

His Slate of Directors Elected at Stewart's Annual Meeting.

At the annual stockholders' meeting of the Stewart Mining company, held at Kellogg, Idaho, the Heinze slate of directors went through without opposition, about 25 per cent of the stock, represented by E. J. Carter of Spokane and the interests allied with him in the effort to oust Heinze, refusing to vote. The result is that the property will continue in the control of Heinze and his friends unless Judge W. W. Woods of the Shoshone county district court sees fit to grant Carter's petition for a receiver.

The directors elected were: Edward Hickey, Butte; W. E. Cullen, Spokane, Heinze's personal attorney; Allen P. Bowle, teller in the State Savings bank at Butte; William Beadry of Kellogg, superintendent of the Stewart mine, and W. O. Allison of New York, president of the Ohio Copper company.

As only Cullen and Beadry of the new directors were present, officers could not be elected, but it is reported that Allison is slated for president; and M. W. Bacon of Butte, the present secretary-treasurer of the company, is understood to be certain of continuing in office.

EXCELLENT PROGRESS

Hancock's Vertical Shaft Has Reached Depth of 3,875 Feet.

Four Crosscuts Driving to Intersect the So-Called No. 4 Lode.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hancock Consolidated Mining company continues to make excellent progress in the big vertical shaft which is to be permanently bottomed at a depth of 4,000 feet and has now reached a depth of 3,875 feet. The shaft has been in trap rock for some distance and apparently is now sinking in a trap formation underlying the Quincy-Pewabic lode. There are strong indications that this master formation was intersected at around 3,650 feet. Four crosscuts are driving on as many levels to intersect the so-called No. 4 lode, originally opened at a depth of 3,105 feet in the shaft at which point of intersection an excellent showing of copper obtained. In these crosscuts the developments of greatest importance occur in the deepest opening, the thirty-fourth. The crosscut on this level is now considerably over 650 feet and in the last 150 feet discloses a considerable number of copper stringers. Some of these seams are fully one foot thick. The vein should be reached at any moment.

Indiana.

The Indiana is centering all activity in shaft work in which a depth of 1,055 feet has been attained. The shaft has been in copper-bearing felsite for about fifty feet. Work on the 600 level has not been resumed owing to the scarcity of labor.

South Lake.

The South Lake has temporarily ceased work in the shaft at a depth of about forty feet and is now engaged in constructing a shaft house. A heavier hoist is also being installed and an air compressor is being added to the equipment. It is planned to push the shaft to a depth of 600 feet before attempting lateral openings.

New Baltic.

The New Baltic continues to crosscut west on the 500 level without recent important developments. The drift south on this level continues to show unchanging conditions. Occasional pockets of copper are encountered and these are frequently of great richness. The company is planning to deepen the shaft and will install a new hoist during the coming winter.

Isle Royale.

The Isle Royale has decided upon the location of the new No. 7 shaft and is now raising simultaneously on three levels, the third, fifth and seventh, to back up his judgment with the cold tributary to No. 6 shaft. The new shaft is located approximately 2,000 feet south of No. 6 shaft. An unusually heavy overburden overlies the ledge in this vicinity and it will be necessary to sink through 80 to 100 feet of mixed sand and gravel to reach the rock ledge in which work has already started from several levels as noted. Work in the Kearsarge horizon is centered in diamond drilling and is thus far without important developments. The No. 1 hole is expected to reach the position of the Kearsarge lode within the next 150 feet.

THREE CLAIMS ARE PURCHASED

Butte & Bacorn Buys Important Properties in Butte North Country.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 7.—The Butte & Bacorn Mining company, the pioneer in the north country of the Butte district, is in a fair way to be refinanced That its officers and principal stockholders are confident that the Butte & Bacorn will come out all right is evidenced by the fact that they have purchased three important claims adjoining the original group. The purchased properties are the Calumet, Jasper and Moonlight claims. The 1,000-foot shaft of the Butte & Bacorn is on the Calumet. The latter claim was under option to the company, but before the option could be taken up the financial panic of 1907 struck the country and the property, with the deep shaft, had to be forfeited. The recent activity in the north country induced Fred Bacorn and H. C. Bacorn, principal stockholders of the Butte & Bacorn, to secure options again on the Calumet, Moonlight and Jasper and they have just been taken up. The consideration is $110,000. The owners of the three claims were Elizabeth Kane, W. P. Dolan, Mary A. Dolan and Ann O'Toole. The deeds, just filed for record, have been executed to H. C. Bacorn, but will be transferred to the Butte & Bacorn company.

The company already owns 278 acres of mineral ground, included in twenty-three claims and the three new properties will increase the acreage to 324 and twenty-six claims.

Fred Bacorn is at present in the East and reports are that there are very good prospects for refinancing the company, if present business and market conditions continue.

When the Butte & Bacorn started work in the north country geologists tried to discourage the company, but since then every development has shown that the geologists were wrong, and some of the best ore bodies in the Butte district have been found to exist, contrary to the theories of geologists.

LONG TOUR IN THE EAST

Party of Four Duluthians Traveled 6,500 Miles By Automobile.

Duluth-Minneapolis Road the Worst Stretch of Highway They Encountered.

Thomas A. Merritt, Mrs. Merritt and two sons, George A. and Carleton, have returned from an automobile trip through the East. The trip was taken in Mr. Merritt's Garford and when the party pulled in at Duluth last Tuesday the speedometer showed that the car had traveled 6,500 miles. Outside of a few punctures no trouble was experienced.

From Duluth to Montreal, Can., and New York city is quite an automobile trip, but the poorest roads of all were experienced between Duluth and Minneapolis.

"We wouldn't need the summer tourists which come in on the boats if that road was good," said George A. Merritt, who drove the car on its long journey, "for if the highway was good we would have automobilists from all over the United States here every summer. I met many people on the roads in different parts of the country who stated that they wanted to come to Duluth, but they quit at Minneapolis, for they were advised not to attempt to travel over the roads."

The party left Duluth on June 29 and arrived in Duluth again on Sept. 3. From Duluth they went to St. Paul, from St. Paul to Albert Lea, from Albert Lea through Blanchard, Iowa, Des Moines, Davenport, South Bend, Ind., Detroit, Mich., Windsor, Can., London, Hamilton, Toronto, Prescott, Montreal, Ogdensberg, N. Y., Potsdam and then to Tupper Lake, located in the heart of the Adirondacks, where the party spent some time. A week was spent at Whiteface mountain. The party went to Plattsburg, finally ferried across Lake Champlain to Rutland, Vermont, thence across Vermont and New Hampshire, finally crossing the White mountains into Massachusetts. The party then went east to Boston, north to Gloucester, then returned to Boston, where they started for Plymouth and Hartford, Conn., and ending up at New York city.

Coming back, the party toured up the Hudson river to Albany, then to Auburn, to Rochester, Buffalo and Cleveland, Ohio, Erie, Pa., South Bend Ind., Joliet, Ill., Davenport, Iowa, Des Moines, Fort Dodge, Humboldt, and entered Minnesota at Elmore. From there to Mankato, St. Peter, Minneapolis and Duluth.

"It was some trip," said Mr. Merritt enthusiastically, "and some time we hope to tour the West the same way. Roads were good, and as I say, the Duluth-St. Paul roads are worst of all. That road is in awful condition and it should be one of the best highways in the state."

BULLS STILL ON THE RUN

Wheat Has Another Bearish Day Because Skies Are Bright.

Offers of Flaxseed From the Country Increase—Prices Drop.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 7.—Although there was a reaction early in the day on the wheat market of both Duluth and Minneapolis from the downward movement of wheat on the day before, conditions were such that the bullish feeling could not last. The weather map showed a great deal of clear, bright weather through the American Northwest and north of it in Canada, though farther west there was cloudy weather and still farther west rains were reported. On the whole, however, the conditions of the weather over the great spring wheat region of the United States and Canada were such that wheat worked still lower today than it did yesterday. Large receipts also helped the bears and swelled the volume of business. The wheat pit on the Duluth board today was a scene of active trading from the beginning to the end of the session. The business of the session was exceptionally heavy.

Duluth September flaxseed, which closed yesterday at 88c bid, today closed at 87¾c asked. Cash wheat closed at the September price. Durum closed 1¼c off, oats ¼c up, barley 2c up and rye unchanged.

Wheat on the Liverpool market today closed ⅛@¼d lower. That market was heared by the weakness at Winnipeg, the forecast of larger world shipments, fine, cool weather in the United Kingdom and weakness at Buenos Ayres, due to favorable Argentine crop prospects and free country offers. The Liverpool market was steadied by an improved demand for American parcels.

Flaxseed Is Lower.

Weather conditions had a similar effect on flax to what they had on wheat today, for the trend was bearish. There were heavy offers from the country of flax to arrive and futures. Flax dealers on the board have been advised of large shipments of flaxseed being on their way to Duluth from various points in Western Minnesota and North Dakota. It is expected that there will be quite heavy arrivals of new flaxseed at Duluth during the latter part of next week. Duluth September flaxseed today closed 2 cents off and November half a cent off. October and December were unchanged.

MARKET GOSSIP

Minneapolis indemnities: December puts, 86⅝@86¾c bid; calls, 88⅛c bid.

A Minneapolis wire says: "Considerable wheat from Southern Minnesota and South Dakota is being diverted to Chicago."

Michigan September crop report: Wheat yield per acre, 10 bushels; August, 11 bushels; year ago, 17 bushels; quality, 73; year ago, 87.

The following replies to crop inquiries of The Herald were received today:

Sleepy Eye, Brown county, Minn.—Wheat here is of poor quality, being much affected with black rust. Spring wheat is thrashing 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, with an average of 15 bushels. There is no flax here. Barley is running 30 to 40 bushels to the acre, with an average of 35 bushels.

Clear Lake, Sherburne county, Minn.—Spring wheat and flax are good crops, wheat running 20 to 30 bushels to the acre, and flax 10 to 15 bushels. Durum wheat runs 18 to 25 bushels and barley 20 to 40 bushels.

Woonsocket, S. D.—Wheat and flaxseed in this neighborhood will be about average crops. Spring wheat is thrashing 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, averaging 13, and flaxseed 5 to 10 bushels, averaging 7.

Britton, Marshall county, S. D.—The wheat and flaxseed crops are fair. Spring wheat runs 5 to 20 bushels to the acre, averaging 11; durum wheat, 10 to 22 bushels to the acre, averaging 13, and barley 15 to 30 bushels, averaging 22.

Faulkton, Faulk county, S. D.—The wheat crop in this neighborhood is poor but the flaxseed crop is good. Spring wheat is running 2 to 8 bushels to the acre, with an average of 4, and barley 4 to 8 bushels to the acre, with an average of 6. No flaxseed has yet been thrashed. Very little durum wheat is raised here.

Alexandria, Hanson county, S. D.—Spring wheat is thrashing on an average of 16 bushels to the acre, barley 25 bushels and flaxseed 10 bushels. The flax crop looks good.

Jamestown, Stutsman county, N. D.—Wheat and flax crops are good. Spring wheat is running 20 to 30 bu to the acre and durum the same. Flax has not yet been thrashed. Oats are yielding 50 to 100 bu to the acre and barley 35 to 50 bu.

Valley City, Barnes county, N. D.—Wheat is the best crop we have had for some years. Spring wheat is averaging 20 bu to the acre and durum 30 bu. Barley is averaging about 38 bu. The flax crop is about average. Very little is yet thrashed and it is too early to tell what the yield is, but I think it will be in the neighborhood of 10 bu to the acre.

Wahpeton, Richland county, N. D.—The spring wheat crop is good, running 20 to 35 bu to the acre, with an average of 23 bu. Flax is not so good, running 5 to 12 bu to the acre with an average of 8. Barley is running 40 to 50 bu to the acre, with an average of 45. There is no durum wheat here.

La Moure, La Moure county, N. D.—The wheat crop is about 30 per cent above the average. Spring wheat runs 18 to 26 bu to the acre and durum wheat 16 to 24 bu. The flax crop is fair. Barley is running about 28 bu to the acre.

Cooperstown, Griggs county, N. D.—The wheat crop looks O. K. Spring wheat is running 15 to 30 bu to the acre with an average of 20 bu and durum wheat 12 to 28 bu to the acre with an average of 18 bu. Flaxseed is somewhat late, but promises to run 8 to 14 bu to the acre with an average of 10 bu. Barley is running 35 to 45 bu to the acre, with an average of 40 bu.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Early Lethargy of Market Removed By Activity in Coppers.

New York, Sept. 7.—Irregularity was reflected in the opening dealings on the stock exchange today. Many of the active issues were lower, however, with weakness greater in Canadian Pacific, Louisville & Nashville and Steel. Union Pacific, which at first showed small gains, soon fell under yesterday's close.

Speculation came to a standstill in active stocks soon after business began, but there was a lively movement both ways in certain ordinarily inactive specialties.

The market closed firm. Activity in copper stocks awakened today's stock market from its early lethargy and trading became livelier. Buying of more representative stocks was small in volume, but the average level of prices at the close was above yesterday's final quotations.

300 ORE DOCK WORKERS WALK OUT AT ALLOUEZE

Demand An Increase In Wages and Pay for Overtime.

Ties Up Shipping at Very Height of Busy Season.

Laborers at the Allouez ore docks of the Great Northern Railroad company walked out this morning 300 strong in a demand for increased wages.

The docks are practically tied up and shipping is at a standstill.

There are about a dozen big boats in the harbor and all are anxious to get away, the ore shipping being at its height at this time.

The men ask $2.50 a day. It is understood that they have been receiving $2.25. They ask $2.75 for night work. They have been getting $2.50. They ask 35 cents an hour for over-time.

Without the slightest notice to the officials the men appeared but refused to work this morning. The company officials claim that they had no idea that the men were in any way dissatisfied.

Laborers were never so scarce as at the present and the men claim that they have the company completely at their mercy.

The push in ore has been one of the features of the present navigation season. The docks have been going full capacity since the season opened and it was feared that it would be impossible to send as much ore down the lakes as is needed. Yesterday the rate jumped up 10 cents. Just at present the boats and docks were going at top speed.

The strike creates a serious delay. Most of the ore shipped this year from this port was loaded from the Allouez docks.

At the time of the dock laborers' strike in Duluth, it was understood that representatives of the Industrial Workers of the World were working among the men of both the Missabe and Allouez docks.

They were successful in getting the Duluth stevedores to strike as well as those in Superior. Close upon the heels of the Duluth and Superior strike the Port Arthur laborers went out. Shortly afterward the men at Marquette struck and soon afterward Buffale dock men struck.

This has been a season of strikes. Package freight men have been seriously inconvenienced and it has now spread to the ore docks.

MOTTO WILL BE REFORM

Ultra Progressives of Duluth Organize the Stirrup Club.

La Follette's Old Followers Will Agitate Single Tax and Recall.

The Stirrup club opened its season yesterday.

The Stirrup club has definite opinions on political questions, but it has no definite affiliations with existing political parties.

Its character is best indicated by the makeup of its name. The name is derived from the first letters of the Single Tax, Initiative, Referendum and Recall United Progressive club.

Obviously a name of that length would be unwieldy in literature and speech, so it was chopped down to the terse and expressive "Stirrup." The accent may be on the first or the last syllable—preferably on the last, for the club intends to stir things up.

It will meet every Thursday noon hereafter at the Spalding for luncheon and for the discussion of political and economic questions. Public men who invade Duluth from the outside on Thursday will be in danger of capture for speech-making purposes, and failing of outside talent, the club will look to its own members or other local talent for the feast of reason which will follow the feast of products of the Spalding kitchen.

Thomas Fraser of Rochester, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, spoke to the club yesterday on progressive principles.

The club is an outgrowth of the La Follette organization, which held Friday noon meetings all last winter. Nearly all members of the present club are followers of La Follette, and in some respects they go further than the Wisconsin senator in advocating progressive principles.

The club plans to devise a definite legislative program to be submitted to the legislature. Emphasis will be laid on the need of tax reform. The club also plans to take part in the campaign for the commission form of government in Duluth and will endeavor to get some of its taxation principles incorporated in the new charter. Not all members of the club are single taxers, but the single tax advocates are in the majority and the others are open to conviction.

I. K. Lewis is president of the club and Elmer Blu secretary. A. G. McKnight is chairman of the executive committee.

Baudette Wins.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the second day of the Spooner fair the Baudette baseball team defeated Spooner in a close and exciting game by a score of 1 to 0. Poor base running lost the game for the locals. These teams will play again next week at Baudette during the fair to be held there on Sept. 11 and 12. In the game here Pointer and Wubbens formed the battery for Baudette and Ferrier and Stenseng performed for Spooner.
